LABOUR DEPARTMENT

ORDER.

457Lab.—20th April 1951.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 4677Lab., dated the 22nd August 1950, the industrial dispute between the Basic Industries, Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as the Company), 69, Manicktola Street, Calcutta, and their employees as represented by the Employees' Union of Basic Industries, Ltd., and its allied concerns, 55, Serpentine Lane, Calcutta, regarding the matters mentioned in the schedule to the said order was referred for adjudication to a Tribunal consisting of Sri A. Das Gupta, District Judge; and whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Tribunal, the aforesaid Union made a complaint in writing before the said Tribunal, alleging that the said Company had altered, to the prejudice of the workmen, the conditions of service applicable to them immediately before the said proceedings;

and whereas in exercise of the powers conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Tribunal has adjudicated on the said complaint and submitted its award to the Government of West Bengal; and therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to confirm the said award as shown in the annexure hereto;

ANNEXURE.

Matter of reference No. 4667Lab., dated the 22nd August 1950, of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, and in the matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950 (No. 14 of 1950), and in the matter of Sri Sakti Copal Roy and others, employees of Messrs. Basic Industries, Ltd., and their allied concerns, 69, Manicktola Street, Calcutta, represented by the Employees' Union of Basic Industries, Ltd., and their allied concerns, 55, Serpentine Lane, Calcutta.

PRESENT:

SRI A. DAS GUPTA, District Judge.

Complainant: Sri Nutbehari Dutta, Pleader, instructed by the representatives of the Union.

Opposite Party: Sri Profulla Chandra Das Gupta, Pleader, instructed by Sri B. N. Sen, Managing Director.

AWARD.

In pursuance of the order of reference No. 4667Lab., dated the 22nd August 1950, of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, proceedings were started for adjudication of the industrial disputes between the Basic Industries, Ltd., and their allied concerns and their workmen. The award has not as yet been submitted to the Government of West Bengal. The adjudication proceedings are therefore pending within the meaning of section 20 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

The Union's contention is that Sri Sakti Gopal Roy and six of employees of Messrs. Basic Industries, Ltd., and their allied concerns were compelled, during pendency of adjudication proceedings started under the order of reference of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, No. 4667 Lab., to be on leave without pay by a notice, dated September 1950, in contravention of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950 without the express permission of the Tribunal, as contemplated by the said section.

The opposite party pleads that seven employees mentioned in the complaint were put on leave without pay up to 31st December 1950 till they were required, for reorganisational purposes in the interest of the Industry, and contends that this action was not a contravention of section 33 of the Act. It has further been contended on behalf of the opposite party that as the order of reference No. 4667 related to an industrial dispute, the discharge of eleven workmen other than those for whom the complaint has been filed, the prohibition under section 33 of the Act does not hit the action against the seven employees inasmuch as they were not concerned in the industrial dispute pending under the said order of reference for adjudication before this Tribunal. It has also been alleged by the opposite party that two of these seven workmen, viz., Sakti Gopal Roy and Sudhir Kumar Sen Gupta, have settled their cases amicably.

Sakti Gopal Roy has filed an application to inform this Tribunal that he has settled his case amicably with the employer, and has obtained permission to withdraw from the complaint.

Section 33A of the amended Industrial Disputes Act authorises a Tribunal to assume jurisdiction over an industrial dispute arising out of a contravention of the provisions of section 33 of the Act as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, without a reference from the appropriate Government under section 10 of the Act. This is a special provision and the conditions under which this provision may be invoked must be fulfilled before a Tribunal assumes jurisdiction over an industrial dispute, without any order of reference from the appropriate Government, as contemplated by the general provision (section 10 of the Act). The conditions are that the adjudication proceedings must be pending before a Tribunal, that during pendency of the proceedings the employers contravene the provision of section 33, and that such contravention is in respect of the workmen who are interested in the dispute pending for adjudication.

The preliminary contention of the opposite party is that the action taken under section 33A of the Act is not maintainable on two grounds, viz., that the workmen in respect of whom a contravention of section 33 of the Act has been complained of are not concerned in the dispute pending for adjudication under order of reference No. 4667, and that the action taken against these seven workmen is not contemplated by section 33 of the Act.

For a clear appreciation of the law involved, I may be permitted to reproduce section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act—

“During the pendency of any conciliation proceedings or proceedings before a Tribunal in respect of any industrial dispute, no employer shall—

- (a) alter, to the prejudice of the workmen concerned in such dispute, the conditions of service applicable to them immediately before the commencement of such proceedings; or
- (b) discharge or punish, whether by dismissal or otherwise, any workman concerned in such dispute, with the express permission in writing of the Conciliation Officer, or Tribunal, as the case may be."

The address was placed by the learned pleader for the opposite party in phrases "the workmen concerned in such dispute" appearing in (a) and "any workman concerned in such dispute" appearing in (b). It has been urged that the disputes covered by the order of No. 4667 concerned only eleven workmen who had been discharged, and not concern any of the seven workmen for whom the present complaint has been filed. In reply, the learned pleader for the complainant that the aforesaid reference concerned the Union which was composed of members including the seven workmen for whom the present complaint is filed. His contention is that all the workmen who are members of the Union were interested in the adjudication of the disputes over the conduct of the eleven workmen and that all workmen strained themselves in the conduct of the adjudication proceedings and contributed to the cost of the Union, out of which the cost of the adjudication proceedings was borne. The Union comes into the picture only in its representative capacity, although it has been mentioned in the order of reference as a party to the dispute. The dispute was of the workmen and not of the Union which they were to be represented. The Union has not been given the right to represent a workman but a workman has been given the right to be represented by a Union. The way in which the Union or all its members are said to be interested in the adjudication proceedings directly or indirectly a particular workman is not, in my opinion, contemplated by the Act. If the legislature had really intended to give such a wide meaning to the phrase "concerned in such dispute" would have been altogether. In this view of the case this phrase is redundant. The rule of interpretation of a Statute requires that no word used in a Statute should be rejected as redundant. The legislature appears to have intended to limit the scope of section 33 by insertion of this phrase. The word "concerned" must accordingly be interpreted after weighing properly the meaning of each and every word used in it. The word "concerned" carries the significance of being directly affected, whereas the word "interested" carries the idea of remoteness. A workman is directly or indirectly affected by an order concerning him. But his brother workman is not directly interested in the order in the same way as he is interested in the order affecting him. A workman affected by the order, but by no stretch of imagination can be said to have been affected by an order in respect of his brother workman. I cannot accordingly persuade myself to accept the contention put by the learned pleader for the complainant on the basis of section 33. My definite decision accordingly is that the action of the employers against the seven workmen mentioned in the petition was not hit by section 33 of the Act inasmuch as these seven workmen were not concerned in the dispute over the discharge of eleven workmen which were the subject matter of the order of reference No. 4667, dated 22nd August 1950. In this view of the case, the contention under section 33A shall be rejected. I may note in this connection that on a previous occasion to take a similar view in my award published in the Calcutta Gazette, dated 11th January 1951, under Government of West Bengal Labour Department, order No. 7509Lab., dated the 29th December 1950, a different view was taken by Sri M. C. Banerji in his award under Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 7509Lab., dated 15th February 1951. With due respect to my learned brother, I may mention that the reasonings given by him to support his view were anticipated by me. In my award published under order No. 7509Lab., I attempted to meet these reasonings and I cannot persuade myself to accept the view of my learned brother.

Similar notices were served upon the seven workmen for whom present complaint has been filed. Ext. I is one of these notices. reproduced below:

DEAR SIR,

"Dated 2nd September 1

As announced in to-day's meeting with employees this is to say that for reorganisational purposes you are granted leave without pay 31st December 1950 or till you are recalled, which please note.

Thanking you in anticipation.

Yours faithfully,

For Basic Industries, Limit
(Sd.) B. N. SEN,
Managing Director."

Section 33 of the amended Act contemplates permission of the Commission Officer, Board or Tribunal before whom proceedings in respect of industrial dispute between the parties are pending for such action or as are covered by clauses (a) and (b) of the said section only during pendency of proceedings. The workmen were put on compulsory leave. For the purposes of reorganisation of an industry, the employers may require the industry and compel the employees to go on leave. Nothing could be pointed to me on behalf of the complainant whether the Company had any rules defining the conditions of service of workmen. Nothing could be pointed out to me that the existing conditions of service have in any way been deviated from in compelling the seven workmen to go on leave. No action taken by the opposite party against these seven workmen is the best to be construed as a lock-out. Majority of the Tribunal Judges in Bengal have held that lock-outs are not hit by section 33 of the Act. The same view was taken by me in my award for Messrs. J. K. Eastern Ind. Co. Ltd. 15th March 1951, under Government of West Bengal, Labour Department order No. 1467Lab., dated the 5th March 1951. I do not propose to re-examine the reasonings I recorded to support the view I had taken. By compelling the seven workmen to go on leave, the opposite party did neither discipline nor punish any of these workmen. In any view of the case the action of the opposite party against these seven workmen was not contemplated by section 33 of the Act. My definite findings therefore are that the action taken by the opposite party against the seven employees for whom the present complaint has been filed is not contemplated by section 33 of the Act and that they are not concerned in the dispute pending for adjudication before this Tribunal under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department order No. 4667Lab., dated 22nd August 1950. In any view of the case the present complaint must stand rejected. The petition of complaint is accordingly rejected.

Sri Sakti Gopal Roy has filed an application to inform this Tribunal that he has settled his case amicably with the opposite party and that he withdraws from the present complaint. As the present complaint is not maintainable in law, I did not call for any evidence about the alleged amicable settlement with Sri Sudhir Kumar Sen Gupta.

ORDER.

2475Lab.—1st April 1951.—Whereas under the Government of Bengal, Labour Department; order No. 186Lab., dated the 9th January 1951, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Bird & Co., Ltd., Chartered Buildings, Calcutta, and their workmen in connection with the case Noot Behari Chatterjee, 16/1, Raja Raj Ballav Street, Calcutta, the matter specified in the schedule to the said order was referred for adjudication to Sri G. Palit, District Judge;

whereas the said Sri G. Palit, District Judge, has submitted to the Government his award on the said industrial dispute;

therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

matter of an industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Bird & Co., Ltd., Chartered Bank Buildings, Calcutta, and their workmen in connection with the case of Sri Noot Behari Chatterjee, 16/1, Raja Ballav Street, Baghbazur, Calcutta—3.

BEFORE THE INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

Sri G. PALIT, District Judge, Chairman of the Tribunal.

for the employee: Sri Jagomohan Bose, Pleader.

for the Company: Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate.

By Government order No. 186Lab., dated the 9th January 1951, the said dispute has been referred to me for adjudication under sections 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947).

My reference was received here on the 11th January 1951. The employee filed written statement on the 24th January 1951. The Company filed objection on the 13th February 1951. The case was taken up for hearing on the 26th March 1951. The matter was heard on the very law point whether the Tribunal is competent to adjudicate the matter. No issue was framed as the same was contained in the Order of Reference.

The issue contained in the schedule of the Order of Reference follows:—

Whether the retirement of Sri Noot Behari Chatterjee was justified. What relief is he entitled to?

AWARD.

In brief reference to the facts will be necessary to decide the pre-point whether the case, as made out, is tenable in law. This is considered that it must go into the legal objection first before it is taken up the matter involved in this issue. If the Tribunal lacks jurisdiction to adjudicate, then obviously it cannot adjudicate upon the matter at all. So the Tribunal heard the lawyers of both sides on this pre-legal objection.

It is the case of the employee Sri Sat Behari Chatterjee that he served the Company for 31 years. His record of service was blemish. He was served with a notice on the 15th March 1950, that he was given three months' leave with effect from the 1st May 1950, that he was retired on pension. As the employee did not attain 55 years, the limit for retirement, he prayed for reconsideration of the order. On 1st March 1950 he was told that he had become a surplus. His leave, however, was extended to six months next before retirement. The employee was on the 7th October 1950 that he had been granted a pension of Rs. 53 per month with an allowance of Rs. 16 per month. So he submitted a representation to the Labour Commissioner. The conciliation proceedings started on his intervention fell through. The Company resists the order on the ground that the employee was made to retire after 31 years of service with retiring benefits as he was found to be a surplus.

Now the point before me is whether this Tribunal can go into the propriety of the question of retirement and into the matter of compensation of this employee. Indeed, that is within the jurisdiction of this Tribunal provided the dispute in question is an industrial dispute as defined in section 2(k) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. This Tribunal is definitely of opinion that the industrial dispute, defined as above, stands a collective dispute. Individual dispute is not attracted by the said definition. That the present dispute is an individual dispute is admitted by the employee's lawyer as stated in the order-sheet. So the order of reference stands rebutted by this admission of the employee's lawyer. It is that no other workman has taken up the cause of this employee, nor has he espoused his cause. Practically he stands by himself in the matter of this dispute against this Company. Now whether such dispute can be maintained in an Industrial Tribunal is a matter for consideration. I have elaborately discussed this question in my award on Messrs Chittagong Engineering and Electric Supply Co., Ltd., and then employees in connection with the case of Sri Satis Chandra Ganguli, published in the Calcutta Gazette of 11th January 1951. This view is further confirmed by the recent judgment of Mr. Justice J. P. Mitter of the Hon'ble Calcutta High Court published in the Calcutta Weekly Notes (55 C. W. N.), in the matter of J. Choudhury versus M. C. Banerjee and another. The learned Judge has observed: "On a true construction of section 2(k) of the Industrial Disputes Act, a dispute which is between the employer on one side and an individual employee on the other, cannot come within the definition of an 'industrial dispute'. A dispute which in origin is between the employer and an individual employee may develop into an industrial dispute if the rest of the employees or the majority of them take part in the cause of the employee concerned." (Kandan Textiles, Ltd., versus Industrial Tribunal, Madras, reported in Vol. 1, Indian Factories, —reported at page 217—discussed and followed.) The definition of "industrial dispute", as per section 2(k) of the Industrial Disputes Act, resolves itself under three distinct heads on analysis. These are, (1) parties to the dispute, (2) subject-matter of the dispute, and (3) the nature of the dispute. Regarding parties to the dispute, it is clear that the dispute must be between the employers on the one hand and the workmen on the other besides other matters. These employees must be primarily in service. I must refer in this connection to the award of my brother Sri M. C. Banerjee in his award in Hukumchand Jute Mills versus employees reported in the Industrial Law Journal, 1950. I am in full agreement that the use of plural in the definition is without any significance. Lord Shaw in Conway versus Wade (1909), A. C. 506, observes: "I do not see my way to hold that trade dispute necessarily includes any individual dispute. It is true that after a certain stage such dispute, and it may be, may come to be a subject in which sides are taken and develop into a situation of general aspect containing the characteristics of a trade dispute; but until it reaches that stage, I cannot hold that a dispute necessarily exists". [Vide also Dallimore versus Williams (1912), 29 T. L. R. 67 C. A.] So I find that in the present case the first ingredient of the definition is wanting. Regarding the other two ingredients, I may, however, point out that the present dispute does not contain them. But, in my opinion, all the three elements stated in the definition must co-exist to make a dispute an "industrial dispute" within the meaning quoted above. Thus, as the dispute in question is not an industrial dispute, which alone the Industrial Tribunal is competent to adjudicate, I find that the present case is incompetent in law.

In this view of the matter I do not go into the other question, viz., whether the discharge is justified and whether the employee is entitled to compensation. The case accordingly fails. The reference is thus dismissed.

G. PALIT,

Chairman of the Tribunal.

4 April 1951.

By order of the Governor,
D. S. P. MUKHERJEE, Jt. Secy.

ORDER.

25561Lab.-25th April 1951.—Whereas under the Government of Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 7187Lab., dated the 13th December 1950, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Burn & Co. (Refractory and Ceramic Works) at Ranigunge and their workers, represented by the Refractory and Ceramic Workers' Union, Ranigunge, was referred for adjudication to Sri A. Das Gupta, District Judge;

whereas the said Sri A. Das Gupta, District Judge, has submitted to the State Government his award on the said industrial dispute;

therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

matter of reference No. 7187Lab., dated the 13th December 1950, the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, and in the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Burn & Co. (Refractory and Ceramic Works at Ranigunge) and their workers represented by the Refractory and Ceramic Workers' Union, Ranigunge, in connection with the dismissal of one of their employees, Sri B. B. Modak.

PRESENT:

SRI A. DAS GUPTA, District Judge.

Employers: Sri S. Sen, Advocate, and Sri J. K. Ghosh, Pleader, instructed by Messrs. Orr Dignam & Co. and Solicitors and officials of the Company.

Workers: Sri P. K. Sannyal, Advocate, instructed by the office of the Union.

AWARD.

The only point for adjudication is whether Sri B. B. Modak, a duftery of the Company, was discharged as an unfair labour practice, and if so, what relief he is entitled to.

The Union's case is that Sri B. B. Modak, a permanent duftery of the Company, who had been placed in charge of the Telephone Exchange on the 26th October 1950, was abused filthily by the Manager when he did not correctly follow an enquiry about an employee made by the Manager's wife and the Manager himself on the phone; that on the 27th October 1950 the Union having protested against the conduct of the Manager and he demanded of the latter a written apology, the Manager vindictively directed Sri Modak to operate, as a part of his normal duty, the Gestetner Stencil Machine which had never been a part of the duties of the duftery but had been taken up by Sri Modak, as an extra work, after the usual working hours on Sundays and Saturdays, for extra remuneration, on the distinct basis of promotion and increment of salary held out by the management; that Sri Modak having declined to work the machine as part of his normal duty unless proper remuneration was fixed for the said work, he was called upon to explain his conduct by a letter, dated the 7th November 1950, threatening with dismissal if he would not do the work as directed, and was actually dismissed by a letter, dated the 2nd December 1950, ignoring the impropriety of the action as pointed out by Sri Modak in his explanation and by the Union in his correspondence with the management on the matter.

The Company pleads that the Union's charge against the Manager is without foundation and had some ulterior motive behind it. The Company further pleads that operation of the Gestetner Stencilling Machine has been all along a part of the works of the dufteries, that Sri Modak and his predecessors Sri Chakrabarty and Sri Das had been doing the same work, that on the 24th October 1950 Sri Modak suddenly declined to do the work any longer unless his wages were increased, that after unsuccessful attempts to persuade him to do this work, he was reported against the Assistant Manager on the 27th October 1950, that when further attempts to make him sensible failed and when several chances offered to him by the management of its own motion as also on the recommendation of the Labour Directorate of the Government of West Bengal, to reconsider the consequences of his action were not availed of, and when Sri Modak persistently declined to do the job, the management was compelled to dismiss him by a letter, dated 2nd December 1950.

The law involved in the present case has been discussed in the awards by the Judges of Industrial Tribunal and decisions of the High Court in West Bengal and the Hon'ble Federal Court (now the Supreme Court) in proceedings arising out of some of these awards. It will be sufficient for the purpose of this case to recapitulate the principles for a clear appreciation of the recommendation which I intend to make to the Government. An Industrial Tribunal has jurisdiction to award reinstatement of a discharged workman and compensation either jointly or in the alternative, if the discharge amounts to an unfair labour practice and unfair labour practice. Any action to the prejudice of a workman with some ulterior motive is generally taken as an unfair labour practice. For all practical purposes the distinction between unfair labour practice and victimisation is too nice to be explained without reference to instances.

The jurisdiction to direct reinstatement is creation of the special Statute, Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. Any party who invokes this special law must satisfy the Tribunal about the pre-requisite conditions justifying assumption of jurisdiction under the special law. The onus is therefore primarily on the employees, who seeks relief under the special law, to establish that his discharge amounted to victimisation or unfair labour practice in a case where both parties adduce evidence, the question of onus is only a legal one and need not be pressed too far. Direct evidence of victimisation or unfair labour practice is seldom possible. Each case must be decided on the facts and circumstances involved. The bearing of the facts which are said to have roused the vindictive spirit in the management and to have prompted it to the unfair labour practice complained of must be considered with due reference to the proximity between the two. But it must be remembered that a close proximity between the two cannot, by itself, connect them as cause and effect.

I now proceed to discuss the merit of the case. An unpleasant incident alleged to have taken place on the 26th October 1950, when Sri Modak was in charge of the telephone exchange. B. B. Modak's case is that as he did not correctly follow the enquiry made on the phone by the Manager, Sneddon and his wife, he was filthily abused by Mr. Sneddon. He referred this to Mr. Gopalam who was the Commercial Manager and that when Mr. Gopalam pleaded inability to do anything in the matter, it was referred before the Union. The Union complained to the Manager on 27th October 1950 about the unpleasant incident, demanding of him an apology from B. B. Modak (Ext. E). Mr. Gopalam admits that B. B. Modak had referred to him the unpleasant incident, but he enquired if B. B. Modak had understood Mr. Sneddon properly. He however admits that it was the habit of Mr. Sneddon to curse and swear everybody. And Gopalam's statement is that he had asked B. B. Modak not to take any notice of the incident. It may be noted that no reply appears to have been sent to the Union's complaint (Ext. E). Mr. Sneddon has not been examined to deny the charge. It has not been denied that B. B. Modak was in charge of the telephone exchange on the 26th October. It is faintly suggested by the management that the story was got up by the Union as a counter charge to the threat of Mr. Sneddon to the Secretary of the Union with an action for damage for libel and slander. To support this contention the management has filed two letters which have been referred to as Exts. 1 and 2. Beyond these two letters, there is no evidence about the incident which led Mr. Sneddon to threaten the Union's Secretary with a libel suit. Be whatever the incident of Exts 1 and 2 might have been, the evidence and circumstances of the case, I am inclined to believe that it was not B. B. Modak about the unpleasant incident which is said to have taken place on the 26th October 1950 over the phone. Now we are to consider as to whether the action taken against B. B. Modak by the management was in any way prompted by a spirit of indignation of the Manager arising from the complaint of B. B. Modak as also the Union demanding an apology.

It is admitted by B. B. Modak that on the 24th October 1950, he refused to operate the Gestetner Stencilling Machine as a part of his normal duties. It is suggested that the management wanted to force him to operate the machine as part of his duty during normal office hours with a view to find an opportunity to drive him out. This was undoubtedly on the 24th October when B. B. Modak declined to operate the machine as directed by the management. Assuming that what B. B. Modak said is true, the action of the management to operate the machine during normal office hours had no connection with the unpleasant incident of the 26th October. The attempt was made to undo the admission of B. B. Modak about the date on which he is said to have been asked by the management to operate machine during normal office hours in re-examination. But re-examination was not allowed on this point. It is thus clear that the incident of 26th October 1950 and the alleged direction of the management on the 26th October 1950 cannot be connected as cause and effect. I shall presently point out that there are other circumstances which will prove that the unpleasant incident of the 26th October had no connection whatsoever with the dismissal of B. B. Modak.

It is admitted by B. B. Modak that on 24th October 1950 he refused to operate the Gestetner Machine as he was asked to do the work during office hours. He declined to work the machine unless he was paid the pay of a clerk and he was agreeable to do the work only if he was transferred to the grade of clerks. This fact was reported by Sri Gopalani, Commercial Manager, on the 27th October 1950 (Ext. 8, Annexure I to the Commission's written statement). Sri Gopalani did not immediately report the matter. He waited for three days during which period he claims to have persuaded B. B. Modak to do the work. When B. B. Modak was found adamant, Sri Gopalani reported against him.

We are to enquire whether this refusal on the part of B. B. Modak is any justification or whether this refusal amounted to insubordination justifying the extreme punishment of dismissal. The present machine is automatic and was purchased sometime in 1942. Before this new automatic machine was purchased, the Company had an old type of duplicating machine. B. B. Modak was appointed a duffery on 10th December 1943 at a salary of Rs. 20 per month. It is admitted by the Union in his letter to the Manager, dated 15th November 1950 (Ext. F, Annexure E to the Company's written statement) that one Sri Chakrabarty, predecessor in office of B. B. Modak, used to operate this machine. The sworn testimony of the senior duffery Kalipada is that he also operated the old machine. After the new machine was purchased it was operated by one Mr. Ford, senior European Assistant, then by Miss Philips, a lady Steno-typist, then by Sri Kali Kinkar Chatterji and then by his successor in office Ajit Samanta. Sri Kali Kinkar and Ajit Samanta were clerks of the Coal and Lignite Department. Ajit Samanta was appointed on 22nd May 1944, by letter, Ext. 4. In this letter he was given to understand that he was to operate the Gestetner machine as a part of his duties. B. B. Modak's defence is that when after the death of the in-charge officer Mahadeb Babu, the works devolved upon Ajit Samanta. Ajit Samanta could not be spared to learn the work and was given the assurance of promotion and increment and that on this assurance of increment and promotion held out by management, he did the work as an extra work during his off time. The case is that he refused to do the work as the assurance of promotion and increment was not fulfilled. The sworn testimony of the Head Duffery Kalipada is that he all along worked the small machine and that Mr. Ford told him to work the big (new) machine, he told Mr. Ford he would not be able to work the machine. After B. B. Modak's dismissal, Kalipada has been operating the machine. A demonstration was given to him before this Tribunal in open court and I found that he could not operate the machine, although he said that the work had been forced upon him. He has put in 30 years' service and he is an old man. He might have some objection to take up a new machine in his old age when his mental and physical conditions were on the decline. The duffery Kalipada pointed out the difference between the old and new types of machines. The difference, according to him, is that the new machine has three rollers while the old one had one roller. The new one has a meter, a device to make the stencilling paper loose and a device to vary the spacing. These devices is not in the old machine. The new machine being automatic the machineries may be complicated. Both the types of machines were brought before this Tribunal and a demonstration was given in open court. My opinion is that although the machineries may be complicated, the new type is more convenient and more simple as the feeding of paper is automatic. In the old type the feeding of paper requires a good deal of care and attention. The work is done more speedily in the new type of machine. It is clear that the old duplicating machine was operated all along by duftery and that the fact that Mr. Ford wanted Mr. Das to work the new machine indicates that it was meant for dufteries. Whenever a new machine is introduced, some training of the man who is to operate the machine is usually necessary. It cannot be denied that a man with some high education will do the work more easily than one who has not so much education. This is possibly the reason why Mr. Ford took up the work first and why Miss Chatterji, Mr. Chatterji and Mr. Samanta did the work. The mere fact that after the purchase of the new machine it was operated by Mr. Ford, Miss Chatterji, Mr. Chatterji and Mr. Samanta, does not warrant any conclusion that the work really appertained to the job of a clerk. They did the work some time so long as a duftery was not trained up. The work did not require any higher education than that of a duftery. The evidence is that a chokras can operate the machine. If it really requires any higher education, it would have been against the interest of the management to let the work in charge of a man who has not the requisite education. A clerk can do the work if he gets some training. It is the exclusive management function to distribute different jobs among its employees and fix their wages, according to the value of the job and the Tribunal should not interfere so long as the distribution is not uneven, and does not cause hardship to or strain on any workman. The Tribunal has jurisdiction to interfere when the distribution of work is found inequitable and the wages are fixed in ignorance of the accepted equitable principles. One of the principles is the wages for similar jobs in the similar industry or in comparable industries in the locality or in the neighbourhood.

That B. B. Modak had been doing the work for a pretty long time cannot be denied. We are to enquire whether he had any assurance from any authority with authority to give such assurance, and if he had any such assurance, what that assurance was and whether B. B. Modak did the work as an extra work only in off time. Although in the written statement it was stated that the assurance came from the management, B. B. Modak gave in his explanation [Ext. B (1)] that the assurance came from Mr. Gopalam, Commercial Manager. Mr. Gopalam became the Commercial Manager only in 1948. Before that he was only the personal assistant to the Manager. The Union stated in his protest against B. B. Modak's dismissal that the assurance came from Mr. Gopalam as also from Mr. H. N. Bose. This is undoubtedly an improvement over what B. B. Modak himself said in his explanation. At the hearing B. B. Modak omitted to mention the name of Mr. Gopalam and named only Mr. H. N. Bose from whom he claims to have got the assurance of promotion and increment. Mr. Gopalam and Mr. H. N. Bose have been examined before me. They deny having given any assurance to B. B. Modak. They also deny to have had authority to give any such assurance. Mr. H. N. Bose was only an Assistant Manager and Gopalam was only a personal assistant to the Manager. They could not have had any authority to promise promotion or increment of any workman. Even assuming that they had asked B. B. Modak to learn the work and to do it for a better chance in the future, it was only an advice from a friend and a well-wisher and not an assurance from an officer with authority. They might at best recommend B. B. Modak for increment or promotion.

B. B. Modak did the work for a pretty long time. His case in written statement was that he did the work as an extra work after of hours and on Saturdays and on Sundays. At the hearing he did not us in clear terms that this work was confined to off time on Saturdays and Sundays only. All dufteries were paid for overtime work at the dou normal rates. B. B. Modak also claims to have received payments overtime works at the Gestetner machine at double the normal rates of wages. The registers for overtime works and payments have been filed this case. These are Exts. 5 and 5(a). The Company placed before a complete list of overtime works and payments for B. B. Modak fr 19th May 1948 to 16th September 1950. These were placed before the lear Advocate for B. B. Modak. Nothing could be pointed against this ch This is Ext. 6. This shows at a glance that B. B. Modak had to do overt work on various accounts, form, stencilling, cleaning office, station arranging, record destruction, etc. B. B. Modak's evidence is that he no overtime work before he commenced operating Gestetner mach Thus, according to B. B. Modak on those days on which he had no operate the machine he had no overtime work before he was placed in ch of the machine. No explanation has been offered how there could any overtime work for works other than stencilling form. This could possible only if he had done stencilling work during normal office ho Mr. Gopulam has also filed a statement to show that on several dates B Modak operated the machine during usual office hours. This is Ext 8 was prepared from registers of overtime works [Exts. 5 and 5(a). several requisitions for forms (Ext. 7 series). Mr. Gopulam's conten was that in between the dates when the requisitions were received and they were complied with B. B. Modak did not do any overtime work. Union as also myself thought that the requisitions might have complied with from the stock of forms previously prepared. This is I myself enquired whether the Company had any stock book of to Mr. Gopalam denies to have had any such stock book. Even assuming the Company maintained stocks of forms and an account for the stock careful perusal of Ext. 7 series will indicate that the forms requisit could not have been prepared before the requisitions were received if I find that in between the dates when the requisitions were receive the Company at Titaghur and the requisitions were complied with, the f could be printed in the stencilling machine without any overtime v the irresistible conclusion shall be that the forms were prepared d normal office hours. Ext. 7 is a requisition, dated 29th January 1949 500 copies of a circular letter, according to a specimen forwarded with letter. The requisition was complied with on 1st February 1949 circular letters could not have been printed before the specimen received. Ext. 7(b) is a requisition, dated 10th March 1949, for pu 1,000 copies of forms, according to a specimen forwarded with the r sition, on 1,000 copies of blank letter heads which were also forw with the requisition. On 31st March 1949, 400 copies of these forms sent. The full quantity requisitioned could not be supplied and the exp tion was that as the letter head had been made into pads all the forms not be printed and that a good lot of the letter heads got damaged in e of printing. Ext. 7(d) is a requisition, dated 26th April 1949, for 750 f For printing these forms, one packet of old forms was forwarded along the requisition. This requisition was complied with on 28th April The forms were prepared on paper other than that sent with the requi The explanation is that the sheets which were received with the requi had been cut already and Gestetner copies could not be made on such pieces of paper. It was pointed out that if the sheets were not cut, could have been used for the purpose. Ext. 7(f) is a requisition, date December 1949, for printing 100 copies of application forms for a re permit according to a specimen forwarded with the requisition. requisition was complied with on 14th December 1949. Ext. 7(h) is requisition, dated 15th June 1950, for 500 copies of a form, according specimen forwarded with the requisition. Ext. 7(i) shows that the requisition could not be complied with at least up to 20th June 1950 on the ground that the machine had gone out of order. This requisition was complied with on 29th June 1950. Ext. 7(j) is a requisition, dated 29th June 1950, for 2 forms, according to specimens forwarded with the requisition. One of these forms could be supplied on 29th July 1950. The other could not be supplied on the ground that the papers sent with the requisition which had already been cut could not be used for the machine, as they would not take in small papers. It is clear from the nature of the requisitions that these forms could not be printed beforehand. These forms have been printed after the requisitions were received and before they were supplied with. I have examined the registers [Exts. 5 and 5(a)] and find no overtime work for printing forms at the Gestetner machine between the dates when the requisitions were received and the requisitions were complied with. This fact alone indicates that the Gestetner machine had been worked during normal office hours at least on several days. Modak also admits that the canteen tickets are printed during office hours. It, therefore, follows, that B. B. Modak's contention that he always used the machine as extra work during his off time and that he never used the machine during the normal office hours does not stand.

In the explanation of B. B. Modak, dated 7th November 1950 (Ext. 7(k)), he said that he was not totally disagreeable to do the work during normal office hours. He was agreeable to do this work as a part of his normal duties. There was a re-adjustment of the works among the dufteries. When the dispute was pending before the Conciliation Officer, B. B. Modak refused to have taken the same stand. This is clear from the evidence of Modak himself. Now, when the Conciliation Officer asked B. B. Modak to resume his work on the understanding that the question of adjustment of works among the dufteries would be taken up later, his answer was that he would give his answer after consulting the Union. But no answer was given. This shows that B. B. Modak was agreeable to do the work during normal office hours provided he was not more overworked than the other dufteries. At the hearing the learned Advocate for the Union pointed out that in the last portion of the explanation (Ext. B), B. B. Modak did not mean what his language indicated. B. B. Modak was asked and cross-examined in Bengali before me. And I presume that I understood Bengali well. What he claims to have said before the Joint Labour Commissioner (Conciliation Officer) is exactly what has been stated in the last portion of Ext. B. These circumstances indicate that there would have been no dispute if B. B. Modak was left to himself. But B. B. Modak is acting under the instruction of some one else. On the evidence and circumstances of the case I am inclined to believe that the use of the Gestetner machine was a part of B. B. Modak's normal duties. Even if I assume for argument's sake that it was not a part of the normal works of the duftery initially, it was made part of B. B. Modak's duty who had used the machine during normal office hours, as also during off time for a long time. If he had any grievance about wages he should have raised it for it in a constitutional way, without bluntly refusing to do the work, unless he was promoted to the grade of a clerk. If B. B. Modak had continued to work after doing his other works, there is no reason why he should have stopped working the machine during his spare time within the normal office hours. If his other works were sufficient for the day, it matters little whether he worked the machine during office hours and the stencilling work after office hours or whether he does stencilling works during office hours and other works outside the office hours. The refusal to operate the G&S machine as a normal duty undoubtedly amounted to insubordination and indiscipline. It is clear from the evidence on record and also from the admission of B. B. Modak that the Company did not take an abrupt decision. Considerable opportunities were given to B. B. Modak to reconsider the consequences of the position he had taken. He was adamant and the Company discharged him by a notice, dated 2nd December 1950. The very fact that considerable opportunities were given to B. B. Modak to consider the position he had taken, conclusively proves the absence of any unfair labour practice or any spirit of victimisation and vindictiveness on the part of the employers. I cannot persuade myself that the action taken by the management was in any way unjustified.

I may note in this connection that the grades and scales of pay of dutteries were revised in July 1950 [Ext. 3(2)]. There were two grades (1) Rs. 26—24—45; (2) Rs. 45—3—86. At that time B. B. Modak was getting Rs. 41. His wages were at once raised to Rs. 48. Under the scale the employees were to get one increment for each period of three years completed service. B. B. Modak had completed 6 years' service. He was to get two increments. His wages could have been fixed at Rs. 45, the maximum of the junior grade. Promotion from one grade to the other cannot be claimed as of right. It depends upon efficiency, and because B. B. Modak was considered efficient he was allowed to cross the bar and was promoted to the senior grade. This fact B. B. Modak should have taken into consideration. On the evidence and circumstances of the case as placed before me I am unable to interfere with the decision the management has taken.

In the result, the demand of the Union for reinstatement of B. B. Modak is rejected as untenable.

ANNEXURE.

the matter of the industrial dispute existing between Messrs. S. K. Chakraborty, Ltd., Mission Row, Calcutta, and their workers represented by S. K. Chakraborty Workers' Union, 206, Bowbazar Street, Calcutta.

BEFORE THE INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

SRI G. PALIT, District Judge, Chairman of the Tribunal.

sent for the Union: Sri Jatin Chakravorty, Vice-President, S. K. Chakraborty Workers' Union.

sent for the Company: Sri B. K. Ghosh, Pleader.

By Government order No. 6592Lab., dated the 20th November 1950, aforesaid dispute has been referred to me for adjudication under sections 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947).

The reference was received here on the 22nd November 1950. The Union filed its written statement on the 11th December 1950. The Company filed its written objection on the 10th January 1951. Issues were framed on 20th January 1951. After some adjournments the case was taken up for hearing on the 4th April 1951. The trial was concluded on that day. Award was reserved.

The issues, as framed by the Tribunal, stand as follows:—

(1) Rules about confirmation in service.

(2) Scale of basic wages.

(3) Dearness allowance.

(4) Working hours.

(5) Leave rules.

(6) Overtime wages.

(7) Bonus.

• Rates of travelling allowance.

• Rules about provident fund and gratuity.

• Dismissal of Bhagawat Das, if justified? If not, to what reliefs he is entitled?

AWARD.

Before the issues are taken up for adjudication, a brief history of the dispute will be relevant. The Union placed one charter of demands on 24th September 1948. The dispute was settled by an agreement entered into between the parties on the 2nd February 1949. It is a condition of the Company that the present claim of the Union is barred by the principles of waiver, estoppel and acquiescence. According to the Union, the financial difficulties forced it to resort to retrenchment. It resorted to retrenchment from the top ranking officers. So far as Bhagawat Das was concerned, he overstayed his leave without notice. He was considered as a surplus. So he was retrenched. According to the Union, the charter of demands was placed on the 10th February 1950 by the workers. The question of estoppel, etc., does not arise. The Union made efforts to reach an amicable settlement. The Union sought for the attention of the Labour Directorate. The attempts at conciliation by the Labour Directorate also proved unsuccessful, because the Company avoided being present in any of the meetings arranged. So the present dispute has to be referred to the Tribunal for adjudication.

Issue No. 1.

5. The Union's case is that an employee must be confirmed in service after three months of his joining. The Company has not raised any special objection to this. But this being more or less an Engineering firm where technical skill is required, I do not think that three months' probationary period is enough for confirmation. I accordingly direct that an employee should be put in six months' probationary period under this Company before he can be confirmed in any particular department subject, of course, to his efficiency being proved to the satisfaction of the authorities. Confirmation after six months' probationership must be the rule. Refusal to confirm must be by way of exception and, accordingly, rare.

Issue No. 2.

6. This relates to the scale of basic wages. From the list supplied by the Union I find that the pay of a helper to a mistry is Rs. 21 per month and that of a store durwan, who is a wholetime servant, is Rs. 25 per month. I also get that the pay of a sweeper, peon or bearer starts at Rs. 25 per month. The Company has not challenged this written statement of the Union which is certified by the Vice-President of the Union. I find that the minimum pay of other workers is above Rs. 30 per month. I award that the minimum pay, both of the helper to a mistry as well as of the store durwan, of the sweeper, of the peon and of the bearer must be Rs. 30 per month. That should be the minimum basic pay of all employees in service under this Company. Regarding the minimum basic pay of the head mistry and of the mistries of the different grades, as well as of the carpenters of different grades and of the store-keeper and collector, I must point out that I am unable to fix any minimum basic pay. That I fix is that the minimum basic pay of the semi-skilled worker should be Rs. 35 per month and of the skilled worker Rs. 40 per month. The category into which a worker will be put is a matter which is left to the Company to decide upon. In this Company, I understand, the workers have not been classified into the specified categories of unskilled, semi-skilled and skilled workers. Such classification is necessary. I direct that the Company at its earliest convenience classify the workers into different categories as specified above so that the grievances of the workers against basic pay should be specific. In that case also the Company will be in a better position than I am to see for itself whether the minimum of basic pay in a particular case is unjust and unfair. As matters stand, without assessment of work or job valuation I am not in a position to fix the minimum basic pay of different kinds of workers as the Union has mooted before me.

The increment in minimum basic wages which I have awarded above shall have operation prospectively, i.e., from the time when the award becomes operative. Considering the financial position of the Company I decline to give such increment any retrospective effect.

Issue No. 3.

7. This issue relates to increment of dearness allowance. I find from the chart supplied by the Union that the dearness allowance of this Company is Rs. 25 per month irrespective of any category of worker. This is in conformity with the award of the first General Employees' Tribunal presided over by Sri S. K. Sen. But in the last General Employees' Tribunal presided over by Sri S. N. Modak this rate of ance has been revised and raised. According to the last General increasing Tribunal the dearness allowance irrespective of any category workers has been given as follows:—

Basic wages.				Dearness allowance.
				Rs.
Up to Rs. 50	31
From Rs. 51 to Rs. 100	42
From Rs. 101 to Rs. 150	48
From Rs. 151 to Rs. 200	54
Rs. 201 and upwards	60

Award under Government order No. 11261 Lab., dated 8th March 1950, published in the extraordinary issue of the Calcutta Gazette on 21st December 1950.)

But regard being had to the financial position of this Company which far from being bright, I do not feel inclined to grant enhanced dearness allowance on the above scale. Though minimum wages do include basic wages as well as dearness allowance and though an industry, to justify its expense, must pay minimum wages to every worker, yet the dearness allowance has been made dependent in most of the awards on the capacity of the industry to pay it. There has been an evident attempt in the awards of the tribunals to fix the burden on the industry gradually with an eye to capacity to pay. If the burden is abruptly increased on theoretical basis on certain principles, the chances are that the industry might collapse being unable to bear up under the burden. The result will be that the workers, who were after all getting subsistence wages, will be absolutely stranded in the streets. Government have not yet embarked upon any insurance scheme or any scheme to provide for unemployment. In such circumstances, it will be the primary duty of the Tribunal as much to see the workers' wants just to enable them to keep body and soul together as the financial capacity of the Company to pay for the labour. In awarding dearness allowance the village "nexus" will also not be lost sight of. Though in reckoning minimum wages including dearness allowance, the cost of three consumption units in a worker's family should be computed, it will not do to forget that the worker is not required to provide entirely for his family. To implement the income of the worker and to eke out independent living of its own, the members of each family generally are out on their own labour. So the dearness allowance must be scaled down to certain extent when we find that the worker does not live with all his family in the barracks of industry premises. Dearness allowance should be viewed against the background of the National income per capita at present is very low. Taking all these factors into consideration, the dearness allowance as specified below—

Basic pay.				Dearness allowance.
				Rs.
Up to Rs. 50	30
From Rs. 51 to Rs. 100	35
From Rs. 101 to Rs. 150	40
From Rs. 151 to Rs. 200	45
Rs. 201 and upwards	50

dearness allowance will be applicable to the employees of all categories under this Company with effect from the date this award will come into operation.

Issue No. 4.

8. This issue relates to the working hours of the workers. Grievances of the Union, as urged before me, seems to consist in the fact that the workers have no specified hours of work. They are called to work at any time of the day and made to work till any time. It is certainly desirable that there should be specified periods of work so that the workers may get overtime wages for excess time of work. The Union in its demands submitted on the 10th February 1950 has claimed that hours of work on Monday to Friday should be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. with a recess of one hour, and on Saturday the working hour should extend from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. with 1 hour's recess. This works out to 40 hours of work in a week excluding the recess period. That is certainly much too less than what obtains in other factories. It also does not tally with the total hours of work in a week which, according to the Union, should be 48 hours with one hour's recess daily. I award that the working hours should be from 8-30 a.m. to 12-30 noon and again from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. on all working days of the week excluding Saturday. On Saturday the working hour should be from 8-30 a.m. to 1-30 p.m. This results in giving $\frac{1}{2}$ hour recess on Monday to Friday. Thus it is awarded that the working hours should be 8 hours daily exclusive of $\frac{1}{2}$ hour recess on Monday to Friday and 5 hours on Saturday without recess. The total hours of work in a week must not exceed 48 hours as laid down in section 51, Chapter VI of the Factories Act, 1948, as modified up to 1st December 1949. This issue is thus disposed of.

Issue No. 5.

9. It is contended by the Union that there is hardly any hard fast rule in the matter of leave. The Union demands that the leave system be regularised. The Union claims one month's leave with pay cum bonus up to two years, one month's sick leave with pay and three months' leave without pay and fifteen days' casual leave to each employee. I claim that the existing system of granting $2\frac{1}{2}$ days' pay added to monthly pay should be abolished. I certainly agree that this system of granting $2\frac{1}{2}$ days' pay only makes confusion worse confounded. I never come across such system in any other factory. So I award that the system must be abolished as soon as the award comes into operation. Regarding the other branch of the claim, I must say that if such a claim is conceded, then the production must necessarily go down. The claim is certainly extravagant. I award in pursuance of the provision of the Factories Act that the workers would earn one day's leave for each day of work on full pay subject to a minimum of 10 days. I award also 10 holidays amounting to 10 days in a year. Sick leave I allow to the extent of 15 days on half pay on medical certificate either of the Company's medical practitioner or of a competent kaviya or of a registered medical practitioner. This issue is thus disposed of. I turn down the claim for casual leave.

Issue No. 6.

10. This issue relates to overtime wages. The Union claims double the pay as overtime wages if any employee is made to work on any day. Overtime wages will be $1\frac{1}{2}$ times of the pay if any employee is made to work on any week day. Overtime is claimed also in case of overtime on any week day. Overtime is claimed also in case of overtime in the event of being employed after 10 p.m. I think that the Factories Act, 1948, as modified up to December 1949, has amply provided for overtime wages. Section 59, Chapter VI, lays down,—"Where a worker in a factory for more than nine hours in any day or for more than nine hours in any week, he shall, in respect of overtime work, be entitled to the rate of twice his ordinary rate of wages." If made to work on a will not double the ordinary wage. I think the above provisions must apply in the present case also. I award accordingly.

Issue No. 7.

11. The claim for bonus must fail. The Company has sustained loss and has made it clear. No practice of granting systematic bonus in the past has also been made out. I do not like to hasten the end of this company by burdening it with bonus. So the claim is turned down.

Issue No. 8.

12. The Company concedes that it grants actual travelling allowance to the employees whenever they are employed to do any work outside the factory premises. I think that the payment of actual travelling allowance is quite appropriate to meet the exigencies of the situation. The workers do not claim that they should get more than what they have spent for such side duties. So the existing system should continue.

Issue No. 9.

13. Considering the financial position of the Company which is certainly very bright and dependable, I do not think that I should introduce a Provident Fund or gratuity at the present moment. Unless the company's position improves and becomes fairly stable, such a claim would be the position which is bad enough, still more worse. It may even bring about the collapse of the Company. I have scrutinised the audited balance-sheets for the years ending 31st December 1946 and 31st December 1947. A noteworthy feature that the Reserve Fund in 1946 amounted to Rs. 74 lacs and odd. The unsecured loan from Sri S. K. Chakravarty, who is really the mainstay of this limited Company, amounts to Rs. 5 lacs and odd. Against this, in 1947 I get that the amount of the Reserve Fund remained in tact. Only the unsecured loan from Sri S. K. Chakravarty has risen to Rs. 7 lacs and odd. Thus it becomes clear that it is Sri S. K. Chakravarty who is pulling up the Company from going down. But, at the same time, it appears that Rs. 3 lacs and odd have been advanced to San-Equip, Ltd., and Rs. 1 lac has been invested in fully paid up shares of Equip, Ltd. What does this indicate? Does it not show that Sri Chakravarty is financing San-Equip, Ltd., through this concern? It is very well known that the financial position of this Company is shown to be desperate but, in fact, it is not so because it is linked up with another firm of Sri S. K. Chakravarty. The balances can be manipulated in circumstances to show the financial position, good or bad, according as Sri S. K. Chakravarty wants to have. Considering all this, I am clearly of opinion that the financial position of this Company is certainly not so bad as the balance-sheets have been made to depict. Besides, these balance-sheets do not show the up-to-date position of the Company. The over-all position of the Company seems to be that it is somehow carrying on its business without making much profits such as to enable it to grant either a Provident Fund or to introduce Provident Fund system or gratuity. So I reject the claim for provident fund and gratuity.

Issue No. 10.

This issue relates to the dismissal of Sri Bhagawat Das. Sri S. K. Chakravarty, who has deposed for the Company, admits that Bhagawat Das was the Secretary of the Union. This also appears from Ext.

B where Bhagawat Das has signed the agreement between the Union and the Company as the Secretary of the Union. This agreement is dated February 1949. According to the Company, Bhagawat Das was discharged because (1) he overstayed his leave and because (2) he was considered surplus. He was retrenched with a view to effect economy. From E 1(a), which is dated 16th October 1949, it appears that the Union has given notice that it does not like to abide by the agreement entered into on 2nd February 1949. It also intimated that it was going to place its claims on the basis of a resolution of the Union. Ext. 1 is the intimation of the order of discharge of Bhagawat Das. This is dated 15th September 1950. Ext. H shows that Bhagawat Das wanted an extension of leave from 18th August to 4th September 1950 as his wife was lying on her death bed. On that the department passed an order asking Bhagawat Das not to return unless called because the Company was bent on effecting retrenchment as an economic measure. So the position boils down practically to this, whether the Company discharged Bhagawat Das for his Union activities as a disciplinary action for overstay of leave or for economy. I must find that the plea of the Company to discharge Bhagawat Das on the ground of overstay of leave cannot be sustained. The Company could not show that it had standing orders in the matter of leave. Besides, Bhagawat Das should have been given an opportunity to explain for such discharge. The reason given in his application cannot be summarily thrown out. A man cannot leave his dying wife if her condition is really such. The Company did not hold an enquiry, nor was it disposed to listen to such ground. That shows that the Company was out to dispense with the services of Bhagawat Das. Regarding the second ground of economy, of course, the Company is always within its inherent right to size the personnel of works according to its needs. But that does not justify the Company to retrench any man it pleases. Retrenchment should not be effected capriciously. Senior people are retained while junior people are retrenched. "Last in, first go" is an accepted principle of retrenchment. The Company asks the Tribunal to believe that it started with retrenching the seniormost in the first instance. But during the evidence, the few instances that were cited did not substantiate it. Those who left the Company did so either to undertake a new business of their own or were otherwise provided for. It is not clear whether they had left of their own accord or had been retrenched. Even if they were retrenched, that cannot justify by itself that Bhagawat Das's retrenchment was in order. In this particular case Bhagawat Das was the Secretary of the Union. That Union was placing its demands before the Company in contravention of an agreement entered into on 2nd February 1949. The Company in its written statement before me maintains that the Union's claim to depart from the agreement is unsustainable. So it is clear that the Company wants to pin down the Union to the agreement of February 1949. It can best achieve its end by sacking the Secretary of the Union who was placing demands contrary to this agreement. In this context, the discharge of Bhagawat Das is very suspicious. The burden of proof was in such circumstances to be on the Company just to show that its action was bona fide and above board. I am unable to find that the Company has discharged such burden. On the other hand, I am inclined to think that Bhagawat Das, an old worker, was sacked for his Union activities or to let down the Union in its dealings with the Company. That certainly amounts to unfair labour practice and victimisation. That being so, I find that Sri Bhagawat Das is entitled to reinstatement. He must be reinstated within one month of the award of reinstatement into operation in his previous post provided he turns up for employment within reasonable period. But if that post is not available, then he must be placed in an equivalent post with equal prospects and pay.

Regarding compensation, Bhagawat Das should have been entitled to wages during the period of his forced unemployment. I however do not allow such compensation with an eye to the financial position of the company which I have already discussed. I merely award that Bhagawat Das will get one month's wages as compensation, the wages having to be apportioned on what he drew in the month just prior to his discharge. His period of forced unemployment should be treated as leave without pay for future benefit. This issue is thus disposed of.

and therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to confirm the award of the said Tribunal so submitted as shown in the schedule hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of reference No. 6790Lab., dated the 27th November 1950, the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, and in the matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, (Case No. 58 of 1950), and in the matter of discharge of (1) Sri (2) Chandraj, (3) Lakhan Kumar, (4) Kailash, (5) Dukhan, Jagdish and (7) Gobin, employees of Messrs. Napier Paint Works Limited, factory at 8, Gobra Gorasthan Road, Calcutta, and Head Office at 3, Mati Sil Street, Calcutta, represented by Napier Paint Workers' Union, 115E, Dhurramtola Street, Calcutta.

PRESENT:

SRI A. DAS GUPA, District Judge.

For the complainants: Sri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate, assisted by Swadesh Gupta, Vice-President of the Union

For the opposite party: Sri S. Sen, Advocate and Sri N. M. Das Gupta, Pleader, instructed by Sri Nirmal Kumar Banerjee, Sales Manager and Sri Asutosh Jana, Chemist.

AWARD.

In pursuance of the order of reference No. 6790Lab., dated 27th November 1950, of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, under section 17(4) of the Industrial Disputes Act, proceedings were started immediately on receipt of the order. The decision has not yet been submitted to the Government. The proceedings are still pending.

A complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, as amended by the Industrial (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, has been filed by the Napier Paint Workers' Union on behalf of the seven workmen Bishu Chandraj, Dukhan, Lakhan Kumar, Jagdish, Gobin and Kailash on the allegations that these workmen were wrongfully discharged in December 1950 during pendency of the proceedings started under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 6790Lab., of the 27th November 1950, without any permission of the Tribunal as contemplated by section 33 of the Act. Of these workmen, Bishu, Lakhan Kumar and Kailash have since been reappointed without maintaining continuity in their service and without wages for the period of forced unemployment. The Union seeks for reinstatement of all these workmen to their former posts without loss of service and for wages for the period of forced unemployment.

The opposite party pleads that the workmen mentioned in the petition were appointed temporarily for temporary purposes on the understanding that they might be discharged at any time without prior notice and contends that in view of the special nature of appointment neither any notice nor any permission of the Tribunal was necessary.

Section 33 prohibits, during pendency of proceedings in respect of an industrial dispute before a Conciliation Officer, Board, or Tribunal, alteration of the conditions of service of workmen to their prejudice by discharge or punishment by dismissal or otherwise of any workman concerned in the industrial dispute, except with the express permission of the Conciliation Officer, or Board, or Tribunal, as the case may be. When the Industrial Tribunal assumes jurisdiction over an industrial dispute, it has jurisdiction only on a reference by the appropriate Government under section 33 of the Act. This is the general rule. Section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, provides the only exception where a Tribunal can assume jurisdiction.

Industrial dispute independently of a reference by the appropriate Government. Section 33A provides, as a special rule, that where there is a contravention of section 33 during pendency of a proceeding before a Tribunal, on a complaint of the workman aggrieved by such contravention, the Tribunal may assume jurisdiction over the complaint and adjudicate upon it as a reference referred to it by the appropriate Government. The pre-requisite conditions must be fulfilled before the special provision of section 33A may be invoked. The pre-requisite conditions are (1) that there is pending proceeding before the Tribunal in respect of an industrial dispute; (2) that there has been a contravention of section 33 of the Act during pendency of proceedings; (3) that the workman or workmen aggrieved by such contravention are concerned in the parent dispute in respect of which the proceedings are pending and (4) that the aggrieved workman or workmen have filed a complaint in writing before the Tribunal. Of the prohibitions imposed by section 33 we are concerned only with the prohibition about re-employment. Sri Anil Kumar Ghosh, Works Manager, is the only witness examined in this case. The seven workmen were discharged on 7th December 1950 when the proceedings under order of reference No. 6790Lab. were pending. It transpired at the hearing that Bisnath, Lakhan Kumar, Kailash Chandraj were reappointed on 11th December 1950. The following statement indicating the dates of the original appointment of these workmen, dates when they were discharged and the dates when they were reappointed may be very useful:—

was contended on behalf of the employers that these workmen were temporary workers. We get from the evidence of the Works Manager that these workers were never given any appointment letter. They were appointed for regular works. One year's service was required to get the permanent status. It was suggested by the complainants that these workmen were engaged only to prevent them from acquiring the permanent status. The Works Manager tells us that after the discharge of these workmen, it was decided that if they were taken in again the works could be conveniently done. It follows that these workmen were not surplus. They were necessary. In the case of Indian Photo Engraving Co., Ltd., published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 25th January 1951, under Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 3311Lab., dated 16th January 1951, it was held that termination of services of temporary workmen by operation of section 33 of the Act. Temporary workmen are those who are appointed for a specified term or for a specific work of a temporary nature. Temporary accumulation of work is also a work of a temporary nature. In all such cases the services of the workmen are terminated, by operation of law, either on expiry of the term for which they were appointed or on completion of work for which they were employed. I have explained this in my award for Indian Photo Engraving Co., Ltd., and I do not need to reiterate the reasonings here. But where a workman is neither appointed for a specified term nor for any specific work of temporary nature, he is not a temporary workman in the strict sense of the term, although the employers may call him so. My experience is that in some cases the employers designate the regular workers as temporary workers with some ulterior motive, namely, that if occasion arose, these workers might be charged without any notice or compensation. This undoubtedly amounts to an unfair labour practice. In the present case the workmen were appointed for a specified term nor were they employed for any special or temporary nature. They were employed for regular work. On the date of their discharge they did not complete one year's service to entitle them to the permanent status. They might be called probationers rather than temporary workers. Even if they were called temporary workers that is not so in the strict sense of the term, to be denied the benefit of section 33 of the Act. By whatever designation they might be described they cannot be excepted from the operation of section 33 of the Act.

Besides, it is clear from the evidence of the Works Manager that the workmen were not surplus but that they were necessary. It has been amply proved that the discharges of these workmen were not based either on law or on facts. Bisnath, Lakhan, Kailash and Chandra have since been reappointed. The question of reappointment of these four workmen does not therefore arise. The period for which they were unemployed shall not be considered as break in their services, for the purpose of completing the requisite period of service for confirmation or for any other purpose which would have been available to them if they had not been discharged. They shall be paid the wages and other allowances for this period to which they were entitled at the time of their discharge.

About Dukhan, Gobin and Jagdish we are told that they are also necessary. The Works Manager says that they were asked through the Union to come but they did not turn up. There is no satisfactory evidence on this point. The Sardar has not been examined before me. There is also no evidence that the Sardar sent any intimation to these workers. There is also no evidence on the side of the workers if these three workers, after their discharge, were really keen about the reappointment. They have not been examined before me. If really they were keen about the reappointment, they would have approached the management. There is nothing to show that they ever approached the management.

We are not aware if they have gone home. If really they are keen, they could have got the information from the other four workmen who have been reappointed. The management is willing to take them in. As they are in a position to decide either way as to through whose fault they were discharged, they shall be reappointed so long I am inclined to give these workers a further opportunity. They shall be reappointed if they report themselves to the management within seven days from the date when this award comes into effect. The Union will please arrange that these three workmen do turn up as directed. I may be permitted to advise these workmen through the Union to turn up as early as possible without waiting for the time limit fixed in the award. In the circumstances of the case where the management is agreeable to reappoint these three workmen could not be made responsible for the delay, I do not feel myself justified in awarding compensation to these workmen for the period of unemployment. The unemployment of these three workmen shall however be considered without pay, and their past services from 14th September 1950 to 14th September 1951 shall be taken into account and credited against the service necessary for confirmation.

India Ice Aerated Water and Cold Storage Co., Ltd., having their factory at 138, Beliaghata Road, Calcutta, and Head Office at 20-21 Stephen House, Dalhousie Square, Calcutta, and their workmen as represented by the Calcutta Baralkal Mazdoor Union, 11, Beliaghata Road, Calcutta, were referred for adjudication to Sri P. India Ice Aerated Water and Cold Storage Co., Ltd., having their factory at 138, Beliaghata Road, Calcutta, and Head Office at 20-21, Stephen House, Dalhousie Square, Calcutta, a complaint in writing before the said Tribunal, alleging that the company had altered, to the prejudice of the said workmen, the conditions of service applicable to them immediately before the said proceedings; and, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

and whereas in exercise of the powers conferred by section 31A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Sri P. R. Mukherjee, District Judge, has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted his award to the State Government;

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. India Ice Aerated Water and Cold Storage Co., Ltd., having their factory at 138, Beliaghata Road, Calcutta, and Head Office at 20-21, Stephen House, Dalhousie Square, Calcutta, and their workmen as represented by the Calcutta Baralkal Mazdoor Union, 11, Beliaghata Road, Calcutta, and in the matter of an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes (Amendment) Act, 1950.

BEFORE THE INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

Sri P. R. MUKHERJEE, Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

For the Company: Sri L. M. Ghose, Advocate, Sri S. K. Chakravarty, clerk of the Company.

For the Union: Sri S. C. Das Gupta, Advocate, Sri U. N. Sanyal, Secretary of the Union.

The main dispute had been referred to this Tribunal by the Government of Bengal, Department of Labour, by order No. 6157Lab., dated the 27th of October 1950, and during the pendency of that proceeding, the workmen made an application under section 33A alleging that the employers have altered the conditions of service, and as such, have contravened provisions of section 33.

The case of the workmen is that the workmen had been getting every year a bonus equivalent to one month's pay of the respective workers at the time of their previous employers down to the present employer, Messrs India Ice Aerated Water and Cold Storage Co., Ltd., irrespective of the fact if the Company earned any profit or not.

It is asserted that after the present dispute had been started, the Company stopped payment of the annual bonus payable to the employees and the complaint is made under section 33A.

The employers' case is that there had been no violation of the provisions of section 33 and that the payment of bonus was never a condition of service.

Issues.

1. Is payment of bonus a condition of service?
2. If so, was the Company justified in not awarding bonus in the year 1950?

AWARD.

Issue No. 1.—Is payment of bonus a condition of service?

On reading the petition of the Union, it is not clear during which year of the year the bonus was to have been paid. According to the Union, payment of bonus was a condition of service and the present Company's predecessor had all along paid this irrespective of profit or loss. The Company, however, asserts that the question of payment of bonus was never a condition of service and that the Company having sustained losses in the previous year, was not at all in a position to pay bonus, which is a condition upon profit. The Company also produced the Profit and Loss Account for the year ending 31st December 1949, which shows the net profit to be nearly to the tune of Rs. 1,22,000 and odds. The Company also produced Standing Orders, certified under section 53 of the Industrial Employment (Standing Order) Act, 1946, which shows that the Company has declared one month's pay as bonus before the Durga Puja festival to their employees, irrespective of caste and creed so long as the Company has a reasonable return to afford the expenditure.

In a summary procedure like this, it is not desirable to enter into an important question which has far-reaching effect both on the Company and also on the employees. After the arguments had been concluded, Dayaram Beri, a labour leader of some repute, accompanied by the Secretary of the Union, came to me and requested me to keep the point open.

I think it is a reasonable request and in the interest of all concerned, it is neither fair nor reasonable to decide this issue in a summary way.

The Union having taken this position, the point is kept open. The question if there has been any violation of section 33 depends on the decision of this issue. But as this issue is being kept open, the Tribunal is not all competent to say if there has been a violation of the condition of service. In the matter the petition fails. The application is therefore dismissed on the grounds set forth as above.

Judge, Industrial

The 20th April 1951.

By order of the Governor
D. S. P. MUKHERJEE,

ORDER.

2713Lab.—1st May 1951.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal Labour Department, order No. 3180Lab., dated the 10th June 1950, ended by order No. 4599Lab., dated the 18th August 1950, read with order No. 6663Lab., dated the 21st November 1950, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Keshrimull Kundanmull, 17, Grand Trunk Road, Lillooah, Howrah, and their workmen represented by the Chatakal Mazdoor Union, 84, Lala Babu Shire Road, Belur, Howrah, was referred for adjudication to an Industrial Tribunal constituted by Sri P. R. Mukherjee, Judge; and whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Tribunal, Sri Baidya Nath Sur, an employee of the aforesaid firm, made a complaint in writing before the said Tribunal alleging that the said workman had altered, to the prejudice of the said workman, the conditions of service applicable to him immediately before the said proceedings;

and whereas in exercise of the powers conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Tribunal has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted its award to the State Government;

and therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to confirm the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

Statement of an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, against the employer Messrs. Keshrimull Kundanmull of 20, C. T. Road, North, Lillooah, Howrah, for discharging a worker while a dispute under the Industrial Disputes Act is pending before this Tribunal for adjudication.

Applicant: Baidyanath Sur.

Opposite party: Messrs. Keshrimull Kundanmull.

Applicant represented by Chatakal Mazdoor Union.

PRESENT:

SRI P. R. MUKHERJEE, Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

Applicant. Sri D. C. Roy, President of the Union.

Opposite party: Sri M. M. Banerjee, Pleader and Sri H. Hinger, Proprietor of the Company.

AWARD.

Application under section 33A was filed by Baidyanath Sur, an employee of the above firm, during the pendency of the main dispute, referred to me for adjudication by order Nos. 4599Lab., dated 18th August 1950 and 6663Lab., dated 21st November 1950. It is alleged that on 18th August 1950, this applicant was wrongfully discharged without notice by one of the proprietors prejudicially to the interest of the Union. The applicant prays for action against the opposite party.

The Company submits a written statement alleging that this worker voluntarily left his service and that, there had been no dismissal, as alleged but that the applicant voluntarily left the service of the Company under circumstances narrated below.

ISSUES.

1. Was there any wrongful discharge of the applicant without permission of the Tribunal?
2. If, so, what relief is he entitled to?

Issue No. 1.

Was there any wrongful discharge of the applicant without the permission of the Tribunal?

On reading the evidence of the applicant as also of the Manager of the factory, it is clear that on the day in question this worker, who is Nickel Mistry, was found sitting idle by the proprietor. The latter brought him to the Manager and it was reported that the dynamo where Baidya was working was out of order, and as such, this Mistry could not work. He was deputed to another department and according to the Standing Rules of the Company, he was bound to work there. Strangely enough this worker shortly after unceremoniously came to the office and demanded the arrear wages and said that he would not work any more in this factory. The Manager was attempting to settle his account when he left the factory and never returned. The statement of the employee also supports the fact that he was asked to work in another department, but he adds that he was willing to go there and begin his work, but he was summarily dismissed. I cannot really believe why a man should be summarily dismissed when he was willing to work in another department to which he had been deputed.

If the Company really had any intention to dismiss him, they could have appointed other men in his place. Moreover, it is also curious that no representation about the alleged unwarranted discharge, had been made through the Union. It is also clear that the Company had made some provision on 1st December 1950 under section 33 to discharge a few workers and they could have easily at this time sought permission to discharge this worker also at that time. On reading the entire evidence and considering the circumstances of the case, I am of opinion that this worker voluntarily left the service of the Company and that it was not a case of dismissal. The worker is free to come to the office of the company for payment of dues, if the same has not already been taken. The issue is answered accordingly.

Issue No. 2.

What relief is he entitled to?

In view of the above finding, the applicant is entitled to no relief and I make no award accordingly.

ORDER.

No. 2731Lab.—2nd May 1951.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 6684Lab., dated the 22nd November 1950, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Western Oxy-Acetylene and Electric Welding Co., Ltd., 233/4, Lower Circular Road, Calcutta, and one of their employees Sri Hira Lal Das Gupta of 37, Chetla Central Road, Alipore, Calcutta, as represented by himself, was referred for adjudication to Sri G. Palit, District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri G. Palit, District Judge, has submitted to the Government his award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to affirm the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

The matter of an industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Western Oxy-Acetylene and Electric Welding Co., Ltd., 233/4, Lower Circular Road, Calcutta, and one of their employees, viz., Sri Hira Lal Das Gupta of 37, Chetla Central Road, Alipore, Calcutta, as represented by himself.

BEFORE THE INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

SRI G. PALIT, District Judge, Chairman of the Tribunal.

For the employee: Sri Hira Lal Das Gupta himself.

For the Company: Mr. V. J. Spitz, Director of the Company.

By Government order No. 6684Lab., dated the 22nd November 1950, the said dispute has been referred to me for adjudication under sections 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947).

The reference was received here on the 25th November 1950. The employee filed written statement on the 6th December 1950. The Company filed written objection on the 3rd January 1951. The case was heard on the 10th April 1951. Award was reserved.

The issues contained in the schedule of the Order of Reference stand as follows:—

1. Was the dismissal of Sri Hira Lal Das Gupta justified?
2. What relief or compensation he is entitled to?

AWARD.

Before the Tribunal went into the question of actual adjudication on the matter referred to above, it was confronted with the legal aspect of the case, viz., whether the present case the Tribunal is competent to decide. It is contended that the dispute in question is an individual dispute and not a collective one. As such, it does not come within the definition of "industrial dispute" as defined in section 2(1) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. The Tribunal took up this question first, because if it lacked jurisdiction it could not obviously decide the issues on the merits.

5. A brief reference to the facts of the case will, however, be pertinent. Hira Lal Das Gupta was a temporary employee under this Company. He appears to have been in service from 9th September 1947 till 19th November 1947 at Rs. 350 per month. He was discharged on 19th November 1947 on the ground of incompetency. He claims arrear wages as well as compensation in lieu of notice.

6. Now the point before me is whether the case does lie legally before the Tribunal. The Tribunal is definitely of opinion that the "industrial dispute" as defined in section 2(k) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, stands for a collective dispute, not for any individual dispute. That the present dispute is an individual dispute is admitted by the employee himself. It is also admitted from the Order of Reference. The learned Conciliation Officer in his report, which is a part of the record, has also expressed the dispute as such. He observes: "Our attempts for conciliation have failed in spite of our best efforts and a remedy of the grievance is called for, though perhaps the ordinary court would have been a more suitable forum than a Tribunal. It is a very difficult case. Reference to a Tribunal will be a violence on the Statute. What this learned Conciliation Officer has observed with an eye to the substance of the matter in issue, I endorse with reference to the law involved. I have elaborately discussed this question in my award on Messrs Chittagong Engineering and Electric Supply Co., Ltd., and their employees in connection with the case of Sri Satish Chandra Ganguli, published in the Calcutta Gazette on the 11th January 1951. This view has been confirmed by the recent judgment of Mr. Justice J. P. Mitter of the Hon'ble Calcutta High Court published in the Calcutta Weekly Notes (55 C.W.N. 256), in the matter of J. Choudhury vs. M. C. Banerjee and another. The learned Judge observes: "On a true construction of section 2(k) of the Industrial Disputes Act, a dispute which is between the employer on the one side and an individual employee on the other, cannot come within the definition of 'industrial dispute'. A dispute, which in origin is between the employer and an individual employee, may develop into an industrial dispute if the rest of the employees or the majority of them take up the cause of the employee concerned." (Kandan Textiles, Ltd. vs. Industrial Tribunal, Madras, reported in Vol. I, Indian Factories Journal at p. 270 discussed and followed). In this connection I must point out that my erstwhile brother Sri M. C. Banerjee in his award in Hukumchand Jute Mill and others vs. employees reported in the Industrial Law Journal, 1950, has been pleased to take a different view. I regret that I cannot agree with the view expressed therein. Lord Shaw in Conway vs. Wade (1909) A.C. 50 endorsed the opinion that an individual dispute does not come within the definition of a trade dispute. It reaches that stage when the dispute develops into a situation of general aspect. In this view of the matter I find that the present dispute, being an individual dispute and not a collective one, does not come within the definition of "industrial dispute" within the meaning of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. The Industrial Tribunal can adjudicate only industrial disputes. So in the present case it lacks jurisdiction to decide. As such the applicant is out of the Tribunal. His claim does not succeed for want of jurisdiction. I, however, point out that I have not recorded any finding on the issues referred to.

G. PALIT.

Chairman of the Tribunal

The 19th April 1951.

By order of the Government.
D. S. P. MUKHERJEE, Jt.

ORDER.

No. 2777Lab.—2nd May 1951.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 330Lab., dated the 16th January 1951, the industrial disputes between the employers of Bidi Firms of Raniganj mentioned in the list attached therewith and their workmen as represented by the Bidi Mazdoor Union, (Girijapara, post office Raniganj), Burdwan, regarding the matters specified in the schedule to the order aforesaid were referred for adjudication to an Industrial Tribunal constituted by Sri A. Das Gupta, District Judge;

And whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Tribunal, Bidi Mazdoor Union, on behalf of the workmen of the Bidi Firms made complaint in writing before the said Tribunal alleging that the said workmen had altered, to the prejudice of the said workmen, the conditions of service applicable to them immediately before the said proceedings;

And whereas in exercise of the powers conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Tribunal has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted its award to the State Government.

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

In matter of reference No. 330Lab., dated the 16th January 1951, of the Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, and in the matter of an industrial dispute between the employers and workmen of Bidi Firms at Raniganj mentioned in the annexure to the Order of Reference, and in the matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950 (Case No. 30 of 1951).

PRESENT:

SRI A. DAS GUPTA, District Judge.

the complainant: Jonab Z. H. Khan, and Sri Jagadish Chandra Jha, President and Secretary of the Bidi Mazdoor Union.

opposite party: Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate, and Sri N. M. Das Gupta, Leader, instructed by Sri Gouri Shankar Nandy, Secretary of the Bidi Firms Association.

AWARD.

In pursuance of the order of reference No. 330Lab., dated the 16th January 1951, of the Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, proceedings, for adjudication of the several items of industrial disputes between the employers and workmen of 34 Bidi Firms as listed in the schedule of reference were started immediately on receipt of the order of reference. The adjudication proceedings are still pending.

The present complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, been filed by the Bidi Mazdoor Union on behalf of the workmen in the Firms and relates to the following wrongful acts on the part of employers :—

Name of the aggressor firm.	Particulars of aggrieved workmen.	Details of wrongful act complained of with date thereof
1. Kalyani Bidi Stores	.. Workman Amir Khan ..	Wrongful dismissal on October 1950
2. Shyama Khan Bidi Stores	.. Three workers (not named).	Wrongful dismissal in the week of October 1950
3. Tripti Bidi Stores	.. 60 workers (not named)	Wrongful retrenchment towards the end of October 1950
4. Shivazi Bidi Stores	.. All workmen of the firm	Illegal and wrongful lock-out from 6th November 1950
5. Ajanta Bidi Stores	.. Women workers ..	Reduction of wages on from 28th November 1950
6(a) Ajanta Bidi Stores	.. 60 women workers ..	Wrongful dismissal on November 1950
6. Hanuman Bidi Stores	.. Workman Nagen Das ..	Wrongful dismissal on January 1951
7. Kura Ram Bidi Stores	.. All workmen of the firm	Illegal and wrongful lock-out from first week of January 1951
8. All Bidi Firms at Raniganj	.. All bidi workers ..	Illegal and wrongful lock-out from 10th to 20th January 1951

Section 33A of the amended Industrial Disputes Act authorises Tribunal to assume jurisdiction over an industrial dispute arising out of violation of the provisions of section 33 of the Act as amended by Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, without a reference from the appropriate Government under section 10 of the Act. This is a special provision and the conditions under which this special provision may be invoked must be fulfilled before the Tribunal assumes jurisdiction over an industrial dispute without any order of reference from the appropriate Government as contemplated by the general section (section 33 of the Act). The conditions are that adjudication proceedings are pending before a Tribunal and that during the pendency of these proceedings the employers contravene the provisions of section 33 of the Act.

A reference to the alleged wrongful acts of the employers complained of as detailed in the foregoing table will show that all the wrongful acts complained of with the exception of the alleged lock-outs (items 4, 7 and 8 of the table) were completed long before the order of reference No. 133 dated the 16th January 1951, on which the adjudication proceedings before this Tribunal were started. Items 4, 7 and 8 relate to lock-outs and these lock-outs were withdrawn before the order of reference. Notice has been clearly stated as to whether the other lock-outs (items 4 and 7) are continuing. Even if they are still continuing or even if they continue some time after the reference, the action of the employers was not contemplated by section 33 of the amended Act. Lock-outs are not contemplated by section 33 of the Act. Section 33 prohibits, during pendency of proceedings conciliation Officer, Board or Tribunal in respect of an industrial dispute, variation in the service conditions of workmen and discharge, dismissal and punishment by way of dismissal or otherwise of a workman concerned in the dispute without the express permission in writing of the Conciliation Officer, Board or Tribunal as the case may be. Lock-outs, for the prohibition of which different sections have been enacted, have been held not to be within the purview of section 33. This point has been discussed at length by this Tribunal in the awards for Messrs. J. K. Eastern Industries, Ltd. and their associated firms Messrs. Vita Supply Corporation, Ltd., Messrs. Reform Flour Mills, Ltd., and Messrs. Snow White Food Products Company, Ltd., and for the Victoria Cotton Mills published respectively by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, orders Nos 1467, dated the 5th March 1951 and 1275 Lab., dated the 26th February 1951. A similar view has been taken by Sri S. N. Modak, Sri R. Mukherjee and Sri M. C. Banerjee in their award for the Clive Jute

To sum up, Lock-outs are outside the prohibitions under section 33 of the Act and the other wrongful acts complained of did not take place during pendency of the proceedings before this Tribunal. The conciliation proceedings might have been pending at the time when these wrongful acts alleged to have been done. This fact will not bring these wrongful acts under section 33A of the Act. This Tribunal is not competent to assume jurisdiction over these alleged wrongful acts under section 33A of the Act as these acts are proved to have been committed during pendency of the proceedings before this Tribunal. Lock-outs complained of are not hit by section 33 of the Act and cannot therefore be a subject-matter of investigation by this Tribunal under section 33A. My award shall accordingly be that the complaint under section 33A is not maintainable.

It was urged that the Assistant Labour Commissioner before whom the Union sought relief in respect of the wrongful acts of the employers, referred to this Tribunal. The correct procedure for the Assistant Labour Commissioner should have been to enquire into the complaint and to recommend to the Government for an independent reference under section 10 of the Act, provided such a recommendation was deemed justified. The action of the Assistant Labour Commissioner could not and did not alter the law. The Union has still the general remedy open to it. It may move for a reference to a Tribunal in respect of the disputes arising out of wrongful acts of the employers. I must make it clear that in making this suggestion, I do not express myself whether the wrongful acts complained of were really committed and whether they constitute an industrial dispute. So far as the complaint under section 33A is concerned, my award is that it is not maintainable in law and must accordingly be rejected.

Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

AWARD.

Government of West Bengal in the Labour Department by its order No. 1256Lab., dated the 24th February 1951, constituted a Tribunal with me as its member under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act (Act No. 14 of 1947), and referred to me as such member the dispute said to exist between Messrs. East India Steel Works, Ltd., of 74, Hari Mohan Bose Road, Howrah, and their workmen represented by the Engineering Mazdoor Sabha of 4, Nityadhan Mukherjee Road, Howrah, and expressed in the following issue:—

“If the discharge of the workers en masse was justified and if the workers were entitled to any relief they were entitled to?”

The reference was received in the office on the 24th February 1951. Put up before me after I joined the Tribunal on 5th March 1951. On 15th March 1951 an adjournment the Union filed its written statement on 22nd March 1951. The Company filed no statement in answer though some adjournments were taken for the purpose by it. Eventually both parties filed a joint statement of compromise recording the terms of amicable settlement between them. This was on 18th April 1951.

It is not necessary for me to go into details about the facts leading to the dispute referred for adjudication. It is the case of the Union that the labour force of the Company, which was hitherto disorganised, organised itself into a Union styled as the Engineering Mazdoor Sabha. The Union requested the management of the Company to recognise the Union for collective bargaining for settlement of any dispute that might arise in was too much for the management to bear and, by a notice served on December 1950 the Company asked 4 workmen who had actively participated in organising the Union to go on leave without pay from 30th November 1950. The notice, it is said, was illegal and could not be complied with. A deputation representing the members of the Union waited on the management to discuss the matter, but to their astonishment they came to know that those 4 members who had been given notice were already dismissed from service in the meantime. The representatives of the Union approached the Assistant Labour Commissioner with a request to intervene in the matter but the management being exasperated by that action on their part closed down the factory and discharged all the workers en bloc although there was a pending conciliation proceeding. And, further, the management imposed fines ranging from Rs. 500 to Rs. 2,000 on the workers for alleged damages caused to their tools and implements. Further details are not necessary as the issue raised in this case has been disposed of by the amicable settlement reached by the parties, as I have already mentioned.

In view of the amicable settlement of the dispute referred to me for adjudication I would hold that no dispute exists any longer, and the only order I can pass is to make an award accordingly. The petition of compromise will form part of the award being incorporated in it as Annexure A.

the matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act by Cossipore Jute Press Workers' Union on behalf of Pandab Mali against Messrs. Calcutta Hydraulic Jute Press in connection with an Industrial Dispute between the Company and their workmen referred for adjudication by Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. 185Lab., dated the 9th January 1951.

PRESENT:

SRI S. K. NIYOGI, Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

for the Company: Mr. J. J. Rattray, Assistant Secretary and Mr. T. A. Cohen, Inspecting and Welfare Officer.

for the Union: Sri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate.

AWARD.

The history of the present dispute may be summarised as follows. By Government of West Bengal in its Labour Department an industrial dispute involving various points between the Jute Presses represented by Hydraulic Press Association and their workmen as represented by the Cossipore Jute Press Workers' Union was referred for adjudication to Sri C. Dutta Gupta, Additional District Judge, by its order No. 1104Lab., dated the 30th December 1947. The award of the said Tribunal was given by Government by its order No. 1932Lab., dated the 12th June 1948, published in the Calcutta Gazette (Extraordinary), dated the 20th June 1948. After the publication of the said award the workers went on strike on the 16th November 1948, on the excuse that the Association had not implemented the award but had on the contrary filed an appeal before the Hon'ble High Court. The strike was called off on the 24th November of the same year on the intervention of the Hon'ble Dr. B. C. Roy, Chief Minister, West Bengal, and a settlement was arrived at modifying some of the decisions of the Tribunal referred to. Sometime later, the Union submitted a charter of demands which was later on, by negotiations and otherwise, curtailed to the demands in respect of provident fund and gratuity, which they pressed as in their opinion the pension scheme given to by the award of Sri S. C. Dutta Gupta could not be availed of by employees for many reasons. The Jute Press Association, however, claimed that their pension scheme was better and reasonable and should be maintained instead of any gratuity and provident fund schemes put forward by the Union.

This dispute was referred by the Government in its Labour Department by order No. 185Lab., dated the 9th January 1951, to Sri A. Das Gupta, District Judge, who was appointed a Tribunal constituted for the purpose of sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act. Subsequently, the services of Sri A. Das Gupta, District Judge, were not available, and he was appointed to adjudicate the said dispute by an order No. 1796Lab., dated the 21st March 1951.

During the pendency of the adjudication proceeding before Sri A. Das Gupta the Cossipore Jute Press Workers' Union filed a petition under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act complaining that the Calcutta Hydraulic Jute Press Co., one of the Jute Press houses represented by the Hydraulic Jute Press Association discharged one of its employees named Pandab Mali, who had put in 8 years' service, during the pendency of adjudication proceeding before the said Tribunal, without its permission and in contravention of section 33 of the Act. They further contended that the aforesaid discharge was an instance of victimisation or unfair labour practice and the discharged man Pandab Mali should be reinstated and paid his full wages for the period of his forced unemployment. The Company by its statement in answer repudiated the claims of the Union, alleging that Pandab Mali was a personal servant for the Manager of the Company engaged temporarily on the 1st August 1950, and, that he left the Manager's service without notice on the 15th August 1950. It was further stated that he approached the Manager for re-employment at the end of November 1950, but that was refused and he was told that another workman had already been employed in his place.

The reference, dated the 9th January 1951, was received by the Tribunal appointed thereby, on 10th January 1951. The date of discharge of Pandab Mali, according to the statement of the Union, which is not controverted by the Company, was 1st December 1950, which was prior to the reference being made and received by the Tribunal appointed. Section 33A, as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act of 1947, requires, for its application, not only that the provisions of section 33 of the Act be contravened, but also that such contravention should be during the pendency of the proceeding before a Tribunal. The provisions of section 33 may be contravened either during the pendency of any conciliation proceeding, or during the pendency of any proceeding before a Tribunal in respect of the industrial dispute. It is only in the case of contravention of the provisions of the said section 33 during the pendency of the proceeding before a Tribunal, that the aggrieved employee is given the right to take into use the provisions of section 33A of the Act. The learned Advocate for the Union frankly conceded at the outset, just at the time of the opening of the case, that the view taken of the requirements of section 33A was untenable and the complaint made on behalf of Pandab Mali was untenable accordingly he refrained from pressing that complaint for adjudication.

In the circumstances above stated I hold that the case does not lie, and an award is made accordingly.

ANNEXURE.

matter of reference No. 6405Lab., dated 10th November 1950, of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, and in the matter of an Industrial Dispute between Messrs. Bhagya Luxmi Insurance, Ltd., 8B, Lall Bazar Street, Calcutta, and their employee Shabesh Chakravarty, village Rajpur, post-office Sonarpur, district 24-Parganas, as represented by self.

PRESENT :

SRI P. R. MUKHERJEE, Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

Employer: Sri M. M. Banerjee, Pleader, Sri D. Banerjee, Secretary of the Company.

Employee: Sri J. N. Mitra, General Secretary of the Hind Mazdoor Sabha and the employee himself.

The case of the employee is that he was appointed a driver of the motor car of the above Company on 23rd September 1942, and that he had to work 12 hours and had no limitation to hours of work, and had to do almost every day an extra four hours.

There were some allegations that he could not enjoy any casual or sick leave, and that there was no increment of his salary or dearness allowance. The facts relevant for the purpose of adjudication are that the employee on the 13th June 1950, when he reported for duty at the residence of the Director, as usual, he was not given any work, although he stayed at the usual till 8-20 p.m. On the 14th June, he reported for duty to the Managing Director's residence as usual a few minutes before 9 a.m. and he would that he need not come any longer and that he was marked absent on the 13th. He however stayed there till 4 p.m. when he was asked to return on the following day. The following day, when he reported his absence, he was asked whether he could start duty daily at 8 a.m. He would that as it would involve his staying in Calcutta, causing an additional expense, he must be compensated by an increase of Rs. 30 on his present salary and he should be granted a day off as his weekly rest day. The Manager, however, asked him to come next day, i.e., on the 16th of June when he would consider the question. But when he came on the following day, he was informed that his service had been terminated.

The employee prays that due and reasonable remuneration, overtime, gratification and the amount of provident fund together with employer's contribution should be awarded to the applicant along with the order of settlement with full compensation. There are also prayers for overtime payment for all extra work and salary in lieu of annual leave for all these years.

The Company challenges the statement of the applicant saying that this employee was never regular in attendance and had always attended late, sometimes he remained absent without proper notice and leave. This employee was usually to have reported for duties at the residence of the Managing Director at 8 a.m. without fail, but he never was regular in attendance. He was systematically negligent in duties causing loss and injury to the Company. It is alleged that the Managing Director had an important business engagement on 12th June 1950, and being conscious of the habitual negligent conduct of the employee, he repeatedly reminded the driver of his punctuality and warned him not to fail on this particular occasion. Strangely enough, he came much late—about two hours after the specified time—thereby spoiling that business engagement of an important character and causing harm to the Company's business. On being asked by the Managing Director, in presence of the Secretary, to why he had disobeyed the particular direction, he behaved most obnoxiously and arrogantly. His tone was one of gross insubordination, and as such, his services were dispensed with for gross misconduct.

Issue.

1. Whether the dismissal of Sri Bhabesh Chakravarty was just. What relief is he entitled to?

AWARD.

The employee's statement is full of many irrelevant matters which are not necessary to deal with. Suffice it to say that many of the allegations are not correct. The allegation that he did not enjoy any casual or privilege leave is falsified by the document, Exhibit C, the application of the employee himself, which shows that he enjoyed both casual leave and privilege leave on full pay. Whatever that may be, it is to be enquired if there was any misconduct for which the applicant had to be dismissed from service. At this point, Sri Durgadas Banerjee, the son of the Managing Director and Secretary of the Bhagya Luxmi Insurance Co., who lives in the premises with the Managing Director, has been examined and from his deposition, it is clear that this driver was never punctual in attendance and that he had been in the habit of being absent without notice. He had to be warned several times for remaining absent without leave. His service record clearly shows his negligence in duty (Exhibits A, B, C, D, and D5). Warnings had had no effect and it is abundantly clear that he was never punctual in attendance. Apprehending that he might not turn up on the particular day at the appointed time, the Managing Director had already cautioned him on the previous day to turn up punctually at 8 a.m. But strangely enough, he obliged the Managing Director by putting in no appearance at 9-30 a.m. There was an important engagement. What is most regrettable and inexcusable was the impertinent conduct of the employee who when confronted by the Managing Director, answered flatly on his own terms that he cannot expect better attendance from him. The Managing Director thereupon summarily dismissed him. In my opinion, this was the course which a master could take up when a subordinate becomes so incontinent and rude.

In my opinion, there was ample justification for putting an end to his service and I do not like to interfere. The fact of impertinence is proved and it will be grave injustice and it would be giving a premium to impertinence if this man is reinstated.

The driver presses for gratuity and bonus. So far as claim for gratuity is concerned, there is no system of gratuity prevalent in this Corporation. Moreover, being dismissed for gross misconduct, he cannot expect any compensation or gratuity, even if there had been any.

Regarding provident fund, it had not yet been started fully; nor any claim has materialised. The Company now only allows interest on contribution by the employee. There has been no contribution in vogue on the side of the employer. So, the employee may easily get back the money he has contributed together with interest by producing relevant vouchers. He will get the amount less anything paid since then. The Company is and was always agreeable to refund him this amount, which he quite at liberty to get on demand at the office of the Company.

Sweeping demand for overtime work and salary in lieu of annual leave has been made, but I find that he had never to work overtime; nor was there any annual leave cumulating in his favour. He was given casual leave and privilege leave, and as such, the claims on those heads are rejected.

It was argued that some charge ought to have been framed against him and opportunity ought to have been given before order of dismissal was passed. This contention has also no substance inasmuch as it is a salutary principle of law and equity that in case of grave misconduct, an employee can be summarily dismissed, as when an employee flat in the face of the employer insults him, or shows gross insubordination or threatening attitude. It is useless in such cases to draw up proceedings against such disobedient employee. In such cases the employer would be amply justified by forthwith dismissing such an impertinent worker. In my opinion, he had been rightly dismissed. It is also curious to find that when the case was pressed before the Labour Commissioner by this employee, he never pressed the claim for reinstatement, but prayed for claims under heads of provident fund and gratuity. The claim of reinstatement is for the first time advanced before this Tribunal, apparently as an after-thought.

There is also one legal aspect of the matter. This employee was not represented by any Union. His case has not been taken up by any Union, and as such, it is an individual dispute and this Tribunal has got no jurisdiction to entertain such a dispute, which is purely an individual dispute and not an industrial dispute. The recent case of the Calcutta High Court provided over by Justice J. P. Mitter reported in Calcutta Weekly Notes, Volume 55, page 257, supports this contention. I firmly conclude that this employee has been rightly dismissed, and the case fails.

DEPARTMENT OF IRRIGATION AND WATERWAYS

NOTIFICATIONS.

17-1.—11th May 1951.—The following draft rules and schedule of which, in exercise of the powers conferred by sections 78 and 99 of the Irrigation Act, 1876 (Bengal Act III of 1876), the Governor is to propose to make for the supply of water from the Banskhal in the district of Bankura are hereby published for the information of persons to be affected thereby.

The draft rules and rates will be taken into consideration on or after June 1951. Any objection or suggestion with respect thereto received and undersigned before that date will be considered.

This supersedes this department notification No. 9-I., dated 21st 1951, published at pages 729 to 742 in Part I of the Calcutta of 5th April 1951.

DRAFT RULES AND RATES.

Leases for a term of years.

The country served by the canals shall be mapped out into blocks of convenient size in accordance with the features of the ground, the natural drainage. So far as may be practicable, the blocks shall be separated by straight lines. This shall be done by the Subdivisional Canal Officer under the guidance and control of the Divisional Canal Officer.

Each block determined as above shall be numbered and recorded as gross and irrigable areas in registers to be maintained by the National Canal Officer. The blocks shall also be marked on maps to be maintained by the same officer.

Leases for not more than six years may be granted for the whole or part of a block or for definite parts of a block under the following conditions:—

Ordinarily the whole irrigable area of any village so far as situated within the block must be included in the lease. If the lands of a village within the block are divisible into two or more distinct parts which can be irrigated independently a separate lease may be granted for each part.

All leases within one block shall be so granted that they may expire on the same date.

No lease shall be granted when the supply of water must of necessity be delivered across an unleased area, unless a channel exists, which, in the opinion of the Subdivisional Canal Officer, will deliver water without waste across the unleased area.

The Superintending Engineer shall fix from time to time the gross which and the limits of the canal within which, leases for a term may be granted.

Maps of all villages in which lands have been brought under lease for one year, or in which there is any possibility of such leases being made, shall be kept in the Subdivisional Canal Office. These maps to be made at a scale of 1 inch = 1 mile when such are available and elsewhere at scale of 1 inch = 1/2 mile.

The preliminary application for a lease for a term of years, either renewal, may be of an informal nature, but it must be in writing. be presented and shall be received either at the Subdivisional or Sectional Canal Officer; in the latter case the Sectional Officer shall forward it immediately to the Subdivisional Canal Officer. The Subdivisional Officer as soon as he has, by personal enquiry or by an enquiry made by the Sectional Officer, satisfied himself that the land in question constitutes a definite block or a definite part of a block, and that it can be irrigated, shall at once inform the Divisional Canal Officer giving such particulars as the Subdivisional Officer may direct, and shall ask his formal approval to the lease to be proceeded with. On receipt of such approval the Subdivisional Canal Officer shall proceed to make the detailed assessment. The lands to be brought under lease shall be indicated on a copy of the map referred to in rule 6.

7. The Subdivisional Canal Officer on receipt of the application shall depute an amin to prepare the khasra or detailed assessment paper. This shall be done on the ground with the aid of the revenue survey map and the khasra. Should the survey map and khasra not be available, the amin shall make a sketch map, and shall measure the areas of the holdings with a chain or measuring-rod.

8. When the amin has completed the khasra he shall forward it to the Subdivisional Canal Officer who shall forward it to the Divisional Canal Officer for approval.

9. As soon as the khasra has been approved by the Divisional Canal Officer, he shall return it to the Subdivisional Canal Officer with his signature in token of approval.

The Subdivisional Canal Officer shall then prepare a khatran or application of the khasra, and shall have the form of application given as Appendix I to these rules, filled up and signed or marked by each of the applicants in the presence of two witnesses.

When the application has been completely signed, the Subdivisional Canal Officer shall send it to the Divisional Canal Officer, by whom the permit for formal approval of the lease shall be signed and issued in the form given as Appendix No. III to these rules. The permit shall be made over to the representative of the cultivators by the Subdivisional Canal Officer and his Sectional Officer. The Divisional Canal Officer shall return the application to the Subdivisional Canal Officer with a copy of the permit for the purpose of recording.

10. Should it happen that the cultivators of the block proposed for lease are not unanimous, and that some of them decline to sign the application, the Subdivisional Canal Officer shall report the matter to the Divisional Canal Officer and the Subdivisional Canal Officer shall hold a local enquiry for recording the statements of the persons who decline to sign and record his personal opinion on the reasons given. He shall then send the application to the Divisional Canal Officer, who shall decide whether the lease shall be accepted excluding the fields in the occupation of the persons who decline to sign, or whether the lease shall be declined. The Divisional Canal Officer may grant a lease when not less than 95 per cent. of the net irrigated area of the block has been signed for. In particular cases should it be decided to grant a lease even though an area larger than 5 per cent. of the block has not been signed for, this may be done on the written order of the Superintending Engineer. The reasons for granting the lease shall be recorded.

Covering Leases.

11. Applicants for a lease for a term of years who may require a supply of water before the lease has been concluded can obtain a supply on tendering an application for a covering lease in the form given as Appendix V to these rules.

This application shall be signed in the presence of the tahsildar or some other responsible officer nominated for the purpose by the Divisional Canal Officer. The signatures shall be those of the leading holders in the block in question and they shall represent holders of not less than 75 per cent. of the irrigable land within the block.

As soon as the Subdivisional Canal Officer receives the application duly filled, he shall issue a permit in the form given as Appendix No. IV to these rules, and shall at once supply water.

Season Leases.

Applications for water to irrigate spring rice or other crops between 1st November and 15th June may be presented at the Subdivisional Canal Office or to the Sectional Officer. They shall be in the form given as Appendix No. V to these rules.

In the applications the areas for which water is required shall be specified and a rate shall be charged on those areas for which water is actually used as determined by measurement.

A permit in the form given as Appendix No. VI to these rules shall be issued by the Subdivisional Canal Officer if he is able to supply the water.

Supply of water.

The Divisional Canal Officer shall control the supply of water throughout the Division in his charge.

No water shall be supplied to any lands except such as have been taken under a lease for a term of years or for the season, or to such as are provided for by a covering lease.

Under the forms of irrigation lease in use, no specific supply of water is promised; but the undertaking is to give such a supply to each lease as may be necessary for the lands leased. The supply shall be given, as may be required for the proper cultivation of the crops under irrigation, according to the exigencies of the season.

The Divisional Canal Officer may give the required supply by himself, should this be advisable for the efficient working of the canals in his charge. In such a case, he is required to give the lessees written notice informing them of the periods when they will be supplied with water.

Collection of water-rates.

The rates due for water supplied shall be collected by the Divisional Canal Officer or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division through his tahsildars and peons. All khatians or demand statements shall be submitted by the Divisional Canal Officer or other officer in charge of the Division after scrutiny in his office.

At the time of preparation of the khatian in the Subdivisional Canal Office each person assessed shall be furnished with an extract from the assessment paper, showing the particulars of the charge against him. The extract shall be furnished in such form as may from time to time be prescribed by the Subdivisional Canal Officer for the purpose.

Each person on paying the sum due from him shall be given a receipt in the form prescribed for the purpose.

20. For the purposes of account of control over establishment, and general administration, the Divisional Canal Officer or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division is in the position of an Executive Engineer in charge of a Division, and is directly subordinate to the Superintending Engineer. In regard to any proceedings taken under the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1913 (Bengal Act III of 1913), the Divisional Canal Officer is subject to the control of the Collector of the district.

Unauthorized use of water and waste of water.

21. Should it be necessary to take action under the provisions of sections 79 and 80 of the Bengal Irrigation Act, 1876 (Ben. Act III of 1876), proceedings shall be instituted only under the direct and special order of the Divisional Canal Officer. The primary record of the facts regarding the unauthorized use or the waste of water shall be made by the Divisional Canal Officer and his subordinates. The parties whom it is proposed to assess shall be informed in writing, and shall be called on to show cause why they should not be assessed. The record of their statements shall be made by the Divisional or by the Subdivisional Canal Officer. The Divisional Canal Officer shall consider the facts and statements received and shall, in deciding the case, give his reasons for or against assessment both as regards the facts and as regards the law, and he shall determine the rate to be charged subject to the provision in the schedule of rates attached to these rules.

22. Should the Divisional Canal Officer decide on making an assessment he shall have the assessment paper prepared by the Subdivisional Canal Officer and his staff. Each person assessed shall be furnished with a statement of the charge against him, and an abstract of the demand or charge shall be sent to the officer in charge of the Revenue Division, who shall proceed to recover the sums assessed. The period of one month within which an appeal may be presented to the Collector under section 91 of the Bengal Irrigation Act, 1876 (Ben. Act III of 1876), shall be computed from the date on which the statement of the charge may be furnished to the person assessed, which date shall be endorsed on it.

23. No proceedings shall be instituted if the unauthorized use or waste of water have occurred through the act or neglect of a Canal Officer or a subordinate officer employed on the canal. During the irrigation of autumn rice, the passing on of surplus water from leased to unleased land is not an unauthorized use of water.

Complaints and Applications.

24. All complaints or applications with respect to the supply of water to defective drainage, and generally with respect to the administration of the canal, shall be received on presentation at either Divisional or Subdivisional Canal Offices.

Complaints and applications received by a Divisional Canal Officer shall be transferred to his Subdivisional Canal Officer for disposal in his discretion.

Any such complaints or applications, if presented to the Section Officer or to his staff, shall be returned endorsed with instructions to the proper office at which to present them. If received by post, they shall at once be forwarded to the Divisional or Subdivisional Canal Officer.

Complaints or applications with respect to corrections of the assessments with respect to the actions of the amins in assessing and with respect to the actions of the tahaldars and other staff employed in collections, shall be presented at the office of the Divisional Canal Officer or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division.

Receipts in the prescribed form shall be given at all offices for complaints or applications presented. The receipt of all complaints and applications shall be recorded in registers to be kept for that purpose.

The officer receiving the complaint or application shall either make a personal enquiry into the matter or he shall nominate in writing some suitable person to hold the enquiry.

The orders passed on all complaints or applications shall be in duplicate, and a copy of every order shall be furnished to the complainant or appellant.

A copy of order may be sent by post (registered), if this is convenient.

The period within which an appeal may be presented under section 91 of the Act shall be computed from the date on which the copy of the order is received by the person.

When an appeal to the Collector is from the order of a Subdivisional Canal Officer, the proceedings shall be called for through the Divisional Canal Officer, who may record on them such remarks as he may think fit, provided that he does not thereby detain the proceedings.

In all cases in which an appeal against an assessment is preferred to the Collector, that officer may, if he thinks fit, direct that the collection of rates be suspended till the appeal is heard.

The Divisional Canal Officer may revise the proceedings of his Subdivisional Canal Officers and the Superintending Engineer may call for and revise the proceedings of all officers under his control.

Remissions and alterations of demand.

1. Whenever the crop on land entitled to a supply of water suffers material injury from an insufficient supply of water, or from any interruption in the supply of water, remission of the rate due on such crop shall be made by the Divisional Canal Officer, provided that the person claiming remission shall have applied for such not less than fifteen days before the ripening of the crop.

2. On the occasion of lands being brought under a lease for a term of years, the Divisional Canal Officer may remit the rates for the first season on those fields which from the nature of the cultivation then obtaining, or for other causes, have not, in that season, derived any benefit from the supply of canal water.

3. Should the crop on lands under lease for a term of years suffer material injury from excess of water due to deficient drainage, the Divisional Canal Officer may grant remission of the rates due on such lands in whole or in part, provided that the person asking for remission shall have applied for the same fifteen days before the reaping of the crop.

34. Revisions of the assessment required in consequence of land under lease being left uncultivated or of land being appropriated for purpose other than cultivation shall be made under the orders of the Divisional Canal Officer.

35. Revisions of the assessment required in consequence of incorrect entries of the names of occupants of lands under lease or of incorrect extent of areas or amounts in the assessment papers, or required by changes in the occupation of lands shall be made under the orders of the Divisional Canal Officer or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division, provided that no change involving any increase or decrease in the total area under lease for a term of years shall be made, without the concurrence of the Divisional Canal Officer.

36. Remissions of water-rates on account of injury to the crops caused by inundation, by blight, by storms or by any extraordinary cause shall be allowed under the special orders of the State Government.

Irrecoverable demands.

37. The Superintending Engineer may sanction the writing-off of demands which are reported, after due enquiry by the Divisional Canal Officer or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division, as irrecoverable owing to the poverty of the defaulter or of his successors in case of his death or owing to the defaulter having absconded.

Cultivators' Representatives.

38. Whenever the preliminary application for a lease for a term of years has been approved by the Divisional Canal Officer, the officer in charge of the Revenue Division shall, with concurrence of the Subdivisional Canal Officer, select as representative of the cultivators a suitable person or persons who shall generally be acceptable to the cultivators and who shall each have a direct interest in the land for which the lease is executed.

39. The person or persons so selected shall be required to give assistance to the Canal Officers in respect of the following matters:—

- (i) In the preparation of applications for leases,
- (ii) In the measurement of irrigated lands,
- (iii) In recording the names of the occupiers of the holdings,
- (iv) In receiving demand statements and distributing to the cultivators the individual notices of assessment,
- (v) In attending, when required, at enquiries into complaints,
- (vi) In reporting to the Circle Officer any changes in the occupancy of lands under lease, and
- (vii) In assisting the tahsildar in collecting rates.

40. For such assistance the cultivators' representative or representatives shall be entitled to free irrigation of the lands in his or in their own occupation, which may lie within the boundaries of the leased area subject to a total limit of 3 per cent. of the area assessed. The Divisional Canal Officer or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division may disallow in whole or in part this free irrigation, and may recover the rates which would otherwise have been payable in whole or in part if the assistance specified in rule 39 has not been efficiently rendered. The reasons for such disallowance shall be recorded in writing.

3. The Divisional Canal Officer shall maintain in his office a register showing a record of the names of all representatives and of the areas of irrigation allowed to each.

4. Applicants for season leases shall be required to nominate one of a number who must have a substantial interest in the land to be irrigated their representative. The representative so nominated shall perform same duties as stated in rule 39 and shall receive remuneration on the scale as in rule 40.

Power to decline or cancel leases.

5. Should it be proved, after due enquiry, that the supply of water to any leased area is habitually wasted or used for the irrigation of land not under lease, it shall be competent for the Superintending Engineer to direct that the lease shall be cancelled with effect from the 16th of June following. The order to cancel a lease shall be passed before the 1st April of the year in which it is to take effect.

6. The Superintending Engineer may give directions to the Divisional Officer to decline applications for irrigation leases of lands in villages where there has been persistent difficulty in realising the water-rates, until arrears have been paid.

7. He may further suspend, or altogether cancel, any lease for a term of not more than one year if on the 1st June of any year water-rates to the extent of half the amount due for one year are in arrears. Previous notice of intention to put the rule in force shall be given not later than the 15th April preceding.

Miscellaneous.

8. Tanks may be supplied with canal-water without charge, when the water can be made available without injury to the cultivation dependent on it, under the following conditions:—

- (a) That the water is to be exclusively used for domestic purposes, or for watering cattle;
- (b) That a channel exists through which water can pass without waste;
- (c) That the water shall only be supplied on the written order of the Subdivisional Canal Officer;
- (d) That any new outlet or sluice which may be required to allow of the supply being given shall be provided at the cost of the persons who ask for the water; and
- (e) That the supply of water may be stopped at any time if it is found that it is being misused.

Except when a public right-of-way exists, no person shall, without permission expressed in writing of the Divisional or Subdivisional Canal Officer, pass himself, or cause any animal or vehicle to pass, on or across the works, banks or channels of a canal, or drainage work which is part of the canal system except by means of such bridges, fords and ferries as have been provided for the purpose.

Any person who, after due warning, commits a breach of this rule be proceeded against under clause (9) of section 93 of the Bengal Irrigation Act, 1876 (Bengal Act III of 1876).

47. The use of any part of the banks or berms of any canal, drain or work which is part of the canal system, or flood embankment which is subject to the provisions of the Bengal Irrigation Act, 1876 (Bengal Act III of 1876), as a place for answering the calls of nature, is prohibited. Any person who, after due warning, commits a breach of this rule may be proceeded against under clause (9) of section 93 of the Bengal Irrigation Act, 1876 (Bengal Act III of 1876).

48. Should water be required for purposes other than irrigation it shall be supplied, when available, at a rate of two rupees per 10,000 cubic feet of water.

49. No officer employed on the canals, unless especially exempted by the State Government from the operation of this rule, shall have any interest in the distribution of water from any of the canals or purchase or hire any Government property sold thereon either in his own name or in the name of another, or jointly, or in shares with others.

By order of the Governor
A. M. KUSARI, D.

18-1.—11th May 1951.—The following draft rules and schedule of which, in exercise of the powers conferred by sections 78 and 99 of the Bengal Irrigation Act, 1876 (Bengal Act III of 1876), the Governor has decided to propose to make for the supply of water from the catchment area of Dharfari khal together with the khal itself measuring 1.75 square miles, rest of Rajar Bund in the district of Midnapore are hereby published for information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

The draft rules and rates will be taken into consideration on or after 1st June 1951. Any objection or suggestion with respect thereto received after that date will be considered.

This supersedes this department notification No. 8-1., dated 21st March 1951, published at pages 743 to 756 in Part I of the Calcutta Gazette of 5th March 1951.

DRAFT RULES AND RATES.

Leases for a term of years.

The country served by the canals shall be mapped out into blocks of convenient size in accordance with the features of the ground, natural boundaries and official. So far as may be practicable, the blocks shall be separated by straight boundary lines. This shall be done by the Subdivisional Canal Officer under the guidance and control of the Divisional Canal Officer.

Each block determined as above shall be numbered and recorded in registers to be maintained by the Subdivisional Canal Officer. The blocks shall also be marked on maps maintained by the same officer.

Leases for not more than six years may be granted for the whole or any part of a block or for definite parts of a block under the following conditions:—

- I. Ordinarily the whole irrigable area of any village so far as situated within the block must be included in the lease. If the lands of a village within the block are divisible into two or more distinct parts which can be irrigated independently a separate lease may be granted for each part.
- II. All leases within one block shall be so granted that they may expire on the same date.
- III. No lease shall be granted when the supply of water must of necessity be delivered across an unleased area, unless a channel exists, which, in the opinion of the Subdivisional Canal Officer, will deliver water without waste across the unleased area.

4 The Superintending Engineer shall fix from time to time the gross area which and the limits of the canal within which, leases for a term of years may be granted.

5 Maps of all villages in which lands have been brought under lease for a term of years, or in which there is any possibility of such leases being granted, shall be kept in the Subdivisional Canal Office. These maps to be at a scale of 1" = 1 mile when such are available and elsewhere at scale of 1" = 1 mile.

6 The preliminary application for a lease for a term of years, either for original or renewal, may be of an informal nature, but it must be in writing. It may be presented and shall be received either at the Subdivisional or Sectional Canal Office; in the latter case the Sectional Officer shall forward it immediately to the Subdivisional Canal Officer. The Subdivisional Canal Officer, as soon as he has, by personal enquiry or by an enquiry made by the Sectional Officer, satisfied himself that the land in question constitutes a definite block or a definite part of a block, and that it can be irrigated, at once inform the Divisional Canal Officer giving such particulars as officer may direct, and shall ask his formal approval to the lease to proceed with. On receipt of such approval the Subdivisional Canal Officer shall proceed to make the detailed assessment. The lands to be brought under lease shall be indicated on a copy of the map referred to in rule

7. The Subdivisional Canal Officer on receipt of the application shall depute an amin to prepare the khasra or detailed assessment paper. This shall be done on the ground with the aid of the revenue survey map and khasra. Should the survey map and khasra not be available, the amin shall make a sketch map, and shall measure the areas of the holdings with a chain or measuring-rod.

8. When the amin has completed the khasra he shall forward it to the Subdivisional Canal Officer who shall forward it to the Divisional Canal Officer for approval.

9. As soon as the khasra has been approved by the Divisional Canal Officer, he shall return it to the Subdivisional Canal Officer endorsed with his signature in token of approval.

The Subdivisional Canal Officer shall then prepare a khatai or abstract of the khasra, and shall have the form of application given as Appendix N to these rules, filled up and signed or marked by each of the applicants in the presence of two witnesses.

When the application has been completely signed, the Subdivisional Canal Officer shall send it to the Divisional Canal Officer, by whom the permit for formal approval of the lease shall be signed and issued in the form given as Appendix No. III to these rules. The permit shall be made over to a representative of the cultivators by the Subdivisional Canal Officer through his Sectional Officer. The Divisional Canal Officer shall return the application to the Subdivisional Canal Officer with a copy of the permit for record.

10. Should it happen that the cultivators of the block proposed for lease are not unanimous, and that some of them decline to sign the application, the Subdivisional Canal Officer shall report the matter to the Divisional Canal Officer and the Subdivisional Canal Officer shall hold a local enquiry recording the statements of the persons who decline to sign and record his personal opinion on the reasons given. He shall then send a report to the Divisional Canal Officer, who shall decide whether the lease may be accepted excluding the fields in the occupation of the persons who decline to sign, or whether the lease shall be declined. The Divisional Canal Officer may grant a lease when not less than 95 per cent. of the net irrigable area of the block has been signed for. In particular cases should it be decided to grant a lease even though an area larger than 5 per cent. of the block has not been signed for, this may be done on the written order of the Superintending Engineer. The reasons for granting the lease shall be recorded.

Covering Leases.

11. Applicants for a lease for a term of years who may require the lease before the lease has been concluded can obtain a supply on tender application for a covering lease in the form given as Appendix No. IV to these rules. This application shall be signed in the presence of the talukdar or of some other responsible officer nominated for the purpose by the Subdivisional Canal Officer. The signatures shall be those of the lease cultivators in the block in question and they shall represent holders of not less than 75 per cent. of the irrigable land within the block.

As soon as the Subdivisional Canal Officer receives the application duly made, he shall issue a permit in the form given as Appendix No. IV, to the rules, and shall at once supply water.

Season Leases.

2. Applications for water to irrigate spring rice or other crops between 10th November and 15th June may be presented at the Subdivisional Canal Office or to the Sectional Officer. They shall be in the form given as Appendix No. V to these rules.

In the applications the areas for which water is required shall be specified and the rate shall be charged on those areas for which water is actually used as determined by measurement.

The permit in the form given as Appendix No. VI to these rules shall be issued by the Subdivisional Canal Officer if he is able to supply the water.

Supply of water.

3. The Divisional Canal Officer shall control the supply of water throughout the Division in his charge.

4. No water shall be supplied to any lands except such as have been put under a lease for a term of years or for the season, or to such as provided for by a covering lease.

5. Under the forms of irrigation lease in use, no specific supply of water is promised; but the undertaking is to give such a supply to each tenant as may be necessary for the lands leased. The supply shall be given, as far as may be required for the proper cultivation of the crops under irrigation, according to the exigencies of the season.

The Divisional Canal Officer may give the required supply by himself, should this be advisable for the efficient working of the canals in his charge. In such a case, he is required to give the lessees written notice informing them of the periods when they will be supplied with water.

Collection of water-rates.

The rates due for water supplied shall be collected by the Divisional Canal Officer or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division through his Tahsildars and peons. All khatians or demand statements shall be submitted to the Divisional Canal Officer or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division after scrutiny in his office.

At the time of preparation of the khatian in the Subdivisional Canal Office each person assessed shall be furnished with an extract from the assessment paper, showing the particulars of the charge against him. The extract shall be furnished in such form as may from time to time be required by the Subdivisional Canal Officer for the purpose.

Each person on paying the sum due from him shall be given a receipt in the form prescribed for the purpose.

For the purposes of account of control over establishment, and of administration, the Divisional Canal Officer or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division is in the position of an Executive Engineer in charge of a Division, and is directly subordinate to the Superintending Engineer. In regard to any proceedings taken under the Public Land Recovery Act, 1913 (Bengal Act III of 1913), the Divisional Canal Officer is subject to the control of the Collector of the district.

Unauthorized use of water and waste of water.

21. Should it be necessary to take action under the provisions of sections 79 and 80 of the Bengal Irrigation Act, 1876 (Ben. Act III of 1876), proceedings shall be instituted only under the direct and special order of the Divisional Canal Officer. The primary record of the facts relating to the unauthorized use or the waste of water shall be made by the Divisional Canal Officer and his subordinates. The parties whom it is proposed to assess shall be informed in writing, and shall be called upon to show cause why they should not be assessed. The record of their statements shall be made by the Divisional or by the Subdivisional Canal Officer. The Divisional Canal Officer shall consider the facts and statements and shall, in deciding the case, give his reasons for or against assessment both as regards the facts and as regards the law, and he shall determine the rate to be charged subject to the provision in the schedule of rates attached to these rules.

22. Should the Divisional Canal Officer decide on making an assessment, he shall have the assessment paper prepared by the Subdivisional Canal Officer and his staff. Each person assessed shall be furnished with a statement of the charge against him, and an abstract of the demand assessed shall be sent to the officer in charge of the Revenue Division, who shall proceed to recover the sums assessed. The period of one month, commencing from the date on which an appeal may be presented to the Collector under section 80 of the Bengal Irrigation Act, 1876 (Ben. Act III of 1876), shall be complete for the date on which the statement of the charge may be furnished to the person assessed, which date shall be endorsed on it.

23. No proceedings shall be instituted if the unauthorized use or waste of water have occurred through the act or neglect of a Collector or a subordinate officer employed on the canal. During the rice season, the passing on of surplus water from leased to unleased land is not an unauthorized use of water.

Complaints and Applications.

24. All complaints or applications with respect to the supply of water to defective drainage, and generally with respect to the administration of the canal, shall be received on presentation at either Divisional or Subdivisional Canal Offices.

Complaints and applications received by a Divisional Canal Officer shall be transferred to his Subdivisional Canal Officer for disposal in his discretion.

Any such complaints or applications, if presented to the Section Officer or to his staff, shall be returned endorsed with instructions to the proper office at which to present them. If received by post, they shall at once be forwarded to the Divisional or Subdivisional Canal Officer.

25. Complaints or applications with respect to corrections of the assessment with respect to the actions of the amins in assessing and with respect to the actions of the tahsildars and other staff employed in collection shall be received at the office of the Divisional Canal Officer or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division.

Receipts in the prescribed form shall be given at all offices for complaints or applications presented. The receipt of all complaints and applications shall be recorded in registers to be kept for that purpose.

27. The officer receiving the complaint or application shall either make personal enquiry into the matter or he shall nominate in writing some suitable person to hold the enquiry.

28. The orders passed on all complaints or applications shall be in writing, and a copy of every order shall be furnished to the complainant applicant.

The copy of order may be sent by post (registered), if this is convenient.

Irrecoverable demands.

The representative so nominated shall perform the same duties as stated in rule 39 and shall receive remuneration at the same scale as in rule 40.

Power to decline or cancel leases.

3. Should it be proved, after due enquiry, that the supply of water to any leased area is habitually wasted or used for the irrigation of land not under lease, it shall be competent for the Superintending Engineer to direct that the lease shall be cancelled with effect from the 16th of June following. The order to cancel a lease shall be passed before the 1st April of the year in which it is to take effect.

4. The Superintending Engineer may give directions to the Divisional Officer to decline applications for irrigation leases of lands in villages where there has been persistent difficulty in realising the water-rates, until arrears have been paid.

ANNEXURE.

A matter of an industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Shyam Engineering Works, 184, Girish Ghosh Road, Belur, Howrah, and their workers represented by the Belur Iron and Steel Workers' Union of 80, Dawnwagazee Road, Bally, Howrah.

BEFORE THE INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

Sri G. PALIT, District Judge, Chairman of the Tribunal.

For the employees: Sri Patit Paban Pathak, President of the Iron and Steel Workers' Union.

For the Company: Sri Syam Sundar Shroff, one of the partners, Shyam Engineering Works.

(Government order No. 6952Lab., dated the 2nd December 1950, and dispute has been referred to me for adjudication under sections 17 and 18 of the Industrial Disputes Act (XIV of 1947).)

Reference was received here on the 5th December 1950. The employees submitted their written statement on the 16th December 1950. The Company submitted its written objection on the 3rd January 1951. The case was taken up for hearing on 5th April 1951. No issues were required to be framed as the same were contained in the schedule of the order of reference. Neither parties did examine any witnesses. The hearing was completed on the 5th April 1951. Some documents were placed on the 9th April 1951. They were exhibited in the presence of both sides. Award made on the 12th April 1951.

The issues contained in the schedule of the order of reference stand as follows:—

1. Pay and Dearness Allowance.

2. Leave.

3. Conditions of Service.

4. Bonus.

5. Sundry Benefits.

AWARD.

4. A brief reference to the facts which have led up to the dispute will be relevant. The dispute originated over the eligibility of this Union for recognition at the hands of the Company. The intervention of the Labour Directorate was called for on 24th August 1950 consequent on the refusal of the Company to recognise the Union about its representative character. When the conciliation proceeding in this matter was pending, the Management discharged two workers without the permission of the Conciliation Officer. The Conciliation Officer visited the factory on the 30th September 1950. On enquiry he was satisfied that the Union represented all the members of the factory barring four or five. Meanwhile the Union placed a revised charter of demands on the 20th September 1950. A joint discussion followed, but nothing came out as the Management sternly opposed any increase in the rates of pay and dearness allowance unless there was a guarantee forthcoming from the workers of an increased standard of production. Ultimately the conciliation proceeding had to be abandoned. The Conciliation Officer recommended to the Management for a reference of the dispute to a Tribunal.

Issue No. 1.

5. This issue relates to the claim for increase of pay and dearness allowance. In paragraph 7 of the Company's written statement, the emoluments including dearness allowance of the employees of the different departments have been set forth. The Union has also placed a list of workers of different sections including the dates of their appointment and the daily rates of pay. It is the Company's contention that the rates of pay obtained in this factory is (1) handsome and (2) accepted by the workers as generous. The Company also pleads its incapacity to pay any increase. It will appear from the evidence placed before me that the total emolument only has been given; dearness allowance has not been separately shown. The rate of dearness allowance is said to have been as per agreement, dated the 8th September 1949. That agreement, Ext. A, dated 8th September 1949, shows that the dearness allowance has been raised to Rs. 10 per month from Rs. 6-8 per month. I have compared the pay scale and dearness allowance of different employees as marked Ext. D very carefully. I find that the minimum pay of employees in all the sections is rather too low. For instance the rates of Syam Sundar and Lila Bai in the Loom Department are Rs. 1-9, that of Panchanan Mukherjee in the Engineering Department and that of Aswini Deb Nath of the same Department are Rs. 1-8 respectively. The pay of Mathura, Bharasha and Jintal in the General Department is Rs. 1-8 each per day. These are all temporary employees. I also find that the minimum wages of permanent employees start with Rs. 1-8 per day. As this pay includes dearness allowance, certainly it is too poor. In the document, Ext. G, I get the employees classified into skilled, semi-skilled and unskilled. The Company does not accept this classification. I leave the matter of such classification to the Company for the present. The Company must effect this classification at an early date. In the absence of job valuation or the help of an expert I am unable to classify the workers in the three above-mentioned categories. But that does not deter me from fixing the minimum wages and dearness allowance of the employees in the present case. I award the minimum basic wage of all employees including the temporary workers should be Rs. 1-2-6, i.e., Rs. 30 per month. This refers to unskilled workers. Of the semi-skilled workers the basic wage should be Rs. 1-5-6 per day, i.e., at Rs. 35 per month of 26 working days of lay. Of the skilled workers I fix the daily rate at Rs. 1-8-7 per day 40 roughly per month of 26 working days of 8 hours per day. This of basic wage is exclusive of dearness allowance.

the dearness allowance at as. 15-4 pies per day, i.e., Rs. 25 per month working days of 8 hours of work per day. This is the flat rate of allowance which is open to all the employees irrespective of the grade to which they belong. I do not make the basic minimum pay or dearness allowance retrospective. That may cast a heavy burden on the Company. I make the burden prospective. It will have operation when the award becomes operative. The Company will gradually adjust itself to the burden. I do not grant any other increment to the existing members who would not benefit by the reason of this minimum basic pay because they are having the benefit of this increased dearness allowance. It was decided on behalf of the Company that if the pay and dearness allowance were increased, it may result in the collapse of the Company. Of course, the financial position of the Company is not very bright. The balance-sheets show some loss. But that is no reason why the Company should not give the minimum basic wage which includes dearness allowance also to its employees, on a subsistence level. There is certainly some truth in the contention that the Company is not entitled to exist if it cannot afford to give minimum wages to its employees. The Tribunals have tempered their award with some consideration for the financial position of the Company, or, in other words, on its capacity to pay. That is why I have fixed the minimum dearness allowance in the present case as given by the previous Engineering Tribunal. The last Engineering Tribunal has fixed the dearness allowance considerably high. In view of the prevailing cost of living, Rs. 25 per month as dearness allowance may err on the side of caution but never on the side of bountifulness. So the Company, in my opinion, should not grudge this increase. One thing I may point out that the Company's contention that the employees must be pinned down to the agreement of 3rd September 1949 is not sustainable. That some agreement was reached on that date can never preclude the workers from agitating for higher demands if the same demands are justifiable. I cannot accept the contention of the Company that the present award does not represent the workers. The order of reference must be construed to indicate that the Union mentioned therein does represent the majority of the workers. That is contemplated in section 10(2) of the Industrial Disputes Act of 1947. Besides, in this case we do not rest on assumption. The Conciliation Officer, who is an Assistant Labour Commissioner, visited the factory and found that all the workers present that morning 4 or 5 were members of this Union. So it will not do for the Company just to reject the demands, because the demands have not come from the workers direct but through their Union. This issue is accorded to the workers.

Issue No. 2.

This issue relates to leave. The Company has admitted that it will save with pay in conformity with the Factories Act, 1948. I should award the Company just to grant the increased leave allowable under the Factories Act, as amended up to 1st December 1949. Under section 79, clause VIII, of the Factories Act, the workers are entitled to 1 day's leave with pay for each 20 days' work provided he has put in 12 months continuous service in a factory subject to a minimum of 10 days. I award that the number of festival holidays of 12 days in a year with pay is in order. It is a little more in excess of what is allowable. But I do not disturb it. Regarding medical leave, I award that the workers are entitled to 15 days' sick leave on half pay provided he puts in a certificate of sickness from the Company's Doctor or from a registered medical practitioner or from a competent Hakim or Kaviraj. I do not allow any leave.

Issue No. 3.

7. I uphold the Company's practice of confirming a workman in service after six months of continuous probationary period. I accept Company's offer that all workers who have completed six months of continuous service under the Company on 22nd August 1950 will be confirmed provided they are found efficient. I agree with the Company that it should not share with others in its inherent right to discharge workers. The question of giving compensation to a dismissed worker compulsorily arises.

Issue No. 4.

8. Considering the Company's financial position, I do not allow claim of bonus. In my opinion, bonus can never be granted when Company works at a loss. By this I do not say that the converse proposition does hold good, viz., that bonus should be given when the Company does not work at a loss. The Tribunal grants bonus when there is excess production or as an incentive to increased production. That, however, is another matter. In the present case, the Company makes a grievance of the fact that the production has gone down due to "go slow" policy. Of course, adoption of "go slow" policy has not been substantiated, but there is indication that the production is not up to standard. So the claim for bonus is rejected.

Issue No. 5.

9. The same reason which induced me to reject the claim for gratuity guides me also to reject the claim for retiring benefits. The system of retiring benefits is introduced in a Company only when its condition is prosperous and also durable. Though the present Company has managed to eke out its existence for a pretty long time, its condition is at present but prosperous at the present moment. Neither am I satisfied that there is a fairly stable present or any promising future. In that view of the matter, I reject the claim for making any provision for retiring benefits. That may precipitate a crisis. Such crisis will entail unemployment of workers. In the absence of an unemployment scheme of Government or an unemployment insurance scheme such a crisis must at all costs be averted. It is not only in the interests of the Company but more plausibly in the interests of the workers. So the claim, as it stands, is turned down by the Tribunal. This issue is thus disposed of.

10. Before parting with the records of this case I refer to the objection raised by the Union that the Company has violated section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, by discharging some employees while a conciliation proceeding was pending. I must tell straightway that the objection is out of place. Objection under section 33A must be specifically brought by complaint in writing. It cannot be raised collaterally. Besides, the issues framed do not cover this matter. So, even if the Company has contravened section 33, Industrial Disputes Act, I refrain from recording any finding on that point.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute existing between Messrs. British Insulated Cables, Ltd., 9, Hare Street, Calcutta, and one of their employees, Sri Ananta Lal Mukherjee of Bhagirathi Lane, Ballavpur, Serampore, Hooghly, represented by himself.

BEFORE THE INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

PRESENT:

SRI G. PALIT, District Judge, Chairman of the Tribunal

Present for the Employee: Sri Ananta Lal Mukherjee himself

Present for the Company: Sri S. N. Chatterjee, Engineer, and Mr. Cohen, Chief Salesman.

1. By Government order No. 7130Lab., dated the 9th December 1950, the aforesaid dispute has been referred to me for adjudication under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947).

The reference was received here on the 11th December 1950. The applicant filed written statement on the 21st December 1950. The Company filed written objection on the 29th December 1950. No issues were as the same were contained in the schedule of the order of reference. A hearing was held on the preliminary point whether it is maintainable in the 18th April 1951. The applicant, Sri Ananta Lal Mukherjee, was given a week's time to enable his lawyer to place rulings before the Tribunal. The prayer was allowed. On 26th April 1951, the said applicant presented to the Tribunal in writing that his lawyers declined to appear before the Tribunal. As such, he asked the Tribunal to record its decision according to law.

The issues contained in the schedule of the order of reference stand as follows:—

Was the Company justified in terminating from their services Sri A. L. Mukherjee, with effect from the 31st March 1950? If not, should he be reinstated?

What compensation should he be entitled to?

Before the Tribunal went into the specific questions raised by the applicant, referred to above, the matter whether the Tribunal has jurisdiction to decide those questions was canvassed before it. It was contended by the applicant that the dispute in question was an individual dispute and not a collective one. As such, it does not come within the definition of "industrial dispute", as defined in section 2(k) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. The jurisdiction of the Tribunal was confined to adjudication of industrial disputes only. Naturally the Tribunal took up this legal aspect of the matter first, because, if it lacked jurisdiction, it could not obviously go on to decide the issues on the merits. Though this matter was not covered by the specific issues framed, yet, this being a legal matter, the parties are competent to raise it before the Tribunal.

A brief reference to the facts of the case will be pertinent. Sri Ananta Lal Mukherjee was the Draftsman of the aforesaid Company from 10th October 1948. His service was terminated on 31st March 1950. Sri Mukherjee's contention that his service was dispensed with only to make room for Sri H. Nandi in the vacancy caused by the death of the present incumbent. The Company's answer was that Sri Mukherjee was employed on more than a temporary hand requisitioned for the pressure of work. When the pressure had been relieved, his service was no longer required. As he did not possess the requisite qualification, the Company refused to confirm him in the vacancy caused. There was some attempt at conciliation through intervention of the Labour Directorate, but it proved abortive. So the matter was ultimately referred to this Tribunal.

Now the point before this Tribunal is whether the case is legally maintainable. I am definitely of opinion that the "industrial dispute", as defined in section 2(k) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, stands only for a collective dispute. Individual disputes are not attracted by the said definition. That the present dispute is an individual dispute is admitted by the applicant himself. The order of reference also makes it abundantly clear. I have elaborately discussed this legal aspect of the matter in my judgment in the case of Messrs. Chittagong Engineering & Electric Supply Co., Ltd., Employees in connection with the case of Sri Satish Chandra published in the Calcutta Gazette on the 11th January 1951. I have expressed similar views also in other cases decided by me subsequently. This view has since been confirmed by the recent judgment of Mr. Justice Chatterjee of the Hon'ble Calcutta High Court, published in the Calcutta Gazette (C. W. N., p. 256), in the matter of J. Choudhuri vs.

M. C. Banerjee and another. The learned Judge observes, "On construction of section 2(k) of the Industrial Disputes Act, a dispute is between the employer on the one side and any individual employee on the other, cannot come within the definition of an 'industrial dispute'. A dispute which in origin is between the employer and an individual employee may develop into an industrial dispute if the rest of the employees or the majority of them take up the cause of the employee concerned. His Lordship has also fortified this decision by reference to the scheme of the Industrial Disputes Act just to show that the industrial dispute for collective dispute as distinguished from an individual dispute view also gains support from the views expressed by Lord Shaw in vs. Wade (1909 A.C. 506) and also other cases. Though in those trade dispute has been mentioned, yet if the definition of trade dispute and industrial dispute is considered, it will be seen that the definition records any distinction, records merely a distinction without difference. In this connection I am not forgetful that my esteemed brother Sri Banerjee, in his award in Hukumchand Jute Mills and their employee has expressed a contrary view (vide Industrial Law Journal, 1940). I regret I am unable to concur with him in his interpretation of the 'industrial dispute'. Accordingly I find that the present dispute is not maintainable because the Tribunal lacks jurisdiction to decide it. The applicant, Sri Ananta Lal Mukherjee, is out of the Tribunal's claim does not succeed for want of jurisdiction. I, however, point out that I have not recorded any finding on the issues referred to in the finding recorded above.

G. PALIT,

Chairman, Industrial Tribunal

The 30th April 1951.

By order of the Governor

D. S. P. MUKHERJEE, Jt.

ORDER.

No. 2985Lab.—12th May 1951.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 6790Lab., dated 11 November 1950, the award made on adjudication of certain industrial disputes between Messrs. Napier Paint Works, Ltd., having their factory at 8, Gobra (Gorostan) Road, Calcutta, and head office at 3, Mauldhar Road, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by the Napier Paint Workers' Union of 115E, Dharamtolla Street, Calcutta, was referred to a Tribunal consisting of Sri A. Das Gupta, District Judge, for decision whether the period of operation of the said award should not be shortened by reason of a certain material change in the circumstances on which the said award was based occurring since the award was made;

And whereas the said Tribunal has submitted its decision to the Government as shown in the award mentioned hereinafter;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is hereby to publish the award of the said Tribunal so submitted in the annexure hereto.

AWARD.

The facts of the case are that in pursuance of the order of reference 5191Lab., dated the 3rd February 1950, of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, Sri S. C. Chakrabarty gave an award directing upon the industrial disputes between the employers and workmen of Messrs. Napier Paint Works. The award was published in the Calcutta Gazette under Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, No. 2186Lab., dated the 3rd May 1950. The award directed—

- (i) an increase in the daily basic wages of a worker from Rs. 1-2 to Rs. 1-2-6.
- (ii) an increase in the dearness allowance of a worker from Rs. 19 to Rs. 26 a month of 26 working days,
- (iii) an increase in the basic salaries and dearness allowance of workmen other than workers, who are paid monthly, as detailed below:—

The award was to remain in force for one year from the date of its publication.

The employers moved the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department; under section 19(4) of the amended Industrial Disputes Act [section 19(3) of the Act before amendment] for reduction of the operative part of the award on the ground of financial inability to implement it. The following points were placed before the Government:—

- (1) The increment in wages and dearness allowance under the award involves an additional financial commitment to the extent Rs. 9,310.
- (2) Price of linseed oil which forms 66 per cent. of the volume of paint products has gone up from Rs. 48 per maund in 1948 to Rs. 54 per maund in 1949 to Rs. 65 per maund in 1950.
- (3) 90 per cent. of the products of the Company is sold to various establishments under the Government of India under an Award Contract, according to the terms of which no variation in price of linseed oil since acceptance of the tender is taken into account.
- (4) The Company cannot, on account of its low financial position, afford to build a stock of linseed oil to guard against the inflation in its price.
- (5) The Company already incurred a heavy loss in 1949 and is likely to incur a considerable additional loss on the Government contracts on account of the rise in the price of linseed oil.
- (6) The Company's sale in the market is very insignificant and the Company cannot expect to recoup the loss on the Government contracts by sale in the private market.

The letter of the Company is dated the 6th June 1950 (Ext. 1) and was addressed to the Joint Secretary, Government of West Bengal, Labour Department. This is the basis of the present reference.

The Company has filed a written statement before this Tribunal in which all the grounds taken in the letter addressed to the Joint Secretary of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, have been taken. Two additional points have been raised here. These are (a) that the balance sheet of the Company for the year 1948 which showed a profit of Rs. 7 was the basis of the award of Sri S. C. Chakrabarty and that after 1948 the Company is running on loss, (b) that the Government does not allow more than 10 per cent. over the manufacturing cost as profit.

The Union opposes the Company's prayer for reduction of the operative period of the award of Sri S. C. Chakrabarty on the following grounds:—
 (1) The total emoluments awarded for the workmen in the Napier & Sons Works, Ltd., are much below the total emoluments awarded for similar workmen of comparable industries, viz., Messrs. Macfarlane & Co. and Messrs. Indian Paint and Varnish & Co., Ltd. (2) The Company is in a prosperous condition. (3) The price of linseed oil has increased only Rs. 2 to Rs. 3 per maund. (4) The selling price of the Company's products has been raised by about 20 per cent. (5) Rise in the price of materials since acceptance of tender is compensated by the Government. (6) Only 70 per cent. of the Company's products are sold to the Government. (7) The accounts of the Company are not properly kept and the Company's fund is drained into the other channels under false colour. (8) Such materials as black sheet, galvanised and plain sheets and other materials secured from the Government at controlled rates are not shown in the account books of the Company.

The Union contends that in the absence of a clear proof that the benefits granted by the last award were extravagant and out of all proportion higher than the lowest limit of the fair wage, alteration of the award to prejudice of the workmen is neither legal nor proper.

It may be noted that in raising the basic wages and dearness allowance for the workmen, the learned Adjudicator Sri S. C. Chakrabarty did not refer to the accounts of the Company in his award. On the other hand following observations of the learned Adjudicator will show that what was paid with him was the poor wage far below the minimum requirements of a man:—

The total emoluments, however, fall far short of what a man requires to maintain himself and his family according to the lowest standard of life, however, considered the profit of Rs. 7,000, as evidenced by the balance sheet of 1948, in connection with the workmen's demand for bonus and refused to award any bonus until the Company's position improved. It is clear that he considered this profit of Rs. 7,000 too low to justify any award for bonus.

It will be seen that the Company had not the fairness to place a correct picture before the Government. Each and every point which the Company considered necessary was magnified with a view to extract sympathy from the Government. The points raised by the Company are discussed below.

Financial burden imposed by the award on account of wages and dearness allowance of workmen of various categories.

Proportion of linseed oil in paint products, price of linseed oil, stock of linseed oil, contract with the Government and loss on account of contracts.

The Company's case before the Government as also in the written statement filed before this Tribunal was that linseed oil was the main ingredient in paint products, forming 66 per cent. of the volume of finished products. At the hearing a chart indicating the proportion of linseed oil in paint products prepared by the Chemist was placed before me. This chart shows that requirement of linseed oil in paint products varies from 10 per cent. to 33 per cent. and not 66 per cent. as alleged. The chart is Ext. 2(a). The chart shows that out of the contracts for 1948 and 1949 items were supplied in 1950. Three hundred and thirty-four maunds 325 maunds 2 seers of linseed oil were required, respectively, for the outstanding items of the contracts for 1948 and 1949, and 913 maunds 2 seers were required for the items supplied in 1950 out of the contracts for that year. In Exts. 2(b) and 2(d) the average price of linseed oil per maund prevailing in 1950, 1949 and 1948, has been calculated. It is assumed that the calculation of average price was made on the total quantities purchased in the particular year. If it was not so, the calculation cannot be accepted as reliable. The industry has its experts who presume that the calculations were made on the entire purchases during the particular year. The total quantities on which the average price was calculated do not agree with the statements placed before me about the quantities brought forward from the previous year, purchase during the year, consumption during the year and the stock in hand at the end of the year for 1948, 1949 and 1950 (Ext. 4 series). I reproduce this statement in a tabular form:—

			Stock from the previous year.	Purchase during the year.	Consumption during the year.	Stock end of year.
			Md. sr. ch.	Md. sr. ch.	Md. sr. ch.	Md.
1948	234 0 0	3,712 17 0	3,902 23 8	4
1949	43 33 8	4,147 0 0	3,346 10 0	34
1950	344 23 8	1,450 32 0	1,688 32 8	4

The stock at the beginning as also at the end of the year were in the stock book in cwt. and qr. These figures have been noted in Ext. 4 series. From Ext. 4 it is clear that 1,698 maunds 32 seers 8 chittas was consumed in 1950. If we deduct 931 maunds 4 seers 8 chittas consumed in the year as per Ext. 2(b), the balance of 767 maunds must have been in stock at the beginning of 1950. This was sufficient to meet the requirements for the outstanding items out of the contracts for the years 1948 and 1949. No reliable evidence has been placed before me to record as to whether any item out of the contracts for the years 1948 and 1949 had to be supplied in 1950. Even if we assume the statement in Exts. 2 and 2(a) to be correct on this point, my definite finding is that the calculations about the loss incurred by the Company on account of the price of linseed oil is not reliable, firstly because the figures in Exts. 2(b) and 2(d) represent the entire purchases of linseed oil during the three years and it will be seen from a comparison with the figures of consumption in Ext. 4 series that the Company had sufficient stock of linseed oil to cover the requirements as stated in Exts. 2 and 2(a). If Exts. 2(b) and 2(d) do not represent the entire purchases during the three years, the calculation of average price based on these figures was wrong and able. It may be that the payments mentioned in Exts. 2(b) and 2(c) were made during the particular years. If the Company had obtained any additional quantity of linseed oil during any of these three years it was in terms of an advance contract as suggested by the Union. Attention has been invited to Exts. 8 and 7(b) in which it was noted that the prices quoted in the contracts were based on the price of some raw materials which do not include linseed oil. And it has been argued that in view of the variation in the price of linseed oil after acceptance of the tender. If the position is so, the Company should have entered into forward contracts for the purchase of linseed oil or should have purchased at least a quantity of linseed oil as was required for the contracts with the Government. This was not done, as the Company says. The reasons given are that the Company had no sufficient financial resources to maintain a stock of linseed oil. This does not appeal to me, for the balance sheet shows that the Company took considerable loans to run the business. I was considerably I fail to understand why loans were not available to purchase raw materials or to enter into forward contracts when the price was lower. A business man of ordinary prudence would have made provision which was constantly fluctuating to meet the requirements with the Government which are entered into in advance. If this was not done it was due to want of foresight of the management about the future of the company. I for one cannot appreciate this want of foresight. And I am of the opinion that the workmen should not be penalised for this want of foresight of the management.

The Government is the largest consumer of the products of this Company and this is undisputed. The Company also sells its products in the private market. The price of finished product have also been increased and I presume that the price of linseed oil was taken into account in raising the price of the finished product. It is not possible for me to find out if the sale in the private market was sufficient to neutralise the alleged loss on the Government contracts. The onus is undoubtedly on the Company to make out a case to justify reduction of the operative period of the award. I do not say that the Company was not willing to produce all relevant documents called for by the Union and produced the papers which are on the award in instalments. It has been alleged that some of the papers were withheld by the workers and the copy of an information said to have been submitted to the police has been filed before me. I am not concerned with the question whether any paper was removed by the workmen from the 5-1-1951	.. N. B. Beed 8 pieces iron rods.

2-2-1951	.. F. Harley 1 lb. aluminium stearate.

This is what we find from the not to be billed vouchers. The counter book of the not to be billed vouchers produced before me is not the original. It has been argued on behalf of the Company that the workers took the original book, and that the new book was prepared with reference only those not to be billed vouchers which were available in the office. It shows that the proprietor Sri N. Beed was supplied with one gallon of spirit and $\frac{1}{2}$ seer of shellack on 12th May 1950 and 56 lbs. of brilliant R/M 28 lbs. Buff R/M—1 md. yellow ochre, 20 lbs. ready made d. two bags of cement on 31st October 1950. It will be seen from the not to be billed vouchers that the proprietor took from the Napier Paint Works paints, spirits, shellack cement and iron rods, from time to time for private requirements. There is nothing to show that any credit was for those things to the Company. On the other hand, the learned Advocate for the Company wanted to justify this on the ground that the Napier Paint Works was a proprietary concern. Item No. 8 in the foregoing counter book shows that on 11th March 1950 some paints were sent to Sri S. K. Beed, Deputy Director of Inspection for his private use. Whenever any article was sent to the office of the Director of Inspection it was sent to his address. But item No. 8 was sent to the residence of the Deputy Director of Industries. This has no justification whatsoever. The foregoing counter book shows that various items of the properties of the Napier Paint Works were sent from time to time to various concerns of not to be billed vouchers. Nothing was mentioned in the vouchers why those articles were sent. We are aware the relationship between the proprietors of the present Napier Paint Works and the concerns to whom these articles were sent. In the new counter-part book some explanation appears to have been given. In items 1, 4 and 6 the word "recondition" has been noted in the counter book although nothing was mentioned in the original vouchers. In the counter book for the item No. 3 the bags were not noted. This shows that the bags were given gratis to the Ballygunge Rice Mills. In the counterpart book No. 12 the words "on loan" have been noted, although the original voucher shows that the articles were sent on the advice of Sri N. B. Beed, Proprietor. Messrs. Beed brothers took mobile oil from the stock of Napier Paint Works from time to time. In some of the vouchers a number of the car for which the mobile oil was required was not noted. Mobile oil was taken, as the not to be billed vouchers show, on 11th March 1950, BLB 8387 and BLB 1488. The Company's case is that one of the cars the Company is used by the Managing Director. In the counter book it is shown that two gallons of mobile oil taken on 28th February 1950, the number of the car appears to be BLB 1488 although in the original voucher it was BLB 8387. This could not be explained. The heavy consumption of mobile oil raises a grave suspicion in my mind that mobile oil was used for use of car or cars for other purposes in addition to the purposes for which it was intended for use in connection with the industry concerned.

It is not possible for the Union to produce exhaustive evidence of irregularities of the nature discussed above. I am not in a position to find out what the real position would have been if there was no such irregularities as discussed above. The heavy expenses shown in the balance sheet under "Lorry and Car expenses and travelling expenses" raises a grave doubt as to whether the expenses were incurred only for the industry concerned. The onus is on the Company to make out a case to justify reduction on the operative period of the award. The workmen were given small increments. In spite of this small increment their emoluments were far below the lowest level of fair wages. It has not been shown that the workmen had given wages and dearness allowance at scales higher than those prevailing in similar industries in the locality or neighbourhood.

It has been suggested that rise in the price of linseed oil is not taken into account by the Government in making payments for the paint products supplied on advance contracts, but nothing has been suggested whether the Government was agreeable to take into account the rise in the wages and dearness allowance of the workmen. It has also not been suggested that the Company has reduced other costs to the minimum and that in spite of such economic measures taken by the management, it was not in a position to pay the workmen according to the award. Variation in the price of raw materials is a normal phenomenon with the industry. Rise and fall in the prices of an industry is also a normal phenomenon and may be due to more than one reason. The mere fact that the price of linseed oil has abnormally gone up does not justify any reduction of the operative period of the award, especially when the Company has not proved before me that all resources had been tapped before the prayer was made to the Government. Rise and fall in the raw materials and the consequent loss in an industry is entirely due to lack of foresight in the management and is not such a material change as contemplated by section 19(4) of the Industrial Disputes Act, as justifying action under the said Section. If this is allowed each and every industry in these days when everything is unstable, rush to the Government for relief under section 19(4) of the Act. Having considered all the facts and circumstances of the case I am inclined to advise the Government to reduce the operative period of the award of Sri S. C. Chakrabartty, District Judge, cited in the Calcutta Gazette under Government of West Bengal, or Department, order No. 2188Lab., dated 3rd May 1950. I award accordingly.

AWARD.

This matter has arisen out of a petition of complaint under section of the Industrial Disputes Act presented on 1st March 1951 (registered Case No. 16 of 1951 under section 33A) by Barrackpore Subdivision Chh Mazdoor Union on behalf of a workman named Dwarka Keot against M Jute Mill (South), which is one (No. 38 under 24-Parganas district in list) of the 86 Jute Mills in West Bengal which are concerned in industrial disputes referred to this Tribunal for adjudication by Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 5521Lab., dated September 1950. The original adjudication proceedings which commenced on 25th September 1950 are still pending before this Tribunal. The grievances put forward in the petition of complaint are that Dwarka Keot, a permanent workman in the Winding Department of the Mill, was charged on 9th January 1951 with the theft of 3 cops and was suspended forthwith pending further enquiry, and was virtually discharged. It is contended on behalf of the workman that he did not commit any offence to warrant dismissal. The workman has prayed for reinstatement among other reliefs. The Company has submitted a written statement contending that it was a case of theft and the Company had applied to the Tribunal under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act for permission to dismiss the workman who had been meanwhile placed under suspension as a security measure with effect from 9th January 1951. The Company has further contended that the complaint under section 23A is not maintainable as there has been no contravention of any provision of section 33.

2. The connected case under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act was registered as Case No. 185 of 1951 under section 33 on the basis of an application for permission presented by Megna Jute Mill (South) on 10th January 1951. That case under section 33 has since been disposed of by this Tribunal by order, dated 12th April 1951, which is to the effect that permission for dismissal in this case has been refused but permission has been granted to Megna Jute Mill (South) to suspend the workman Dwarka Keot for four days with effect from 9th January 1951, and the effect of the suspension would be that the workman should be permitted to rejoin duty forthwith at the end of the actual period of suspension, beyond the period of four days of suspension as a substantive punishment, being treated as a period of leave without pay. Under these circumstances, the present petition of complaint under section 33A is not pressed. We are, therefore, not called upon to go into the question as to whether the order of suspension as a security measure amounted to punishment or not, or whether there was any contravention of any provision of section 23. As the petition of complaint has not been pressed under the particular circumstances, we do not propose to come to any decision on any point and make our award accordingly.

AWARD.

Matter has arisen out of a petition of complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act presented on 5th February 1951 (registered on 9 of 1951 under section 33A) by two workmen named Ramcharan and Badri who were represented by the Secretary of the Bally Jute Mill Workers' Union. The petition of complaint is directed against Bally Jute Mill, which is one (No. 10 under Howrah district in the list) of the 86 Jute Mills in West Bengal which are concerned in the industrial disputes referred to this Tribunal for adjudication by Government of Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. 5521Lab., dated 25th Sept 1950. The original adjudication proceedings which commenced on September 1950 are still pending before this Tribunal. The grievance put forward in the petition of complaint are on the following lines, and frivolous charges were laid against Ramcharan and Badri on December 1950 and they submitted their explanations and offered evidence to prove their innocence. The management, however, unjustly suspended Ramcharan and Badri on 29th December 1950 or a later date for an indefinite period without making any provision for the payment of any subsistence allowance. It is contended in the petition of complaint that the order of suspension without any subsistence allowance for an indefinite period, amounted to punishment, and in so far as this punishment was inflicted on the two workmen without the express permission in writing of this Tribunal, the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act were contravened. The petitioners have prayed for re-instatement among other reliefs. The employers have submitted statements and have raised contentions on the following lines. The order of complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act is not maintainable inasmuch as the order of suspension did not amount to punishment and no provision of section 33 was contravened. It is submitted by the employers that two applications for permission to dismiss the petitioners Ramcharan and Badri were submitted to the Tribunal on 11th January 1951. The two applications for permission were registered with this Tribunal as Cases Nos. 113 and 114 of 1951 under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, and they were both presented on 11th January 1951. For the sake of convenience we have heard the present petition of complaint under section 33A along with the two applications for permission under section 33. It may be pertinent to mention here that we have passed orders today in connection with the two applications for permission under section 33, granting permission to Bally Jute Mill to dismiss the two workmen Ramchandra and Badri with effect from 29th December 1950 on the basis of the finding that both of them committed acts subject to discipline and were guilty of misconduct under clause 14(c) of the Standing Orders.

2. In view of the orders we have passed in connection with the two applications for permission in respect of Ramcharan and Badri, it is not necessary for us to go into the details of the facts and circumstances which will be found fully discussed in the said orders. As already stated, a preliminary point was raised on behalf of Bally Jute Mill to the effect that the present petition was not maintainable on the ground that the provision of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act had been contravened. What really remains for us to decide is whether this contention is well founded. The non-maintainability of the petition of complaint is well founded. The position is that an incident involving personal violence on the part of the Mill took place on 28th December 1950, and chargesheet was submitted to Ramcharan and Badri on 29th December 1950, and they were suspended as a security measure and not by way of punishment, soon afterwards. It has been contended before us on behalf of the workmen that the order of suspension without any subsistence allowance for an indefinite period amounted to punishment within the meaning of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, and the employers were not entitled in law to inflict punishment without securing the express permission in writing of this Tribunal. The crucial point therefore is whether the order of suspension amounted to punishment. If that order did not amount to punishment, there would be no contravention of any provision of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act and consequently the present complaint under section 33A would be well founded.

tainable. We shall therefore proceed to decide the question as to whether the order of suspension under the particular circumstances amounted to punishment or not.

1. It is noticeable that shortly after the order of suspension was passed in respect of the two workmen Ramcharan and Badri, the employers presented on 11th January 1951 two applications under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act for permission to dismiss them on account of their being guilty of misconduct under clause 14(c) (viz) of the Standing Orders. It is true that the two applications under section 33 were subsequently rejected by the Tribunal not to be in proper order and they were allowed to be properly amended on 28th March 1951 in course of the hearing. It is then the fact is that shortly after they passed the order of suspension in respect of the two workmen the employers came up before the Tribunal and made a fairly reasonable time praying for permission to dismiss. Although no sort of an enquiry was held by the management for its own satisfaction, the decision in the enquiry was intended to be subjected to the scrutiny of this Tribunal. It is clear therefore that the enquiry was not completed at the time when the management passed its order of suspension. As to whether any misconduct had been committed by the workmen concerned and whether such misconduct, if found, would be met by an order of dismissal, the decision was to be arrived at by this Tribunal. Although some sort of enquiry was held by the management. As regards the question as to whether the order of suspension amounted to a punishment, we may usefully refer to the reasoning set forth in paragraph 6 of the award of the Engineering Firms Tribunal consisting of Sri S. N. Modak, J. (Retd.), Chairman and Sri A. Das Gupta, District Judge, Member, in connection with a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act against the Hindusthan Development Corporation, Ltd., as published in the Calcutta Gazette of 28th September 1950 by Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 5335Lab., dated the 16th September 1950, and also in paragraph 2 of the award of this Tribunal in connection with a complaint under section 33A made on behalf of a workman named Lahit Chandra Paul against National Jute Mill in connection with Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 5521Lab., dated 25th September 1950, as published in the Calcutta Gazette of 22nd January 1951 by order No. 957Lab., dated 13th February 1951. As pointed out in the awards referred to, the ordinary Dictionary meaning of the word "punish" is "to cause offender to suffer for offence", "to inflict punishment for offence". The word "punish" presupposes or signifies some offence committed by the person who is punished. In so far as an enquiry into the commission of an offence was yet to be made by the Tribunal, it cannot be said to have been established that the workmen concerned committed any offence. In our particular case the order of suspension pending the final decision of the Tribunal was taken as a security measure, in the light of certain circumstances of personal violence, and did not, in our opinion, amount to a substantive punishment. In coming to this conclusion we have duly taken into consideration the factors that the order of suspension was intended to hold good for a more or less indefinite period pending the permission of the Tribunal for the infliction of substantive punishment, that no subsistence allowance during the period of suspension had been provided for. We find ourselves unable to deal with the petition of complaint on its merits regarding the facts and circumstances including the circumstance that no subsistence allowance for the period of suspension was ordered, so long as we are unable to hold that there was such contravention of any provision of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act as would constitute the basis of a complaint under section 33A. After giving careful thought to all aspects of the matter we have come to the conclusion that the order of suspension in respect of the petitioners Ramcharan and Badri, in spite of the disadvantages it might entail, did not amount to a punishment within the meaning of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act and consequently it cannot be said that there was any contravention of the provisions of section 33. Being the position we hold that the present petition of complaint under section 33A is not maintainable, and the petitioners are not entitled to relief. We make our award accordingly.

AWARD.

This matter has arisen out of a petition of complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act presented on 8th February 1951 (registered Case No. 10 of 1951 under section 33A) by the Joint Secretary of Bengal National Chamber of Labour on behalf of a workman named Naim. The complaint has been made against Fort William Jute Mill (Old) or Fort William Jute Mill No. 1, which is one (No. 6 under Howrah district in list) of the 86 Jute Mills in West Bengal which are concerned in the industrial disputes referred to this Tribunal for adjudication by Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. 5521Lab., dated 25th September 1950. The original adjudication proceedings which commenced on 25th September 1950, are still pending before this Tribunal.

The grievances put forward in the petition of complaint and in the evidence generally are on the following lines. The petitioner who was a workman had been previously given warnings for short production. During the week preceding 23rd January 1951 he was found to have given short production again. On 23rd January 1951 he was called to the Labour Officer and was made to put his thumb impression on a typed sheet of paper the contents of which he did not know at that time, but which purported to be a letter of resignation signed by him, as he came to know later on. The petitioner never intended to tender resignation in respect of his job, but the Labour Officer played a trick on him in taking his thumb impression on the typed sheet of paper. He was allowed to work on 23rd January 1951 and was paid off his dues on 24th January 1951, on which date he was discharged. This discharge was effected without the express permission in writing of the Tribunal during the pendency of the original adjudication proceedings, and in consequence the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act were contravened. Inasmuch as the workman did not intend to resign and did not consciously put his thumb impression on the sheet of paper purporting to be a letter of resignation, the termination of his service amounted to unjustifiable discharge. The prayer of the petitioner is that the discharge may be set aside and he may be reinstated with compensation for the period of unemployment. The case put forward on behalf of Fort William Jute Mill No. 1 is on the following lines. The weaver Naim voluntarily tendered resignation and the letter of resignation was drafted and typed at his request and he voluntarily put his thumb impression on the same with full knowledge of the contents thereof which were explained to him. The thumb impression of the workman was taken on the letter of resignation under any circumstances of duress or coercion. Inasmuch as the termination of service did not amount to a contravention of any provision of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act and consequently the petition of complaint is not maintainable, the petitioner is not entitled to any relief. On the side of the petitioner, P.W. 1 has examined himself (P.W. 1) and two other workmen of the Mill (P.W. 2 and 3). On the side of the Mill the Labour Officer, (O.P.W. 1), the weaving overseer (O.P.W. 2) and clerk of the Labour Office (O.P.W. 3) have been examined. Each side has also put in a number of documents.

2. The most important document in this case is Exhibit A, which, according to the employers, was the letter of resignation, dated 23rd January 1951, on which the workman Naim is said to have voluntarily and knowingly put his thumb impression indicating his decision to tender resignation. The question is whether the petitioner Naim voluntarily and knowingly put his thumb impression on Exhibit A or whether the document Exhibit A was entirely a fabrication as contended in the argument advanced on the workman's behalf, or the thumb impression even if genuine, was obtained on the sheet of paper by deceitful means or under circumstances of duress or coercion. In his evidence the petitioner Naim (P.W. 1) does not really allege any kind of coercion, and his case seems to be that a trick was played on him and he was unaware of the contents of the paper on which he put his thumb impression. Naim says that he put his thumb impression on a paper of foolscap size, whereas Exhibit A is not of that size. We see no reason why a paper of smaller size should have been substituted for a paper of foolscap size, if the employers were inclined to play any trick. Taking into consideration the evidence on both sides and the facts and circumstances emerging therefrom, we are satisfied that Exhibit A was the sheet of paper on which Naim put his thumb impression. The real question is whether at the time of his putting the thumb impression he was aware of the contents of the typed document. The Labour Officer (O.P.W. 1) and the clerk (O.P.W. 3) have stated that Naim expressed his desire to resign at his request the Labour Officer had the letter of resignation typed for him, and the contents of the typed document were explained to the workman and after that he voluntarily and knowingly put his thumb impression. As against this evidence we have got solitary evidence of Naim (P.W. 1) to the effect that he was given a chit of paper by a Baboo of the weaving department and was asked to go to the Labour Officer, and when he completed his thumb impression on the chit of paper which was of foolscap size on being asked to do so by the Labour Officer, and he was unaware of the contents of the paper. Naim's case is that he was informed on the morning of the following day, 24th January 1951, that he had been finally discharged and on the afternoon of 24th January 1951 he received his dues and was given the resignation notice (Exhibit 1), and he came to know about the alleged resignation when the notice (Exhibit 1) was explained to him by another person on the evening of 24th January 1951. P.W. 3 Shamshad stated that when Naim came out of the Labour Office, presumably on 24th January 1951, he asked Naim what the matter was and Naim told him to short production he had been made to put his thumb impression on a piece of paper, and the witness heard on the next day that Naim had been discharged. Naim himself has not said that he was made to put his thumb impression on a piece of paper owing to short production. The evidence of P.W. 3 on this point is therefore of no value. The crucial question is whether Naim voluntarily and knowingly put his thumb impression on a piece of paper purporting to be a letter of resignation. Apart from the evidence on both sides, we have to take into account the undisputed fact that Naim received payment of his outstanding wages and other dues for statutory leave pay on 24th January 1951, without raising any objection of any kind. It is further significant that he kept quiet for several days even after he was informed that his services had been terminated. Considering the evidence of both sides, in the light of probabilities, we come to the conclusion that Naim voluntarily and knowingly put his thumb impression on the letter of resignation, Exhibit A, the contents of which were made known to him in due course. In coming to this conclusion we have not been unmindful of the position that the workman had been given a number of warnings for short production on previous occasions, and the employers were most probably not satisfied with his work. That fact, however, does not detract from the fact that Naim voluntarily tendered his resignation by putting his thumb impression on the letter of resignation and he was satisfied for the time being with the payment of wages on 24th January 1951. The resignation duly tendered was accepted by the Manager on the same day 23rd January 1951. After the resignation was formally accepted and the termination of his service in consequence of acceptance of the resignation was duly intimated, it was not open to the workman to change his mind and assert that he had been discharged in consequence of the action of the employers.

It has been contended on behalf of the petitioner workman that the validity of the resignation, even if it was an act of resignation, on the same day without calling upon the workman to give the requisite notice under clause 13 of the Standing Orders (page 164 of the Jute Textile Industry Tribunal's Award of 1948) amounted to a violation of the particular clause of the Standing Orders. We are unable to accept this view, and we hold that while clause 13 of the Standing Orders imposes an obligation on the workman to give the requisite notice in a case of termination of employment by way of resignation, it would be open to the employers to waive such notice, and there is nothing in the Standing Orders to preclude such waiver. It has next been argued on behalf of the petitioner workman that the employment of the workman could only be terminated when the employers accepted the resignation, and the termination of employment by way of acceptance of a resignation amounted to a discharge within the meaning of section 33(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act, and the employers were not entitled to effect such discharge or to terminate the employment by way of acceptance of the resignation, without the express permission in that behalf of the Tribunal. In our view the point raised is interesting but immaterial. We are of opinion that the expression "discharge" in section 33(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act indicates termination of employment of a workman owing to some active and primary step taken by the employers themselves without the intervention of any act like resignation on the part of the employee, and no secondary act of acceptance by the employers of a resignation in the nature of a primary act on the part of an employee intended by the Legislature to be covered by the expression "discharge". In that view of the matter, in the light of our finding that the termination of employment in the present case resulted from the acceptance of a resignation tendered by the workman, we hold that there was no contravention of any provision of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. In the we hold that the present petition of complaint presented on behalf of workman Naim is not maintainable, and he is not entitled to any relief. We make our award accordingly.

ORDER.

No. 3147Lab.—18th May 1951.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 878Lab., dated the 10th January 1951, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Annapurna Press, 33A, Madan Mitra Lane, Calcutta, and their workmen (1) Sri Biswa Ghosh, (2) Sri Nakul Chandra Pal, (3) Sri Panchanan Das, (4) Sri Pasupati Mudi, (5) Sri Phakir Chandra Pan, (6) Sri Tarapada Mondal, (7) Mahadeb Mondal and (8) Sri Golak Chandra Roy as represented by Press Employees' Association, 249B, Bowbazar Street, Calcutta, referred for adjudication to Sri A. Das Gupta, District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri A. Das Gupta, District Judge, has submitted to the State Government his award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of Reference No. 578Lab., dated the 27th January 1951, the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, and in the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Annapurna Press, 33A, Madan Mitra Lane, Calcutta, and their workers Sri Biswa Ghosh and seven others as represented by the Press Employees' Association, 249B, Bowbazar Street, Calcutta.

PRESENT:

SRI A. DAS GUPTA, District Judge.

For the employees: Sri S. K. DHAR, Pleader, instructed by Sri Bhushan Sarkar, Secretary of the Press Employees' Association

For the employer: None.

AWARD.

The industrial dispute is over the discharge of Mahadeb Mondal, Chandra Roy, Biswanath Ghosh, Nakul Chandra Pal, Panchanan Pasupati Mudi, Phakir Chandra Mudi, and Tarapada Mondal. They are workmen of the Annapurna Press. These eight workmen are said to have been wrongfully dismissed, for no fault of theirs, as an unfair labour practice. The facts of the case as alleged by the Press Employees' Association are as follows:

that Mahadeb and Golak who had been authorised by all workmen of the Press to represent before the employer their grievances, were placed before the employer the grievances of the workmen on the 25th September 1950; and that one of the grievances represented by these workmen was that they were not getting the amenities which the workmen of the other presses were being allowed. Mahadeb and Golak represented to the employer that they had information about the conditions obtaining in other presses from the office of the Press Employees' Association, the employer asked them to cut off all connections with the Association and offered these two representatives two days' time for their reply after deliberation; and on the 25th September, when the Mahadeb and Golak attended office for signing the Attendance Register, they were told that their services had already been dispensed with. The matter was reported to the Labour Commissioner and when the Labour Commissioner called for an explanation from the employer the other six workmen, viz., Biswanath, Nakul, Panchanan, Pasupati, Phakir and Apudra were asked by the employer to cut off their connection with the Association and to give a declaration in writing that they had no grievance against the employer. These six workers having declined to comply with the request of the employer were also wrongfully dismissed, for no fault of theirs, as an unfair labour practice. Mahadeb is said to have been appointed with effect from 1st February 1951. The other seven workers are said to have worked in the Press for a period varying from one year to four months to four years, as detailed in the Appendix annexed to the statement of the Press Employees' Association. The employer filed a written statement denying the charge of unfair labour practice. It was stated that the financial position of the Press would not permit the employer to meet the new demands of the workmen; and that Mahadeb and Golak voluntarily resigned respectively on 3rd September 1950 and 5th September 1950. Nothing was said about the other six workmen in the written statement of the employer.

Sri Sanat Kumar Roy Chowdhury, Pleader, was authorised by the Proprietor of the Press to represent him before this Tribunal. The case was fixed on 8th March 1951 for hearing, but on the ground of illness of the Proprietor's son, the case was adjourned to 16th April 1951. But as the Presiding Judge of the Tribunal was to be away at Ranigunge in connection with a case, the date of hearing of the present case was shifted from 16th April 1951 to 23rd April 1951 by an order, dated 28th March 1951. The change in the date of hearing was communicated to both parties by the Bench Clerk. The lawyer of the employer attended the Tribunal on 16th April 1951 and could know of the change of date from the Bench Clerk. On 23rd April 1951 no one else appeared for the employer. On the 23rd April, the case was to be commenced at 11 a.m. The lawyers of both sides as also the workmen and the Secretary of the Press Employees' Association attended the Tribunal in time. The proprietor was rung up by my Bench Clerk about 11-30 a.m. I could understand from my Bench Clerk that the proprietor had told him that his man would be coming to this Tribunal in a few minutes, but none appeared at least till 12-35 p.m. The Bench Clerk again attempted to ring up the Proprietor of the Press, but the Proprietor could not be found and some one told him that the Proprietor had already left. The Annapurna Press has no telephone. At the suggestion of the Secretary of the Press Employees' Association, my Bench Clerk contacted the Proprietor of the Annapurna Press on the telephone through Messrs. Rudra & Co., 32, Madan Mitra Lane (B.B. 478). As no one appeared for the employer, his pleader Sri S. K. Rai Chowdhury sought the Tribunal's permission to withdraw from the case on the ground that the proprietor was present to instruct him. The permission was granted. The hearing commenced ex parte at about 1 p.m.

ORDER.

No. 3162Lab.—19th May 1951.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 5355Lab., dated the 18th September 1950, the industrial dispute between the Narayan Hosiery Mill of 108/1, Benares Road, Howrah, with its Head Office at 160, Cross Street, Calcutta, and its workmen represented by the Bengal Hosiery Workers' Union of 18/3, Kamini School Lane, Salkia, Howrah, was referred to Sri P. R. Mukherjee, District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri P. R. Mukherjee, District Judge, has submitted to the State Government his award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provision of section 17 of the Industrial Dispute Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of Reference No. 5355Lab., dated the 18th September 1950 of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, and in the matter of an industrial dispute between Narayan Hosiery Mill of 108/1, Benares Road, Howrah, with its Head Office at 160, Cross Street, Calcutta, and its workmen represented by the Bengal Hosiery Workers' Union, 18/3, Kamini School Lane, Salkia, Howrah.

PRESENT:

SRI P. R. MUKHERJEE, Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

For the employer: Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate, Sri T. Nag, Manager of the Company.

For the employees: Sri S. Pattanayak, Secretary of the Union.

AWARD.

The case of the Union is that the employer had on 26th October 1949 given a notice that the concern would be kept closed from 1st December 1949 as the maintenance of the same would entail loss to the Company. On 31st October 1949, the Company informed by another notice that the concern would be kept closed from 1st November and the labourers would get one month's pay in advance as pay in lieu of notice. The Company further directed that the employees would not be required to attend the factory from 1st November 1949. On getting this notice, the employees approached the Management to reconsider their decision and wanted to know the period of lock-out and also compensation for involuntary unemployment. Enraged at this, the Company issued a notice by which they intimated that the previous notice for payment of one month's pay had been cancelled and that they would get only 15 days' pay. The Union further urges that there was no justification for lock-out, as the Company had made sufficient profit.

The prayer of the Union is that the Mill should be directed to be reopened, and that the old employees should be taken in and that they should get full compensation for the period of unemployment. Their alternative prayer is that if the Mill cannot be reopened, the employees should get gratuity on the basis of 15 days' salary for the period of service.

The Company alleges that the present reference is bad in law and is not maintainable inasmuch as on this point there had already been an award which was in force during the time of reference.

Company alleges that due to the depression in the hosiery market due to accumulation of stock resulting in loss, the Company has as an alternative than to close the factory and discharge the workmen. In view of this object in view, the Company issued a notice on 26th November 1949 intimating that the factory would be closed and the workers would be discharged with effect from 1st December 1949. The Company denies that it issued any notice, dated 31st October 1949, intimating closure of the factory, and that on receipt of the notice, dated 26th October 1949, the workers started illegal activities, breaking discipline and refused to go to work from any work with effect from 1st November 1949. There was a lock-out, but the workers refused to do any work from 1st November 1949.

Issues.

Whether the Mill should be directed to be reopened, and if so, whether the old workers are to be taken in?

If the closure of the Mill is justified, what compensation and other benefits the workers would be entitled to, and whether there should be any provision for their re-employment if the Mill is reopened in future?

Is the application maintainable in law?

2.—If the closure of the Mill is justified, what compensation and other dues the workers would be entitled to, and whether there should be any provision for their re-employment if the Mill is reopened in future?

This issue is taken up first for consideration. According to the case on appeal, the Company had notified that the factory would be kept open from 1st December 1949, but strangely enough on 31st October 1949 a notice was given to the effect that the factory would be closed from 1st November 1949. So, according to the Union, this was a lock-out without notice, and as such, they would be entitled to compensation, and that it is a case of illegal lock-out inasmuch as there was no notice for the closure of the Mill. Stoutly denying this allegation, the Company asserts that there was only one notice—on 26th November 1949 intimating that the factory would be closed on 1st December 1949. The issuing of second notice on 26th November 1949 is the act of the employer. It is to be seen if the closure was justified, and if the Company suddenly changed the mind and locked out the factory on 1st November 1949, as alleged by the Union. No second notice is produced before this Court by the Union. Only a notice, dated 26th October 1949, is produced (Exhibit E). The notice runs to the effect:—

"Under the present economic condition it is not possible for us to run the factory except at a loss, the Management has therefore with regret decided to close the working of the factory as and from the 1st December 1949 and as such workers of the factory will have no employment under us from 1st December 1949."

The Company had decided to close the factory from 1st November 1949 and could have easily issued a notice to that effect instead of issuing a notice intimating the closure of the Mill from 1st December 1949. The facts clearly show that the factory was kept open in November, 1949, the workers being dissatisfied with this order of closure started picketing the factory gates and did not allow loyal workers to go to work of the factory. This is abundantly clear from several letters written by the Manager of the factory to the Officer-in-charge. Go police-station (Exhibits A, B and C), in which police help had been in view of picketing by the workers. If the factory had been a closed and locked out, as alleged, from 1st November 1949, there was a necessity of seeking police help. If the Manager had decided to close the factory on 1st November, what was the necessity of asking for police help? The evidence of the Manager shows that the workers went on strike and did not turn up, as they demanded gratuity, six months' pay, etc., and wanted to hamper with the working of the Mill so far as loyal workers are concerned. The only conclusion, therefore, is that these workers started picketing and were stated by the Company, and did no work for the month of November 1949, as such, there was a strike by most of the workers. It is clearly, in my opinion, not a case of lock-out, but a case of strike by the workers, as the month of November is concerned. It is clear that the Manager had decided to close the factory due to economic conditions. The Manager of the factory, who has been examined, deposes to the effect that the closure of the Mill was decided as a matter of necessity, in view of the depression in the hosiery market and due to the accumulation of stock resulting in a loss to the Company. It is also proved that the supply of yarn was reduced. Whatever that may be, in a matter of this nature, it is for the Management who should be given free hand in deciding whether a factory should be run or not. Prima facie when a concern is threatened with depression and a gloomy future, it will be quite inequitable and highly injurious on the part of an outside agency to sit in judgment on the decisions taken by the Management and to hold that the factory should be reopened. The causes advanced by the Management are prima facie enough to justify the closure of the Mill and I hold accordingly.

The next question that arises is if the workers are entitled to compensation for this closure of the Mill. In view of my finding that the workers concertedly absented themselves from duty in the month of November though the factory was kept running, and in view of the fact that they started illegal strike and picketing, no compensation is claimed by them. That the Company acted bona fide in closing the factory is clear from the fact that they took the earliest opportunity to re-open the factory and to re-employ the old workers.

The position of the hosiery market improved a little by the mid June 1950 and the Management decided to reopen the factory in a skeleton form. Notices were issued on 16th June 1950, asking ex-employees to apply for employment, copy of which was forwarded to the Union. At the time the Company reopened the factory in a skeleton form. Later on 1st September, the sewing department was opened and ex-employees were invited to join. It is admitted that up to now the Company employed 14 persons, of whom 14 were ex-employees and 1 a relation of an ex-employee. The other ex-employees did not apply in proper time and so the Company engaged 3 outside workers. The Company has given an undertaking that in case of further recruitment, they will invite the old workers through the Union. This is a good idea and in view of what has been said, I find that the Company is actuated by best of the motives, as such, no further direction is necessary on the point.

Issue No. 1.—Whether the Mill should be directed to be reopened, and so, whether the old workers are to be taken in?

The Mill has already been opened in some sections and old workers' interest is sufficiently well-guarded. No direction on the point is required.

Issue No. 3.—Is the application maintainable in Law?

urged that there had been a previous reference on the same dispute Tribunal under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act for action by Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order Lab., dated 11th June 1950. Both the parties filed their written statements in due course and the Tribunal gave an award, which was made by the Government of West Bengal by its order No. 31321 Lab., 10th June 1950. The said award is binding for one year from the publication, i.e., up to 10th June 1951. As such, it was urged that reference is bad in law.

On reading the previous award, it is clear that the Union did not put in appearance and as such, it was held by the Tribunal that there was nothing to indicate. It is thus seen that it was an award without investigating the merits of the case and it was an ex parte decision. The Government was later on presumably satisfied that there was some justification for non-appearance of the Union before the first Tribunal. The Government was further satisfied that the dispute was existing. So, the new award has been made before this Tribunal. There is no counter-evidence that the Union had wilfully absented, nor there is any evidence that the dispute was not existing. The Company relies on section 19 of the Industrial Disputes Act, but the bar imposed under section 19 of the Industrial Disputes Act refers to an award on merits and not to the ex parte award passed by the Tribunal, for the last ex parte award stated nothing, except that it mentions that "there is no dispute, or if there had been a dispute, it had been amicably settled." The proper argument on being satisfied that an industrial dispute still exists, again referred the dispute for adjudication by this Tribunal. As there had been proper adjudication on merits, reference under section 10 now made is proper. In my opinion, such a reference is quite in order and as such, the application is maintainable.

P. R. MUKHERJEE, Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

AWARD.

following points were referred to me for adjudication:—

Increment to subordinate staff.

Revision of scale of pay.

Dearness allowance to subordinate staff.

Gratuity.

Leave.

Medical aid.

Whether Sri A. K. Gupta is entitled to storekeeper's pay.

The parties have amicably settled all the items of dispute except that which relates to the pay of Sri A. K. Gupta. The terms of settlement is "A" to this award. I have been told that the parties have agreed the item which relates to the pay of Sri A. K. Gupta to the good of the parties. Paragraph 4 of the terms of settlement, as has been submitted by the representatives of both parties, relates to this item. Sri Chadda represented to me on 7th May 1951 that he had already decided Sri A. K. Gupta's case for favourable consideration and that he had already told the Assistant Secretary of the Union that the point was amicably settled.

Paragraph 5 of the terms of settlement clearly indicates that dispute which had been pending before the Conciliation Officer was concluded at least for the time being by the terms of settlement. I hope that the only item of dispute which still remains to be settled amicably and the parties have reserved to themselves for an amicable settlement, is concluded to the satisfaction of both parties. In these circumstances, I do not propose to wait indefinitely to see the result of the negotiations. I hope that the management will not fail to respect its assurance that if the point is not amicably settled, the Union may, if so advised, move the Government for a fresh reference.

My award in this case shall be in terms of the amicable settlement per Annexure A to this Award which shall form part of the award.

ANNEXURE.

Matter of reference No. 3916Lab., dated the 9th August 1949, relating to an industrial dispute between the management of Messrs. Grand Hotel of Chouringhee Road, Calcutta, and their employees represented by the Grand Hotel Employees' Union, 121D, Surendra Nath Banerjee Road, Calcutta.

PRESENT:

SRI P. R. MUKHERJEE, District Judge, Chairman of the Tribunal.

For employers: Sri C. P. Kar, Counsel, Sri M. Jhunjhunwala, Counsel for Messrs. Khaitan & Co., and Sri S. Ayer, Secretary of the Company.

For employees: Sri J. Pandey, Secretary of the Union.

AWARD.

The case of the Union is that the Company is a well-known concern of high reputation. It has in its employ about 940 workmen who are very poorly paid and subjected to serious manifold sufferings and have been smarting under serious grievances for a long time and was formed of the employees on the 23rd December 1947. This formation of the Union was not looked upon with favour by the employer and the Union generally placed the grievances and got a Tribunal adjudication appointed by Government Order No. 837 Lab., dated the March 1948. Thereafter the Company determined to crush the Union releasing a hell of terror and discharged some 41 workmen up to the May 1948. As a protest against such unjustifiable action, the workmen struck work on 19th May 1948 when, on the intervention of the Labour Commissioner, the strike was called off on condition that the order of discharge would be cancelled and no one would be retrenched. It was settled that the workmen found surplus to the requirement would be to go by rotation on leave. Thereafter the workmen went on rotation and were not allowed to resume their duties (the names mentioned in Annexure A to the statement of the Union). The Union's case is the action of the Company in not allowing these people to join amounting to an illegal lock-out.

The Company also discharged the workmen mentioned in Annexure B without assigning any reason. The Union prays that the persons mentioned in Annexure A and Annexure B be reinstated and paid wages for the period of their forced unemployment including the period of rotation leave. The persons named in Annexure B should be reinstated and paid full wages for the period of forced unemployment.

The Company submits a statement denying the allegations of the Union and it is asserted that they never took any action to crush the Union. The management denies further that it dismissed or discharged any workmen in contravention of any agreement. The management submits that the workers were dismissed or discharged bona fide and on full justification. According to the management, all these discharges were bona fide and justifiable and that the persons named in Annexure B have been dismissed for misdemeanour and other legal and valid grounds.

ISSUES FOR ADJUDICATION.

1. Whether the management have followed the agreement arrived between them and the Union to the effect that nobody would be retrenched but laid off by rotation.
2. Whether there has been any retrenchment in contravention of the above agreement, and, if so, whether that was justified.
3. Whether any new men have been recruited ignoring the claim of the retrenched and laid off men.
4. Whether the retrenched and laid off men are entitled to compensation if they cannot be reinstated and, if so, at what rate.

Issue Nos. 1 and 2.

Before the issues are taken up, it is necessary to know what the agreement was. Admittedly there was an agreement but regarding the terms the Union and management differ. No responsible person or authority on behalf of the Union is examined to prove what the terms were, nor any document produced. So I have to rely on the solitary evidence of the Assistant Manager of the Grand Hotel on the point.

From a reading of the evidence of Mr. Joshua, the Assistant Manager of the Company, it is clear that the Company's business was quite good in May 1942 and it mounted up in subsequent years due to the War influx of people. The hotel was requisitioned by the military authorities for stationing military personnel during the period of War. The business ed down at the cessation of the War and the boarders dispersed dually and by August 1950 the hotel was free of military personnel. e to this the additional hands which had to be appointed to cope with situation were discharged. The Kitchen Checking Department which established for the first time during the War time was abolished by the of 1947 and the business became dull since April 1948. Many doyees were found superfluous and it was decided to retrench this staff. workers agreed to the scheme that a certain number of the staff should on rotation leave voluntarily without pay for about two months or so at me and on their return a similar number of men, if necessary, should on leave. It was also decided that those who would return would be m. only if there were vacancies and if similar number or more men id go on rotation leave, to cope with the work. It is alleged that this em is in vogue even now and persons who go on rotation leave are taken ame condition as before, if there are vacancies and if similar number or e go on leave. It is also the case of the Union that the surplus staff t on rotation leave and the principle of the rotation leave was that the on return were to be all employed. The management on the other d made out a case that the persons who would go on leave would be tied to be reappointed on return only if vacancies be available or if lar number of men agreed to go on rotation leave on their return. arding violation of terms of management, only cases of retrenchment be considered with reason. Cases of discharge for long absence and nduct form a class by themselves and cannot strictly speaking be alered under the issue framed. The number of aggrieved persons is s mentioned in Annexure B, but of these only 11 persons were retrench- eording to management and others were laid off on justifiable grounds. ver I shall consider also the cases other than retrenchment. The on who actually took oath and came before Tribunal are only 26, so case of others goes unrepresented and I shall take up cases of these mly.

The persons who have been dismissed and not taken back may be shed under the following heads:—

- (1) Those who were retrenched.
- (2) Those who were dismissed for misconduct.
- (3) Those who did not turn up.

1 Retrenchment.—Bachan Lal, Yakub Khan, J. Dominic, Eric es, B. K. Shaha, D. B. Dutta, N. K. Das (No. 1), B. N. Chatterjee behari Banerjee, Dwurjodhan Paridha and S. K. Bagchi.

These were all retrenched on economic grounds. That there had been eral fall in business is not much challenged and it is a patent fact with the departure of the military personnel, a drastic retrenchment necessary. That the action of the hotel authorities is bona fide is clear the fact that Nirmal Kumar Das, who was retrenched, wrote to the etal Manager praying for a service certificate, as he had lost his appoint- due to retrenchment. The management was good enough to grant such a certificate. Exhibits B and C may be referred in this connec-

It must be said to the credit of the hotel authorities that they ted good service certificates to the persons who were thus retrenched. these men been victimised for Union activities, the authorities would have granted such character certificates to these employees. There is vidence of any active Union service by these workers. So, in my on, these retrenchments were bona fide and were necessitated by stances beyond the control of the hotel authorities. An employer has a natural right to close a concern when it is an economic fact clearly justify such closure. And in this view of the matter not hold that it is a violation of the terms of agreement. The drastically needed some retrenchment and it was very cautiously having regard to the number of employees retrenched which is very

(2) Insubordination, disobedience, etc.—Mokbul Hossain, P. W. 5, A. B. Shaha, P. W. 19, Anthony Gomes, P.

Mokbul Hossain, P. W. 5.—He refused to work.

Ali Hossain, P. W. 5.—He was rude to superiors and was extremely one morning to the steward and was brought to the General Manager suspended him for one month, but he never came back. He also that he disobeyed the order of the Manager, and as such, his services were dispensed with.

A. B. Shaha, P. W. 19.—He was asked to come on a particular 4 o'clock, as there was to be a large party in the restaurant, but at 5 o'clock. He was thereafter rarely regular. He was reported General Manager, who asked him to see him in office, but he refused was dismissed for insubordination and negligence of duty.

Anthony Gomes, P. W. 26.—His work was found not very satisfactory and was disobedient.

Strictly speaking, these cases do not come into the picture as issues as framed, for the management has got absolute right to dismiss an employee for misconduct.

Persons who did not return.—Bhimsen Barik, P. W. 9, Bha P. W. 3, Sridhar Palai, P. W. 2, Balaram Das, P. W. 24, Dwa Paridaha, P. W. 22, Bhagirathi, P. W. 11.

Persons who were discharged for unsatisfactory work.—Raphel Mistry, P. W. 10.—He was working as a potato peeler. His work was good enough. He was dismissed for unsatisfactory work.

Paul Gomes, P. W. 25.—He was a cook in the kitchen. He was idle and continually found sleeping and as such dismissed.

It was urged that notice ought to have been given to the employees dismissed for misconduct or unsatisfactory work. In my opinion misconduct and unsatisfactory work is so patent and grossly bad, that no notice is necessary.

(3) Employees who voluntarily terminated their own service by notice.—Kambhoo, P. W. 6, Ganesh Das, P. W. 7, Dattabari Barik, P.

These persons took 14 days' salary in lieu of notice and went.

I sum up thus—

Considering the circumstances and evidence in the case it is prima facie that these persons were discharged for good and sufficient reasons. Now the reason that has been put forward by the Union is that there was an agreement that there would be no retrenchment and employees would go on rotation leave in batches and on their return batch would be ready to go on leave. That there was an agreement that the workers would go on rotation leave is admitted and it is also admitted that another batch would be ready to go on rotation leave on return of the first batch. It is the case of the management that on return of compulsory leave, the workers will have right to be taken in only if there are vacancies and only if another batch be ready to go on leave.

... fails to prove that a worker will have absolute right of re-employment and that the management will have no right to retrench even in case of necessity. It is, as I have stated, not at all proved that the Company has no right to retrench any of the persons. On the other hand, evidence clearly is that the hotel business became very slack with the departure of the military personnel by August 1946. The Kitchen Checking Department, which was established for the first time during war years, had been abolished by the end of 1947, and from this time necessity was felt to effect retrenchment of the staff, and as such, the hotel authorities had to take care on the employees. The Assistant Manager deposes to the effect that the workers in order to avoid retrenchment, voluntarily agreed to go on rotation leave. It is clear from evidence that this arrangement was made, but at the same time the hotel authorities were compelled to effect some retrenchment. The question is whether these retrenchments were justified. The list appended to the petition of the Union in Annexure B shows 62 and it is curious that out of these persons, only a handful have been named, and I have dealt with the cases of these persons separately. The fact that most of these persons did not come before the Tribunal clearly shows that they took the fact of retrenchment in good grace as an unavoidable evil. It is also significant that the hotel authorities granted character certificates even to those employees who were discharged for misconduct.

It thus appears that the spirit of the agreement arrived at between the workers and the management has been not at all dishonoured. The conduct of the Union that the workmen were victimised for trade union activities does not hold good, because no union activity of the persons named is proved before us. The conduct of the management through which there has been some retrenchment in contravention of the agreement must be deemed to be unavoidable and as such justifiable.

Issue No. 3.

It appears that some new men had been recruited in place of those who were retrenched. This is the case of the management. No case is proved before me that the management ignored the claim of the retrenched and employed employees in appointing new hands.

The issue therefore is answered in the negative.

Issue No. 4.

As retrenchment being bona fide, no compensation can be awarded to workers however got their pay in lieu of notice.

Award which was submitted in pursuance to the said order of reference was published in the Calcutta Gazette under Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, Order No. 9951Lab., dated the 14th February 1951, on which date the adjudication proceedings were legally concluded.

Section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, prohibits alteration in the service condition of the workmen to their prejudice, their discharge, dismissal or punishment in any way, during the pendency of proceedings in respect of any dispute concerning them before a Conciliation Officer, Board or Tribunal without the express permission of the Conciliation Officer, Board or Tribunal the case may be. Section 33A of the Amended Act directs adjudication of a dispute arising out of a contravention of section 33 by the Tribunal before the main dispute was pending at the time of the alleged contravention on a written complaint by the employee or employees aggrieved by the contravention, without any reference by the appropriate Government under the general section (section 10 of the Act).

The case of the complainant is that he had been working as a permanent machineman in the Press of Messrs. Gordon & Co. and had been on leave some time on the grounds of health till he was discharged wrongfully during the pendency of the proceedings started under Order No. 2200 Lab., dated the 3rd May 1950, of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, without the express permission of this Tribunal as contemplated by section 33 of the Amended Industrial Disputes Act. He was discharged with one month's wages in lieu of notice by a letter, dated 7th January 1951. No permission was obtained from this Tribunal. It cannot be disputed that at the time of the discharge the proceedings before the Tribunal were pending. Prima facie, there was a contravention of the statutory provision of section 33 of the Act.

From the evidence placed before me, I find that the complainant had been suffering from a bad type of Eczema since May 1949 and had been treated under the treatment of the Company's doctor. It was specifically stated in the written statement of the Company that the complainant had been careless and negligent about his treatment. This was not controverted by the complainant who had been examined before me. On the other hand, it is confirmed by the reports of the Company's doctor submitted from time to time to the Company's Manager about the illness of the Company's employees. As he did not improve at Calcutta, he was, at his own request, sent home for a change and treatment. He was allowed leave with full allowance for 8 months from June 1950 to January 1951, on the distinct understanding that he would get himself treated in the hospital there. Though the complainant states that he got himself admitted in the hospital at Fuzabad, not a single scrap of paper was placed before me to substantiate this. He was found negligent at Calcutta about his treatment, now that the complainant has not been completely cured of the disease, the Manager is perfectly justified to think that he was negligent also when he was at home. The disease is contagious. His employment may be hazardous to his fellow workmen and may spread the contagion through notices that are printed in the Press and pass through the machineman. In the interest of public health, as also in the interest of the employees in the Press, Ibrahim Khan cannot be employed. By the disease he has rendered himself completely unfit and the management is perfectly justified to terminate his services on the ground of health. Thus, the termination of his services, although a technical violation of the statutory provision of the Act, is perfectly justified.

Under the last omnibus Award for Printing Presses of Calcutta and District published under Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, Order No. 1487 Lab., dated the 11th May 1948, the Company was to start a contributory Provident Fund with contribution on either side at 6½ per cent from the date of publication of the Award. This was confirmed by the Award submitted in pursuance of the Order No. 2200Lab., dated the 3rd May 1951. The Company has not started the Provident Fund.

Under the Award the complainant was not entitled to more than 4 months' leave (privilege leave and sick leave) on full pay. He was given more than 8 months' leave on full pay. The additional leave for 3½ months at full pay brought him more than 15 days' wages as gratuity or 6½ per cent. contribution to the Provident Fund from 11th May 1948. Under these circumstances I cannot direct the Company to pay to the complainant any additional compensation. I may note here that the Company's Manager had all along been kind to the complainant to a fault and had allowed him 8 months' leave with full pay and had paid for his treatment at Calcutta. The complainant who could not appreciate this kind treatment was along negligent. This negligence on his part caused much pecuniary loss to the Company in the shape of his allowance without any return therefor. His negligence is responsible for the fact that he has not been cured even now. He is himself responsible for his discharge and he was highly ungrateful to come to this Tribunal with a complaint against the Manager who had all along been very kind to him. It is a matter of much regret that the Press Employees' Association has taken up the cause of this ungrateful employee. I may be permitted to impress upon the Press Employees' Association that the real duty of trade unions is to develop friendly relation between the employers and employees. This is possible by discouraging such acts and conducts of employees which have no social or moral sanction. Any encouragement of such acts and conducts on the part of an employee goes against this spirit of trade unionism.

In the result the complainant has no case on the merit and the complaint is accordingly rejected and I give my Award accordingly.

ORDER.

No. 3256Lab.—24th May 1951.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 7350Lab., dated the 26th December 1950, the industrial disputes that existed or were apprehended between the three Jute Mills mentioned in column (1) of the list attached with the said order and their workmen represented by the Unions mentioned against each mill in column (2) of the said list regarding the matters specified in the Schedule to the said order, were referred for adjudication to an Industrial Tribunal consisting of Sri S. N. Modak, Jt. Sec. (Retd.) as Chairman, and Sri M. C. Banerji and Sri P. R. Mukherji, Dist. Judges, as members; and therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said Award as shown in the annexure hereto.

And whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Tribunal, a complaint was received, on behalf of Sri Sannyashi Maity, a workman of Ludlow Jute Co., Ltd., P.O. Chakasi, Chengail, Howrah, bearing item 1 under column (1) of the said list, in writing before the said Tribunal alleging that the said Company had altered, to the prejudice of the said workman, the conditions of service applicable to him immediately before the commencement of the said proceedings;

and whereas in exercise of the powers conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Tribunal has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted its award to the State Government;

ANNEXURE.

matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act made on behalf of a workman named Sannyashi Maity against Ludlow Jute Co., Ltd., in connection with Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, Order No. 7350Lab., dated 20th December 1950, concerning certain industrial disputes between three Jute Mills in West Bengal including Ludlow Jute Co., Ltd., and their workmen.

BEFORE THE INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

SRI S. N. MODAK, I.C.S. (Retd.), Chairman.

SRI P. R. MUKHERJI, District Judge, Member.

SRI M. C. BANERJI, District Judge, Member.

Workman: Sri A. Ghosal, Secretary, Ludlow Chatkal Mazdoor Union.

Will: Sri M. C. Addy, Law Officer, Indian Jute Mills Association.

AWARD.

A matter has arisen out of a petition of complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act presented on 30th April 1951 (Registered No. 41 of 1951 under section 33A) by the Secretary of the Ludlow Mazdoor Union on behalf of a workman named Sannyashi Maity of Ludlow Jute Co., Ltd., which is one of the three Jute Mills in West Bengal, which are concerned in the industrial disputes referred to this Tribunal for adjudication by Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, Order No. 7350Lab., dated 20th December 1950. The original proceedings which commenced on 20th December 1950 are still pending before this Tribunal. The grievance put forward in the petition was that the petitioner was discharged on the ground of his committing theft in respect of a negligible quantity of carbide, and the averment is that he may be excused and may be reinstated to his post. The Company is that no provision of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act was contravened and the complaint under section 33A is not maintainable. It is pointed out that the Company applied before this Tribunal for permission to dismiss the workman concerned after suspending him on a charge of theft. We note that the corresponding case under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act was registered on 31st January 1951 as case No. 203 of 1951 under section 33, and that case was disposed of by this Tribunal by an order, dated 10th May 1951, by which the workman was found guilty of misconduct under clause 14(c)(ii) of the Standing Orders and the case being one of petty theft in respect of property of small value the Tribunal declined to grant permission for dismissal, but granted permission to the Company to suspend the workman for 4 days with effect from 17th January 1951, the actual period of suspension beyond the period of four days of suspension as a substantive punishment being treated as a period on leave without pay. The effect of that order would be that the workman would be permitted to rejoin duty forthwith. (On the date of hearing (15th May 1951), fixed for hearing of the present case under section 33A, no one appeared on behalf of the workman to press the complaint. The petition of complaint, as it stands, only incorporates a prayer for being excused for the petty offence and for being re-instated, and does not indicate the manner in which the provisions of section 33 have been contravened. In so far as the petition of complaint has not been pressed before us by any one and no contravention of the provisions of section 33 has been established, we are not disposed to give any direction with reference to this matter. We make our award accordingly.

PART I.

Area and legal position.—(a) This paragraph should show the Revisional Settlement Plot Nos. and area of the forest included in working plan in tabular form as follows:—

Sl. No.	Local name of area.	Revisional Plot Nos.	Area in acres.	Remarks.
---------	---------------------	----------------------	----------------	----------

The legal position in respect of ownership should be stated, e.g., of owner, mortgagees, common managers and owner in trust or other interested.

The number and date of the notification or notifications bringing rest under the provisions of the West Bengal Private Forests Act, 1948, to be included.

General description of the forests.—A brief note on the type of its condition, or the principal species of trees growing therein should be included.

(For the purposes of describing the condition of the forest, it normally be sufficient to class areas as "good", "medium" or "poor" respect of the growing stock thereon.

Particulars should be carefully recorded of any areas which are wa lands and which may require reafforestation.)

3. Rights of user.—All rights in or over the forest and their ext should be listed. Particular reference should be made to rights of fell fodder cutting and grazing.

4. Details of past working.—Whenever possible, past fellings should listed for the last 10 years. They should be shown in tabular form follows:—

Year of felling.	Locality (Plot Nos where possible).	Area felled.	Type of felling.
------------------	-------------------------------------	--------------	------------------

Note.—In column "type of felling" should be entered the nature felling, i.e., whether individual trees felled, whether whole area clear te whether coppiced and other particulars.

5. Markets and disposal of forest-produce.—A note of markets for forest-produce should be given, in particular requirements of the population should be noted.

Name of main contractors dealing in forest-produce in the area sh be given.

The system by which sales of forest-produce is made should be n e.g., by private sale, auction or other method.

PART II.

6. General objects of management.—Under the Act the principal of management is as follows:—

To conserve the forest and to afforest waste lands.

In order to meet the demands of consumers of forest-produce, how other subsidiary objects of management will exist, e.g., to make pro for the production of firewood and small poles, the production of poles, the provision of pasturage and for other similar matters should be included as required.

7. Period covered by the Working Plan.—Unless reasons exist contrary, the working plan shall be prepared in respect of a per 10 years.

Note.—Section 4 of the Act regarding modifications to the working during its currency should be noted.

8. System of management.—The system under which the forests be managed will be declared. In general one of the following systems be followed:—

- (1) Coppice with retention of seed trees.
- (2) Coppice with standards.
- (3) Clear felling and planting.

The term "Coppice" means that all trees on the area are cut at ground level as possible. From stumps of trees cut new shoots "Coppice Shoots" arise. These are permitted to grow, subject to rules as may be prescribed for thinning out shoots until they attain a size to be recut.

At least one tree per bigha is not cut, but is reserved as a seed tree. It is essential as Coppice shoots cannot be expected to arise indefinitely from stumps, and fresh seedlings are necessary to replace trees which die.

The term "Coppice with standards" means that a number of trees are retained to grow to a bigger size, the remainder being cut. The trees retained should be evenly spaced and should ordinarily be less than 6 to 8 per bigha.

(i) Clear felling and planting.—This system means that all trees on the area are felled and other seeds sown or seedlings planted in the cleared area.

This system is normally used only—

- when the original crop is so thin that one or other of the systems mentioned under note (i) or (ii) is not suitable, or
- when the crop consists of species which do not produce coppice, or
- when it is required to replace the original species by another species.

Rotation.—This is the term used to indicate the period which must elapse before a tree, or area felled is again felled. Under a Sal coppice retention of seed bearers' system, the rotation should not normally be less than 10 years for the Coppice; seed bearers should be retained until they are 30-35 years of age.

Under a "Coppice with standards" system, the rotation for coppice should normally be less than 10 years, and that of standards not less than 30 years.

The rotation for a system of clear felling and planting depends on the species. For sal it may be taken as 30 years for the production of "household" size trees.

Calculation of maximum felling per year.—This is based on the known area and the total amount of growing stock on the area and is calculated in terms of acres per annum by dividing the total area available by the rotation. The areas thus obtained may be termed the annual felling area. It is obvious that, by this method, an area is not felled again until a "rotation" has elapsed.

In order, however, to provide for inequalities of the density of the crop over the whole area, it may be permissible to increase or decrease the area felled as above, so that approximately equal amounts of produce will be obtained annually throughout the rotation. If this is done it is necessary to prescribe that in every fifth year the area felled over is adjusted so that the total area felled during the 5 years will not exceed five times the annual area permitted as calculated above.

Note.—An example is given as follows:—

Total area of forest	1500 acres.
Rotation	10 years.
Therefore annual felling area	150 acres.
1st year felling area	150 "
2nd " " "	180 "
3rd " " "	100 "
4th " " "	120 "
5th " " "	200 "
Total	750 acres 5×150 acres

11. Felling plan.—The area which it is proposed to fell during period of the plan should be tabulated in accordance with the calculation given in paragraph 10. These may be tabulated as follows for each in sequence:—

Year of felling.	Locality.	Area.	Remarks.

12. Method of felling.—In order to ensure that trees are not damaged during felling operations it will be necessary to arrange that,—

- (i) fellings are completed by the 31st March so as to obviate the of new coppice shoots being damaged. In exceptional case Regional Forest-officer may extend the period of felling period not beyond the 15th April;
- (ii) where Sal is being coppiced, trees are not felled higher than from ground level. Stumps should be clean cut;
- (iii) except for seed trees or standards to be retained, all trees injurious of species should be felled. If species other than Sal left for any reason: e.g., Piasal, Kutum, Mahuwa, it should be remembered that they will to a great extent prohibit the growth of Sal and should be spaced out where necessary thinning in order that when eventually these trees are cut, large blanks will not occur;
- (iv) if burning is to be carried out to remove brushwood, burning should be completed not later than the 15th March.

Note.—Burning cannot be permitted after the growing season starts.

13. Protection and tending of the young crop.—It is not sufficient to expect a crop to grow without assistance as there are injurious factors which cause harm to forest crops. The ultimate value of crops thus assisted depends on the extent to which such assistance can be given and the money spent thereon.

The following cultural operations should be followed:—

- (i) Climber cutting where necessary according to a fixed program
This, if required should be done on a 5 years' cycle, that whole area will be climber cut over every 5 years.
- (ii) Fire protection.—Fire in young crops causes considerable damage and fire lines should be cut in large blocks of forest to prevent spreading over whole areas. Where blocks of forest or isolated patches, this will not be normally necessary.

- (iii) Reduction of the number of stems in coppice.—Stumps often produce more shoots than the stump can properly support. In order to obtain stout healthy stems, it is often necessary to thin out the shoots. It is not possible to prescribe any particular number of stems per stump, as this varies according to the healthiness of the original tree, its age and the fertility or otherwise of the particular area. Generally this should be done from 3-4 years after felling.
- (iv) Closure to grazing.—Cattle grazing seriously affects young crops and provision should be made to prevent cattle entering into young crops, either by fencing or the enforcement of penalties for allowing cattle into the area.

4. Regulation and limitation of rights of user.—The cutting of fire-wood, or trees in areas other than those where such is permissible, excessive grazing, lopping or cutting for fodder are three factors which lead to deterioration of forests. Where such practices form rights of user they should be regulated, if possible. Arrangements to this effect should therefore be included as follows:—

- (i) cutting of fire-wood, poles or trees outside those areas prescribed in the Working Plan should be prohibited;
- (ii) on no account should cattle be permitted to graze in coppice areas of under 3 years in age, or in areas under plantation under 10 years of age;
- (iii) lopping or cutting for fodder should only be permitted in,—
- (a) felling areas of the year; or
- (b) in areas set aside for the purpose.

5. Control of prescriptions of the Working Plan.—The prescriptions in the Working Plan to be effective must be audited. Statements showing work laid down in the working plan against work actually done should be submitted to the Regional Forest-officer in duplicate by the 1st of June each year in respect of all terms and conditions laid down in the plan.

This statement should be submitted in the following form in duplicate:—

1	2		3	4
Year of working.	Area worked.		Excess or deficit.	Total excess or deficit to date.		Remarks.
	Locality.	Area.	Excess. Deficit.	Excess. Deficit.

Signature.

Note.—(I) Excess or Deficits will be shown in column 3 the excess or deficit for the year, and in column 4 the total to date. In this section see paragraph 10.

(II) No deviation from the working plan is permitted without sanction of the Regional Forest-officer. If a deviation is sanctioned the number and date of the order sanctioning the deviation should be entered in the remarks column.

Where prescriptions in respect of climber cutting or other cultural operations have been made the following statement should be submitted duplicate to the Regional Forest-officer:—

Year of working.	Prescribed.		Actually done.		Remarks
	Locality.	Area.	Locality.	Area.

Deviations must have prior sanction from Regional Forest-office above.

16. Annual Record of work done in the Forest.—In order to assess results of management and to provide records for future revisions of working plans the following statements should be maintained:—

Locality.	Year of working.	Area worked.	Sale price.	OUTTURN.
				Posta.	Firewood.
1	2	3	4

This form should be entered up in a permanent record maintained by the owner and should be prepared by 15th June of each year and is subject to examination by the Regional Forest-officer.

17. Maps.—The following maps showing the areas included in working plan should be submitted with the working plan:—

16"=1 mile—showing areas in detail.

therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to make the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

matter of reference No. 330 Lab., dated the 16th January 1951 of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, and in the matter of industrial dispute between the employers of 34 biri firms of Ranigunge mentioned in the list annexed to the Order of Reference and their workmen as represented by the Biri Mazdoor Union, Girijapara, P. O. Ranigunge, Burdwan.

PRESENT:

Sri A. DAS GUPTA, District Judge, Tribunal.

For Employers:—Sri S. Sen, Advocate, and Sri N. M. Das Gupta, Leader, assisted by Sri Gauri Sunkar Nandi, Secretary, Biri Merchants' Association.

For Employees:—Janab Z. H. Khan, President, and Sri Jagadish Jha, Secretary, of the Biri Mazdoor Union.

AWARD.

Following items of dispute have been referred to me for adjudication:

Deduction of one anna from the daily wages of workers. If this is adjudicated as illegal, whether the workers can claim the previous deductions and adjust it against the outstanding advances taken from time to time.

Service conditions—terms of employment, working conditions, etc. leave.

Medical aid.

Wages for lock-out period in May 1950.

Discharge of Muna Dome by the Punjabi Biri Stores.

Recognition of the Union.

A preliminary objection has been raised on behalf of the Biri Merchants Association that the biri makers are petty contractors and are not workers within the meaning of the Industrial Disputes Act and that the dispute between the biri makers as such and the biri merchants cannot be the subject-matter of adjudication under the said Act.

Before I enter into the legal position of the preliminary objection and into the merits of the case, I should do well to state briefly the general system of work in the biri firms at Ranigunge.

The works in the biri industries at Ranigunge are carried on in a disorganised way. The biri merchants and biri makers have their absolute free will in the matter of employment and work, and this free will is exercised by one party according to his own necessity and convenience without any regard to the interests of the other party. The demand for labour being admittedly greater than the supply, the biri merchant is in a comparatively at a disadvantageous position. The biri makers sometimes do other jobs. These other jobs are the main occupation of some who do the work of biri making at their leisure with a view to supplementing their income from these other jobs. Sometimes these other jobs are done to supplement their income from biri making. There are, no doubt, some who have no occupation other than biri making. The workers are at perfect liberty to go to the workshop and leave it at their pleasure.

The biri merchants have invested their money in the purchase of materials, e.g., biri leaves and tobacco which are liable to be damaged by damp or otherwise, if they are allowed to remain in the godown for a prolonged time. Besides, if these are not disposed of early, the money spent on the materials will be blocked and will not yield any profit. These are considerations, apart from anything else, which tend to bring about irregularity in the works of the biri merchants. The biri makers do not suffer from any dearth of work if they are minded to make biris. The demand for workers being disproportionately higher than the supply, there is a competition among the biri merchants to secure a sufficient number of workers, for this purpose they give liberal advances on liberal terms. This advance is the only binding tie between a biri merchant and a biri maker.

Biris are made both by men and women. Women biri makers get biri leaves and tobacco from the merchants and make the biris at home at their convenience. They generally make the cheaper quality and are paid on actual outturn. Leaving aside the women workers for the present, I shall deal with the working conditions of the male workers. The evidence indicates that a male biri maker who has not taken any advance or who has repaid the advance he has taken is at liberty to absent himself from the work of biri making on any day or days or even to move from one workshop to another without least regard for the inconvenience to the biri merchant with whom he had been working previously. The biri merchants who employ casual workers as had worked with another merchant previously do not seem to have the least consideration for the inconvenience such employment is likely to cause to the latter. No attempt appears to have been made up to now to bring any regularity in this connection. The relationship between the biri merchant and a biri maker was based not on any rule of moral obligation but on selfish personal consideration. The employment was more casual than permanent in nature. If any worker had worked for any biri merchant for a length of time, without any extraneous obligation in the shape of an advance of money or otherwise, it was an accident rather than a rule.

The workers had hitherto been at perfect liberty to come to work and leave it at their pleasure or to absent themselves for days together. The biri merchants might in their turn open the workshop and close it at one day at their pleasure. But the demand for labour puts some pressure on this. A biri merchant has spent his good money in the purchase of materials and his interests would be to dispose of the materials as soon as possible. I have already indicated the reasons. If a biri merchant opens the workshop before time when the biri makers willing to work come, the biri merchant runs the risk of losing the services of those who have a mind to work for him. The practice is that the biri leaves are supplied biri leaves at the end of the working hours of a day, are treated at home and cut to sizes and are taken on the next day to the workshop where the biri makers get tobacco and roll the leaves with them into the biri sticks. The quantity of tobacco leaves to the particular worker is an indication about the quantity of work he is to get on the next day.

The biri leaves are steeped in water in the previous night to make them soft for being rolled into biri sticks. The biri leaves which have been steeped in water will be totally unfit for use after the next day. If a worker who had taken biri leaves does not on the next day come to the workshop of the merchant from whom he has taken the leaves he may be liable for damage. If a worker who has no intention to turn up on the next day does not usually take any biri leaves in the previous evening. The quantity of biri leaves to the worker in the preceding evening is in the nature of a guarantee that the particular worker to whom biri leaves have been given in the evening will be employed on the next day and the worker who has taken the leaves in the evening will generally work on the next day. The biri merchant from whom he has taken the leaves. In my opinion, this system should continue, till a moral sense is developed amongst the biri merchants and the biri makers and the relationship between them comes under some regularity.

A biri merchant who has a stock of materials cannot afford to close his workshop on any particular day on flimsy grounds—firstly, because his interest would be to dispose of the material as early as possible and, secondly, because he is afraid of the workers being enticed away by his competitors. He cannot delay unusually in opening the workshop, because if there is any delay, the willing workers may seek employment elsewhere, and, secondly, because the biri leaves which he had allowed workers in the previous evening may not be fully used in course of the day with the result that the leaves that may be left may become unfit for use and thereby cause loss to the biri merchant himself. The allotment of work to the workers is done with reference to the demand for finished biris as also the probable outturn by the workers who had attended and taken biri leaves in the previous evening. These facts also control the early closing of the workshop. Some workers come late while others who come early avail themselves of the long mid-day recess. To enable these workers to finish the work allotted to them, the workshop is kept open for a longer period than what would have been sufficient if the workers were regular.

I have already stated the system of supplying biri leaves to the workers in the preceding evening has a salutary effect. This system must be continued. Treatment of the biri leaves at home takes much of the time of the biri makers which could have been otherwise spent. In addition to the time spent in treating the leaves and cutting them to sizes at home, there are some workers who work 8 to 10 hours or more in the workshop. The working hours of an industrial worker have been reduced by legislation as decreed by the Labour Tribunal to 8 hours a day or 48 hours a week. These are the maximum limits. If a worker is permitted to work in the workshop for more than 8 hours a day in addition to the time spent by him in treating the biri leaves and cutting them to sizes, it will be evading the statutory rules on the subject. The workshops where biris are prepared are unregulated.

factories and all the rules under the Factories Act have not as yet made applicable to biri workshops. If in view of the time spent by a worker in treating the leaves and cutting them to sizes at home, the working hours are reduced, the outturn and hence the daily earnings of workers are reduced. This is likely to cause an abrupt shock to the workers and create unrest in the industry. In view of these circumstances the President of the Union, Janab Z. H. Khan, requested me not to take into account the time spent by workers in treating the leaves and cutting them. I accept his suggestions and I do not propose to direct any radical change in the system, but I shall give some suggestions for gradual abolition of the system of treating the leaves and cutting them to sizes at home, the working hours in a biri industry are at par with those in other industries concerns in the near future. The supply of biri leaves in the previous year will continue and attempt should be made to treat them and to cut them to sizes in the biri workshops within the maximum working hours.

Accounts have not been placed before me to show the financial position of the individual concern as also the industry as a whole, but an account has been placed before me by the biri merchants to show the profit of profit per one thousand biris. This is reproduced below:—

Tobacca	1 6 0
Leaves	0 12 0
Labels, seals	0 3 0
Packing paper	0 1 0
Labeling and baking cost	0 1 0
Fire, Thread, Container	0 2 6
Establishment	0 2 0
Rolling cost	1 14 0
Central Excise duty	0 6 0
Total	4 15 6
Sales tax	0 3 9
Grand Total	5 3 3 per thousand

Wholesale selling price—Rs. 5-6 per thousand.

Nothing has been suggested against the correctness of this account. According to this account the total cost of manufacturing per thousand biris is Rs. 4-15-6 and the wholesale selling price is Rs. 5-6 per thousand is thus approximately Rs. 0-6-6. Out of the profit tax of annas 3-9 pies has been deducted. I am not inclined to this deduction inasmuch as this sale tax will be realised by the wholesale purchaser of biris. The profit works out to 10 per cent. This is undoubtedly a fair return in these hard times. If out of this profit 6 pice per thousand biris are set apart for improvement of the condition of the workers, the merchant will still be left a profit of 4 per cent. This is also fair return. I have discussed the existing condition of the biri industry, existing relationship between the biri merchants and biri makers and the financial position of the industry. Against the grounds I shall discuss the demand placed by the workers before me.

Out of the 34 biri stores listed in the order of reference 5 were presented at the hearing. They are the serials 22, 26, 29, 30 and 32 in the list. Sudhakar Majhi of Sudhakar Majhi Biri Store (serial No. 22), M. B. Brothers (serial No. 26), and Bharatmata Biri Stores (serial or to have been duly served with notice but nobody turned up to meet these three biri stores at the hearing. The notices issued to Mistri Stores (serial No. 30) and Diamond Biri Stores (serial No. 32) appear to have been refused. The remaining 29 biri stores were represented by the merchants. The names and addresses of the 34 biri stores mentioned in the annexure to the order of reference are detailed in Annexure A to this order.

Before entering into the merits of the case I propose to take up the primary objection taken on behalf of the merchants that the biri makers are independent contractors and are paid at the end of each day on the basis of their work of that day. They are not subject to any rule for attendance in the merchants' premises or for working hours. They come at their pleasure and at their convenience and there is no contract of services with them. It has been argued that under these circumstances the biri makers are not workmen within the meaning of the Industrial Disputes Act and the disputes raised between them are not industrial disputes, and cannot form the subject-matter for adjudication under the Industrial Disputes Act. The definitions "workman", "industry" and "industrial dispute" as given in the Industrial Disputes Act may be relevant in this connection. I reproduce the definitions below:—

Workman means any persons employed (including an apprentice) in any industry to do any skilled or unskilled manual or clerical work for hire or reward and includes, for the purposes of any proceedings under this Act in relation to an industrial dispute, any person discharged during that dispute, but does not include the Crown.

Industry means any business, trade, undertaking, manufacture or calling of employers and includes any calling, service, employment, handicraft, or industrial occupation or avocation of workmen.

Industrial dispute means any dispute or difference between employers and employees, or between employers and workmen, or between workmen and workmen, which is connected with the employment or non-employment or the terms of employment or with the conditions of labour, of any person.

The relationship of master and servant or in other words between employer and employee is initially based on a contract expressed or implied. Legislations have been enacted with a view to improve the condition of the party who is weaker in education, intelligence and whose economic and social position affords the stronger party opportunities to dominate over the weaker in matters of wages and the other service conditions. Before enactment of these legislations the sanctity of contract had to be respected not only by the parties to the contract but also by the courts of law. The enactment of the Industrial Disputes Act has been to establish machineries to prevent and remove any inequity in a contract between employers and employees which is otherwise valid in law and was incapable of any remedy. Even in the matter of removing the inequities from a contract, or implied between an employer and an employee the benefit has been extended only to those employees who are employed in an industry to do skilled or unskilled manual or clerical work for hire or reward. A biri workshop is an industry cannot be disputed and that the biri makers are employed in an industry to do manual work cannot also be disputed. At the time of the argument the learned Advocate wanted to make out that the biri makers were independent contractors, although the biri makers did not call them so in their written statement. In the written statement of the biri merchants the biri makers were called petty contractors and not independent contractors. Each and every employee even if is of the lowest category may be called a petty contractor inasmuch as origin of the relationship between him and the employer was a contract express or implied. Even assuming that the petty contractors are not workmen and are synonymous with independent contractors and are thus excluded from the Industrial Disputes Act, the social and economic position of the biri makers, the nature of their work and control which the merchants can exercise over the biri makers if they like, still go to show that the biri makers are not better than industrial workers at piece rate. The biri makers, are paid on the outturn of each day. The preliminary objection of the employer appears to have been spun round the pivot alone. It may be noted that employees who are paid on the outturn are called piece-raters. To arrive at a correct decision on this point the following may be taken into account:—

- (1) The social and economic position of the biri makers clearly indicates that they are wage-earners rather than businessmen. When a biri maker does occupy only his time and strength, and his employment depends upon the will of another. "But when a person occupies all a person's thoughts as well as his time and power, his occupation and employment occupy only his time and strength. If the first is mostly regular, it is the object of our choice; if the second is casual, it depends on the will of another" (The Lexicon by P. R. Aiyar, edition 1940, page 165). I have discussed the condition of the work of a biri maker in a biri makers' By no stretch of imagination his occupation may be called business.
- (2) The biri makers are employed for the purpose of their employer's business.
- (3) They work in the premises of their employers.
- (4) Their services cannot be delegated. This indicates that the contract was of service and not for labour and service. Delegation of performance is not permissible in some contracts with independent contractors whereby the nature of the contract delegation of performance is impossible. If a doctor is called to treat a patient or a singer is called to sing in a club, neither the doctor nor the singer can delegate the work to any other person. This is impossible by the nature of the contract. The singer or a doctor are not workmen in the meaning of the Industrial Disputes Act, firstly, because their works are different from those mentioned in the definition and, secondly, because they are subject to the control of the person who employs them at the time being, beyond the terms of contract.
- (5) The nature of the work of the biri maker is such as is required by the definition of the workman under the Industrial Disputes Act.
- (6) The biri makers are subject to some control of the biri merchant in the matter of quantity of work, brand to be prepared and other matters. To distinguish between an independent contractor and a servant, the test is whether or not the employer retains the right to direct not only of directing what work is to be done also control over the manner of the work. If a person can be directed in to the manner of doing his work, such person is not a contractor, and it makes no difference whether the work is a piece work. (Halsbury's Laws of England, Halsham edition, volume 22, page 115, paragraph 194.) In a case reported in English and Empire Digest, volume 34, page 20, paragraph 8, Lord Sterndale M.R. remanded for re-hearing a case, where a workman had no regular hours of work, his time of arrival depended on the kind of the work to be done; he could leave when he liked, he pleased himself and did not go to work every day as there was not always work, for consideration of the question of control of the work and workmen by the alleged employers. The mere fact that the biri merchants had hitherto been very lenient in matters of attendance of the biri makers does not imply the absence of control over the biri makers. This laxity proceeded from various considerations which I have already discussed "By control I do not mean the actual control that in practice was exercised every day, because the employer or the firm is not always exercising control as to how to do his work. It is not necessary that it should be so, because he knows how to do it, but the question whether there is in the background, in the last resort, the power of control over, not only what the man has to do but how he is to do it is of great importance indeed". (Lord Sterndale M.R.). The work of biri making is very simple. It requires a pair of scissors and a pin. The works do not require any direction about details of the work everyday. Once they have learnt the work they do not require any direction as to how to roll the biri stick. The only direction they require about the brands of biris to be made and the quantity thereof. These directions are sufficient to indicate what size the biri leaves are to be cut into, what quantity of tobacco is to be put in each biri and what thread should be used to wind up the biris of the different brands with.

- (7) Under the excise law the biri makers are not counted as independent biri manufacturers and are not compelled to take out the license.

These are important circumstances which must be taken into account coming to a correct decision as to whether the biri makers are workmen within the meaning of the Industrial Disputes Act. I have considered the objection raised by the learned Advocate for the biri merchants carefully and I am clear of opinion that the biri makers are workmen within the meaning of the definition of the workman as given in the Industrial Disputes Act. A similar question appears to have come up before Sri J. G. Bakur, Adjudicator, Industrial Tribunal, Bombay, in a case between Lakshmi Biri Works and another and their workmen reported in 1951, Labour Law Journal, volume I at page 417. The learned Adjudicator held that the biri makers were workmen within the meaning of the Industrial Disputes Act. My definite finding therefore, is that the disputes raised by the biri makers at Ranigunge can form the subject matter of an adjudication under the Industrial Disputes Act. This finding of mine and the reasonings in support thereof refer to the male workers who make biri in the workshops of the biri merchants. As the female workers do not work in the workshops and as the biri merchants have no control over them about the mode and hours of work, I hold they are not workmen and should be excepted from the present adjudication proceedings.

now take up the different items of dispute on the merit.

Point 1.—Deduction of one anna from the daily wages of workers.
 this is adjudicated as illegal, whether the workers can claim previous deductions and adjust it against the outstanding advance taken from time to time.

From the written statement of the Union we could understand that the deduction was originally voluntary and had a religious background. According to the Union's case about 25 years ago the biri merchants and makers to worship a Pir, the expenses for which were solely borne by the biri makers. This raised a religious instinct in the biri makers. They collected moneys from among themselves and deposited the collections with their respective employers. These collections were spent by the employers for the worship of the Pir. The collection was originally 1 pice per head per week. This was raised after sometime to 1 pice per head per day. Gradually the employers began to spend the collections made from the biri makers for the worship. The biri makers were, however, given a feast on the day of the festival. Some of the merchants also made gifts of clothing to their workers. Up till this time the collection was voluntary and was made by the workers themselves. Sometime after this the employers made collection compulsory and this was raised from 1 pice to one anna per head per day. The origin of the collection did not accord to the Union's statement go beyond 25 years. Several witnesses have been examined on behalf of the Union who have been working in the line for over 30 years. They have given a direct lie to the Union's case about the origin and development of the collection. According to the biri makers the collections had all along been compulsory. Habu Majhi, who has been in the line for 23 years says that the Maliks only made fee representation that the deduction would be used for a feast annually. He states that only on the occasions of the marriage the workers were given some sweets. Next witness Manohar Dome who has been in the line for 16 or 17 years says that the Maliks represented to the Muslim workers that the deduction would be used for the worship of the Pir while the Hindu workers that the deduction would be used for the worship of Goddess Durga and Kali. Dalu who has been working in the line for over 30 years never saw any Pir being ever worshipped. Mohamu Soleman who has also worked in the line for about 30 years did not admit the origin of the collection as stated in the written statement.

The biri merchants have consistently made out a case that the deductions were made on account of biris the workers smoke during the working hours and the biris the workers take home after the working hours. Originally this was 1 pice per day per head. With the increase of the price of raw materials as also the increase of finished product this has been raised to one anna per day per head. From the evidence on both sides we can understand that there was no uniformity among the biri merchants about the realisation of this toll. Some used to realise the toll in cash while others used to get one bundle of biris prepared by the worker free on consideration of the biris which the biri maker consumes and takes home. Recently a uniformity is said to have been brought about in all the biri firms. Most of the biri makers, both males and females smoke biris. Those who are regular smokers smoke as much biris as they can during the working hours and take some biris home. According to the merchants the workers are permitted to take home 12 biris while the biri makers stated that they are permitted to take home only 8 biris. This toll has been levied also on those biri makers who are said to be non-smokers. It has been argued on behalf of the merchants that a very insignificant percentage of the biri makers may be non-smokers but they even take some biris home for their friends and relations. Habu Majhi says that the biri makers not purchase biris in the market unless they are absent or do not get work. According to this witness some merchants realise the tolls in biri while others get one bundle of biris made free by each biri maker. On his evidence we can understand that a deficiency in the daily output by a worker up to one bundle is ignored by all the biri merchants. Biri merchants ignore the deficiency up to even two bundles. The evidence of this witness goes to corroborate the story of the biri merchants at the deductions.

It is not possible for the biri merchants to ascertain the total quantity actually consumed by a worker during the working hours and taken home by him, without elaborate arrangements for effective supervision. Such arrangements are likely to be costly. It may be noted that the popularity of the biri industry lies in the cheapness of the biri which are smoked by the poorer section of the people. In a case like this all the workers must be subjected to a uniformity rate which is based on the average consumption by a worker. It has not been suggested that the deduction was not warranted by the actual consumption of biris by a worker on the average. The deduction appears to me to be quite legal and fair. Having held so I am not called upon to consider the question of adjustment as suggested in the last part of the issue No. 1.

The deduction of this one anna appears to have been a source of trouble to the biri merchants. I may suggest that steps may be taken to realise the actual cost of the biris a worker smokes during the working hours and taken home. I propose to make the following suggestions as an experimental scheme:—

- (1) The leaves cut into sizes by the workers which they take to the workshops for rolling the biri sticks may be weighed.
 - (2) The tobacco supplied to each biri maker may also be weighed.
 - (3) When the finished biris are delivered, these should also be weighed.
 - (4) The difference between the weight of the cut biri leaves and the tobacco in possession of a worker at the beginning of the work and the weight of the finished biri delivered shall be the deficiency for which the particular worker may be held responsible.
- The $\frac{\text{total number of } \textit{biris} \text{ delivered}}{\text{total weight of } \textit{biris} \text{ delivered}} \times \text{deficiency by weight} = \text{the total number of } \textit{biris} \text{ taken by worker for his own consumption.}$
- Till this suggested scheme is feasible a non-smoker biri maker may appeal to the employer for remission of the compulsory deduction. In such cases the non-smoker biri maker shall give full accounts of the biri leaves and tobacco taken by him. In such cases the employers shall have the discretion to remit the compulsory deduction.

2.—Service conditions—Terms of employment, working conditions, etc.

In the matter of service conditions the demand of the Union is under following heads:—

- (1) Confirmation of service and strict maintenance of service records.
- (2) Working hours.
- (3) Guaranteed minimum work.
- (4) Protection against involuntary unemployment.
- (5) Old age benefit regarding provident fund and gratuity.

(6) Procedure of disciplinary action and the right of the Union interfere in dismissal and retrenchment.

(7) Maternity leave.

(8) Equality of wages between women workers and male workers

The workers in a biri industry at Ranigunge is in a disorganised condition. They have recently formed themselves into Union, but the Union within the short space of its existence has not as yet been able to discipline and control the workers. In the present condition the workers may do whatever they like and thereby do injury to the industry without any substantial loss to themselves. In these circumstances I shall attempt to lay down certain service conditions, as an experimental measure and in doing so I shall have the interest of the industry always before me. As for female workers who do not come out of their residence to make biri, it will not be possible to bring them under the control of the employer. In this view of the case they cannot be regarded as workmen and as such they should be excepted from this award. The rules which I shall lay down for the guidance and control of the workmen shall be applicable only to those male workers who work in the workshops and are amenable to control by the employers. This award shall only be a stepping stone towards attaining full benefits, available to workmen in other fully organised industries.

(1) Confirmation of service and strict maintenance of service record

The work is easy and three months continuous work in a workshop is considered sufficient to entitle the adult male worker to confirmation. In the case of non-adult workers the period of probation may be extended if such workers are found efficient. The closure of the factories for non-attendance of the workers or absence of a worker on bona fide medical grounds exceeding 7 days in the entire period of probation shall not be taken to break the continuity of service.

Service Record.—Every workshop shall maintain a register in which hours of attendance and departure, absence and late attendance of a worker shall be noted.

Conduct Register.—A conduct register shall be maintained in which all instances of misconduct and the action taken shall be noted.

Daily Production Register.—In this register shall be noted the quantity of leaves and tobacco, the total outturn of the surplus leaves and tobacco returned by the workers individually.

(2) Working Hours.—(i) Usually working hours shall be 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. with one hour's recess to be settled amicably. •

(ii) The workers shall not take biri leaves more than what is expected to be used on the next day. The distribution of leaves in the previous evening shall be fixed with reference to the demand for the next day and the average outturn of the individual worker in the past.

(iii) Late attendance up to 30 minutes may be condoned, and attendance for more than 30 minutes in a day for three days in a month shall be counted as absent for one day for the purpose of calculating leave.

(iv) If on account of short stay by the worker for no fault of the employer there are any surplus biri leaves, the price of the surplus leaves shall be deducted from the wages, unless such surplus leaves are returned in their original condition to the employers.

(v) If on account of any late opening and early closing of the workshop, any workman who has attended punctually and has not left early and not finish the work allotted to him in the previous night, he shall be compensated for the deficiency in his wages.

(vi) If a worker finishes the work early he may be given leaves for the next day's work and I recommend that the worker should treat the leaves as cut them to sizes in the workshop, if possible, before he leaves for home. The employer shall provide the workers accommodation in the workshops to keep such leaves.

(vii) If a worker is habitually late by more than 30 minutes a day, the employer shall have the discretion either to dispense with his services or to retain him on terms and conditions as enumerated in rule (iv) above.

(3) Guaranteed minimum work.—This point was not pressed.

(4) and (5) Protection against involuntary unemployment, and old age benefit regarding provident fund and gratuity.—Having regard to the economic condition of the industry as also the disorganised condition of the industry any step on these two points is not possible unless until the industry is found to work for a sufficient length of time with organised and disciplined workers.

(6) Procedure of disciplinary action and the right of the Union to interfere in dismissal and retrenchment.—Before any disciplinary action is taken against a workman, proceedings in writing making the specific charges against the workman should be drawn up and such workman should be supplied with a copy of such proceedings in good time to enable him to read and himself. In such a proceeding the workman concerned may defend himself without the assistance of any outsider or he may have himself defended by any workman or even by a lawyer. Sufficient time shall be given to the workman to explain the charges and after the explanation has been submitted a date shall be fixed for evidence. The workman shall be given an opportunity to cross-examine the witnesses examined to prove the charges and to examine his own witnesses to refute the charges.

In matters of retrenchment the principle shall be "Last come, first go". The Union's demand for a right to interfere in matters of dismissal or retrenchment is rejected. At the time of fresh appointments, retrenched workers shall have priority.

(7) and (8) Maternity leave and equality of wages between women workers and male workers.—The other two demands under the head of special conditions relate to female workers. As the female workers are outside the adjudication, these two demands need not be considered.

Point 3.—Leave.

The account books of the individual biri stores could not be available. The workman is supplied with a costing account for the production of thousand biris of any arrange. I have already referred to this account. This shows that the cost of production of a particular brand of biris is Rs. 4-15-6 pies per hundred. This is sold at Rs. 5-6-0. Sale tax on the cost of production has been added, and the total has been added as the real cost of production of thousand biris. This tax will be realised from the customer. This should be shown as cost of production. According to this account the profit works out to 8½ per cent. Out of the profit of 6 annas 6 pies per thousand biris the merchant well afford to forego 1 anna 6 pies for the amenities of the workmen. The merchant will still be left with a profit of 6 per cent. This is considered as fair return in these days. I accordingly direct that each and every merchant shall allow his workmen who have completed one year's permanent service under him without any break, 10 days leave on full allowance every year of which 5 days shall be selected by the individual employers according to their respective convenience and 5 days shall be selected by the individual workers themselves cumulative for 2 years. A leave shall be given with usually 3 days previous notice, except on the occasion for taking the leave by a worker was not possible to be seen early. Such a leave shall be on full average wages to be calculated on the earnings of a worker during the preceding 7 days of actual work. Any stoppage of work for no fault of the workers, any authorised leave and absence of workers on bona fide grounds of health not exceeding 15 days in a year shall not be considered as break in the services of a worker.

Point 4.—Medical Aid.

There is a municipal dispensary with a hospital attached at Ranigunge. The charge is 2 annas per head per prescription. Medical facilities of people in general are responsibilities of the State. The employers are called upon to make a special arrangement where there is a risk of an employee contracting some disease peculiar to the industry. There is no such suggestion here. The biri makers at Ranigunge have the same medical facilities as are available to the other people of the town. Consider these circumstances as also the economic position of the industry. I am inclined to give any direction on this point.

Point 5.—Wages for lock-out period in May 1950.

Admittedly on the 8th May 1950 in the evening there were some trouble over the compulsory deduction of one anna which the workers of britti and the deduction against his loan taken by the worker. In Punjabi and the Ajanta Biri Stores this was followed by stopping work in the two aforesaid biri stores from the 9th May 1950. The similar trouble arose in the other biri stores in the evening of the 9th May with the result that the workers of those biri stores were also stopped with effect from 10th May 1950. At the intervention of the Assistant Labour Commissioner, Asansol, the works of the biri stores at Ranigunge were resumed with effect from the 16th May 1950. According to the Union the Punjabi and Ajanta Biri Stores were closed by the proprietors in the morning of the 9th May and the other biri stores were closed by their respective proprietors on the 10th May suddenly without any notice. At the hearing the biri makers examined by the Union stated, in answer to the suggestion of the biri merchants that they were given biri leaves in the preceding evening, that the proprietors had announced in the preceding evening that the biri stores would remain closed from the following day and that biri leaves were not supplied to the biri makers in the preceding evening as was the usual practice. What the biri makers stated at the hearing appears to me to be result of an afterthought and is inconsistent with the pleading of the Union. If really the biri makers did not receive any biri leave in the previous evening that was a sufficient notice to them that the would remain closed on the day following. I cannot believe the finding is that the biri makers of the Punjabi and the Ajanta Stores were given biri leaves in the evening of the 8th May and the makers of the other stores were given biri leaves up to the evening of 9th May. At that time the biri merchants had no contemplation to down their stores. The compulsory deduction of one anna has been legal and equitable. About the deductions against the advances by the biri makers there was a previous dispute and at the intervention of the Labour Commissioner a sliding scale according to the earnings of a worker on a day was fixed. It has not been made out that the deductions are not according to the scale laid down in the conciliation proceedings of the Assistant Labour Commissioner. From the evidences and circumstances of the case I am inclined to believe that the biri makers had a meditated plan to create some trouble. The trouble over the deductions wholly unjustified. The workers held meetings and took out processions on the 9th and 10th May. The evidence on the side of the merchants that the biri makers were given biri leaves in the evening of the 8th May at the Punjabi and the Ajanta Biri Stores and in the evening of the 9th at the other biri stores. But the workers instead of coming to work held meetings and processions. One of the merchants is said to have been assaulted by the processionists. This frightened the biri merchants and they closed their workshops. There was a criminal case and some of the workers were charged with offence of assaulting the biri merchant. Some workers were convicted by the trying Magistrate. The case has been remanded for retrial. I do not propose to comment about the incident which led to the criminal case. On the evidences and circumstances placed before me, my findings are that the biri makers had a preconceived plan to create some trouble by raising objections which were not warranted by law and equity, that they took biri leaves in the preceding evenings, i.e., in the evening of the 8th May from the proprietors of the Punjabi and the Ajanta Biri Stores and in the evening of the 9th May from the proprietors of the other biri stores, that the biri merchants had no contemplation to close their workshops and that the workers instead of reporting themselves for work held meetings and took out processions on the 9th and 10th May 1950. By these acts on the part of the workers, the merchants were frightened and closed their workshops and they cannot be held liable to the workers to any loss of wage. The proprietors, however, gave leaves on the 16th May to those workers who could prove to the satisfaction of the proprietor that the leaves which had been given to them had been damaged. The fact does not in any way lend any support to the story of the workers.

Besides, the merchants were hitherto free to refuse work to any biri maker on any day in the same way as the biri maker was free to refuse employment under a biri merchant. The employment was casual rather than regular. Unless and until a regular permanent relationship is established between the proprietors and the biri makers, no proprietor can be responsible for the loss of wage to the workers to whom he has refused on any particular day in the same way as the biri maker cannot be responsible for any special damage to a biri merchant to whom he had sent to work except for the biri leaves taken by him. The biri makers are not entitled to any compensation for the stoppage of work in biri stores in May 1950.

Point 6.—Discharge of Muna Dome by the Punjabi Biri Stores.

It was stated in the written statement of the Union that Shamlal, one of the proprietors of the Punjabi Biri Stores, openly stated before the workmen that he would thrash the Secretary of the Union if he would come near the factory. To this Muna Dome is said to have protested. Thereupon proprietor is said to have refused work to Muna Dome. At the hearing evidence was led that the trouble was with Shamlal, brother of Rameswar. The story of the Union could not be substantiated. As I have already no the biri merchants are rather unwilling to lose any worker they can afford to refuse work to a biri maker on flimsy grounds. In fact on previous occasions Muna Dome was discharged but was again taken in. Although the Union could not prove the case, Rameswar Babu is agreeable to work to Muna Dome. I accordingly direct that Muna Dome shall report himself to the Punjabi Biri Stores within a week from the date when the award comes into force. The proprietor of the Punjabi Biri Stores shall employ Muna Dome if he reports himself as directed. In the event of default of Muna Dome to report himself as directed he shall lose the benefit in this award. In the circumstances of the present case I do not allow any compensation to Muna Dome for the period of his unemployment. Since the proprietor of the Punjabi Biri Stores is agreeable to take in Muna Dome I may be permitted to suggest that he may be taken in as early as possible without waiting till the expiry of the time limit fixed by this award.

Point 7.—Recognition of the Union.

This demand is not covered by the definition of "industrial dispute" under the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. Besides, a separate machinery is under contemplation in the amended Trade Unions Act, which alone is competent to deal with this demand. Some requisite conditions as laid down in the Trade Unions Act must be fulfilled before a direction may be given on the point. The machinery under contemplation of the Trade Unions Act is sufficiently competent to deal with the question whether the conditions have been fulfilled or not. In any view of the case this Tribunal cannot make any direction on this point.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of reference No. 4557Lab., dated Calcutta, the 16th August 1950, of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, as to the matter of an industrial dispute between (1) Messrs. India Paper and Board Mills Co. of 74, Sri Nagendra Nath Road, Dum Dum, 24-Parganas, and (2) Messrs. Bharat Board Mills of 74, Sri Nagendra Nath Road, Dum Dum, 24-Parganas, and their employees as represented by India Paper and Board Mills Workers' Union of 134, Calcutta-Jessore Road, Nagerbazar, Dum Dum, and their employee Sri S. K. Mukherjee of 9, Tilak Choudhury Lane, Ghughudanga, Dum Dum, represented by himself.

PRESENT:

SRI P. R. MUKHERJEE, Judge, Industrial Tribunal

For Messrs. India Paper and Board Mills Co.: Sri S. P. Ghose, Advocate, and Sri P. R. Bose, Manager.

For Messrs. Bharat Board Mills Co.: Sri N. M. Das Gupta, Pleader, and Sri P. Chatterjee, Manager.

For the employee: Sri B. K. Dutta, Pleader, Sri T. K. Sen, Secretary of the Union, and Sri S. K. Mukherjee himself.

AWARD.

The case of the employees is that they were formerly attached to a concern known as India Paper and Board Mills Co., but later the Company parted with their interest and sold the machinery, etc., to Board Mills.

It is alleged by the Union that the change of proprietorship is not one. Whatever that may be, the case of the Union is that one of its clerks, Sri S. K. Mukherjee, had been dismissed on 1st June 1950 without notice. The Union now claims for compensation and gratuity from the old Company and they also demand the same terms and conditions of employment under the new Management. There is also a prayer for reinstatement of Sri S. K. Mukherjee. Both Messrs. India Paper and Board Mills and Messrs. Bharat Board Mills appeared and filed their statements.

The main defence of Messrs. India Paper and Board Mills is that the Management (Bharat Board Mills) took over the concern on the 12th May 1950, and as such, the terms and conditions of service should be settled with the new concern. Regarding payment of compensation and gratuity, they pleaded financial inability. So far as Messrs. Bharat Board Mills are concerned, they urge that they would not be liable for compensation for works done by the employees under the India Paper and Board Mills. Regarding terms and conditions of service, they pleaded they are paying the old scales of pay and dearness allowance as under Management.

ISSUES.

What compensation the workers are entitled to for their service under India Paper and Board Mills?

Terms and conditions of employment under the new Management.

Whether the dismissal of Sri S. K. Mukherjee was justified? If what relief is he entitled?

a. 1.—What compensation the workers are entitled to for their service under India Paper and Board Mills?

India Paper and Board Mills gave up the Management and sold their interest in favour of Bharat Board Mills. The workers submitted a written statement and pleaded that they are not entitled to any compensation. During the trial, they did not appear in any appearance, nor produced any evidence to substantiate their claim. It is now an accepted principle that the old workers who served the Management should get some gratuity when they are discharged. If all of them are now provided with appointment under the new Management, but the period of service apparently will begin anew with the new Management, I, therefore, order that the India Paper and Board Mills should pay gratuity to the workers for the service rendered and the India Paper and Board Mills should pay 15 days' basic wage to the workers for the period of service rendered under them.

a. 2.—Terms and conditions of employment under the new Management.

The new Management is in equity bound to accept the terms and conditions of the old Management, and as such, it is only fair that the old conditions of service should remain. The Union has made some demands, but in my opinion, it will be unfair to grant the scales of pay and dearness allowance and other privileges as demanded by the Union on the view of the fact that this is entirely a new concern and some time will be given to them to run the factory. If, however, at the end of the year, or some time after, there is some profit or good prospect, the Union will have right to claim better privileges. Regarding conditions of service, I think the terms and conditions as embodied in the award at a tripartite conference before the Labour Commissioner should be adhered to. This agreement was arrived at on 16th May 1949 and accepted by the Union. I incorporate the award—

Existing pay scale of workers shall not be disturbed at present.

Dearness allowance shall be increased from Rs. 16 to Rs. 20 with effect from 1st June 1949.

(3) Leave shall be allowed to the workers as follows:—

- (a) Continuous leave with pay according to the Factory Act 10 days.
 - (b) Casual leave—6 days.
 - (c) Festival holidays—8 days.
 - (d) Sick leave with half pay (dearness allowance as usual)—15 days.
- (4) The question of bonus is left to be considered by the Management.
- (5) Security of service—

- (a) A new worker will be on probation for 6 months and thereafter on approved service he will be confirmed.
- (b) Whenever a worker is charged for any offence, the Management will prepare a charge sheet and give him a copy for explanation by a certain date. When his explanation is obtained, the Management shall make further enquiry if necessary, and then pass final order. No worker should be summarily dismissed and otherwise punished without a proper enquiry.
- (6) Duty hour of workers shall remain as at present. Ticket system shall be introduced from 1st June 1949.
- (7) The Company shall make adequate arrangements regarding medical help in the factory as also sufficient water, latrine, etc., with no delay.
- (8) The settlement shall be binding on both the parties for one year.

Issue No. 3.—Whether the dismissal of Sri S. K. Mukherjee was justified. If not, to what relief is he entitled?

So far as the question of reinstatement of Sri S. K. Mukherjee concerned, it is pleasing to note that the new concern took him back into service, and as such, he has been reinstated. The next question that arises in this connection is what compensation, if any, should he get for the period of unemployment. This clerk went on sick leave for one month and 5 days and was to have joined on 1st June 1950. No pay allowance has been given to him for this period. He was taken back into service on 1st March 1951. There was no justification for his dismissal, and as such, he is certainly entitled to pay for the period of his leave as also for the subsequent period, i.e., from 1st May 1950 to 28th February 1951. The question is which of the Companies should pay this amount. It is stated that this new concern started management from the 12th May 1950. This is deposed by Sri P. R. Bose, who was in the India Paper and Board Mills. There was no cross-examination on the point. It is also clear from the deposition of Sri Hari Mohan Chatterjee, an employee of Bharat Board Mills, that the Memorandum and Article of Association was accepted by the Company on 22nd June. This, in a way, supports the contention that the Bharat Board Mills took over the concern from 12th May 1950. An enquiry is sought to be made in the written statement that the deed was registered some time in October 1950. No such deed was produced before me. If it be so, the deed will be effective from the date when the new concern actually took over the management. The employees know fully well are to all intents and purposes serving the new concern and they know there is a change of masters. I, therefore, hold that the Bharat and Mills will be liable for the pay of Sri S. K. Mukherjee from 12th May 1950 till 28th February 1951, and that the previous owners, i.e., India Paper and Board Mills will be liable for the pay from 1st May 1950 to 11th May 1950. This amount is to be paid to Sri S. K. Mukherjee within one month from the date when this award comes into force.

Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

3rd May 1951.

By order of the Governor,
D. S. P. MUKHERJEE, Jt. Secy.

ORDER.

No. 3290Lab.—26th May 1951.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 4910Lab., dated the 1st September 1950, the industrial dispute between Standard Vacuum Oil Co. of 6, Church Lane, Calcutta, and one of their employees, Sri Kristo Banerjee, represented by Standard Vacuum Employees' Union, 158, Muktaram Babu Street, Calcutta, was referred for adjudication to Sri P. R. Mukerjee, District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri P. R. Mukerjee, District Judge, has submitted the State Government his award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of reference No. 4910Lab., dated the 1st September 1950, of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, and in the matter of an industrial dispute between Standard Vacuum Oil Co. of 6, Church Lane, Calcutta, and one of their employees Sri Kristo Banerji represented by Standard Vacuum Employees' Union of 158, Muktaram Babu Street, Calcutta.

PRESENT:

SRI P. R. MUKHERJEE, Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

For the employers:—Sri S. K. Mullick (Jr.), Solicitor, of Messrs. Sanderson Morgan and Co., Mr. Seitz and Mr. Orvis, Managers.

For the employees:—Sri L. M. Ghosh, Advocate, Sri A. Sadhu, General Secretary of the Union.

AWARD.

The dispute arises over the discharge of an employee named Sri Kristo Banerjee under the following circumstances. The Accountant of the firm brought charges against the above employee under four heads:—

- (a) Insubordination.
- (b) Irregular attendance.
- (c) Excessive tardiness.
- (d) Sub-standard work performance.

Sri Kisto Banerjee replied to the charges and the Management's enquiry and the employee's service was eventually terminated.

The Company alleges that the order of reference is ultra vires and in law and further submits that his services were terminated on account of dereliction of duty, irregular attendance, constant lateness and insubordination. It is alleged that constant complaints were received from Section Heads since 1946, and he was given repeated warnings, both verbal and in writing, to improve his work and attendance, but without result, until finally the Company framed formal charges against him. Long and careful consideration was given to the matter by the Company before it was decided that his services should be terminated.

ISSUES.

1. Is the dispute an industrial dispute, and is it maintainable in law?
2. Was the Company justified in dismissing the services of Sri K. Banerjee from June 1950, on grounds of irregular attendance, insubordination, arrear work and excessive tardiness?
3. If not, should he be reinstated? If so, under what condition?
4. If dismissal is held justified, what compensation, if any, should he be entitled to?

Issue No. 1.

It is urged that this dispute is not an industrial dispute inasmuch as after discharge, Sri Banerjee was no longer a workman of the Company.

Relying on the definition of "workman" in the Industrial Disputes Act, it was argued that the dispute must be between employer and workman, not between employer and a dismissed workman, though an exception was made in the case of workmen discharged during dispute. In other words, it was urged that inasmuch as no previous dispute existed but the dismissal itself created a dispute, this case is not maintainable.

On this point, the pertinent observation of Justice Chakrabarty of Calcutta High Court in the case of Indian Paper Pulp Co., Ltd., may be profitably cited:—

"Under the definition of 'workman' in India, when dismissal occurred without any previous dispute, there can be an industrial dispute about such a dismissal."

If it is held that the existence of a previous dispute must be a condition, then the cases of summary discharge or dismissals on a moment's notice go without any remedy and the employers will be tempted to dismiss undesirable hands at their own sweet will. I am clearly therefore of opinion that it is an industrial dispute.

Issues Nos. 2, 3 and 4.

These may all be conveniently taken up together. It appears that the Accountant framed the following charges against Sri Kisto Banerjee:

- "(1) Insubordination.—On several occasions you have refused to work consistent with your capacity and duty as requested by the Section Head.

- (2) Irregular attendance.—In 1949 you were absent on 30 days without giving prior notice. In 1950 to date you have been absent 22 days without giving advance notice.
- (3) Excessive tardiness.—In addition to your absences you have been tardy on excessive number of times. In 1945—41 days; in 1949—44 days; and in 1950 to date—32 days.
- (4) Sub-standard work performance.—You are consistently behind in your work. At the present time you are one month behind other members of your Section."

In reply to the above charges, Sri Kristo Banerjee submitted a reply (Annexure B), in which he alleges that as he had been suffering from inflammation of glands for some time and constantly under the treatment of a medical officer, and as he was keeping indifferent health, he was irregular in attendance on many occasions. He also admits that he was behind in work on some occasions. He assured the Company that he would improve in future. After this reply, an enquiry was held, as the explanation was found unconvincing and unsatisfactory and the Company decided that arrangements must be made for the termination of his service, and the decision was communicated on 2nd June 1950 (Annexure D). After that, an appeal was filed to the Manager and in the meantime the employee cleared his arrear works and showed some improvement in his work as testified by the report of the Accountant (Annexure E). The latter reports as follows:—

"I have been observing him for the last few days and I think he has much improved. So I recommend that his case might be considered."

On such representation, the Manager, who was the appellate authority, issued an order as follows:—

"Over several years, both before and after the formal warning and complaint lodged against you by your Section Head on the 2nd July 1948 (a copy of which you received), repeated requests that you improve your work and attendance have resulted in no improvement and you have thus forfeited any reasonable claim for another chance. We therefore advise we are unwilling to alter the decision given you in our letter No. M-1846 of the 2nd June 1950."

He was given his June salary plus dearness allowance, July salary (in lieu of notice), also termination allowance equivalent to 5 per cent. of the basic salary for 4 years 5 months, and also full amount to his credit in Provident Fund.

Now the question is if this decision of the Management can be revised by the Tribunal. So far as the allegations are concerned, these are all admitted by the employee, and it is only the severity of sentence that is in question. Before the decision of the Bank Award, all the Tribunals have almost uniformly held that as the laws governing the relations between employers and servants have not been abrogated, and the general power of the employer to dismiss or discharge any of its employees on grounds of misconduct, inefficiency, incivility or indiscipline cannot be touched, the Tribunals will interfere only in those cases where unfair labour practice is involved. These have been consistently followed in almost all the awards of the Calcutta Tribunal. See award of Sri S. C. Chakrabarty in the Jute Mill's dispute, Calcutta Gazette, 13th November 1947, page 302, and in his award in the case of Midnapore Zamindary Co., Ltd., Calcutta Gazette, Extraordinary, dated 18th October 1949. In the award of the learned Central Government Tribunal, Mr. Jeejeebhoy in T. B. Rail dispute observed:—

"I shall certainly interfere if there is any unfair labour practice violation of the principles of justice or victimisation, but otherwise I do not propose to substitute my own judgment for the judgment of those who in ordinary course are required to consider these matters and give their decisions."

He further observed that "the holding of an enquiry and the order of punishment are functions of the Management and, as I have said in another connection, I am not an appellate or revisionary authority, though the Union has contended that the dismissal was too harsh a punishment."

Ludwig Teller, an eminent authority, in his book on "Management Functions under Collective Bargaining" has given a definite opinion that alleged errors of judgment would not be open to scrutiny by the arbitrator. The scope of arbitration should be limited to the enquiry to employ good faith in exercising the given decision. Sri A. Das Gupta in Men and Machines Charles Abrecht's dispute (Calcutta Gazette, 28th October 1948, page 14) remarked:—

"It has been settled that the employers have the right to terminate the services of workmen except for victimisation. So long as the termination of service of a workman does not amount to unfair labour practice, it is not open to the Industrial Tribunal to question its propriety."

The Banking Tribunal, however, for the first time held that the Tribunal's right to revise the decision of the Management will not be confined to cases of unfair labour practice but will extend also to cases where services have been unjustly terminated, or in other words, where the facts appear so harsh that the dismissal is palpably unjust, the Tribunal will interfere. Whatever that may be, in the present case the facts disclosed are that it is not a case of victimisation. It is not at all argued that the employee was ever an active member of the Union for which he has been removed. Next question therefore is whether the dismissal is unjust or harsh. It appears that this employee was consistently in default and was irregular in attendance and always behind his work. It is also proved that he was given repeated warnings with no improvement. So the Management decided not to allow any more indulgence on the part of this employee. In a sense, the Management was apparently justified in taking such action. A kinder master than Mr. Bond would have given him another chance, but that is a different matter. The real test is whether there has been any palpably unjust punishment. The right of the Management to decide the nature of punishment when an offence is established cannot be challenged and the Tribunal should not sit in judgment over the decision of the Management. The termination of the services is a fundamental and natural right of both the employer and the employee. I am tempted to quote the observations of Sri Varma, ex-Judge of the Patna High Court, in the award in Assam Oil Company's dispute:—

"In the case of persons claiming reinstatement after discharge or dismissal, one should not forget that ordinarily in cases of reinstatement one should be forcing a person upon an employer against his wishes, and the employee also, if reinstated, may not behave satisfactorily if he feels that he has been reinstated against the wishes of the employer. In ordering reinstatement, the Tribunal must be satisfied that it is a case of victimisation and should not order reinstatement simply because the Tribunal could possibly come to a different conclusion on the facts placed before it."

the admitted facts of the case clearly show that Sri Banerjee was early late in attendance, behind his work and his performance was standard. These are all admitted and if the employer chooses not to employ him any more in service, I cannot say that he has erred in judgment. It is unjust, for he who pays the piper must call for the tune. As I have personally observed, a kinder master would not have so terminated his services, but no Tribunal should say that the Management failed to exercise this discretion in a proper way. In other words, it cannot be said that the exercise of discretion was grossly abused in this case. So I do not think the Tribunal can interfere. To the goodness of the Management, it must be said that they have paid him compensation and gratuity for terminating his services. I do not think I should interfere any further in the matter. The issues are answered finally.

P. R. MUKHERJEE,
Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

SUBJECT:—Stock Certificates to be furnished in each contingent bill in which charges on account of purchase of stores are drawn.

No. TM/266.—4th June 1951.—Attention is invited to Government of West Bengal, Finance Department, memorandum No. 3349-F/F/1M/18/50, dated the 28th July 1950, directing that all Drawing Officers serving under them (other than those serving under the Food Department of that Government) should furnish for audit purposes a certificate in the following form in each contingent bill in which charges on account of stores purchased at the rates prescribed by the Finance Department are drawn:—

Certified that all the articles detailed in the vouchers (attached to the Bill and in those retained in the office) have been duly received in good order and that purchases billed for have been received in good order and accounted for in the Stock-Register, their quantities are correct, their quality is good, the rates paid are not in excess of the prescribed rates fixed by the Finance Department. Suitable notes of payment have been recorded on the indents and invoices to prevent double payments.

In other cases, the stock certificate should be in the form as prescribed in the existing rule (paragraph 389, B. A. Manual).

2. All Drawing Officers will please note the order for compliance.

[Dy. GB-3106/TM-1059 filed in Ble. TM/16-8 of 1949-50 and letter No. 4383-F/F/1M/18/50, dated 21st November 1950 filed in Ble. TH(VI)179(1)47 of 1949-50].

SUBJECT:—Deduction of surcharge.

No. TM/267.—5th June 1951.—An extract from the Central Board of Revenue, Circular letter No. 14(11)I.T/51, dated the 12th May 1951, regarding deduction of surcharge is circulated for the information and guidance of all disbursing officers (both of the Union Government and of the State Government) under the audit control of this office, all Treasury Officers in West Bengal and the Manager, Reserve Bank of India, Calcutta. The deduction made on account of surcharge from the pay bills of officers under both the Union and the State Governments should be exhibited by the Treasury Officers separately as "surcharge" in the schedule of income-tax relating to the head "IV—Taxes on Income, etc."

Extract from the letter referred to above.

I am directed to invite a reference to section 2 of the Indian Finance Act, 1951, which inter alia has increased the rates of income-tax and super-tax by a surcharge amounting to 1/20th of the rates prescribed in Parts I and II of the First Schedule to that Act. As this surcharge has been levied for the purposes of the Union Government it should be classified separately in the accounts under the temporary minor head "Surcharge—Central" opened in Government accounts in connection with the surcharge levied in 1940.

It will be necessary for the disbursing officers to show separately in the salary and establishment bills the amount of surcharge deducted by them at source in order to facilitate separate classification in the accounts.

Das Gupta, District Judge; and whereas the said Sri A. Das Gupta, District Judge, has submitted to the Government his award on the said industrial dispute; and, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

Matter of reference No. 4667Lab., dated the 22nd August 1950, of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, and in the matter of an industrial dispute between the Basic Industries, Ltd., head office: 89, Manicktolla Street, Calcutta, and their employees as represented by the Employees' Union of Basic Industries, Ltd., and its allied concerns, 55, Serpentine Lane, Calcutta.

Union: Sri Nut Behari Dutta, Pleader, instructed by Sri Sudhir Kumar Dutta, Secretary of the Union, and Sri Nani Gopal Paul, an agent of the Union.

AWARD.

Following points have been referred to me for adjudication:—

Whether the dismissal of (a) Sri Nani Gopal Paul, (b) Sri Binod Behari Paul, (c) Sri Makhaneswar Mazumdar, (d) Sri Satyendra Nath Bhattacharjee, (e) Sri Manindra Mohan Dutta, (f) Sri Gora Chand Ghose, (g) Sri Charu Ranjan Bhowmick, (h) Sri Kalidas Bhattacharjee, (i) Sri Anil Chandra Chatterji, (j) Sri Suranjan Chatterji, (k) Sri Benoy Bhusan Chatterji, was justified?

What relief are they entitled to?

On hearing the Union did not press the cases of the two last-named employees Sri Suranjan Chatterji and Sri Benoy Bhusan Chatterji. Thus we are left to consider the industrial dispute in respect of the other nine employees. The Basic Industries, Ltd., had no independent business. They were only the Managing Agents of some allied concerns. The Union in its written statement has given a list of these allied concerns. It has been admitted by the Company that all the concerns mentioned in the Union's written statement with the exception of the Comilla National Bank, Ltd., are under the management of the Basic Industries, Ltd. The question whether the Comilla National Bank, Ltd., is also under the management of the Basic Industries, Ltd., be discussed later. The details of the employment of the 9 employees are before us and their connection with the Union, as transpired in evidence at the hearing are noted below:—

Two preliminary objections have been raised by the employer in written statement. These are (1) any adjudication over the question of justifiability or otherwise of the dismissal of employees from service is unwarranted and as such the reference must be deemed to be bad and erroneous in context and outside the jurisdiction of this Tribunal (2) the reference being for adjudication of an industrial dispute between the Basic Industries, Ltd., and their employees cannot be extended and concerns of the Basic Industries, Ltd., far less to the Comilla National Ltd., with which the Basic Industries, Ltd., had no concern.

The first preliminary objection has no substance after the decision by Hon'ble Federal Court as to whether Industrial Tribunals can assume jurisdiction over the discharge of a workman and direct his reinstatement under the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. I shall discuss briefly the legal question of the preliminary question raised.

Industrial Tribunals have been clothed by the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, with unlimited powers to direct reinstatement. The question was put up to the Hon'ble Federal Court and the matter has been set at rest by the recent decision by the Hon'ble Federal Court. Although there is some divergence in the Act to limit the jurisdiction of Industrial Tribunals in any case, the majority of the Judges of the Tribunals interfered with the employers' decision and action and directed reinstatement when an employee was found to have been wrongfully discharged by way of victimisation or as an instance of unfair labour practice. Most of the Judges refused to interfere where dismissals were found to have been on grounds other than victimisation or unfair labour practice, either on the ground of expediency or on account of a restricted view about the jurisdiction of the Industrial Tribunals. I do not propose to discuss whether an Industrial Tribunal is justified to interfere with all cases of wrongful dismissals not connected with victimisation or unfair labour practice. It has become almost a convention with the Industrial Tribunals to intervene and to direct reinstatement whenever dismissal of a workman is found to have been prompted, though not openly, by victimisation or unfair labour practice. The terms "victimisation" and "unfair labour practice" have not been defined anywhere in the Industrial Disputes Act. The amended Trade Unions Act enumerates some instances of unfair labour practice. Those are in connection with Trade Unions. The instances enumerated in the amended Trade Unions Act cannot be an exhaustive list of "unfair labour practices". "Victimisation" has been defined in an award given by Janab Niwaj Muhammad in the case of Mazdoor Union versus Arjun Sugar Mill as whatever injures or illegally affects an employee. In the case of Coimbatore Cement Works, the Adjudicator Sri C. R. Manaram has defined the term as the taking of some action prejudicial to the workers on some pretext other than the real reason. In my opinion, an order made in bad faith with an ulterior motive arbitrarily or with malice is an instance of unfair labour practice.

Under the ordinary laws of contract between masters and servants, the employer has absolute discretion to dismiss a servant; and if the dismissal be lawful, the remedy of the servant, in common Law Courts, is for compensation. The common Law Courts cannot direct any reinstatement on the ground that a contract for personal service cannot be specifically enforced. The labour legislation including the Industrial Disputes Act of 1947 aims to give some relief to the workmen in this direction. If the view of the Industrial Courts can interfere when the dismissal is an instance of unfair labour practice or victimisation be correct, undoubtedly the onus is on the workman to prove that his discharge was in such circumstances as to require an intervention by the Industrial Courts. But when both parties have adduced evidence the question of onus ceases to be anything but academical. In such cases the question of onus need not be pressed too far.

When tangible evidence of unfair labour practice is not always possible. In cases of unfair labour practice or victimisation, attempts are made by employers to make out an apparent "cause". We are to find out whether the apparent cause is the real cause. If the apparent cause is found to have been not a real cause, but has been ascribed with some ulterior motives, it is undoubtedly an instance of unfair labour practice or victimisation. To arrive at a correct conclusion on this point, some manifestations of the feelings of the employers should be taken into account. It is not possible to enumerate specifically these outward manifestations. It may, however, be mentioned that failure of the employer to bring investigation into the conduct of a workman and failure to afford opportunity to defend himself before the punishment is inflicted have been accepted by the Industrial Tribunals as proof of unfair practice or victimisation on the part of the employer concerned. It has been accepted generally that before an employee is discharged, he should be given an opportunity to meet the charges brought against him and defend himself. He should be given an opportunity to examine witnesses for himself and to cross-examine the adversary's witnesses. This is on the principle of natural justice. The principle of natural justice is an equitable principle, and equity demands this principle to be followed in domestic Tribunals. In this connection reference may be made to the award for the Phoenix Mill, Ltd., reported in Industrial Court Report 1949, at page 1, as also to the award for Walchand Nagar Industries reported in the same reporter at page 8. Exceptions have been made in cases where the facts constituting the offence are admitted and the employer does not admit of any explanation whatsoever. The first objection is hereby overruled.

It transpired at the hearing that the Basic Industries, Ltd., which had no independent business, were only the Managing Agents of the concerns. The Managing Director Sri Birendra Nath Sen appointed workmen and employed them in different concerns. Not a single paper has been filed to show any appointment by any of the allied concerns or even by the Comilla National Bank, Ltd., which is said to have connection with the Basic Industries, Ltd. The main objective of the Basic Industries, Ltd., as stated by the Managing Director was co-operation and development of industries, and business within the limit of joint principles, so that benefits may be derived by all. The objects detailed in the printed pamphlets and leaflets (Exhibits D to K series) of Basic Industries, Ltd., had long and short term plans before it and with various programmes. The industries enumerated in the pamphlet of the Union's written statement, with the exception of serial 2, Comilla National Bank, Ltd., were admittedly started by the Basic Industries, Ltd., under its plans and programmes. One of the undertakings was to be taken up immediately was to encourage the commencement of working of a Bank, if available (Exhibit D, page 5). The Basic Industries, Ltd., published a calendar for the year 1950, in which under the heading Associated Organisation was mentioned the Comilla National Bank along with several other concerns which were admittedly allied to the Basic Industries, Ltd. By a notice, dated 6th March 1950, issued by Sri B. N. Sen, Managing Director of the Basic Industries, Ltd., the pay days of different concerns were notified. This is Exhibit W. The notice was issued on behalf of the Basic Industries, Ltd., as Managing Agents of the different concerns mentioned in it, and the Comilla National Bank was one of these. The evidence is that the works of the Comilla National Bank, Ltd., were done at least by some of the employees engaged by Sri B. N. Sen, Managing Director of the Basic Industries, Ltd. The totality of evidence to show that any of these employees was appointed by authority other than Sri B. N. Sen, Managing Director of the Basic Industries, Ltd. We have no evidence about the existence of the Bank independently of the Basic Industries, Ltd., except two notifications, one closing the Bank with effect from the 6th June 1950, and one letter dated 1950, signed by Sri Makhaneswar Mazumdar (Exhibits Os and P5). The admitted groups of industries were closed by two notices signed by Sri B. N. Sen, Managing Director of the Basic Industries, Ltd., from the 6th

The Comilla National Bank, Ltd., was also closed by the Chairman of the Bank by two separate notices for the same period. The wordings of two notices issued by the Chairman of the Comilla National Bank, Ltd., are the same as those of the Basic Industries, Ltd. Makhoneswar was used to work for the Comilla National Bank, Ltd., as also for all concerns admittedly under the management of the Basic Industries. His services were terminated by all these concerns—Basic Industries, Calcutta National Share Dealers' Syndicate and Bureau of Commercial, Industrial, Agricultural Information and Statistics and the Comilla National Bank, Ltd., by letters bearing the same date—5th June 1950. The words of the first three concerns were couched in the same language. The language of the letter issued by the Manager of the Comilla National Bank, Ltd., was different (Exhibits P2 to P5). All these letters were numbered and principles were as detailed below:—

Particulars of letter.

No. of letters.

the Bureau of Commercial, Industrial, Agricultural Information and Statistics.	BCIAIS/59/15172/50.
the Calcutta National Share Dealers' Syndicate	CNSD/59/15458/50.
the Basic Industries, Ltd.	BI/59/15465/50.
the Comilla National Bank, Ltd.	CNB/59/15171/50.

The initials at the beginning indicate the particular concern. The initials followed by three numbers—the first number indicates the subject matter, the second indicates the serial number of letters despatched in the year and the third indicates the year. It will be seen from the numbers of these that the subject matter has been numbered 59 by all the concerns. The very fact that the Comilla National Bank, Ltd., and all other concerns admittedly under the management of the Basic Industries, Ltd., were closed same day on the same ground by notices couched in the same language, the dismissal of an employee who worked for the Comilla National Bank, Ltd., and the Basic Industries, Ltd., and its admittedly allied concerns by letter on the same day bearing the same serial number about the subject indicate that the actions were taken by one and the same agency or at least under the instructions of one and the same agency.

If the employees were discharged for sabotaging and anti-social activities following the circulation of some anonymous pamphlets and leaflets, it is odd that they did to bring down the several concerns into disrepute. Sri B. N. Sen, Managing Director of the Basic Industries, Ltd., claims to have called the employees on the 2nd June 1950 and asked verbally to explain their action, but later on a written notice over the signature of Sri B. N. Sen, Managing Director of the Basic Industries, Ltd., is said to have been put on the notice board on 3rd June 1950 calling for an explanation from the employees by 7th June 1950. If really the Managing Director had taken any such steps, the presumption is that he did so under the authority of the concerns in which these employees were employed and by which they were discharged. No separate action appears to have been taken in connection by any of the admittedly allied concerns or by the Comilla National Bank, Ltd. On a careful consideration of the evidence and circumstances of the case, I hold that the employees for the different concerns including the Comilla National Bank, Ltd., were appointed by the Basic Industries, Ltd., as Managing Agents of these concerns and that the Managing Director Sri B. N. Sen of the Basic Industries, Ltd., held out to the public (e.g., calendar Exhibit C) that the Basic Industries, Ltd., were the Managing Agents of these concerns, and fixed the pay days of the employees of the different concerns and that all these different concerns acted under the instruction of the Basic Industries, Ltd., represented by Managing Director Sri B. N. Sen. Hence my finding is that the relationship of employer and employees subsists between the Basic Industries, Ltd. and the workmen before us, no matter for whichever concern or concerns they might have been employed by Sri B. N. Sen, Managing Director of the Basic Industries, Ltd. The allied concerns including the Commercial National Bank, Ltd., are only figureheads and any direction by the Basic Industries, Ltd., in respect of the workmen before us is calculated to have the desired effect. The second preliminary objection raised on behalf of the Company also falls to the ground.

It has been contended on behalf of the Union that the workmen employed by the Managing Director in three shifts from about 6 in the morning to about 9 in the evening with two short recesses. The Union case is that the employees were compelled to work for one or more allied concerns in addition to their normal duties for the Basic Industries, Ltd., and that if they had denied to work as directed they would have been dismissed. Sri B. N. Sen on the other hand says that the employees employed for the allied concerns in the morning and in the evening in addition to their normal duties for the Basic Industries, Ltd., at their suggestions, with a view to give them some monetary assistance in the shape of allowances for these extra works. It is admitted that those who worked in the morning and in the evening in addition to normal working hours from 10-30 to 5-30 were remunerated by some allowances. We are concerned in this case as to whether the employees were forced by the Managing Director to work in the morning and in the evening and whether the employees accepted the additional jobs of their own free will. The fact remains that they were employed as stated by the Union and that it is a relationship of employer and employees between the Basic Industries, Ltd., and the employees before us. It was urged on behalf of the Company that Anil Chandra Chatterji who was appointed as Personal Assistant to the Managing Director with effect from the 1st November 1949 by the Managing Director of appointment (Exhibit Q) was found inefficient and that the Managing Director wanted to discharge him in the last week of December 1949. Thereupon he is said to have tendered his resignation verbally and requested the Managing Director to find him some other employment. The Managing Director then offered him an appointment on a salary of Rs. 220 in the Associated Chamber of Consultants in Practical Science and Industrial Operations which he accepted. He is said to have asked for some additional jobs to supplement his income and he was employed for the Calcutta National Share Dealers' Syndicate and Bureau of Commercial, Industrial, Agricultural Information and Statistics at a salary of Rs. 40 from each of the two concerns. This is denied by Sri Anil Chandra Chatterji. This is also outside the scope of the present enquiry. The fact remains that Sri Anil Chandra Chatterji was employed by Sri B. N. Sen, Managing Director of the Basic Industries, Ltd., for the three concerns of which the Basic Industries, Ltd., were the Managing Agents. It may be noted that the employees of the Basic Industries, Ltd., were employed for the three concerns in addition to their normal works from about the middle of December 1949. The working hours caused a heavy strain upon the workmen. The employees claimed to have held a meeting in the beginning of February 1950 under the Chairmanship of Sri Anil Chandra Chatterji with a view to get some relief in respect of the working hours. Their contention is that they submitted an application in this connection before the Managing Director. Exhibit L is said to be the copy of the application. Exhibit M is the receipt granted by Sri Gorachand Ghose, one of the directors of the employees of the Basic Industries, Ltd., for the application. The Managing Director denied knowledge of any application in this connection. Sri Gorachand Ghose could not be produced before me. The re-

Exhibit LL, is dated 4th February 1950. It is admitted that at the relevant time Sri Gorachand Ghose was to receive and despatch letters and to maintain the general file. The sworn testimony of Sri Nani Gopal Paul is that the original application was signed by Sri Dharendra Nath Mitra, Superintendent of the Basic Industries, Ltd. Sri Dharendra Nath Mitra is still in the employ of the Company. Sri Nani Gopal Paul was examined before me on 15th February 1951 and the last witness for the Company was examined on 6th April 1951. Sri Dharendra Nath Mitra has been examined for the Company to contradict Sri Nani Gopal Paul for his best known to Sri B. N. Sen, Managing Director. We are not concerned whether the application reached the Managing Director or not. The fact remains that on the 3rd February 1950 there was an agitation of the employees for reduction of the working hours. On the 3rd of February 1950 the employees formed themselves into a Union. This Union was registered on the 8th June 1950 (Exhibit M with annexure). The sworn testimony of Sri Charu Ranjan Bhowmick, one of the discharged employees, is that he handed over a letter (Exhibit N) to the Managing Director Sri B. N. Sen to inform about the registration of the Union. This has been denied by Sri B. N. Sen. We are not very much concerned with the question whether Sri B. N. Sen got any information about the formation of the Union from the Union Secretary.

Eleven employees were discharged by letters, dated the 5th June 1950. These letters were in the same term. Some of these have been filed. These are Exhibits P series. I reproduce one of these letters—

This is to inform you that the Company, with high hopes, launched upon its expansion scheme, but of late has been noticing with much concern that some of the staff, by their nefarious, anti-social and anti-progressive activities are engaged in sabotaging the very socio-economic foundation of the Basic Group Industries. An atmosphere of peace and concord is fundamentally essential in the growth and development of any organisation, business or otherwise, and I have now conclusive evidences beyond doubt about your activities sabotaging the interests of the Company. I have no other alternative than to terminate your services forthwith. Your legal dues, if any, will be sent to you in due course in your residential address."

These letters although couched in high sounding words did not clearly indicate the grounds for which the employees were being discharged. On the same day notice was issued closing all the Companies on the 6th and 7th June 1950 for the purpose of re-organisation. This closure was extended to 10th June 1950 by a subsequent notice, dated the 7th June 1950 (Exhibits O and S). In these notices no indication has been given as to which employees were going to be discharged. The reasons why these employees were discharged were stated in paragraph 7 of the Companies' statement. These employees are said to have been discharged in connection with the circulation of several anonymous pamphlets and leaflets in March 1950, the very month of the alleged formation of the Union. It has further been stated that the Managing Director being in possession of the information that certain persons were involved in the matter of anti-social activities asked them to explain their conduct, failing compliance whereof they were discharged on 7th June 1950. One can understand from the written statement of the Company that the 11 employees were discharged inasmuch as the Management was satisfied that they had been engaged in publishing anonymous pamphlets and leaflets to bring the Company into disrepute. We are to enquire whether the employees before any of them was directly or indirectly implicated in the circulation anonymous letters on the light-post and walls of the southern section of the Hedua Park. He saw the employees in a group while pasting the letters. They could not see him as their backs were towards him. The first question arises as to whether he knew the 5 employees whom he claims to have recognised while pasting the anonymous letters. My answer is in the negative. The second question is assuming that he knew all these 5 workmen whether he could recognise them. He claims to have seen them in a group while pasting the leaflets from their back. I cannot persuade myself to believe that from the relative position of the 5 employees and Sri Hari Prasad Bagchi the latter could recognise beyond all possibilities mistakes. The third question is assuming that Sri H. P. Bagchi knew and recognised the 5 workmen how he could know that they were pasting anonymous leaflets about the Basic Industries, Ltd., and its allied concerns. The leaflets appear to have been printed in ordinary types. It was not possible for any man to decipher what the papers were about in that hour of the night from a distance. There is no suggestion that Sri H. P. Bagchi stopped for a time at a reasonable distance from the leaflets to read them. Sri H. P. Bagchi claims to have recognised the aforesaid 5 workmen when they moved away in tram car at the sight of the Managing Director Sri B. N. Sen and the Director Sri H. P. Bagchi. I cannot persuade myself to believe the story which was not suggested at any time before Sri B. N. Sen was actually examined. It was not suggested even to the employees when they were cross examined. The Durwan Rajnarayan Singh has been examined to corroborate the story of pasting anonymous leaflets, and that the leaflets were pasted in a betel shop of one Balkumar. This Balkumar has not been examined for reasons best known to Sri B. N. Sen. The Union's case is that this Rajnarayan was a member of the Union and has been suggested that he has been gained over. He is said to have a subscription to the Union but his case is that he was forced to give the subscription only once. Thus he complained to the Directors but the Directors were silent on this point. He appears to have attended the meetings of the Union held at 55, Serpentine Lane, on the 19th November 1950. He signed the proceedings as a member present in the proceedings. These were shown to him but he could not deny his presence. He knew what the meetings were about. It really he was not a member of the Union I fail to understand what business he had in going the way from Manicktala Street to Serpentine Lane and attend the meetings of the Union. I cannot accept his evidence, and my firm belief is that he has been gained over. This I shall show when I shall deal with the pasting of a notice, dated the 3rd June 1950, on the notice board.

The evidence of Sri Sudhir Kumar Bhattacharjee raises a grave doubt as to whether Sri H. P. Bagchi came to the office on the 1st of June 1950. Sri Sudhir Kumar Bhattacharjee's evidence is that he met Sri H. P. Bagchi in the office almost every day in the noon (12 noon to 1 p.m.). He never saw that the employees being called by the Managing Director on the 2nd June. He met Sri Hari Prasad Bagchi on the 1st June in the office before 5 p.m. when the clerks were working in the office. But Bagchi's definite evidence is that he went to the office on the 1st June about 5:30 p.m. when the office had closed, and there was no assistant in the office.

The next question for consideration is whether any explanation was offered for from the employees. A story was invented after the evidence on behalf of the Union was closed, viz., that on the 2nd June 1950 the Managing Director Sri B. N. Sen called Nani Gopal Paul, Kaldas Bhattacharjee, Mahanewar Mazumdar, Satyendra Nath Bhattacharjee, Manindra Das Gupta, Gorachand Ghose, Binod Behari Paul, and Charu Ranjan Das in a body and told them what he had seen and observed. One Sri Biren Mitra entered into a contract with the Basic Industries, Ltd., the 30th March 1950 for investment of a big sum of money (Exhibit 1). The agreement bears the initial KB/NP at its bottom. These initials are typed. The evidence on behalf of the Company is that the agreement is typed by Kalidas Bhattacharjee and scrutinised by Nani Gopal Paul. This is denied by Nani Gopal Paul who has been examined in this case. Sri Biren Mitra subsequently backed out. Exhibits 13 and 13A are letters from Sri Biren Mitra to the Managing Director of the Basic Industries, Ltd. It has been alleged that he got some anonymous letter and that these raised some misgivings in his mind about his contemplated investment. On the 2nd June 1950 Nani Gopal Paul and Kalidas Bhattacharjee were charged that they had despatched the anonymous leaflet to Sri Biren Mitra for they alone knew the address. It appears that there were several attesting witnesses to the agreement. The mere fact that Sri Biren Mitra got an anonymous leaflet against the Basic Industries, Ltd., and that Kalidas Bhattacharjee and Nani Gopal Paul knew his address do not lead to the conclusion that Nani Gopal Paul and Kalidas Bhattacharjee were responsible for leaflets received by Sri Birendra Nath Mitra. One anonymous letter purporting to have been written by a shareholder of the Company was received by the Managing Director. This is Exhibit 1. Gorachand Ghose is said to have been in charge of the shareholders' list. The shareholders' list is said to have been missing. On the 2nd June Gorachand Ghose is said to have admitted this, and Gorachand was charged with having a hand in the matter. In the letter (Exhibit 8) the witness specifically mentioned the names of two employees—Sushil Sen and Ranjan Chakravorty—who were alleged to have represented to the witness that the Management by Sri B. N. Sen was full of corruptions and that the money of the Company was being drained away. They are said to have approached the writer to take steps in the matter by calling a general meeting of the shareholders. If really Gorachand Ghose was also implicated in the matter the writer could have easily mentioned his name. Charu Ranjan Bhowmick is also said to have been made responsible on the 2nd June for the loss of the coal file of which he was in charge. The suggestion of calling the employees on the 2nd June and placing the charges against them verbally was not suggested at least till the Union's case was closed. Sri Sudhir Kumar Bhattacharjee was called to corroborate Sri B. N. Sen on this point. As I have already stated that Sri Sudhir Kumar Bhattacharjee was allowed to remain in the Court room when Sri B. N. Sen was examined on this point, the evidence of Sri Sudhir Kumar Bhattacharjee has no evidentiary value. Sri Sudhir Kumar Bhattacharjee tried to implicate upon Sri B. N. Sen. His evidence is that the employees asked the Managing Director to inform them in writing what he had to say and him that they would, in their turn, say in writing what they had to say. Sri B. N. Sen does not say so.

On the 3rd June 1950 written notice is said to have been circulated to the employees. This was hung up to the notice board by the durbar Rajnarayan on the same day when, as Sri B. N. Sen says, the employees refused to sign the notice. I reproduce the notice below :—

“Below mentioned workers of the Basic Group of Industries are intimated that there is reason to believe that they are implicated with anonymous leaflets and letters issued to shareholders, well-wishers and customers which is tantamount to sabotage work and therefore they are requested to furnish their reply within forenoon of 7th June 1950.

Although the undernoted persons are not permitted to attend the Court they will receive their pay up to 7th provided they submit their explanation to the satisfaction of the Management.

Workers:—(1) Sri C. R. Voumic, (2) Sri N. Pal, (3) Sri B. Pal, (4) Sri M. Majumdar, (5) Sri G. Ghosh, (6) Sri M. Dutt, (7) Sri S. Bhattacharji, (8) Sri K. Bhattacharji.

(Sd.) B. N. SEN,
Managing Director."

at Calcutta, the 3rd June 1950.

"Workers refused to sign and are ordered display on Board.

(Sd.) B. N. Sen,

On this notice Charu Ranjan Bhowmick, Nani Gopal Paul, Binod Behari Paul, Makhaneswar Mazumdar, Gorachand Ghose, Manindra Mohan Dutta, Surenendra Nath Bhattacharjee, and Kalidas Bhattacharjee were asked to submit an explanation by the 7th June 1950. From this notice it appears that these 8 employees were locked out on and from the 4th June 1950. In the sworn testimony of Nani Gopal Paul is that all the discharged employees worked in the office till the 5th June 1950. One can understand from the notice that the discharged employees were to get their wages or in other words were to be employees of the Company at least till the 7th June 1950. In all equities they could not be discharged before the explanations were submitted or in any case before the 7th June 1950. But in fact all the employees were discharged on the 5th June 1950. There is no evidence that the notice was actually circulated to the employees. Sri B. N. Sen's evidence is that the notice was circulated by the office bearer Parimal Paul who is said to have since resigned and gone home. No explanation has been offered as to why Parimal Paul could not be produced before this Tribunal. Really any explanation had been called for from the employees as evidenced by the notice (Exhibit 7), Sri B. N. Sen would have waited at least till the 7th June to meet out the extreme punishment to these employees. I firmly believe that the story of calling the employees to the chamber of Sri B. N. Sen, and explaining the charges against them and the story of asking for explanation from the employees by a notice (Exhibit 7) were subsequently got up by the parties of the present enquiry. It may be mentioned that even if Exhibit 7 is assumed to be a genuine and bona fide notice, it was vague. It mentioned the offence without any reference to the facts constituting the offence. This is very significant and on the top of all these things there is an indecent haste on the part of the Managing Director to issue the discharge notices without waiting for the explanation called for from the employees. It may be mentioned in this connection that no explanation was called for from Sri Anil Chandra Chatterji nor he ever charged with any offence. The sworn testimony of Sri Anil Chandra Chatterji is that he was discharged for presiding over a meeting of the employees in February 1950 over the grievances about the working conditions. This is denied by the Managing Director but no plausible reason has been assigned as to why Sri Anil Chandra Chatterji was discharged. Sri Anil Chandra Chatterji went to Poona to attend the Science Conference. He claims to have represented interests of the Basic Industries, Ltd., in the Conference. This is denied by Sri B. N. Sen but the attendance register shows that he was on duty at that time. This is very significant. This was subsequently corrected and Sri B. N. Sen says that Nani Gopal Paul made the correction without throwing out any suggestion to Nani Gopal Paul when he was cross examined. We could understand from the written statement that Sri Anil Chandra Chatterji was also discharged in connection with the anonymous leaflets and pamphlets. The Company or in the matter of that the Managing Director had nothing to suggest against Sri Chandra Chatterji on this point.

Lastly like a drowning man catching at the straw Sri B. N. introduced a story that the employees were not working quite satisfactorily. I may mention in the very beginning that this was not covered by charge levelled against them. Still I shall discuss the story with a view to find out if there is any light on the Union's story about compulsory work extra hours, formation of the Union and discharge of the employees account of their Union activities. The employees' case is that they were made to work extra hours since about the middle of December 1949 and that they started agitation in February 1950. The evidence of Sri B. N. Sen is that he felt some agitation unusual among the employees since December 1949 and that this aggravated in February 1950. The approximate times given by Sri B. N. Sen synchronize with the times when the employees had to work extra hours and they claim to have started an agitation. It may be mentioned in connection that Sri B. N. Sen claims to have satisfied himself from a report of the Superintendent Sri Dharendra Nath Mitra that the employees refused to do extra works voluntarily with a view to supplement their earnings. He pretends to have pleaded before the employees that the extra work would cause a heavy strain on them. To this the reply of the employees was that they had to do tuition and other jobs in the morning and in the evening. This story was not also suggested when the employees were examined. If really they had taken up the extra works of their own will, there was absolutely no reason to make a grievance immediately. They had started to work extra hours. Although the employees were given some allowances for the extra works the concerns for which they were more benefited. These workmen worked at the cost of their health but it was not possible for the concerns to employ independent workmen at a sum equal to the allowance which was being paid to the existing employees of the Basic Industries, Ltd.

The Managing Director with a view to make his case against discharged employees more strong complained against them to the Police from time to time. These are Exhibits 1 series. The complaint was about their conduct after their discharge. These employees are said to have created disturbance, insulted some Directors and to have threatened the Managing Director and the Superintendent. These they are said to have done from time to time, and their activities continued for long time. Curiously enough the Police was never called during the course of the disturbances. The complaints were lodged to the Police from September 1950 onwards. The employees also complained to the Police on the 4th July 1950 that they had not been paid their arrears of wages. One Sub-Inspector of Police held an investigation and his report is Exhibit 2. The finding of the Sub-Inspector was "In the month of July 1950 some 11 employees of the Industries were discharged from service. Again on 2nd September 1950, 7 employees were granted leave without pay before giving any previous notice. Both the groups of the employees come some dues to the Industries and when they come to claim their dues the Managing Director asks for Police help and submits petitions". The report of the Sub-Inspector of Police clearly indicates that the employees substantiate their charge against the Managing Director and that the Managing Director took all possible means to defeat their claims for pay. The Police report does not indicate any aggressive part on the part of the employees. On the other hand the Managing Director appears to have threatened the employees and sought Police help whenever they claimed their just dues.

The Managing Director has failed to substantiate the charges against discharged employees. The falsity of the Company's case lends support to the cause of the other side. Nothing could be suggested against Sri Anil Chatterji. In the absence of any suggestion I cannot but accept the sworn testimony of Sri Anil Chandra Chatterji that he was discharged because he presided over a meeting of the employees for reduction of working hours. From the evidence and circumstances of the case I find

- (1) that the story of the 5 employees pasting the anonymous pamphlets or leaflets is a myth;
- (2) that the connection of the employees with the anonymous pamphlets or leaflets could not be substantiated;
- (3) that the evidence was led at the hearing about the facts constituting the offence without any previous suggestion either in the written statement or in the cross-examination of the employees;
- (4) that there was an attempt to corroborate the evidence of Sri B. N. Sen by witnesses who were allowed to be present in the Court room when Sri B. N. Sen was being examined;
- (5) that the story of the Managing Director calling 8 of the employees and explaining to them what he had seen and observed, making some of them responsible for despatching anonymous pamphlets and leaflets to the share-holders and to one of the intending investors, and charging some of them with the loss of some files is a myth;
- (6) that no charge sheet was issued to any of the 9 employees before us;
- (7) that the notice which is said to have been pasted in the notice board calling upon some of the employees to explain their conduct was manufactured for the purpose of this enquiry; even if the notice be assumed to be bona fide and genuine it has only mentioned the offence without reference to the facts constituting the offence without which no explanation was possible;
- (8) that in spite of a later date fixed for explanation in the notice the employees were discharged by letters, dated 5th June 1950, in an indecent haste;
- (9) that like a drowning man catching a straw some instances of irregularities were introduced at the hearing for which there was no charge;
- (10) that not being satisfied with discharging these employees Sri B. N. Sen was attempting to defeat their claim for arrear pay and sought Police help for the purpose; and
- (11) that from out of the 9 employees before us 7 were active members of the Union and remaining 2 were ordinary members.

Considering all these facts and the circumstances discussed above I am of the opinion that the 9 employees were discharged wrongfully without any of theirs in violation of the rules of natural justice, for peaceful agitation and victimisation. This is undoubtedly an unfair labour award and the following 9 employees should be reinstated with effect from the date on which they were discharged without any break of services and loss of emoluments and benefits available to them if they had not been discharged:—

- (1) Nani Gopal Paul, (2) Binod Behari Paul, (3) Mukhoneswar Muzumdar, (4) Satyendra Nath Bhattacharjee, (5) Manindra Mohan Dutta, (6) Gora Chand Ghose, (7) Charu Ranjan Bhowmick, (8) Kalidas Bhattacharjee, and (9) Anil Chandra Chatterji.

The period of forced unemployment on account of unfair labour practice of Sri B. N. Sen shall be considered as a special leave with pay, and not be debited against any leave that is already due to the employee, and may be due to them in future. These employees shall report themselves to Sri B. N. Sen, Managing Director of the Basic Industries, Ltd., and themselves to work for such concern or concerns for which they were working at the time of their discharge within 7 days from the date of enforcement of this award and on the employees reporting as directed shall be employed in the same way as they were before their discharge. In the event of default on the part of any employee to report as directed within the time limit he shall forfeit all benefits under this award and be deemed to have been dismissed on the date on which he was actually dismissed.

For the Company:—Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate, and Sri N. M. Das, Pleader.

1. By Government order No. 54Lab., dated the 3rd January 1951, the aforesaid dispute has been referred to me for adjudication under sections 17 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947).

2. The reference was received here on the 5th January 1951. Both the Union and the Company filed a joint written statement on the 20th January 1951. The Company filed written replies on the 6th February 1951. No issues were framed as they were contained in the Order of Reference. The case was taken up for hearing on 9th April 1951. It continued till 12th April 1951. The argument was partly heard on 27th April 1951 and concluded on 28th April 1951.

3. The issues contained in the schedule of the Order of Reference stand as follows:—

- (1) Was the Company justified in suspending Sri S. C. Neogy and subsequently dismissing him from service? If not, should he be reinstated? If reinstatement is not ordered, should he be entitled to any compensation? If so, what?
- 2) Rules regarding probation and confirmation of employees.
- 3) Methods of recruitment and promotion.
- 4) Grades and categories.
- 5) Rules of transfer.
- 6) Social amenities—recreation and rest room and establishment of a canteen.
- 7) Rules regarding termination of service.
- 8) Working hours.
- 9) Allowances—acting allowance, duty allowance and extra allowance.
- 10) Annual increment.
- 11) Method of payment of wages.

AWARD.

Before I embark upon the consideration of the issues specifically, I would think it worth while just to refer to certain facts or events which led up to the present dispute. In August 1949 Edward Keventer, General Secretary of the Union submitted a charter of demands to the Company relating to pay, dearness allowance, bonus, Provident Fund, leave, etc. On the creation of the Labour Directorate, there was a joint settlement reached on 12th December 1949. As a result of this agreement some of the items in the said charter of demands were dropped and the agreement was to remain in force for one full year. Contrary, however, to the term of the settlement, the Union raised certain demands in May 1950. The Union was bent on launching a strike. On the active intervention of the Labour Directorate, the Union revised their charter of demands and dropped the idea of the strike. On 3rd July 1950 the Union submitted its revised charter of demands. The matter was in the hands of the Conciliation Officer, who held several joint conferences on different dates in August 1950. As a result of discussion in these conferences, again an agreement was drafted. There was some difference between the parties regarding the terms of the settlement. But in the meanwhile Sri S. C. Neogy, the Assistant Secretary of the Union, was placed under suspension some time in August 1950. The Company moved the Conciliation Officer for permission to dismiss him. Sri S. C. Neogy was charged with submitting a false statement of cost of medical treatment amounting to Rs. 80-8. Sri S. C. Neogy was asked to explain. The Conciliation Officer negotiated an amicable settlement. Just as the matter was going to be settled amicably, the Company suddenly took a drastic view because of Sri S. C. Neogy's alleged participation in a strike on 21st September 1950. Sri Neogy was also charged with the removal of certain records with the help of two other employees just to cover up a big fraud committed against the Company. The Company held an enquiry and dismissed Sri S. C. Neogy. The Company found the situation a helpless one and through the Labour Directorate placed the whole dispute before Government for a reference of the same to a Tribunal. That is how the matter has come up for adjudication.

Issues 2—11.

5. These issues are taken up together because it is the Company's contention that they have been settled by the agreement which was drawn as a result of joint conferences held on 4th August 1950 and 7th August 1950 on the intervention of the Deputy Labour Commissioner. The Company has filed the draft of the agreement, marked Ext. A(16). The Union has filed the corresponding document which have been marked Ext. 1(a). If these two documents are placed side by side, it is easy to see on what points the parties could see their way to agree and on what points they have ultimately differed. So far as the points on which the parties have agreed, I think the Tribunal can accept the agreed terms as the basis of its award on the relevant point. So far as the points on which the parties have differed, the Tribunal is called upon to give its adjudication after careful consideration. I discuss those points separately one after another.

6. Issue No. 2.—This issue relates to probation and confirmation of employees. On that point, I find in Ext. 1(a) and Ext. A(16), a difference is constituted by the words "if found suitable". I think the discretion as is provided for by the aforesaid expression must remain in the hands of the Company before confirming a particular employee after he has served his period of probation for six months. The difference in viewpoint consists in the Union claiming automatic confirmation at the completion of the probationary period, while the Company wants to reserve the option to confirm a candidate on his being found fit. I award that an employee shall be entitled to confirmation after completion of six months of probation, provided he is found fit.

7. Issue No. 3.—This issue relates to the methods of recruitment of employees. That is contained in item No. 2 of Ext. 1(a) and also in the said heading in Ext. A(16). I find no difference between the two versions. So I base my award on the term referred to in these documents. This is quoted below—

"Preference will be given to the retrenched staff, and for this purpose the Company should keep register enlisting the names of employees with their addresses, so that at the time of recruitment a notice is sent giving them a week's time for appointment. In case of extreme urgency this clause may be relaxed. A certain percentage of new recruits should also go to the relations of employees if they are properly qualified. Promotion is an administrative function of the Management and, therefore, the discretion of the Management should always be applied. In the matter of appointment to higher grades, subordinates will be given chances provided they are found suitable."

This issue is accordingly disposed of as above.

8. Issue No. 4.—This issue relating to grades and categories is contained in item No. 5 of Ext. 1(a) and the corresponding item in Ext. A(16). There is no difference between the two. So I accept the award term contained in these two documents as the basis of my award. Accordingly I award that "scales of pay which have been fixed in the agreement of the 6th December 1949 will continue, but in case when considers omission, such specific cases should be brought to the notice of the Company which will give full consideration". The issue is posed of as above.

9. Issue No. 5.—This issue relates to the rules bearing on transfer. It is contained in item No. 3 of Ext. 1(a) and the corresponding item in Ext. A(16). I find no difference between the two and I accept the same on the basis of my award. It runs as follows:—

"For administrative purposes, the Management may exercise the right to transfer employees from one place to another, but in no case there should be any reduction of wages, and if the transfer means placing an employee at a higher job, the employee, irrespective of his qualifications, would draw higher grade of wages as prevalent during the time of his transfer."

The issue is accordingly disposed of.

10. Issue No. 6.—This relates to social amenities—recreation and rest and the establishment of a canteen. This is contained in item No. 4 Ext. 1(a) and the corresponding item in Ext. A(16). The only difference I find between the two is in respect of "supply of tea and water" to the staff as contained in Ext. 1(a) in place of "carrying tea from outside supply of water to the staff". So the difference practically consists in fact whether the Management has undertaken to supply tea to the staff or has undertaken merely the carrying of tea from outside and make it available to the staff. In other words, the difference consists in the point whether the staff will have to pay for the tea or will get it free. As and from the evidence, there was no practice of supplying tea free to the staff in this Company, and, as such, I am unable to introduce it for the time. The Union did not place sufficient facts warranting free supply of tea to the staff by the Company. So I award that the Management has agreed to arrange for serving of tea to the staff from outside accordingly the term stands as follows: "Under the present condition of space the Management regrets to make any arrangement for a lounge room, recreation room, rest room, etc., but as far as carrying tea from outside and supply of water to the staff the Management agreed to the arrangement". The issue is disposed of in terms mentioned above.

11. Issue No. 7.—This issue relates to the rules regarding termination of service. This is contained in item No. 8 of Ext. 1(a) and the corresponding item in Ext. A(16). The only difference I find between the two is that the Company has provided for a safeguard or qualification in the case of termination of service. I think the Company's viewpoint that in all cases an employee should be entitled to one month's notice or one month's pay in lieu of notice at the time of termination of service, except for misconduct, is correct. Thus I accept the qualification imposed by the Company by inserting the phrase "except for misconduct". So the term would stand as follows: "In all cases, except for misconduct, an employee would be entitled to one month's notice or one month's pay in lieu of notice at the time of termination of service". The issue is disposed of accordingly.

12. Issue No. 8.—This issue relates to working hours. This is contained in item No. 10 of Ext. 1(a) and the corresponding item in Ext. A(16). The only difference I find between the two versions is that according to the Union the Deliverymen and all others would not be required to work more than 48 hours a week, but so far as the weekly holidays for the Deliverymen, the matter is kept open for further discussion. According to the Company, the Deliverymen and other people would be required to work more than 48 hours a week, but the question of their weekly holidays is left open for discussion. I think I should accept the Union's view on this matter. I do not understand how in the same breath it is stated that the working hours under the Factories Act are to be observed when people will not have the benefit thereof. This could only be urged if the people did not belong to the Factory. So I do not follow why these people should be excluded from the operation under the Factories Act. So I accept the terms as stated below—

“The Chitpore Depot will observe the Factories Act and the working hours should be fixed accordingly. So far as the Deliveries and all others are concerned, they would not be required to work more than 48 hours a week; but so far as the weekly hours for the Deliverymen, the matter is left open for further discussion.”

The clerical staff would work between 9-30 a.m. to 5 p.m. with 5 days' leave in a week.”

The issue is disposed of accordingly.

13. Issue No. 9.—This relates to different kinds of allowances which are contained in items Nos. 6 and 7 of Ext. 1(a) and the corresponding documents in Ext. A(16). There is some difference on this head between the two documents. In Ext. 1(a) I find “in view of the present agreement in force, it is considered that this question would be taken up at the expiration of the agreement in December next. But so far as the 5 days' living which is going abnormally high” occurs, while it is so from Ext. A(16). I am disposed to think that the mention of the portion is necessary just to show why the Union did not press its claim with respect to allowances. So I would prefer to dispose of the issue in the manner of what I find in Ext. 1(a). Accordingly the issue is disposed of below—

“Acting allowance, extra allowance, duty allowance, etc., are provided for under the agreement where the wages have been increased. In view of the consideration of all these allowances. In view of the present agreement being in force, it is considered that this question would be taken up after the terms of the agreement expire in December next. But so far as the present days' living which is going abnormally high, the Management expressed their opinion that as they were paying bonus previously, they have no intention to stop it this year. It is hoped that the relations between the Union and the Management would remain to the satisfaction of each other so that the Management do not grumble at the production.”

Thus it is clear that the claim for these allowances was dropped by the Union in view of the Management promising to grant bonus as previously.

14. Issue No. 10.—This issue relates to annual increment. I get from the documents aforesaid that the claim under this head has been dropped. I also award that the claim for annual increment is disposed of with the same direction.

15. Issue No. 11.—This issue relates to methods of payment of wages. This is contained in item No. 11 of Ext. 1(a) and the corresponding documents in Ext. A(16). There is no difference between the two. I accept the agreed term as the basis of my award. It stands as follows: “Payment of wages to all staff should be made by the 5th of every month.” The issue is accordingly disposed of.

Issue No. 1.

16. Issue No. 1.—This is by far the most important issue in the recent trial. It has been seen in the Conciliation Officer's report that the issue of settlement between the Company and the Union failed to materialise on account of this issue. Suspension of Sri S. C. Neogy and his eventual dismissal from service dashed to the ground all hopes of settlement. The controversy practically hinged upon the result of this issue.

Coming next to the issue itself, let me consider whether the suspension of Sri S. C. Neogy and his eventual dismissal from service were justified or not. The order of suspension has been marked Ext. 1(b). It is dated August 1950. The suspension was ordered to take effect from 1st September 1950. The propriety of the suspension order can be considered with reference to the grounds on which it has been made to rest. The Ext. 1(b), reveals that this suspension order was passed because Sri S. C. Neogy's explanation regarding purchase of medicines and relating cash memo. was contradicted by his previous statement as per letter, dated 14th July 1950. Another ground stated in the said letter is that the medical bill and the said cash memo. are drawn by firms which do not exist. So their genuineness was discredited by the Company. The letter referred to above, dated 14th July 1950, has been marked Ext. A(5). The contradiction noticed by me is that on 14th July 1950, as per Ext. A(5), Sri S. C. Neogy stated to have already paid the amount to his physician out of his salary. Though his subsequent letter and the doctor's letter to the Company gave a lie to it. The other ground urged about the cash memo. drawing the medical bill and the cash memo. has been explained by the doctor himself who has been examined in this case. He is P.W. 2. The cash memo., Ext. A(6), has been drawn on the Free School Clinic and the medical bill, Ext. A(4), has been drawn on the Mohan Pharmacy, Boral, P.W. 2, has stated that his clinic is styled "Mohan Pharmacy" at 8.1, Dixon Lane. He also purchased a clinic known as "Free School Clinic" which has been merged in the said Mohan Pharmacy. Apparently the cash memo. on the Free School Clinic printed form which might have been using. So the non-existence of the firm may have given rise to certain suspicion, but in face of the doctor's statement it does not go far enough. So where is the question of cheating the Company which order of suspension on Sri S. C. Neogy was passed on 31st August 1950, as per Ext. 1(b)? I could have understood if Sri S. C. Neogy was ill and absent himself from the office and then presented a false bill for cost of treatment. Sri S. C. Neogy's illness and treatment stand corroborated by the doctor, P.W. 2. He is an M.B. of experience. It is not disputed by the Company that Sri S. C. Neogy did not suffer from malaria from 2nd July to 6th July 1950. It is also not disputed by the Company that Dr. Boral did treat him or did give him any emetine injection. It is also not denied by the Company that a box of emetine injection of 100 tablets of P.D. make does not cost Rs. 8-8. The Company also does not deny its liability to pay the cost of treatment of Sri S. C. Neogy in pursuance of the agreement entered into with the Union. All that is urged by the Company is that Dr. Boral was the house physician of Sri S. C. Neogy and two visits per day costing Rs. 8 each are rather suspicious.

It is such suspicion enough to justify the order of suspension passed on a senior clerk like Sri S. C. Neogy? The Company could have urged that Dr. Boral does not charge Rs. 8 for each visit to his patient, but no evidence is forthcoming. So where are the ingredients of the charge sheet laid at the door of Sri S. C. Neogy? Of course there is some discrepancy between the doctor's letter to the Company and also certain letters addressed by Sri S. C. Neogy to the Company in respect of the amounts of the doctor's bill. Sri S. C. Neogy in his letter, Ext. A(5), dated 14th July 1950, spoke of having paid the amount of the bill out of salary to his physician. But the doctor in his letter, dated 18th July 1950, marked Ext. E, stated that he had received nothing from Sri S. C. Neogy in spite of repeated reminders. These two letters are certainly contradictory. But it may very well be that the doctor wrote this letter to recover the amount from the Company, who was liable for the amount. He may have intended to pay back Sri S. C. Neogy whose house physician he was and with whom he was intimate. It may also be that Sri S. C. Neogy really pay this amount to the doctor. But whatever may have been, there is no question of cheating because the Company was not sought to be liable to pay twice over. Evidently Ext. A(5), dated 14th July 1950, is not correct because Sri S. C. Neogy by his letter, dated 15th July 1950, marked D, told the Company that he had already paid Rs. 40 to the doctor on 10th July 1950 out of the bill submitted. He asked the Company to pay any amount more to the doctor as he would take up the matter with him. This to a certain extent proves Sri S. C. Neogy's bona fides and displaces to a certain extent the doctor's letter, marked Ext. E. Later Sri S. C. Neogy paid off the reduced bill of the doctor and Exts. 3 and 4 and prove it. So taking a total view of the matter, I fail to understand how the Company lies with the Company to say that Sri S. C. Neogy attempted to cheat the Company. Rather the Company tried to avoid the payment by raising numerous pleas. The Company got the bill reduced by the doctor even then the Company did not choose to pay the reduced bill which Sri S. C. Neogy had to pay. So the suspension order based on such frivolous charge of cheating can never be upheld.

But the Company was not satisfied with making this charge. It went on raising one charge after another till eventually it dismissed Sri S. C. Neogy on such charges. Let me look into the other charges brought against Sri S. C. Neogy. These charges are contained in Ext. 5, dated 10th October 1950. It is alleged that on 21st September 1950, when the Labour Commissioner was referred to for granting permission to the Company to dismiss Sri S. C. Neogy, he had obstructed other workers to do their work and arranged for a strike. But in the Company's written statement, paragraph 5, sub-paragraph (e), the Company admits that there was no strike nor pen-down strike for two hours as alleged by the Union. It was merely an attempt to bring about a strike which was unsuccessful. I have got no convincing evidence before me on which I can find Sri S. C. Neogy tried to foment a strike. If there was any unrest, it was merely sympathetic to the injustice conceived by the workers to have been done to Sri S. C. Neogy by the Company. So the Company has failed to bring home this charge of attempted strike to Sri S. C. Neogy.

Then I consider the last charge brought against Sri S. C. Neogy in the Company's letter, dated 17th October 1950. It is alleged by the Company that Sri S. C. Neogy with Sri A. B. De and Sri A. N. Paul tried to prepare false records and manipulate accounts regarding sale of goods and thereby the Company was defrauded, that even after suspension Sri S. C. Neogy he entered the Company's premises stealthily for the same purpose. Regarding the charge of Sri S. C. Neogy's trespass into the Company's premises subsequent to his suspension on 31st August 1950, the only evidence is that he entered the factory on the day following his suspension order to enquire about the grounds of his suspension. No evidence is brought forward on this head. Regarding the allegation of fraud, the evidence is still more meagre and, I must say, insufficient. Mr. R. T. Lincoln, Shop Manager, is said to have inquired into the matter. His report is October 1950, marked Ext. A(13). It will appear from the said report that he relied on the statements of Sri A. B. De and Sri A. N. Paul who are co-accused in that case. The only charge against Sri S. C. Neogy is that he checked and totalled the amounts in the accounts. He was found guilty for having changed the original entries for those written in his handwriting and for making wrong totals to hide the change in figures made by him. It is, of course, not very clear what Mr. R. T. Lincoln intended to say. Did Sri S. C. Neogy make originally correct entries and subsequently change them, or did he make originally wrong entries and use wrong totals to manipulate accounts? Mr. Lincoln is not forthcoming to give light on the matter. Neither are these books of account before us, Sri A. B. De and Sri A. N. Paul, whose statements weighed so much with Mr. Lincoln, examined and cross-examined before the Tribunal. So the Tribunal is practically left guessing in the matter. I am told that the original books were subsequently stolen and destroyed. What hand Sri S. C. Neogy had in hiding the matter is not very clear. Sri S. C. Neogy was admittedly under suspension during this period. So he could have no hand in the matter of removal of these books and their eventual destruction. The Company did not take the help of the police because, it is said, it did not like to expose its employees to trouble. This is certainly not a virtue out of necessity. The Company does not appear to be as merciful as it claims, otherwise it would not have discharged all these employees. Real mercy would have been shown if the Company had placed the entire matter in the hands of the police, so that the real criminals would have been brought to justice. Instead what the Company has done is that it has taken the law in its own hands and administered it in the way it liked. If it had served any purpose, I am inclined to think that the Company has benefited itself by getting rid of some undesirable people. However that may be, I am clearly satisfied that the evidence against Sri S. C. Neogy is not sufficient to make out the case of fraud and other charges levelled against him. Then what is the Company's motive for this? I shall discuss presently. Sri S. C. Neogy has filed certain testimonials, marked Ext. 2 series. These show that the previous Manager of this Company appreciated his service. Exhibit 2(c) shows that the suggestions of Sri S. C. Neogy and his co-operation did help the Company in October 1950.

He was also helpful in the matter of detection of fraud. So it may be seen that Sri S. C. Neogy is not inherently a bad man. He lost his job immediately after the Union was formed. He was then reinstated. The light is thrown on this by Ext. 2. The evidence is abundantly clear that Sri S. C. Neogy was an active member of the Union being its Assistant Secretary. He joined this Company in 1942 and his service book is said to have no adverse remark. I will consider some of the events which led to the dismissal of Sri S. C. Neogy in their sequence. On 14th August 1950 the Union forwarded to the Company its resolutions passed in a General Meeting relating to the grievances of the workers. One of the grievances was non-payment of medical aid by the Company to certain workers including Sri S. C. Neogy. Certain correspondence followed and the Company decided to suspend Sri S. C. Neogy with effect from 1st September 1950. The Union was exasperated. The Labour Commissioner was approached. The Labour Commissioner intervened and tried to bring about an amicable settlement including the matter of Sri S. C. Neogy. Just as the compromise was within an ace of being accomplished the Company took up a dilatory attitude. The workmen might have gone on a pen-down strike as a result of this. In the meantime the Company wrote to the Labour Commissioner saying that it was not prepared to consider the case of Sri S. C. Neogy. In a letter, dated 13th October 1950, Sri S. C. Neogy asked the Company for his salary for the period of his suspension and also bonus. The Company, instead of paying it, replied by its letter, dated 17th Oct 1950, and made other allegations against him and informed him that it asked the permission of the Labour Commissioner to dismiss him. Sri Neogy sent another reminder on the 17th October to the General Manager of the Company. The Company by its letter, dated 27th October informed Sri S. C. Neogy that he had been dismissed with effect from September 1950. Now this is the position. The Company approaches Labour Commissioner for permission under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, but did not wait for the said permission. It dismissed Sri S. C. Neogy independent of the said permission. Now the Company's contention is that the Conciliation Officer was bound to give the report within 14 days of the commencement of the proceeding or within a shorter period as may be fixed by the appropriate Government [rule 12(6) of the Industrial Disputes Act]. This is no doubt true, but the point is, where no such report is forthcoming is section 33 avoided? The Company disregards the provision of section 33 merely on the plea that the Conciliation Officer has not submitted the report within the scheduled time. Can the Company do it? I do not think so. The Company might appeal to the higher authorities to expedite the report. But the report for reasons stated is not null and void, nor can it be held that the conciliation proceeding has ended in law after 14 days. That would be an absurd proposition. So the Company in the present case might be found to have contravened section 33 of the Act in this matter. In the present proceeding I am, however, called upon to adjudicate upon this aspect of the matter. I referred to this merely to show that the Company could not brook any delay. It could not rest content with even the suspension order on Sri S. C. Neogy. It was out to terminate his service. Does it reflect a fair state of affairs on the part of the Company? If against this I place the Union action against Sri S. C. Neogy, the reason for such intolerance on the part of the Company becomes more significant. So taking a total view of the matter I can come to no conclusion other than that Sri S. C. Neogy was victimised in the present case. The Union activities made him an eyesore to the Company. The Company was bent on getting rid of him. So it turned to account first of all the medical bill and next trumped up charges of falsification of accounts and fraud and misappropriation of money. In my view of the matter I find that Sri S. C. Neogy is entitled to be reinstated.

One thing I must find out as to whether Sri S. C. Neogy is entitled to have any benefit under the Industrial Disputes Act or, in other words, whether he is a workman under the said Act. On this head, considering the evidence, I find that his work was substantially a clerical job though it might have involved some work of supervision. Though he was nominally a Head Assistant, he did play the role at times. But even if he was a Head Accountant, he was no more than a glorified clerk and for that reason he is not a workman under the Act. Even assuming for the sake of argument that Sri S. C. Neogy is not a workman, I do not think that it will stand in the way of his getting relief in the present case. "Any person" in the end of the definition of industrial dispute enlarges the scope of the dispute. If a body of men, just as in the present case, take up the case of any person, be he a workman or a supervisor, then, if the other conditions are satisfied, the dispute becomes an industrial dispute and the jurisdiction of the Tribunal is not ousted. In that view of the matter, any objection on this score will not disentitle Sri S. C. Neogy to relief under the Act.

Coming next to the actual relief which the Tribunal should award, I should think that he ought to get the wages as compensation which he should have got otherwise but for this suspension and dismissal. He was suspended as far back as September 1950 and as we are of 1950, the compensation for this long period will rather prove hard on the Company. I accordingly allow two months' basic wages without dearness allowance as compensation to Sri S. C. Neogy. The wages referred to above will be the wages he last drew prior to the order of compensation. This period of forced unemployment will count towards other benefits had he been in service. This will be treated as leave without pay. He must be reinstated within one month of the award coming into operation in his former post or in any post equivalent to it in pay and prospects. The compensation given above must be paid in one instalment also within one month of the award coming into operation. So the issue is disposed of in favour of Sri S. C. Neogy in all its bearings.

AWARD.

It is admitted by both parties that the industrial dispute under reference is to the clerical employees of the Company. The following points have been referred to me for adjudication:—

(1) Is the adjustment of dearness allowance for the employees from 21st October 1950 in terms of the second Engineering Tribunal award as made by the management correct?

- (2) If not, what would constitute the basic pay of an employee for purpose of fixing dearness allowance according to the Engineering Tribunal award?

A brief history about the schemes of basic wages and dearness allowance will be necessary for a correct decision on the dispute under reference. The Company was originally a Sterling Company. In 1943 dearness allowance was introduced by the Sterling Company for the employees for the first time. The scheme of dearness allowance was, as transpired from the discussions of the parties and from the representatives at the time, that the dearness allowance was to be 10 per cent. of the basic salary subject to a minimum of Rs. 10 per month. It is thus clear that employees drawing Rs. 100 or more were paid 10 per cent. of the salary as dearness allowance, while others drawing less than Rs. 100 were to get a minimum of Rs. 10 per month as dearness allowance irrespective of their basic pay. In 1944 the dearness allowance was consolidated with the basic salary. With effect from the 1st April 1947, the Sterling Company was closed down and a Rupee Company under the name and style of T. E. Thomson and Co., Ltd., came into existence. As a result, the services of the employees with Messrs. T. E. Thomson and Co., Ltd. (Sterling Company), was terminated on the 31st March 1947 and the employees accepted services with Messrs. T. E. Thomson and Co., Ltd. (Rupee Company), from the 1st of April 1947 at the same remuneration and under the same conditions (Annexure B to the Company's written statement). In 1944 the employees got periodical increments to their total emolument but out any indication whether such increments were for basic salary or dearness allowance or for both. In the absence of any such definite indication increments must be deemed to have been for basic salary and dearness allowance according to the original scheme which has not since been changed in any way. In 1948 there was an adjudication of the industrial dispute existing in some engineering firms in Calcutta and its suburbs by the present Company was one. The award of the Engineering Tribunal was published under Government of West Bengal, Labour Department order No. 2161Lab., dated the 30th June 1948. The award fixed the dearness allowance for the employees which was linked to the basic salary in slabs. Before the award of the Engineering Tribunal was published another Tribunal was constituted by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, to adjudicate upon the industrial dispute in nearly 250 mercantile firms in Calcutta. The present Company was included in the order of reference for adjudication of the industrial dispute in mercantile firms. During the pendency of the adjudication proceeding before the lastmentioned Tribunal, the Company granted some increments to the employees as interim relief. The increments were to be calculated on the basis of the basic salary and dearness allowance, and were consolidated with the emolument the employees had been getting then. Exhibit 5 is clear on this point. After publication of the first award of the Engineering Tribunal, the Company agitated that the employees were not getting dearness allowance according to the award. The result was that in April 1949 the total emolument were split up by the Company into basic salary and dearness allowance. The Union still contended that the dearness allowance was not according to the scales laid down in the award of the first Engineering Tribunal. The reply of the Company was that the basic salary still contained the element of the dearness allowance. Thus the splitting up of the emoluments into basic salary and dearness allowance does not appear to have been done on any principle. A second Engineering Tribunal was constituted in March 1950 to adjudicate on a dispute over dearness allowance, holidays and leave. The award was published on the 9th September 1950. By the award of the second Engineering Tribunal the rates of dearness allowance were increased. Some increments in the basic salary re been granted by the Company from April 1950. This is clear from Exhibit 2. It is also clear from the Union's written statement (Appendix) that some increments for dearness allowance were also given in October 1949.

We are to find out what portion of the total emoluments of an employee represented his basic salary and what portion represented his dearness allowance. The original scheme of the Sterling Company at the time of introduction of the dearness allowance was that dearness allowance should be 10 per cent. of the basic salary. The dearness allowance was subsequently consolidated with the basic salary. This undoubtedly brought some benefit to the workmen in respect of Contributory Provident Fund. In the consolidated amount the basic salary of an employee and his dearness allowance were in the ratio of 10:1 or in other words one-eleventh of the total emoluments represented the dearness allowance and ten-elevenths represented the basic salary. The scheme was not altered either by the Sterling Company or by the Rupee Company which employed the workmen of the Sterling Company on terms on which they had been employed by the Sterling Company. Both the Sterling Company and the Rupee Company allowed increments to the consolidated salary of the employees without specifying what portion of the increments represented the dearness allowance. Sometimes the increments were declared to be for both basic salary and dearness allowance without any specific division. Sometimes the increments were allowed without any such declaration. The inference is that the original scheme of dearness allowance introduced in 1943 by the Sterling Company as a term of service continued so long as the nature of the increments were not specifically declared. To be more explicit, in the absence of any specific declaration about the nature of an increment, one-eleventh of the total emoluments including the periodical increments is to be deemed to represent the dearness allowance of an employee and the remainder is his basic salary.

It is clear that up to 1948 no portion of the total emoluments made up of consolidated basic salary and dearness allowance in 1943 and periodical increments from time to time and the interim relief in 1948 subsequently added with the total emoluments was specifically declared to be the dearness allowance. In 1949 when the Union started agitation about dearness allowance of the employees, the Company took out a portion of the consolidated emoluments of each employee and called it dearness allowance after with some increments added to it. Still the Company contended that the basic salary in which the consolidated amount had been split up in 1943 contained an element of dearness allowance. If really the portion made out of the total emoluments to make up the dearness allowance of an employee was less than one-eleventh of the total emoluments, certainly the balance which was called the basic salary contained an element of dearness allowance. But after the splitting up of the total emoluments into basic salary and dearness allowance, if any increment has been allowed on any of the basic salary and added to it, the increment cannot be deemed to include any portion of the dearness allowance. Similarly, if after adding up the total emoluments into basic salary and dearness allowance, an amount has been added to the dearness allowance, it must be deemed to have been exclusively for dearness allowance. Thus there will be no difficulty in appropriating the periodical increments as basic salary or dearness allowance after the splitting of the total emoluments into basic salary and dearness allowance. We are, therefore, to find out what portion of the total emoluments of an employee prior to this splitting up including the interim relief in 1948 subsequently consolidated into total emoluments represented his dearness allowance. I could have worked out the basic salary and dearness allowance of the entire clerical staff if full list had been placed before me. Neither party deemed it necessary to file a full list of the employee with a statement of their total emoluments and periodical increments. In such circumstances my duty shall be to lay down some general rules on this point:—

- (a) From the total emoluments of an employee drawing Rs. 100 or more on the 31st March 1949, one-eleventh of the total emoluments shall be taken out to represent the then dearness allowance of the employee and the balance shall represent his basic salary.
- (b) Of the total emoluments of an employee drawing less than Rs. 100 on the 31st March 1949, Rs. 10 shall be deducted for dearness allowance and the balance shall represent his basic salary.
- (c) The dearness allowance of an employee thus worked out together with any increment specifically granted as dearness allowance from time to time after March 1949 shall represent his dearness allowance.
- (d) The basic salary of an employee thus worked out together with such increments as have been specifically granted as increments to basic salary after March 1949 shall represent his basic salary.
- (e) The basic salary of an employee thus found out shall be the basis of fixing the dearness allowance according to the sliding scale laid down by the second Engineering Tribunal.
- (f) If the total dearness allowance of an employee thus found out is less than what has been fixed by the second Engineering Tribunal, the slab of basic salary covering him, the dearness allowance shall be pulled up to the limit fixed by the award.
- (g) If in any case the total dearness allowance of an employee thus found out exceeds the limit fixed by the award, his dearness allowance need not be reduced.
- (h) This adjustment shall have retrospective effect on and from the date of the award of the second Engineering Tribunal came into effect.
- (i) Adjustments shall also be made in respect of the benefits which are linked to the basic salary (e.g., contribution to Provident Fund, gratuity, etc.) on and from the date on which the adjustment of basic salary and dearness allowance takes effect. Such adjustments may be made in the way the Company thinks fit and proper, provided such benefit to an employee from the date on which the adjustment of basic salary and dearness allowance is to take effect is not less than what he would have been entitled to if his basic salary were what has been found out after adjustment from that date onward.
- (j) The arrear dearness allowance due to an employee on approval of the adjustment as directed shall be paid to him within a month of the date of enforcement of this award.

ORDER.

No. 3566Lab.—8th June 1951.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 7350Lab., dated the 20th December 1950, the industrial disputes that existed or were apprehended between the three Jute Mills mentioned in column (1) of the list attached to the said order and their workmen represented by the Unions mentioned against each mill in column (2) of the said list regarding the matters specified in the Schedule to the said order, were referred for adjudication to an Industrial Tribunal consisting of Sri S. N. Modak, I.C.S., (Retd.), as Chairman and Sri M. C. Banerjee and Sri P. R. Mukherjee, District Judges, as members;

And whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Tribunal, a complaint was received on behalf of Sri Kartick, a workman of Ludlow Jute Co., Ltd., post office Chukasi, Chengail, Howrah, against item 1 under column (1) of the said list, in writing before the said Tribunal alleging that the said Company had altered, to the prejudice of said workman, the conditions of service applicable to him immediately before the commencement of the said proceedings;

And whereas in exercise of the powers conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Tribunal has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted its award to the State Government;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

The matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act made on behalf of a workman named Kartick against Ludlow Jute Co., Ltd., in connection with Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, Order No. 7350Lab., dated 20th December 1950, referring certain industrial disputes between 3 Jute Mills in West Bengal including Ludlow Jute Co., Ltd., and their workmen.

AWARD.

This matter has arisen out of a petition of complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act presented on 30th April 1951 (registered as No. 40 of 1951 under section 33A) by the Secretary, Ludlow Chatkal Mazdoor Union, on behalf of a workman named Kartick against Ludlow Co., Ltd., which is one of the 3 Jute Mills in West Bengal which are referred in the industrial disputes referred to this Tribunal for adjudication by Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order

No. 7350Lab., dated 20th December 1950. The grievance of the complainant workman is that he was discharged in the first week of January 1951, he has prayed for reinstatement. The employers have contended that workman was discharged on 12th December 1950, that is to say, before 12th December 1950, the date of reference, on account of his smoking in factory premises, and there having been no pendency of any adjudication proceedings on the date of the discharge, no provisions of section 33 of Industrial Disputes Act were contravened and the present complaint is therefore not maintainable. No one has appeared for the workman at hearing. The employers have further represented that the complainant workman was re-employed on a different job on his application on 10th April 1951. We have examined the Personnel Manager of the employer and we are satisfied from the evidence that the workman was discharged on 12th December 1950 before the date of reference, and he was re-employed on 10th April 1951. It is likely that the workman is no longer taking interest in the matter of this complaint because he has since been re-employed. We find that the adjudication proceedings were not pending on the date of the discharge, and consequently no provisions of section 33 of the Act were contravened. We accordingly come to the conclusion that the present complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act is not maintainable and we are unable to give any directions in the matter. We make our award accordingly.

K. Niyogi, District Judge;

whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Tribunal, a complaint was received on behalf of Sri Babulal Keot, an employee of Messrs. Hanuman Jute Press of 20, Old Ghusuri Road, Salkia, Calcutta, being item 14 of the aforesaid Schedule, in writing before the said Tribunal alleging that the said Company had altered, to the prejudice of the said employee, the conditions of service applicable to him immediately after the commencement of the said proceedings; therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the said Act, the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the Schedule hereto:—

ANNEXURE.

Statement of an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, arising out of Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, Order No. 185Lab., dated the 9th January 1951, referring certain industrial disputes between 16 Jute Presses and their workmen.

PRESENT:

By S. K. NIYOGI, District Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

For the Union: Sri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate, assisted by Sri Hanuman Bhattacharyya, Secretary, and Sri Gour Mohan Ghosh, Assistant Secretary, Cossipore Jute Press Workers' Union.

For the Company: Mr. J. J. Rattray, Assistant Secretary, and T. A. Cohen, Inspecting and Welfare Officer, Calcutta Hydraulic Association.

AWARD.

In a matter arising out of a petition of complaint filed by the Jute Press Workers' Union on behalf of one Babulal Keot, an employee of the Hanuman Jute Press Company, to the effect that the said employee was discharged on 19th January 1951 by his employer, the Hanuman Jute Press Company, in contravention of the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, during the continuance of the proceedings before the said Tribunal, constituted by the Government of West Bengal to adjudicate the dispute existing between 16 Jute Presses including the Hanuman Jute Press Co., of 20, Old Ghusuri Road, Salkia, Howrah, and their work represented by the Cossipore Jute Press Workers' Union, 1, Joy Chatterya Lane, Calcutta, and without permission of the said Tribunal.

The dispute related to questions of gratuity and Provident Fund it was referred for adjudication to Sri A. Das Gupta, Tribunal, constituted for the purpose by the Government of West Bengal in its Labour Department order No. 185Lab., dated 9th January 1951. The reference received on 10th January 1951 and proceedings started on that day were pending when the said Babulal Keot of the Hanuman Jute Company was discharged by his employer on 19th January 1951. The services of Sri A. Das Gupta were no longer available, the Government order No. 185Lab., dated 9th January 1951, was partially modified and was appointed the Tribunal to adjudicate upon the dispute between the Presses and their workmen as represented by the Cossipore Jute Workers' Union (Government of West Bengal order No. 1796Lab. 21st March 1951). The proceedings under the reference are still pending.

It is not disputed by the Company that the man, Babulal Keot, discharged on 19th January 1951 during the pendency of the proceedings before the Tribunal; nor is it claimed on its behalf that permission to discharge Babulal was prayed for or obtained before he was actually discharged. The Company, however, contends that his discharge was justified by circumstances under which the order of discharge was passed. It transpired in evidence, and there is no controversy on the point, that Babulal was recruited in 1925. But the Company's case is that he was discharged with pay for the notice-period of one month at the end of February 1950 and he was reappointed on temporary basis on a salary of Rs. 67 per month including dearness allowance when he came and offered his services again in June 1950. As there was no work for him after December 1950, he was discharged from January 1951. The Union's case, on the other hand, is that Babulal was discharged on account of his Union activities as he was an active member of the Union. I am to say at once that in this respect the Union has failed to prove its case. In the first place, there is practically no evidence but for the verbal statement of Babulal himself that he was a member of the Cossipore Jute Press Workers' Union. The list of members which is likely to be maintained by the Union, has not been produced to show that Babulal's name appeared in the list, nor is there any evidence as to when Babulal joined the Union or as to his activities as a member of the said Union. It is admitted by Babulal that some time last year he was away with pay for two months. He says that he went on leave for two months and Rs. 86, equivalent to his one month's pay, was paid to him as baksis for his marriage. There is very little which would support the case of his. From his service certificate it appears that he was married and had two children even in 1946 when this certificate was issued to him by the Hydraulic Press Association. It is not probable that as much as Rs. 86 was paid to this man, old as he was, as baksis for his marriage at that time for the second time. The Company has, on the other hand, proved that several workmen including Babulal were discharged at the end of February with one month's notice-period pay. This is quite reasonable in view of the admission of Babulal that he was given one month's pay in excess of time when he left. Had it been a case of leave, he was absent for more than 3 months, which would have entailed his dismissal. I have no hesitation in finding upon these considerations that he was lawfully discharged at the end of February 1950, as the case of the Company is. That being so, it will be for the Union to show that he was in continuous employment even when he came back in June and got the employment in the same Company again, it is an admitted fact that when he re-entered the Company.

at a reduced salary of Rs. 67 (Rs. 36 basic pay and Rs. 31 dearness pay). The Union's case, as put forward in the evidence of Babulal, he was paid Rs. 20 less than his former pay on the excuse given by the Head Clerk that he would be given gratuity at the time of retirement, and already grown old. The Company, on the other hand, contends that he was reappointed at the minimum salary of Rs. 67 per mensem and his reappointment was on a temporary basis and his reappointment was for a short period. Of the two views, the latter seems to be more reasonable to me; for the Union was agitating for gratuity and Provident Fund which were refused in the previous award by S. C. Dutta Gupta, published in the Calcutta Gazette of 28th June 1950, and the same demands are being reiterated before the present Tribunal. It is hardly possible that the plea that gratuity would be given to this particular workman at the time of his retirement was taken by the Head Clerk upon the evidence that it was really a cause of reappointment in 1950 and the reappointment was on a temporary basis as contended by the Company.

I have already held that the Union has failed to prove that the discharge of Babulal was because of his Union activities, as alleged. There is, therefore, no possible explanation why this particular workman was discharged in January, unless we accept that of the Company that there was no work at that time for him. On behalf of the Union it was contended that the discharge was unjustified because persons both junior and senior to him were still in service. This has not been proved. If it were assumed that Babulal was continuing in service from 1925, then of course it was possible to contend that men junior to him in service were still continuing in employment. As a matter of fact, he was discharged and reappointed only in June 1950. There is nothing to show that persons appointed after his reappointment in June are still continuing though Babulal has been discharged. The Head Clerk has explained how there was no work for him at the time of discharge. He says that Babulal was reappointed when there was a shortage of men, and as the old employees returned to duty after November 1950, there was no longer any work for Babulal, and therefore he was discharged. In the circumstances, I am unable to hold that Babulal was discharged without justification though the discharge was technically in violation of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. I accordingly reject the claim of the Union for reinstatement of Babulal. But considering that he would have been entitled to continue in service for some time if the Company had applied for permission to discharge the man, as was required arising out of such an application would have required some time for its disposal, I would direct the Company to pay him one month's compensation by him for the technical breach of section 33 by the Company. The compensation is to be paid within a month from the date of publication of this award. The award is made accordingly.

In the matter of an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act arising out of Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. 185Lab., dated 9th January 1951, referring certain industrial disputes between 16 Jute Presses and their workmen.

SRI S. K. NIYOGI, District Judge, Industrial Tribunal

Present for the Union: Sri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate, and Sri Panchanan Bhattacharyya and Sri Gour Mohan Ghosh, Assistant Secretary of the Cossipore Jute Press Workers' Union, respectively.

Present for the Company: Mr. J. J. Rattray, Assistant Secretary, and Mr. T. A. Cohen, Inspecting and Welfare Officer, Calcutta Jute Press Association.

AWARD.

This is an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, filed by the Cossipore Jute Press Workers' Union on 13th March 1951, alleging that a workman named Khublal Das was discharged by him from the Ocean Jute Press Company, on 19th January 1951, during the pendency of a proceeding before the Tribunal, without its permission and in violation of the provisions of section 33 of the Act.

The dispute existing between 16 Jute Presses including the Ocean Jute Press and their workmen as represented by the Cossipore Jute Press Workers' Union of 1, Joy Bhattacharyya Lane, Calcutta, regarding of gratuity and Provident Fund, was referred for adjudication to a Tribunal constituted under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, and Sri A. Das Gupta was appointed Chairman of the said Tribunal by the Government of West Bengal by its order No. 1851 Lab., dated the 9th January 1951. The reference was received on 10th January 1951 and notice was issued to both parties fixing 27th January 1951 for appearance, and for written statement being submitted by the Union. In the meantime, on 19th January 1951, the aforesaid Khublal Das, an electrician of the Ocean Jute Press, was dismissed by the latter. The Company did not pray for permission of the Tribunal for effecting that discharge, and made the discharge order without reference to the Tribunal at all.

Subsequently, the services of Sri A. Das Gupta were not available, and industrial dispute existing between the Jute Presses and their workmen referred to me, in his place, under Government order No. 1796 Lab., dated 21st March 1951, for adjudication. The adjudication proceeding is pending.

The Company does not deny that the man, Khublal Das, was discharged without permission of the Tribunal during the pendency of the adjudication proceeding, nor that the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act have been contravened. It has, however, been contended by the Company that the discharge was justified as the man was careless and as one of the sprinkler's switches was destroyed by fire owing to his negligence.

It has transpired in evidence that Khublal was an old employee of the Ocean Jute Press having been first appointed in 1939. He was absent during the war, but he came back after the war was over and was reappointed in 1946.

There is an Engineer attached to the department in which Khublal Das was an electrician, and the Engineer was the fit person who could speak with authority whether the burning of the coil was accidental or it was brought about by the negligence of Khublal. He has not been examined by the Company. Ordinarily, the Engineer would pass orders on electrical works of the Company; we have not his version before us. The Head Clerk comes in his place and says that he directed Khublal Das to cause the sprinkler's motors, but his orders were not carried out and the result was that owing to his negligence the coil of the sprinkler's motor was destroyed by fire. Khublal Das, on the other hand, says that the coil was burnt three times before and it was repaired by him on all those occasions. As the coil had become very old he reported to the Engineer that the entire coil system might be changed, but no heed was paid to him. Thus, according to him, the coil which was old and worn out was accidentally burnt. There is no denial to this statement of his, which in itself does not appear to be improbable or unreasonable. The man has been in the Company's service since 1946, if not from 1939. There is no evidence of his ever being punished or even warned in the past for disobedience, neglect of duty or carelessness, with which he has been charged by the Head Clerk now. No charge-sheet was drawn up against him, and far from being given an opportunity to explain the charge made against him, he was even told of the offence for which he was discharged. I am not inclined to believe that the Head Clerk had anything to do with the matter whether the coil was burnt by negligence of Khublal or through accident. If negligence of Khublal were the real cause, we would more likely have found the Engineer or some such responsible officer having expert knowledge contributing into the cause of the burning of the coil and giving evidence. The Head Clerk added in his evidence a further ground to justify the discharge of Khublal by saying that he was a drunkard as he himself had seen him drinking in the engine room during office hours 2 years in absurd for a Company like the Ocean Jute Press to suggest a electrician was retained in its employ for 2 years after he was found ing within the engine room, by its Head Clerk, in violation of the discipline and involving danger to himself and to others working same room. To say the least, the Head Clerk is wholly unreliable witness on the point at issue before us. I hold for these reasons Company has failed to show that the coil was burnt through neglig Khublal, and he was discharged for such negligence. Khublal is a of the Cossipore Jute Press Workers' Union, and he says he is in t of attending meetings of the Union. The best possible evidence point has not, however, been adduced by the Union though it lay power to adduce. Be that as it may, the man was discharged in of the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act Company has failed to justify his discharge on facts.

It is accordingly ordered that Khublal Das be reinstated in his in a post equivalent thereto carrying similar pay and other emolument back pay for the entire period from the date of discharge till reinst. within a month from the date of publication of the Tribunal's award other compensation is called for or allowed. Be it further noted period of his forced unemployment should not be regarded as a break service for the purpose of pension or other benefits to which he entitled as an employee of the Company. The award is made acco

AWARD.

This is a matter arising out of a petition of complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, which is to the effect that a workman, namely, Sitaram, was discharged by his employer, the Suraj Jute Press of 2, Dealer Road, Cossipore, during the pendency of a proceeding before the said Tribunal, without permission of the Tribunal and in contravention of section 33 of the Act. By an order 185Lab., dated the 9th January 1951, the Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, referred an industrial dispute between 16 Jute Presses including the aforesaid Suraj Jute Press and their workmen as represented by the Cossipore Jute Press Workers' Union to Sri A. Das Gupta, for adjudication to the said Tribunal. Sri A. Das Gupta who was constituted the Tribunal for the purpose. The case was received on 10th January 1951. The Union appeared on 27th January 1951 and prayed for an adjournment for filing their written statement which having been allowed, the case was fixed for 3rd February 1951. In the meantime, on 31st January 1951, Sitaram, the hammerman, was discharged by its employer, Suraj Jute Press, without permission of the Tribunal before which the adjudication proceeding was pending.

As the services of Sri A. Das Gupta were no longer available, the dispute was subsequently referred to me as the Tribunal for adjudication by an order of the Government of West Bengal No. 1796Lab., dated 21st March 1951. The adjudication proceeding is still pending.

It is not disputed by the Suraj Jute Press that the man, Sitaram, been discharged during the pendency of the adjudication proceeding out permission of the Tribunal, and hence in contravention of section the Industrial Disputes Act. The Company, however, seeks to just discharge order on the ground of carelessness and inefficiency of a discharged man.

At first there appeared to be a controversy regarding the period of put in by the man, Sitaram, but ultimately it has come to be admitted that the man was serving in the said Jute Press from before the War which the Press house was requisitioned for military purposes and workers were discharged at that time. It is also admitted that he was reappointed some time in 1946 and was granted a service certificate (Ext. 1) after his reappointment. It is not material for the purpose of the present application whether or for how long Sitaram had been in the service of the said Company prior to the War, it being admitted that he has been in the service at least from 1946. The fact of his reappointment may be taken into account in judging about his efficiency in work, in so far as he is said to be lacking at the present moment. No specific instance of inefficiency or carelessness on his part in the past is cited. The charge is rather vague. There is nothing in writing to show that he was ever reprimanded or otherwise dealt with for his alleged inefficiency or carelessness. According to the Company's witness Sibdas Nandi, has made him unfit for the job altogether. The Head Mistri, who was the only fit person to speak about his work, if he was inefficient or careless, has not been examined by the Company. The evidence of Sibdas Nandi is based practically on hearsay as he derived his knowledge in that matter from the Head Mistri's report. On the other hand, it has come to be admitted now, after the evidence of both sides, that the man, Sitaram, was denied increment for a long time, for which he was agitating and eventually approached the Labour Commissioner for redress. The fact that at the request of the Labour Commissioner Sitaram was given increment and following that the order of his discharge, as has transpired from the admission of Sibdas Nandi, goes a long way in proving the contrary of what the Company contended, viz., that he was discharged for inefficiency and carelessness. It rather suggests that he was discharged because he succeeded in winning a point over the Company to the discomfiture of the latter. Far from being a charge-sheet to enable him to show cause against his discharge, this was not even told of the reason why he was going to be thrown out of employment held at least for over 4 years. He was not given any notice which it was incumbent upon the Company to give him according to the Standing Orders of the Company, nor any money in lieu of notice. It is unable, therefore, to find that the discharge of the man, Sitaram, without the permission of the Tribunal, in contravention of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, was in any way justified. The Union has not produced any reliable evidence to the effect that Sitaram is an active member of the Union which might go to support their contention that he was discharged owing to his Union activities. But the result is the same, because he was discharged in contravention of section 33 of the Act and without justification, under circumstances which would rather suggest something of a spirit of victimisation or unfair labour practice on the part of the Company.

In the result, therefore, I would hold that Sitaram should be reinstated in his post or to a post equivalent thereto, and he should also be paid back pay with dearness allowance from the date of his discharge to the date of reinstatement, within a month from the date of publication of the order of this Tribunal. Be it further noted that the period of his forced unemployment should not be regarded as a break in his service for the purpose of

... or other benefits to which he may be entitled as an employee of the Company. The award is made accordingly.

District Judge, Tribunal.

Industrial dispute between Tribeni Tissues, Ltd., Chandrahati, district Hooghly, and their employees represented by Tribeni Tissues Labour Union, Tribeni, Hooghly.

AWARD.

The Government of West Bengal in the Department of Labour by order 6948Lab., dated 2nd December 1950, referred, under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act (XIV of 1947), the industrial dispute between Tribeni Tissues, Ltd., Chandrahati, district Hooghly and their employees represented by Tribeni Tissues Labour Union, Tribeni, Hooghly, to me as Tribunal for adjudication.

The Tribeni Tissues, Ltd., is a Mill for the manufacture of tissue paper for the rolling of cigarettes and is the only enterprise of this description in the area. Messrs. Balmer Lawrie and Co are the Managing Agents of the company. The Company was incorporated in 1946 and the construction of the Mill was commenced in May 1947. The work of construction of buildings and fitting up of machineries has not yet been completed. It is expected to be completed in the next two months. The Mill has paper producing machines. One of them was put in operation as an experimental measure in November 1950 and the execution of the first orders customers was undertaken in the first week of the last month. The machine on commission has been working only at 50 per cent. speed. The optimum production of the Mill is 3,600 tons of tissue paper in a year. The target is expected to be reached in the third year of production. In the present preliminary stages, the daily production of tissue paper is about 2½ tons.

In May 1947, Messrs. Balmer Lawrie and Co. was entrusted with task of erection of the Mill and it undertook to execute the commission through one of its managed engineering firms being Messrs. Bridge Roof Co., Ltd. A Chief Project Engineer, one Mr. Batterham, was employed and brought from U. K. for doing the work of installation of machineries. The Chief Project Engineer was aided by about 350 workmen and some skilled workmen recruited from the Bengal Paper Mill, Raniganj, an old established paper Mill of a substantial size under management of Messrs. Balmer Lawrie and Co., Ltd. Early in 1950, expert Mill Manager, Mr. B. J. Denton, was brought out from U. K. appointed to take over the Mill as soon as it was ready. In the recruitment of the operatives of the Mill, the Company made endeavours to employ workmen thrown out by the contractors for construction, subject to their fitness for the given job offered on a permanent basis. The Company stated that it had always in view maintenance in this Mill of the same term employment as are availing in the Bengal Paper Mills, Raniganj, independent of what the contractors for construction paid to their workmen for temporary employment under them. There are at present 350 workmen whom 131 are on a temporary basis, besides 25 durwans and 96 employees of the staff. The Company is expected to take in a substantial body of employees when it runs the other paper machine and steps up production.

The workmen of the Company formed themselves into a Union style the Tribeni Tissues Labour Union (Registered No. 2046) towards the end of May 1950. By a letter, dated 3rd June 1950, the President of the Union on behalf of the employees of the Company placed a charter of demands before the Manager for his consideration. This charter of demands, inter alia, claimed recognition of the Union, fixation of graded scales of pay for clerical staff, and the skilled workmen, payment of overtime wages according to the Factories Act, 1948, reinstatement of Sri S. N. Ghosh, both with pay and various other items of demands. As the Company was agreeable to accede to these demands on the ground that the Mill had by then started production and was still in the formative stage, a dispute was set up which was taken up by the Labour Directorate for conciliation. When the conciliation proceedings were pending, the President of the Union, by his letter, dated 28th September 1950, issued a notice on the Company intimating that unless the charter of demands submitted to the Company on 3rd June 1950 was forthwith fulfilled, the workmen of the Company were determined to go on strike on and from any date after expiry of 14 days of this notice. The Labour Directorate failed to effect any settlement of the dispute and reported to Government under section 12(4) of the Industrial Disputes Act, with a recommendation for referral of the dispute to the Tribunal for adjudication. The dispute was referred by the Government as mentioned above.

Notices were issued on both parties and they filed written statements.

The Union in its written statement claimed for reinstatement of Sri S. N. Ghosh, whose services were terminated with effect from 1st June 1950, and for payment of full compensation to him for the period of his non-employment. The Union further prayed for an award for a revision of the grade scales of salaries paid to the clerical staff, for classification of workmen in the manufacturing and maintenance sides into unskilled, semi-skilled and skilled categories and fixation of their basic pay at scales mentioned by it. The Union also claimed for improvement of other terms of employment and conditions of service as will appear from the issues.

The Company, in its written statement, opposed the reinstatement of Sri S. N. Ghosh on the ground that he was offered a temporary employment as the Chief Project Engineer which he refused and in consequence another worker who had been discharged by Bridge and Roof Co., was given the job. The Company further states that there is no question of lowering of wages as alleged by the Union, that a number of persons engaged on construction work on a temporary basis were no longer required by the contractor when the construction was completed and the present Company, while recruiting its permanent staff, offered rates to these workmen similar to those existing at the Bengal Paper Mills, Raniganj, and the Company is making all endeavours to maintain scales of salaries at levels existing in the Bengal Paper Mills, Raniganj. The Company also states in its written statement that the Mill has not yet got into continuous production, nor is its management yet in a position to determine with precision the full complement of staff that will be required or in all cases the exact nature of the duties of every employee. So far as possible every employee is in receipt of terms of service similar to those availing in the Bengal Paper Mills where scales of employment and conditions of labour have been determined by collective negotiation. The Company complained that it should be given the opportunity of getting into production and to settle down before an investigation by a Tribunal should be imposed on it by the Union, which is bound to handicap the expansion of the industry.

Issues were framed on 31st March 1951.

The appearances for the parties were as follows:—

For the Union—Sri P. K. Sanyal, Advocate, Sri B. Majumdar, President, and Sri S. Ghosh, Secretary of the Union.

For the Company—Sri S. K. Mullick (Junior), Solicitor of Messrs Sandersons and Morgun, Solicitors, assisted by Mr. B. J. Denton, Mill Manager, Sri P. B. Biswas, Labour Officer, and Mr. P. Norton Jones, Chief Personnel Officer of Messrs. Balmer Lawrie and Co.

DECISIONS.

Issue No. 1.—Should Sri S. N. Ghosh be reinstated to his former post? entitled to recover any compensation for the period of his non-employment?

Sri S. N. Ghosh was a diesel engine mechanic in the employ of Bridge and Roof Co. (India), Ltd., for about 3 years, when that Co. was engaged in the construction of the buildings and structures of the factory. On 6th May 1950 his services were transferred to the Chief Project Engineer who was engaged in the work of installation of the machines. In May 1950 Messrs. Bridge and Roof Co., decided to close its diesel lighting plant and discharge the two Operators engaged there, namely, Sri S. N. Dutt

N. Ghosh. The Chief Project Engineer wanted to take over the diesel as he was operating it and agreed to take over the two Operators. The prices of Sri S. N. Ghosh were transferred to the Chief Project Engineer with effect from 6th May 1950. The Chief Project Engineer decided to employ the two Operators at a reduced pay, being the pay offered to other operators under his services, being at the rate of Rs. 2-15-3 per day, and a proposal was communicated to them. There is a difference between the rates as to the date on which the offer for serving at a reduced wage was made to Sri S. N. Dutt and Sri S. N. Ghosh.

The Union's case in the written statement was as follows: "Sri N. Ghosh had been in the employ of Messrs. Bridge and Roof Co. (India), Ltd. for three years and on 6th May 1950 was transferred to Tribeni Tissues, Ltd. when he was being paid a total emolument of Rs. 154-6. Subsequently he was offered a lower scale of pay and asked to make up his mind by the 31st May 1950 whether he would accept the said offer. Thereupon Sri S. N. Ghosh approached the Union; and the Union advised him to accept the said offer for the time being, pending the settlement of the said dispute by the Labour Directorate. A copy of the letter addressed by the Union to him was sent to the Company. A copy thereof is hereunto annexed and marked with the letter 'A'. The said Sri S. N. Ghosh acted in accordance with the direction of the Union and attended the works in the morning of 1st June 1950 and intimated to his Overseer his willingness to accept the terms offered. The note issued by the Overseer to the Labour Office is hereunto annexed and marked with the letter 'B'. The said Sri S. N. Ghosh thereupon went to the Labour Office, but having found that the Union had intervened in the matter, the Manager forthwith dismissed him without any consideration whatsoever." The Union's claim is that this dismissal was an act of victimisation and was unjust, unfair and malicious and Sri S. N. Ghosh was entitled to reinstatement and compensation.

The case of the Company on this point is as follows: "Sri S. N. Ghosh, employed by Bridge and Roof Co., on 6th May 1950 was offered temporary employment by the Chief Project Engineer as the diesel engine had been taken over by him from Bridge and Roof. He refused it and on 31st May another worker who had been discharged by Bridge and Roof was given the job. Sri S. N. Ghosh was at no time offered employment by Tribeni Tissues. Annexure B of the Union's statement was signed by the Chief Supervisor of the Workshop who had taken charge of his duties on 1st June and so was unaware that the Project Engineer had filled the post on 31st May."

It will be noticeable that the Union in its written statement does not mention the date on which Sri S. N. Ghosh was offered a lower scale of pay, the Union states that Sri S. N. Ghosh was asked to make up his mind by the 31st May 1950 whether he would accept the said offer. The statement of the Company in its written statement is equally defective. It shows that Sri S. N. Ghosh was offered temporary employment by the Chief Project Engineer on the 6th May and he refused it and thereupon another worker was given the job. The evidence of P.W. 1 Sri S. N. Ghosh, O.P.W. 1 B. Biswas, the Labour Officer of the Company, and O.P.W. 2 Mr. J. Denton, the Mill Manager, gives us the details of the incident.

Sri S. N. Ghosh states in his evidence that on 5th May 1950 he was directed to Messrs. Tribeni Tissues, Ltd., and on 30th May 1950 the Labour Officer Mr. P. B. Biswas took him to the Chief Project Engineer where he was told by the Chief Project Engineer that he will have to work at the daily rate of Rs. 2-15 from 1st June 1950. Sri S. N. Ghosh had time to make a decision on the matter. The Chief Project Engineer gave him only 5 minutes' time to think over the matter and come to a decision. He then came away from the office and informed the Secretary of the Union. The Union gave him a letter and asked him to accept the offer as offered to him. He went to his duty in the afternoon of 31st May. The office was then closed. In the morning of 1st June when his duty began, he handed over the letter to Labour Officer Mr. Biswas. The Labour Officer asked him to go to the Supervisor of his Department. The Supervisor then asked him to see the Chief Project Engineer, to whom he then handed over the letter of the Union. The Chief Project Engineer then told him that the Union will give him a job, if necessary, and not he, and then came away. The letter of the Union which Sri S. N. Ghosh gave to the Chief Project Engineer is Ext. D. In cross-examination Sri S. N. Ghosh denied that the Chief Project Engineer Mr. Batterham offered him the reduced scale of salaries on 18th May 1950 and he states again that the offer was made to him on 30th May 1950, on which date he informed the Union about the matter, that the Union held a meeting at midnight on May 1950 and gave him the letter, Ext. D, which he presented to Mr. Batterham, the Chief Project Engineer, in the morning of 1st June expressing his willingness to work at the rate offered. Mr. Batterham is now admittedly in England having left after his work of installing machines was completed in December 1950. The Labour Officer P. B. Biswas states that on 18th May 1950 Mr. Batterham called him to his office, where these two Diesel Operators including Sri S. N. Ghosh were present, and at the request of Mr. Batterham the witness explained to them the terms of the project offered to them, and Mr. Batterham wanted to know from them if they were willing to work on these terms. Both of them wanted time to decide. Mr. Batterham said that he would give them 5 minutes' time to come to a conclusion, whereupon both the Operators refused to accept the terms offered by the Project Engineer. Mr. Batterham then told them that he would pay them at their old rates till the end of May, and that after that date they would be deemed to have been discharged. After this the two Operators came away. Sri S. N. Dutt subsequently agreed to accept the terms on 31st May 1950, and he is now working for Tribeni Tissues, Ltd. Sri S. N. Ghosh appeared in the morning of 1st June 1950 and offered to work at the reduced wages. O.P.W. 2 Mr. B. J. Dutt, the Mill Manager, admitted that he had received the Union's letter Ext. D, but he could not recollect on which date he received this. He asked for a written report of Mr. Batterham on the matter and Mr. Batterham submitted the report, Ext. A, dated 3rd June 1950. The report, Ext. A, shows that Mr. Batterham shows that the offer of reduced wage was made to the Operators on the 18th May 1950. It also shows that Mr. Batterham asked Sri S. N. Ghosh and Sri S. N. Dutt to make up their minds immediately if they were not going to take this job after the 31st May 1950, and it is imperative that arrangements should be made to obtain other Operators for their place, and that on that both the Operators intimated to Mr. Batterham that they were not prepared to accept the offer. It further appears that on 31st May Sri S. N. Dutt offered to serve at the reduced pay on a temporary basis and he was taken up. In the meantime the Project Engineer had already arranged for the other vacancy. That was the vacancy created by the refusal of Sri S. N. Ghosh to accept the job, and the report states that although Sri S. N. Ghosh informed Mr. Batterham on the 1st June that he was prepared to accept the job at the reduced offer, he could not be taken up as the post had already been filled.

It is an admitted fact that Sri S. N. Ghosh offered to accept the terms of wages not before the 1st June 1950. It is to be ascertained whether the offer was offered with a reduced scale of salaries on the 18th May as stated by the Labour Officer and Ext. A, or on the 30th May as stated by Sri S. N.

is evidence and on which date the written statement is silent. The Ext. D. of the President of the Union, dated 31st May 1950, to Ghosh shows that an emergent meeting of the Executive Committee held that evening, i.e., in the evening of 31st May 1950, when it was held that Sri S. N. Ghosh would accept the terms of service offered by the management for the time being till the matter was settled by the Labour Commission, Government of West Bengal. I do not, therefore, accept the statement of Sri S. N. Ghosh that the meeting was held at midnight on May 1950. If that were so, Sri S. N. Ghosh would have enough opportunity of delivering the letter and offering his services at least by the 31st May 1950 as Sri S. N. Dutt did. The Company referred me to the letter, Ext. E, dated 3rd June 1950, by the President of Union to the Labour Commission in regard to the discharge of Sri S. N. Ghosh to the Labour Commission where the management discharged Sri S. N. Ghosh "for non-acceptance of a condition of service offered to him about 15 days back". This letter states that the offer of the changed condition of service was made on or about the 18th May 1950 and not on 30th May 1950 as stated by Sri S. N. Ghosh in his evidence. The evidence of Sri S. N. Ghosh further states that the Mill Manager had nothing to do with his discharge as he was entrusted to him, and it was he again who discharged him. The plea put forward by the written statement of the Union and has not, in my opinion, been substantiated. There is no doubt that another Operator, Sri K. Mitra, was appointed in his place with effect from 1st June 1950 and Ext. B, shows that Sri S. K. Mitra worked from 1st of June 1950 to take in Sri S. N. Ghosh who resigned his job on the 18th May 1950, after discharging Sri S. K. Mitra who had been appointed by that Company. It appears that in the conciliation proceedings the Company agreed to appoint Sri S. N. Ghosh in case of a suitable vacancy occurring. In the circumstances, I do not consider that any charge of victimisation has been made against the Company or that the discharge of Sri S. N. Ghosh was way unjustified.

The learned Advocate for the Union filed the letter, Ext. 4, from Messrs. Bridge and Roof Co. which shows that that Company was prepared to give a special bonus to those persons employed by Bridge and Roof Co. for the construction of the Tribeni Mill if they were in the service on 31st March 1951, and informed on that date that their services were no longer required. It was mentioned that the special bonus will be payable at the rate of 15 days pay for each completed year of service for the construction of the Tribeni Mill and was given solely for the purpose of marking the completion of the work. The learned Advocate for the Union drew my attention to the fact that if Sri S. N. Ghosh had not been transferred to the services of the Tribeni Mill by Messrs. Bridge and Roof Co. (India), Ltd., he would have remained in the service of the latter Company till the 31st March 1951 and would have received this special bonus at the rate of 15 days' pay for each completed year of service. It is claimed that in any case Sri S. N. Ghosh was entitled to this special bonus from Tribeni Tissues for his discharge on 31st May 1950. The document, Ext. A, however, clearly shows that in the beginning of May 1950 Messrs. Bridge and Roof Co. (India), Ltd., decided that they no longer required the diesel lighting set and they wished to shut it down in connection with the discharge of the Operators. It is because the Chief Project Engineer of the Tribeni Mill operated it, that S. N. Ghosh could be given an alternative employment under him. If Sri S. N. Ghosh had not been sought for by the Chief Project Engineer he would have been discharged in the month of May 1950 by Bridge and Roof Co. The special bonus mentioned in Ext. 4 would not have been available to Sri S. N. Ghosh in event, as this bonus is only payable to a person who was in the service of Bridge and Roof Co. on the 31st March 1951. Sri S. N. Ghosh then had no chance of getting this bonus as he was going to be discharged the month of May 1950 but for the Project Engineer's offer to take him. In the circumstances, I do not consider that any special bonus or compensation should be given to Sri S. N. Ghosh. In this view of the matter awarded that the claim of reinstatement of Sri S. N. Ghosh or payment of compensation to him is not justified and it is awarded accordingly.

Issue No. 2.—Should the Company be directed—(a) To abolish Grade Annexure C of the written statement of the Union and introduce a new grade as Rs. 225—25—275.

The grading scheme of the clerical salaried staff as proposed by the Company was accepted by the Union at the time of the hearing. The scheme appears in Appendix A of the Award. These grades have again recast and are as in Appendix B of this Award. The grades now stand as follows:—

Grade 2—Rs. 83—3—110.

Grade 3—Rs. 115—5—135.

Grade 4—Rs. 142-8 as.—7-8 as.—172-8 as.

Grade 5—Rs. 182-8 as.—10—212-8 as.

Grade 6—Rs. 235—12-8 as.—285.

It appears that each clerk will be given two consecutive grades such as 3, 3 and 4, 4 and 5. The scheme of fitting in of the employees in the grades appear in Appendix B. The scheme appears to be reasonable and satisfactory. The grades are to be brought into effect from 1st January 1951. The Union accepted the Company's offer but contended that these grades should be given effect with effect from June 1950. In view of the fact that the Company has to execute its first orders only in April 1951, I do consider that the scheme of enforcement of the grades mentioned in Appendix B with effect from 1st January 1951 is quite reasonable, and it is awarded accordingly. Appendix A and B are made parts of this Award.

(b) To alter existing grades as detailed in Annexure E of the Union's written statement.

The Company passed orders for fitting in the existing employees in various grades as stated in Appendix A. The Annexure E claims upgrading some of the clerical employees. The Company filed the statement, Ext. L, showing the present and the proposed grading of the employees of the Company. The statement also shows the grades recommended by the Union for the various clerks. The Union did not assent to the correctness of this statement. The Company's proposals for fitting in the clerks in the grades did not agree with the recommendation of the Union in 10 cases only. These cases are mentioned below with the details.

The Union objected to these proposals with respect to 10 categories of employees. They are mentioned below—

Categories.	Grade as per list, dated 13th December 1950 sent to Unions.	Grades recommended by Union.	Present grade.	Revised grades applicable with effect from 1st January 1951.
Storekeeper	.. 1	2	1	2/3
Charge Hand	.. 2	3	2	3/4
Worker and Bleacher	.. 2	3	2	3/4
Charge Hand	.. 2	4	2	3/4
Assistant Chemist	.. 2	4	2	3/4
Laboratory Assistant (Jrmed).	.. 1	2	1	2/3
Compounder	.. 2	3	2	3/4
Assistant compounder	.. 1	2	1	2/3
Engineering Storekeeper	.. 5	6	5	6
Clerk	.. 3	4	3	3/4
Issue Clerk	.. 1	3	1	2/3

Temp Store Keeper.—In Annexure E to the Union's written statement the Union claimed Grade 3 for this employee. It appears in statement, Ext. L, that the Union recommended Grade 2 for this employee and the Company has given the Grades 2 and 3 to him. This appears to be satisfactory.

Chopper Charge Hand.—The Union in Annexure E claimed Grade 3 for this employee and the Company has given him Grades 3 and 4.

Worker and Bleacher Charge Hand.—In Annexure E the Union claims Grade 3 while the Company has given him Grades 3 and 4.

Assistant Chemist.—In Annexure E the Union wants the grade 25—26—275, possibly Grade 6, for the Assistant Chemist. In Ext. L appears that the Union recommended Grade 4 being Rs. 142-Sas.—172-Sas., and the Company has given him Grades 3 and 4. I do not find any justification for the Grades claimed for this employee and it seems that the Grades 3 and 4 as offered are quite satisfactory.

Laboratory Assistant.—In Annexure E the Union claimed Grades 3 for this employee. Ext. L shows that the Union claims Grade 3 for him and the Company has given him Grades 2 and 3. He was previously in Grade 2 and the Grades 2 and 3 as offered to this employee appear to me to be reasonable.

Lead Compounder.—In Annexure E the Union claimed Grade 3 for this employee and the Company has given him Grades 3 and 4.

Assistant Compounder.—In Annexure E the Union claimed Grade 2 for this employee and the Company has given him Grades 2 and 3.

Engineering Store Keeper.—In Annexure E the Union claimed Grade 5 for him whereas the Company has given him Grade 6, that is the next higher to Grade 5.

Issue Clerk.—In Annexure E the Union claimed Grade 5 for him and Ext. L shows that the Union on a previous occasion claimed Grade 4 for him and he was in Grade 3. The Company has given him Grades 3 and 4. I do not find any justification for claiming as high a grade as Grade 5 for this employee and award that the grades as offered by the Company are reasonable.

Store Issue Clerk.—In Annexure E the Union wanted Grade 3 for the employee. He was in Grade 1 and the Company has given him Grades 2 and 3. He was in Grade 1 and gets into Grades 2 and 3. I do not find any objection to the scheme of the Company with regard to this clerk and the objections are rejected.

(c) To classify the workmen employed in the manufacturing and maintenance side of the Company into three categories, viz., unskilled, semi-skilled and skilled.

(d) To fix the following basic pay scales of the aforesaid three classes:—

Unskilled—Rs. 40 per month.

Semi-skilled—Rs. 45—3—75.

Skilled—Rs. 55—3—85—5—130.

The Union claimed that the workmen in the manufacturing and maintenance side of the Mill should be classified into three categories: unskilled, semi-skilled and skilled and their pay scales should be fixed as follows:—

Unskilled—Rs. 40 per month.

Semi-skilled—Rs. 45—3—75.

Skilled—Rs. 55—3—85—5—130.

The Company states in its written statement that the pay scales of workmen are, so far as has been possible to make them so, similar to those existing at the Bengal Paper Mills, Raniganj.

The learned Advocate for the Union referred to the Report of the Central Pay Commission and pressed for similar time-scales of wages for workmen in this industry. It has been advanced that the Central Pay Commission recommended (page 347) the following time-scales of pay for the unskilled, semi-skilled and the skilled employees in an industry by the State:—

Unskilled—Rs. 30—1/2—35.

Unskilled supervisory—Rs. 35—1—50.

Semi-skilled—

Rs. 35—1—50.

Rs. 40—2—60.

Rs. 60—3/2—75.

Skilled—

Rs. 40—2—60.

Rs. 60—3/2—75.

Rs. 75—3—105.

It was further claimed that there should be time-scales of pay for each grade of worker in the engineering side of the industry.

The learned Solicitor for the Company pointed my attention to the fact that the minimum wages suggested by the Report of the Central Pay Commission fixed as mentioned above for the unskilled workmen, the skilled supervisory, and the semi-skilled workmen were not higher than what was offered by the present Company.

The learned Solicitor for the Company also referred to the Award of the First Engineering Tribunal published by notification No 2161.

June 1948, where the basic pay of the unskilled and the semi-skilled workmen was fixed at Rs. 30 and Rs. 35 per mensem respectively. The fixation of the pay of the skilled workmen was left to the employer, in view of the fact that the skilled worker, on account of the varying degrees of skill required of him, was to receive wages of vastly different rates which it was not possible for the Tribunal to fix without an assessment of the personal skill of the worker. It also appears in the decision in Case No. 3 in that Award that the learned Tribunal did not make any attempt at a classification of the workers into the categories of unskilled, semi-skilled, skilled and highly skilled, in view of the difficulties involved in the matter of classification of workers, and recommended to the Government that a Committee of Experts should be appointed to go into this question.

The Report of the Central Pay Commission states (page 125) that the classification of the worker into either of these categories must in the last resort be based upon trade tests. The Report states that the semi-skilled worker was generally recognised to be a person who had risen from the ranks of unskilled labour after he had improved by experience. It is also stated here in this Report that in one and the same line of work, there may be different degrees of skill, and the assignment of a particular worker to one category or another must largely be a matter of opinion based on standards recognised in the industry. The Report then states that it will be convenient if each important industrial establishment will constitute a board, say of three of its officers, to determine the class in which every worker in that establishment is to be based, and this classification was to be reviewed from time to time. There is no doubt that in recruitment of employees in the industry the employers must have had some sort of test of fitness of the worker for the particular job in view when he was employed. In this view of the matter, the suggestion of the Union made in Exts. 6 and 6(a) for classification of the employees into categories only by the names of the jobs does not appear to me to be satisfactory. As for example a fitter, a turner or a smith cannot always be called a skilled man without reference to the degree of skill possessed or expected to be employed by him. In the statement of wages of the workmen as furnished by the Company in Ext. M, it appears that the Company has classified its workers into three grades, a turner into three grades and a smith into two grades. The basic pay of a fitter of Grade III at daily rates offered to him was Rs. 41-13-6 to Rs. 45-1-6 per month. A fitter of Grade II receives a basic wage of Rs. 45-1-6 to Rs. 51-9-6 at daily rates and a fitter of Grade I gets a basic pay of Rs. 51-9-6 to Rs. 61-5-6 at daily rates. The scales of pay are given to the three grades of turners. It appears from Ext. M that the unskilled day cooly gets a basic pay of Rs. 1-7-3 per month which is equal to Rs. 37-12-6 per month of 26 days and the unskilled day cooly gets a total monthly wage of Rs. 38-9-6 at the daily rates offered to him. A machinist called by the Union as a semi-skilled man, gets a minimum basic pay of Rs. 41-13-6 to Rs. 48-5-6 per month at the daily rates paid to him. This may be stated to be the pay for the semi-skilled men in the industry, whereas the minimum pay for the unskilled men may be taken to be Rs. 37-12-6 per month.

Ext. M further shows that the unskilled day cooly getting a basic pay of Rs. 37-12-6 per month of 26 days also gets a dearness allowance of Rs. 10-6 being 15 per cent. of the pay, an attendance bonus of Rs. 8-11-6 and an allowance in lieu of ration to the extent of Rs. 25 making his total for a month of 26 days equal to Rs. 77-2-6. In this connection it may be stated that the minimum basic wage fixed for the unskilled workmen in Titagur Paper Mills and the Indian Paper Pulp, Nadhati, is Rs. 30 per month and they are also in receipt of a dearness allowance of Rs. per month. Comparing the actual pay received by the workmen in industry with the minimum basic pay recommended by the Central Commission for the unskilled and the semi-skilled workmen, or the actually granted to the workmen in the Titaghar Paper Mills, or the Paper Pulp, Naihati, I do not consider that the wage scales received by the employees of this Company require any revision.

The Union demanded time-scales of pay for the workmen of the unskilled and the skilled categories. The workmen in the engineering were recruited in November and December 1950 from the Chief Engineer's men and those on the manufacturing side were recruited in June, November and December 1950. It was urged by the Company in view of the fact that the Company has just started functioning and not been able to reach its full production which is expected to be attained only after 2 years from today, the claim of a time-scale of basic pay should not be allowed. There is no time-scale of wages for the workmen in Titaghar Paper Mills or the Indian Paper Pulp. The Company has been paying wages similar to those existing in the Bengal Paper Mills. In view of the circumstances mentioned above, it appears to me that the Company has been paying to its workmen reasonable wages and the wage scales require no revision. I do not find it necessary to classify the workmen into three categories of unskilled, skilled and semi-skilled as it is not possible for me to do so without any expert aid, and I believe that more harm than good may be done if I had attempted to do so. These issues are accordingly answered.

(e) To fix the basic pay scales of the following workmen as follows:

- (1) Sri A. N. Ghosh—Rs. 105—2—125.
- (2) Sri C. C. Chatterji—Rs. 132-8as.—7-8as.—168-8as,
- (3) Sri G. N. Banerji—Rs. 105—5—125,
- (4) Sri B. N. Banerji—Rs. 105—5—125, and to fit them properly in the above scales and to pay dearness allowance at the rate prevailing in the Calcutta office of the Company's Managing Agents.

Sri A. N. Ghosh.—The case of Sri A. N. Ghosh has been settled between the Company and the Union.

Sri C. C. Chatterji.—As to Sri C. C. Chatterji, the Union claimed Grade 4 for this clerk whereas the Company put him in Grades 3 and 4 (Rs. 105—135 for Grade 3 and Rs. 142-8as.—7-8as.—172-8as. for Grade 4). The employee has been given an increment of Rs. 10 and put on a basic scale of Rs. 125 with effect from 1st January 1951. The objection of the Union as to the salary offered to this employee is unsubstantial, inasmuch as he has been fitted in at the concluding stages of grade 3 and will very soon pass to Grade 4.

Sri G. N. Banerjee.—The Union wanted Grade 3 for this employee whereas the Company has given him Grades 2 and 3. The Union's objection is that while serving in the temporary capacity under Messrs. Bridge Roof Co. (India), Ltd., he used to get a higher salary than he is getting now. This is, however, no consideration for employment under the present Company which is offering scales similar to those existing in the Bengal Paper Mills, Raniganj, and on a permanent basis. He is the Store Clerk whose case has been considered before.

Mr. N. Banerjee.—He used to get a daily basic pay of Rs. 2-5-9. At the hearing the Company offered him Rs. 2-11-9 according to scale existing in the Bengal Paper Mills, Raniganj, and the Union had this offer. This employee is, therefore, to get a daily basic pay of Rs. 11-9 with effect from January 1951 as agreed to by the Company.

The Union also made a claim for the increase of dearness allowance of clerical staff at the rates availing in the Calcutta office of the Managing Agents, Messrs. Balmer Lawrie and Co. The dearness allowance given to the employees is at 15 per cent. of the basic pay plus ration allowance which ranges from Rs. 25 to Rs. 30 in the month. This means that an employee receiving a basic pay of Rs. 100, the dearness allowance will be between Rs. 40 and Rs. 45 per month.

The Titaghar Paper Mills by an award of Dr. H. G. Waight, I.C.S., made by notification No. 347Lab., dated 20th August 1947, the dearness allowance of the clerical staff was fixed at the flat rate of Rs. 35 per month.

The same rate of dearness allowance was also awarded by the same arbitrator for the clerical staff of the Indian Paper Pulp Co. (India), Naihati, another paper Mill functioning for a pretty long time in the district. It cannot be doubted that the dearness allowance offered by the Company is more advantageous than that paid by the Titaghar Paper Mills or the Indian Paper Pulp Co. (India), Ltd.

The dearness allowance paid by this Company is comparable to that awarded by the Second Major Engineering Tribunal in its award published in the Calcutta Gazette, Extraordinary, dated 21st September 1950, revising the award on dearness allowance awarded by the First Major Engineering Tribunal published by Government order No. 2161Lab., dated 30th June 1950. The First and the Second Major Engineering Tribunal granted the same allowance as follows for the engineering industries in Bengal. The award, however, did not cover the Paper Mills in Bengal.

	1st Tribunal (1948).	2nd Tribunal (1950).
	Rs.	Rs.
Rs. 50	25	31
Rs. 51 to Rs. 100	35	42
Rs. 101 to Rs. 150	40	48
Rs. 151 to Rs. 200	45	54
Rs. 201 upwards	50	60

In view of the fact that the present Company offers the minimum scale of pay in Grades 2 and 3 being Rs. 83-3-110 and Rs. 115-5-135 and dearness allowance comparable to the award of the Second Major Engineering Tribunal, I do not consider that the clerical staff of this Company is entitled to a higher rate of dearness allowance or an allowance awarded by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce scale applicable to the staff of Messrs. Balmer Lawrie and Co. in Calcutta. This issue is accordingly answered.

Fill up the posts in the Company in the first instance by the workmen employed by Messrs. Bridge and Roof Co. (India), Ltd., from the construction work of the factory.

The Union states in its written statement that a number of workmen employed by Messrs. Balmer Lawrie and Co., as the Managing Agents of Messrs. Bridge and Roof Co., for the construction of the factory, that they had been working for about 3 years and that as the construction was coming to an end, they were being discharged. The Union's reason why the same workmen should not be given the first preference fill up the required complement of the Company.

The Company states in its written statement that when efficiencies are equal, preference is given to a man who has been engaged in temporary work on the site. It appears from the statement (Ex submitted by the Company that as many as 199 workmen and 62 staff taken from the temporary workers of the contractors at the site and 10 staff and one worker were recruited from outside, although there were other men who were brought from Bengal Paper Mill as trained hands; therefore, appears that while the Company recruited only 17 men from outside, they took over 261 men from the temporary staff of the contractors. The Company also states before me that in respect of further recruitment of workmen of the Company it will follow the same principles and give preference to the men of Bridge and Roof Co., Ltd., if according to the Company the qualifications of the intending candidates were up to the mark. These principles should be followed in case of future recruitments.

(g) Not to deduct from the overtime wages due from 1st April 1949 6 hours' wages per week and to pay the overtime work done by workmen not covered by the Factories Act at the rate provided for by that Act.

The Union's case is as follows: In contravention of the provisions of the Factories Act, the Company used to force the workmen to work 6 hours on Saturdays and in consideration thereof it would calculate work done in a week of 46 hours as work done in 48 hours. Any additional period of work done would be deemed as overtime work, but instead of paying the overtime work at double the rate of normal wages, it would pay at a lesser rate. When the workmen pointed out to the Company that the overtime should be at double the normal rates, the Company proposed to pay overtime work done from 1st April 1949 at the statutory rate but to add two hours' wages each week therefrom. The workmen claimed that in the circumstances aforesaid the Company should not be allowed to make the deductions proposed.

The Company in reply states as follows: "Workers engaged on construction work do not come within the provision of the Factories Act. A letter from the Government of West Bengal on the subject is attached. It was found that certain persons engaged in a small workshop on the premises came within the provisions of the Factories Act and arrangements had been made to pay them any arrears of overtime. A copy of a letter to the Factories Inspector is attached. The money has not yet been drawn from the workers". It appears that in a part of the factory the type of work was such as to bring it within the purview of section 2(m) of the Factories Act. The workers engaged in that part of the establishment were, therefore, governed by the Factories Act. There were 63 workmen concerned in that part of the factory. These workmen worked overtime in the manner alleged from 1st April 1949 to 15th September 1950. In 1950 it was found that these workmen were governed by the Factories Act. By an agreement with the Company these workmen worked for 46 hours in the week, 6 hours continuous on Saturdays, and the Company paid them extra wages for 2 hours of overtime wage for work beyond 46 hours at a rate which was a little more than double the rate. As for instance, workmen with a daily rate of 3 annas 3 pies were paid an overtime rate of 5 annas instead of 6 annas 6 pies. After 15th September 1950 it was found that these 63 workmen were engaged on construction work and were not governed by the Factories Act.

wages at double the rate for the overtime period worked between April 1949 to 15th September 1950. The Company has offered these rates but deducted every week the normal rate for 2 hours which was paid for work and for the consideration of a lesser rate for the overtime. It appears that the Company has calculated the overtime work for period in question from the 47th hour, in view of the fact that they previously allowed overtime from that hour. In the circumstances, the normal wage every week from the overtime rates calculated in view of the fact that wages for these 2 hours were paid without any work in of the lesser rate for the overtime. It appears that each of the 63 men is entitled to a lump sum which he has not drawn, on the ground of deduction of 2 hours' normal wages every week. The Company's appears to be reasonable and the workmen should receive the balance of overtime wages payable by the Company as soon as possible.

The Union also claimed that workmen who were not governed by the Factories Act should also be paid at double rates for overtime work under the Act. The Company informs me that it is paying at double rates for overtime to the workmen not governed by the Factories Act with effect from 1st February 1951 and that they would continue to pay at the same rate. The Union should have no grievance on the matter. The issue is finally answered.

Not to force workmen to work on Sundays and holidays without payment at double rates for such work.

The Union claimed that the workmen should not be forced to work on Sundays and holidays unless they were paid at double the normal rates of wages for such work. The Company stated that the rules regarding work on Sundays by workers as provided by the Factories Act were being followed and there were no breaches of these rules. At the time of the hearing the Union claimed double rates for work on holidays and the representatives of the Company informed me that such double rates are paid for work on holidays and the Union was satisfied. It is, therefore, awarded that double rates of pay should be granted for work on holidays and is being done.

To provide for adequate quarters or in lieu thereof to pay adequate house allowance.

The Union complained that there were no proper arrangements for accommodation for the workmen of the Company, that it was very difficult to secure accommodation nearabout the factory and that the Company should, therefore, grant adequate house allowance or suitable quarters for the workmen. In its written statement the Company states that it has provided some accommodation and wish to extend this as soon as possible, and that a house allowance has been offered to those for whom quarters are not available. There are at present about 350 workmen, of whom 131 are permanent workmen and 24 durwans and 96 staff. It appears that all the 155 permanent members of the staff and 132 permanent workmen have been provided with quarters in the Mill compound. The Company also pays a house allowance of Rs. 2 to the workmen and at Rs. 3 to the staff for those to whom quarters could not be provided, and this allowance is paid in accordance with the practice in the Bengal Paper Mills, Raniganj. The Company has had the time to make a good start by now and the construction of new quarters and the fitting in of the machineries have not yet been completed. The house rent has been awarded to the workmen by the award of the First Major Engineering Tribunal for the workmen of the Engineering I tries. In the present case the Company is giving some house allow to the workmen and the staff who have not been provided with qua A substantial part of the permanent complement of the Mill has provided with quarters at the Mill compound and the Company has it has intentions to extend accommodation to its workmen as soo possible. In the circumstances, I do not find it reasonable to award more house allowance to the workmen who have not been given qua I only remind the Company that it should gradually increase its a modation for the workmen in the Mill compound as soon as possible.

(j) To make proper provisions for medical aids including supply medicine free of charge and to provide for a well-equipped dispensary

The Union states in its written statement that there are no I arrangements for medical aid to the workmen. The Company's w statement shows that a new dispensary has been built and equipmen been installed and there is already a medical officer with necessary At the time of the hearing I was informed by the representatives of Company that there is a dispensary and ordinary medicines are ava to the employees free of charge. I consider this to be a sufficiently arrangement, and this issue is disposed of accordingly.

(k) To make adequate provisions for shelters for the rest and recreation the workmen.

The Union complained in its written statement that there were adequate provisions for shelter, rest and recreation of the workmen the time of the hearing of the case, it appeared that the Company already made arrangements for rest and recreation and the Union satisfied with the arrangements made.

(l) To provide for the following leave and holidays:—

- (1) 15 days' festival holidays with full pay,
- (2) 15 days' sick leave with full pay,
- (3) privilege leave and casual leave for the clerical staff on the b that prevailing at the Calcutta office of the Managing Agent

The Union claims for the following periods of leave and holidays full pay:—

- (1) 15 days' festival holidays with full pay,
- (2) 15 days' sick leave with full pay, and
- (3) privilege leave and casual leave for the clerical staff on the b that prevailing at the Calcutta office of the Managing Agent

It appears that the Company provides the following leave rules a ing to the scheme availing in the Bengal Paper Mills, Raniganj. —

A.—For the manual workers.—

- (a) 10 days' annual leave after 12 months' service,
- (b) 13 days' festival holidays, and
- (c) 7 days' sick leave, all on full pay.

B.—For the Staff.—

		Annual leave.	Casual leave
Clerical Staff	..	14 days	5 days
Practical Staff	..	14 days	7 days
Sick leave to both clerical and practical staff.		} 30 days with full pay

Office.—In addition to the leave granted to clerical staff, 22 half details will appear from statement, Ext. O, of the Company. On a consideration of the matter and in view of section 79 of the Factories Act, 1948 (Act LXIII of 1948), and the fact that in the Second order Engineering Tribunal referred to above, 10 festival holidays were provided in the scheme of leave and holidays for the manual workers are as follows:—

- (1) Annual leave with wages as under section 79 of the Factories Act.
- (2) Ten festival holidays in the year. Management is to fix the days in consultation with the Union.
- (3) Sick leave on full pay for 8 days.

Two awards of the Major Engineering Industry Tribunal awarded 15 sick leave in the year on half pay and in the present case the Company had 7 days' of sick leave on full pay. The Union stated that in all cases 15 days on half pay should be substituted by 8 days on full pay. This is allowed in this award. I do not consider that the leave rules for staff should be altered and the Company's scheme of leave and holidays in regard to the staff is maintained. This issue is accordingly ordered.

(m) To pay the wages and salary for the strike period.

It appears that the workmen of the Company went on strike in the afternoon of 7th November 1950 and the strike continued till the 8th of November and work was resumed on the 9th November. The Company after refused to pay the wages for the period of the strike, i.e., for 1 day. The Union claimed that the Company should pay the wages and salaries to the workmen for the period of strike. The Company states that the strike was unwarranted and unjustified and that the employees were not entitled to wages for the period of strike. The Company also stated facts connected with the strike.

It is unnecessary to go into the facts relating to the strike as at the time of hearing of this case, the Union did not press for an award on this and gave up the demand for wages for the strike period. This issue is, therefore, answered.

APPENDIX A.
Tribeni Tissues Mill.

Case No. 152/50, Ext. P.

Sd. M. C. Banerji, Tribunal.
25-4-51.

Graded Staff.—The grades of pay are—

- Grade 1—Rs. 60—2-8 as.—70 (for probationers only).
- Grade 2—Rs. 73—3—100.
- Grade 3—Rs. 105—5—125.
- Grade 4—Rs. 132-8 as.—7-8 as.—162-8 as.
- Grade 5—Rs. 172-8 as.—10—212-8 as.

In order to bring the pay of men in these grades into line with Bengal Tissues Mill, the following will be brought into effect from the 1st January

- (1) Jobs previously graded as Grade 2 will be graded as 2/3. Those graded as 3 will be graded 3/4. Those graded as 4 will be graded 4/5. Those graded as 5 will be graded 5/6.

- (2) Each man in these grades will be given an increase of pay of Rs.
- (3) Grade 1 will be reserved for probationers and others who may have been confirmed. A man in Grade 1 will on confirmation be put at the bottom of Grade 2.
- (4) Those in Grade 2 on reaching the top of that grade will, as a below, pass into Grade 3 (Rs. 105-5-125). On reaching top of Grade 3 they will stop there unless promoted to a post of higher responsibility.
- (5) Similarly those in Grade 3 on reaching the top of that grade pass into Grade 4 (Rs. 132-8 as.-7-8 as.-162-8 as.).
- (6) Similarly those in Grade 4 on reaching the top of that grade pass into Grade 5 (Rs. 172-8 as.-10-212-8 as.).
- (7) Similarly those in Grade 5 on reaching the top of that grade pass into Grade 6 (Rs. 225-12-8 as.-275).
- (8) The method of passing from one grade to another is explained by the following examples:—
 - (a) A man is now in Grade 2 on Rs. 88. His anniversary is on June. With effect from the 1st January 1951 his pay will be Rs. 98. On his anniversary as he is in Grade 2 he will receive an increment of Rs. 3 bringing his pay to Rs. 101. If below the bottom pay of Grade 3 and so on his next anniversary his pay will be Rs. 105 and thereafter he will receive the normal increment of Grade 3.
 - (b) A man is in Grade 2 on Rs. 82. His pay from the 1st January 1951 will be advanced to Rs. 92. Thereafter his pay will on his anniversaries be advanced by annual increments of Rs. 3 to Rs. 105 when his next two increments will be as in Example (a).
 - (c) A man is in Grade 3 on Rs. 125. With effect from the 1st January 1951, his pay will be Rs. 135. As this is above the bottom pay of Grade 4, he will on his next anniversary receive an increment of Rs. 7-8. His final increment to bring him to the maximum of Rs. 162-8 will be Rs. 5.
 - (d) A man in Grade 4 is on Rs. 140. His pay will, from the 1st January 1951, be advanced to Rs. 150. On his first anniversary subsequent to that date his pay will go to Rs. 165 and on his second anniversary to Rs. 172-8. On his third anniversary his pay will go to Rs. 187-8 and thereafter he will receive the normal increments of Grade 5.
 - (e) A man in Grade 5 is on Rs. 212-8. From the 1st January 1951 his pay will be advanced to Rs. 222-8. As he has not yet reached the minimum of Grade 6 his increment on his next anniversary will be Rs. 10. His pay will then be Rs. 232-8 and as his pay will be above the bottom of Grade 6 his increment on his second anniversary will be Rs. 12-8.

Some further explanation may be given.

For example, a man is now in Grade 2. If he remains in his present job or in a job which is classed as being in Grade 2 he will, when he reaches the top of that grade, pass into Grade 3 and when he reaches the top of that grade he will get no further increments.

If, however, a man who is now in Grade 2 is, while he is in that grade, promoted to a job which is classed as being in Grade 3, he will go at once to the bottom of Grade 3. When he reaches the top of Grade 3, he

Grade 4 and when he reaches the top of that grade, he will get no further increments.

On promotion from one grade to another the date of promotion will become the man's new anniversary.

Apart from cases of promotion, the increments of Rs. 10 which are now being given will not affect the date of a man's anniversary.

An example of this is given below—

A man is now in Grade 2 on Rs. 79. He will be given from 1st January 1951 an increment of Rs. 10 bringing his pay to Rs. 89. His anniversary is on 1st June. On 1st June 1951 his pay will go to Rs. 92 and on 1st June 1952 his pay will go to Rs. 95. If he gets no promotion, he will get no further increments when he has reached the top of Grade 3. But on 1st December 1952 he is promoted to a job classed as being in Grade 3. From the 1st December 1952 his pay will be Rs. 105 and the 1st December is his new anniversary. His initial grade from the 1st December 1952 is now regarded as being Grade 3, and so he will by incremental stages go to the top of Grade 4.

Similarly, to carry the example a stage further, the man is now in Grade 2 and in the course of a few years he does not get promotion to a job classed as being in Grade 3, but he has passed into Grade 3. While he is in Grade 3, he is promoted to a job classed as being in Grade 3. His initial grade is now Grade 3 and so he will by incremental stages pass to the top of Grade 4 where he will stop (unless then or meanwhile he is promoted to a job classed as being in Grade 4, in which case he will be able to go by incremental stages to the top of Grade 5).

In other words, the limit to which a man can go is the top of the grade now that in which his job is classed as being.

In the case of a man who is doing a Grade 2 job but who has by incremental stages passed into Grade 3, should it be desired to promote him while he is in Grade 2 to a Grade 3 job, no change of his anniversary date is necessary. He will continue in Grade 3 until he reaches the top and then pass into Grade 4.

APPENDIX B.

Notes on new Grading of Clerical Staff (Tribeni Tissues, Ltd.).

Revised grades with effect from 1st January 1951—

Grade 1—Rs. 70—2-8 as.—80.

Grade 2—Rs. 83—3—110.

Grade 3—Rs. 115—5—135.

Grade 4—Rs. 142-8 as.—7-8 as.—172-8 as.

Grade 5—Rs. 182-8 as.—10—222-8 as.

Grade 6—Rs. 235—12-8 as.—285.

(1) Grade 1 will be reserved for probationers and others who may not be confirmed. An employee in Grade 1 will on confirmation be put at the bottom of Grade 2.

(2) Jobs previously graded as Grade 2 will be graded as 2/3, those graded as 3 will be graded 3/4, those graded as 4 will be graded 4/5 and those graded as 5 will be graded 5/6.

(3) Those in Grade 2 on reaching the top of that grade will pass into Grade 3 (Rs. 115—5—135). On reaching the top of Grade 3 they will stop there unless promoted to a post of higher responsibility.

(4) Similarly those in Grade 3 on reaching the top of that grade pass into Grade 4 (Rs. 142-8 as.—7-8 as.—172-8 as.).

(5) Similarly those in Grade 4 on reaching the top of that grade pass into Grade 5 (Rs. 182-8 as.—10—222-8 as.).

(6) Similarly those in Grade 5 on reaching the top of that grade pass into Grade 6 (Rs. 235—12-8 as.—285).

Some further explanation may be given—

For example, a man is now in Grade 2. If he remains in his present job or in a job which is classed as being in Grade 2, he will when he reaches the top of that grade, pass into Grade 3 and when he reaches the top of that grade will get no further increments.

If, however, a man who is now in Grade 2 is, while he is in that grade promoted to a job which is classed as being in Grade 3, he will go on to the bottom of Grade 3. When he reaches the top of Grade 3, he will pass into Grade 4 and when he reaches the top of that grade he will get further increments.

On promotion from one grade to another the date of promotion will become the man's new anniversary.

Apart from cases of promotion, the interim increments by way of advancements within a particular grade will not affect the date of a man's anniversary. An example of this is given below—

A man is now in Grade 2 on Rs. 79. His salary with effect from 1st January 1951 will be Rs. 89 (by virtue of upgrading of each clerical grade by Rs. 10). His anniversary is on 1st June 1951. On 1st June 1951 his pay will go to Rs. 92 and on 1st June 1952 his pay will go to Rs. 95. If he gets no promotion, he will get no further increments when he has reached the top of Grade 3. But on 1st December 1952 he is promoted to a job classed as being in Grade 3. From the 1st December 1952 his pay will be Rs. 115 and the 1st December is his new anniversary. His initial grade from 1st December 1952 is now regarded as being Grade 3, and so he will by incremental stages go on to the top of Grade 4.

Similarly, to carry the example a stage further, the man is now in Grade 2 and in the course of a few years he does not get promotion to a job classed as being in Grade 3 but he has passed into Grade 3. While in Grade 3 he is promoted to a job classed as being in Grade 3. His anniversary is now Grade 3, and so he will by incremental stages pass on to the top of Grade 4 where he will stop (unless then or meanwhile he is promoted to a job classed as being in Grade 4, in which case he will be able to get incremental stages to the top of Grade 5).

In other words, the limit to which a man can go is to the top of the grade above that in which his job is classed.

In the case of a man who is doing a Grade 2 job but who has by incremental stages passed into Grade 3, should it be desired to promote him to a job in Grade 3 to a Grade 3 job, no change of his anniversary date is necessary. He will continue in grade 3 until he reaches the top and then pass into Grade 4.

DEPARTMENT OF IRRIGATION AND WATERWAYS

NOTIFICATIONS.

No. 19-I.—21st June 1951.—In exercise of the powers conferred by sections 78 and 99 of the Bengal Irrigation Act, 1876 (Bengal Act III of 1876), the Governor is pleased to make the following rules, schedule of rates and conditions for the supply of water from the Banskhali in the district of Murshidabad.

2. A draft of these rules and rates was published in the Calcutta Gazette on 17th May 1951 under notification No. 17-I, dated the 14th May 1951:—

RULES AND RATES.

Leases for a term of years.

The country served by the canals shall be mapped out into blocks of convenient size in accordance with the features of the ground, natural drainage lines. So far as may be practicable, the blocks shall be separated by natural drainage lines. This shall be done by the Subdivisional Canal Officer under the guidance and control of the Divisional Canal Officer.

Each block determined as above shall be numbered and recorded in registers to be maintained by the Subdivisional Canal Officer. The blocks shall also be marked on maps maintained by the same officer.

Leases for not more than six years may be granted for the whole or any part of a block or for definite parts of a block under the following conditions:—

- I. Ordinarily the whole irrigable area of any village so far as situated within the block must be included in the lease. If the lands of a village within the block are divisible into two or more distinct parts which can be irrigated independently a separate lease may be granted for each part.
- II. All leases within one block shall be so granted that they may expire on the same date.
- III. No lease shall be granted when the supply of water must of necessity be delivered across an unleased area, unless a channel exists, which, in the opinion of the Subdivisional Canal Officer, will deliver water without waste across the unleased area.

The Superintending Engineer shall fix from time to time the gross area within which and the limits of the canal within which, leases for a term of years may be granted.

Maps of all villages in which lands have been brought under lease for a term of years, or in which there is any possibility of such leases being granted, shall be kept in the Subdivisional Canal Office. These maps shall be at least 32" = 1 mile when such are available and elsewhere at scale of 16" = 1 mile.

The preliminary application for a lease for a term of years, either for a new lease or for renewal, may be of an informal nature, but it must be in writing. It shall be presented and shall be received either at the Subdivisional or Sectional Canal Office; in the latter case the Sectional Officer shall forward it immediately to the Subdivisional Canal Officer. The Subdivisional Canal Officer as soon as he has, by personal enquiry or by an enquiry made by the Sectional Officer, satisfied himself that the land in question constitutes a definite block or a definite part of a block, and that it can be irrigated, shall at once inform the Divisional Canal Officer giving such particulars as the Divisional officer may direct, and shall ask his formal approval to the lease before proceeding with. On receipt of such approval the Subdivisional Canal Officer shall proceed to make the detailed assessment. The lands to be brought under lease shall be indicated on a copy of the map referred to in rule 6.

7. The Subdivisional Canal Officer on receipt of the application shall depute an amin to prepare the khasra or detailed assessment paper. The khasra shall be done on the ground with the aid of the revenue survey map or khasra. Should the survey map and khasra not be available, the amin shall make a sketch map, and shall measure the areas of the holdings with a chain or measuring-rod.

8. When the amin has completed the khasra he shall forward it to the Subdivisional Canal Officer who shall forward it to the Divisional Canal Officer for approval.

9. As soon as the khasra has been approved by the Divisional Canal Officer, he shall return it to the Subdivisional Canal Officer endorsed with his signature in token of approval.

The Subdivisional Canal Officer shall then prepare a khatian or abstract of the khasra, and shall have the form of application given as Appendix I to these rules, filled up and signed or marked by each of the applicants in the presence of two witnesses.

When the application has been completely signed, the Subdivisional Canal Officer shall send it to the Divisional Canal Officer, by whom the permit for formal approval of the lease shall be signed and issued in the form given as Appendix III to these rules. The permit shall be made over to a representative of the cultivators by the Subdivisional Canal Officer through his Sectional Officer. The Divisional Canal Officer shall return the application to the Subdivisional Canal Officer with a copy of the permit for record.

10. Should it happen that the cultivators of the block propose a lease are not unanimous, and that some of them decline to sign the application, the Subdivisional Canal Officer shall report the matter to the Divisional Canal Officer and the Subdivisional Canal Officer shall hold a local enquiry recording the statements of the persons who decline to sign and record his personal opinion on the reasons given. He shall then send a report to the Divisional Canal Officer, who shall decide whether the lease may be accepted excluding the fields in the occupation of the persons who decline to sign, or whether the lease shall be declined. The Divisional Canal Officer may grant a lease when not less than 95 per cent. of the net irrigable area of the block has been signed for. In particular cases should it be decided to grant a lease even though an area larger than 5 per cent. of the block has not been signed for, this may be done on the written order of the Superintending Engineer. The reasons for granting the lease shall be recorded.

Covering Leases.

11. Applicants for a lease for a term of years who may require a covering lease before the lease has been concluded can obtain a supply on tendering an application for a covering lease in the form given as Appendix IV.

This application shall be signed in the presence of the tahsildar or some other responsible officer nominated for the purpose by the Subdivisional Canal Officer. The signatures shall be those of the leading holders in the block in question and they shall represent holders of not less than 75 per cent. of the irrigable land within the block.

As soon as the Subdivisional Canal Officer receives the application duly made, he shall issue a permit in the form given as Appendix IV to these rules, and shall at once supply water.

Season Leases.

12. Applications for water to irrigate spring rice or other crops between 16th November and 15th June may be presented at the Subdivisional Canal Office or to the Sectional Officer. They shall be in the form given as Appendix V to these rules.

In the applications the areas for which water is required shall be specified and the rate shall be charged on those areas for which water is actually used determined by measurement.

The permit in the form given as Appendix VI to these rules shall be issued by the Subdivisional Canal Officer if he is able to supply the water.

Supply of water.

13. The Divisional Canal Officer shall control the supply of water throughout the Division in his charge.

14. No water shall be supplied to any lands except such as have been sought under a lease for a term of years or for the season, or to such as provided for by a covering lease.

15. Under the forms of irrigation lease in use, no specific supply of water is promised; but the undertaking is to give such a supply to each lessee as may be necessary for the lands leased. The supply shall be given, if necessary, may be required for the proper cultivation of the crops under irrigation, according to the exigencies of the season.

16. The Divisional Canal Officer may give the required supply by rotation, should this be advisable for the efficient working of the canals in his charge. In such a case, he is required to give the lessees written notice informing them of the periods when they will be supplied with water.

Collection of water-rates.

17. The rates due for water supplied shall be collected by the Divisional Canal Officer or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division through his list of tahsildars and peons. All khatians or demand statements shall be submitted by the Divisional Canal Officer or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division after scrutiny in his office.

18. At the time of preparation of the khatian in the Subdivisional Canal Office each person assessed shall be furnished with an extract from the assessment paper, showing the particulars of the charge against him. The extract shall be furnished in such form as may from time to time be approved by the Subdivisional Canal Officer for the purpose.

19. Each person on paying the sum due from him shall be given a receipt in the form prescribed for the purpose.

20. For the purposes of account of control over establishment, and general administration, the Divisional Canal Officer or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division is in the position of an Executive Engineer in charge of a Division, and is directly subordinate to the Superintending Engineer. In regard to any proceedings taken under the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1913 (Bengal Act III of 1913), the Divisional Canal Officer is subject to the control of the Collector of the district.

Unauthorized use of water and waste of water.

21. Should it be necessary to take action under the provisions of sections 79 and 80 of the Bengal Irrigation Act, 1876 (Ben. Act III of 1876), proceedings shall be instituted only under the direct and special order of the Divisional Canal Officer. The primary record of the facts regarding the unauthorized use or the waste of water shall be made by the Divisional Canal Officer and his subordinates. The parties whom it is proposed to assess shall be informed in writing, and shall be called on to show cause why they should not be assessed. The record of their statement shall be made by the Divisional or by the Subdivisional Canal Officer. The Divisional Canal Officer shall consider the facts and statements recorded and shall, in deciding the case, give his reasons for or against assessment both as regards the facts and as regards the law, and he shall determine the rate to be charged subject to the provision in the schedule of rates attached to these rules.

22. Should the Divisional Canal Officer decide on making an assessment he shall have the assessment paper prepared by the Subdivisional Canal Officer and his staff. Each person assessed shall be furnished with a statement of the charge against him, and an abstract of the demand or the assessment shall be sent to the officer in charge of the Revenue Division, who shall proceed to recover the sums assessed. The period of one month within which an appeal may be presented to the Collector under section 91 of the Bengal Irrigation Act, 1876 (Ben. Act III of 1876), shall be computed from the date on which the statement of the charge may be furnished to the person assessed, which date shall be endorsed on it.

23. No proceedings shall be instituted if the unauthorized use or waste of water have occurred through the act or neglect of a Canal Officer or a subordinate officer employed on the canal. During the irrigation season, the passing on of surplus water from leased to unleased land is not an unauthorised use of water.

Complaints and Applications.

24. All complaints or applications with respect to the supply of water to defective drainage, and generally with respect to the administration of the canal, shall be received on presentation at either Divisional or Subdivisional Canal Offices.

Complaints and applications received by a Divisional Canal Officer shall be transferred to his Subdivisional Canal Officer for disposal at his discretion.

Any such complaints or applications, if presented to the Sectional Canal Officer or to his staff, shall be returned endorsed with instructions as to the proper office at which to present them. If received by post, they shall at once be forwarded to the Divisional or Subdivisional Canal Officer.

25. Complaints or applications with respect to corrections of the assessments with respect to the actions of the amins in assessing and with respect to the actions of the tahsildars and other staff employed in collections, shall be received at the office of the Divisional Canal Officer or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division.

26. Receipts in the prescribed form shall be given at all offices for complaints or applications presented. The receipt of all complaints and applications shall be recorded in registers to be kept for that purpose.

27. The officer receiving the complaint or application shall either make personal enquiry into the matter or he shall nominate in writing some suitable person to hold the enquiry.

28. The orders passed on all complaints or applications shall be in writing, and a copy of every order shall be furnished to the complainant or applicant.

The copy of order may be sent by post (registered), if this is convenient.

The period within which an appeal may be presented under section 91 of the Act shall be computed from the date on which the copy of the order received by the person.

29. When an appeal to the Collector is from the order of a Subdivisional Canal Officer, the proceedings shall be called for through the Divisional Canal Officer, who may record on them such remarks as he may think suitable, provided that he does not thereby detain the proceedings.

In all cases in which an appeal against an assessment is preferred to the Collector, that officer may, if he thinks fit, direct that the collection of rates be suspended till the appeal is heard.

30. The Divisional Canal Officer may revise the proceedings of his Divisional Canal Officers and the Superintending Engineer may call for and revise the proceedings of all officers under his control.

Remissions and alterations of demand.

31. Whenever the crop on land entitled to a supply of water suffers material injury from an insufficient supply of water, or from any interruption in the supply of water, remission of the rate due on such crop shall be granted by the Divisional Canal Officer, provided that the person claiming remission shall have applied for such not less than fifteen days before the reaping of the crop.

32. On the occasion of lands being brought under a lease for a term of years, the Divisional Canal Officer may remit the rates for the first season on those fields which from the nature of the cultivation then obtaining, or for other causes, have not, in that season, derived any benefit from the supply of canal water.

33. Should the crop on lands under lease for a term of years suffer material injury from excess of water due to deficient drainage, the Divisional Canal Officer may grant remission of the rates due on such lands in whole or in part, provided that the person asking for remission shall have applied not less than fifteen days before the reaping of the crop.

34. Revisions of the assessment required in consequence of land under lease being left uncultivated or of land being appropriated for purpose other than cultivation shall be made under the orders of the Divisional Canal Officer.

35. Revisions of the assessment required in consequence of incorrect entries of the names of occupants of lands under lease or of incorrect entries of areas or amounts in the assessment papers, or required by changes in the occupation of lands shall be made under the orders of the Divisional Canal Officer or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division, provided that no change involving any increase or decrease in the total area under lease for a term of years shall be made, without the concurrence of the Divisional Canal Officer.

36. Remissions of water-rates on account of injury to the crops caused by inundation, by blight, by storms or by any extraordinary cause shall be allowed under the special orders of the State Government.

Irrecoverable demands.

37. The Superintending Engineer may sanction the writing-off of the demands which are reported, after due enquiry by the Divisional Canal Officer or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division, as irrecoverable owing to the poverty of the defaulter or of his successors in case of his death or owing to the defaulter having absconded.

Cultivators' Representatives.

38. Whenever the preliminary application for a lease for a term of years has been approved by the Divisional Canal Officer, the officer in charge of the Revenue Division shall, with concurrence of the Subdivisional Canal Officer, select as representative of the cultivators a suitable person or persons who shall generally be acceptable to the cultivators and who shall each have a direct interest in the land for which the lease is executed.

39. The person or persons so selected shall be required to give assistance to the Canal Officers in respect of the following matters:—

- (i) In the preparation of applications for leases,
- (ii) In the measurement of irrigated lands,
- (iii) In recording the names of the occupiers of the holdings,
- (iv) In receiving demand statements and distributing to the cultivators the individual notices of assessment,
- (v) In attending, when required, at enquiries into complaints,
- (vi) In reporting to the Circle Officer any changes in the occupancy of lands under lease, and
- (vii) In assisting the tahsildar in collecting rates.

40. For such assistance the cultivators' representative or representatives shall be entitled to free irrigation of the lands in his or in their own occupation, which may lie within the boundaries of the leased area subject to a total limit of 3 per cent. of the area assessed. The Divisional Canal Officer or other officer in charge of the Revenue Division may disallow in whole or in part this free irrigation, and may recover the rates which would otherwise have been payable in whole or in part if the assistance specified in rule 39 has not been efficiently rendered. The reasons for such disallowance shall be recorded in writing.

41. The Divisional Canal Officer shall maintain in his office a register containing a record of the names of all representatives and of the areas of irrigation allowed to each.

42. Applicants for season leases shall be required to nominate one of their number who must have a substantial interest in the land to be irrigated as their representative. The representative so nominated shall perform the same duties as stated in rule 39 and shall receive remuneration on the same scale as in rule 40.

Power to decline or cancel leases.

43. Should it be proved, after due enquiry, that the supply of water given to any leased area is habitually wasted or used for the irrigation of lands not under lease, it shall be competent for the Superintending Engineer to direct that the lease shall be cancelled with effect from the 16th of June next following. The order to cancel a lease shall be passed before the 1st April of the year in which it is to take effect.

44. The Superintending Engineer may give directions to the Divisional Canal Officer to decline applications for irrigation leases of lands in villages where there has been persistent difficulty in realising the water-rates, until arrears have been paid.

He may further suspend, or altogether cancel, any lease for a term of years, if on the 1st June of any year water-rates to the extent of half the demand for one year are in arrears. Previous notice of intention to put this rule in force shall be given not later than the 15th April preceding.

Miscellaneous.

45. Tanks may be supplied with canal-water without charge, when water can be made available without injury to the cultivation dependent on the canal, under the following conditions:—

- (i) That the water is to be exclusively used for domestic purposes, or for watering cattle;
- (ii) That a channel exists through which water can pass without waste;
- (iii) That the water shall only be supplied on the written order of the Subdivisional Canal Officer;
- (iv) That any new outlet or sluice which may be required to allow of the supply being given shall be provided at the cost of the persons who ask for the water; and
- (v) That the supply of water may be stopped at any time if it is found that it is being misused.

46. Except when a public right-of-way exists, no person shall, without permission expressed in writing of the Divisional or Subdivisional Canal Officer, pass himself, or cause any animal or vehicle to pass, on or across the works, banks or channels of a canal, or drainage work which is part of the canal system except by means of such bridges, fords and ferries as may have been provided for the purpose.

Any person who, after due warning, commits a breach of this rule or is proceeded against under clause (9) of section 93 of the Bengal Irrigation Act, 1876 (Bengal Act III of 1876).

47. The use of any part of the banks or berms of any canal, drain or work which is part of the canal system, or flood embankment which is subject to the provisions of the Bengal Irrigation Act, 1876 (Bengal Act III of 1876), as a place for answering the calls of nature, is prohibited. Any person who, after due warning, commits a breach of this rule may be proceeded against under clause (9) of section 93 of the Bengal Irrigation Act, 1876 (Bengal Act III of 1876).

48. Should water be required for purposes other than irrigation it shall be supplied, when available, at a rate of two rupees per 10,000 cubic feet of water.

49. No officer employed on the canals, unless especially exempted by the State Government from the operation of this rule, shall have any interest in the distribution of water from any of the canals or purchase or bid for any Government property sold thereon either in his own name or in the name of another, or jointly, or in shares with others.

No. 19-I.—21st June 1951.—In exercise of the powers conferred by sections 78 and 99 of the Bengal Irrigation Act, 1876 (Bengal Act III of 1876), the Governor is pleased to make the following rules, schedule of rates and conditions for the supply of water from the catchment of the Dharfari khal, together with the khal itself measuring 1.75 square miles west of Rajarhat in the district of Midnapore.

2. A draft of these rules and rates was published in the Calcutta Gazette on the 17th May 1951, under notification No. 18-I, dated the 11th May 1951:—

RULES AND RATES.

Leases for a term of years.

1. The country served by the canals shall be mapped out into blocks of convenient size in accordance with the features of the ground, natural or artificial. So far as may be practicable, the blocks shall be separated by drainage lines. This shall be done by the Subdivisional Canal Officer under the guidance and control of the Divisional Canal Officer.

2. Each block determined as above shall be numbered and recorded with its gross and irrigable areas in registers to be maintained by the Subdivisional Canal Officer. The blocks shall also be marked on maps to be maintained by the same officer.

3. Leases for not more than six years may be granted for the whole irrigable area of a block or for definite parts of a block under the following conditions:—

I. Ordinarily the whole irrigable area of any village so far as situated within the block must be included in the lease. If the lands of a village within the block are divisible into two or more distinct parts which can be irrigated independently a separate lease may be granted for each part.

II. All leases within one block shall be so granted that they may expire on the same date.

III. No lease shall be granted when the supply of water must of necessity be delivered across an unleased area, unless a channel exists, which, in the opinion of the Subdivisional Canal Officer, will deliver water without waste across the unleased area.

4. The Superintending Engineer shall fix from time to time the gross area for which and the limits of the canal within which, leases for a term of years may be granted.

5. Maps of all villages in which lands have been brought under lease for a term of years, or in which there is any possibility of such leases being granted, shall be kept in the Subdivisional Canal Office. These maps to be on a scale of 32"=1 mile when such are available and elsewhere at scale of 16"=1 mile.

6. The preliminary application for a lease for a term of years, either for a new lease or renewal, may be of an informal nature, but it must be in writing. It may be presented and shall be received either at the Subdivisional or Sectional Canal Office; in the latter case the Sectional Officer shall forward it immediately to the Subdivisional Canal Officer. The Subdivisional Canal Officer as soon as he has, by personal enquiry or by an enquiry made by the Sectional Officer, satisfied himself that the land in question constitutes a definite block or a definite part of a block, and that it can be irrigated, shall at once inform the Divisional Canal Officer giving such particulars as the officer may direct, and shall ask his formal approval to the lease being proceeded with. On receipt of such approval the Subdivisional Canal Officer shall proceed to make the detailed assessment. The lands to be brought under lease shall be indicated on a copy of the map referred to in rule 5.

7. The Subdivisional Canal Officer on receipt of the application shall depute an amin to prepare the khasra or detailed assessment paper. This shall be done on the ground with the aid of the revenue survey map or khasra. Should the survey map and khasra not be available, the amin shall make a sketch map, and shall measure the areas of the holdings with a chain or measuring-rod.

8. When the amin has completed the khasra he shall forward it to the Subdivisional Canal Officer who shall forward it to the Divisional Canal Officer for approval.

9. As soon as the khasra has been approved by the Divisional Canal Officer, he shall return it to the Subdivisional Canal Officer endorsed with his signature in token of approval.

The Subdivisional Canal Officer shall then prepare a khatian or abstr. of the khasra, and shall have the form of application given as Appendix No. 1 to these rules, filled up and signed or marked by each of the applicants, in the presence of two witnesses.

When the application has been completely signed, the Subdivisional Canal Officer shall send it to the Divisional Canal Officer, by whom the permit for formal approval of the lease shall be signed and issued in the form given as Appendix III to these rules. The permit shall be made over to a representative of the cultivators by the Subdivisional Canal Officer through his Sectional Officer. The Divisional Canal Officer shall return the application to the Subdivisional Canal Officer with a copy of the permit for record.

10. Should it happen that the cultivators of the block proposed for lease are not unanimous, and that some of them decline to sign the application, the Subdivisional Canal Officer shall report the matter to the Divisional Canal Officer and the Subdivisional Canal Officer shall hold a local enquiry recording the statements of the persons who decline to sign and record his personal opinion on the reasons given. He shall then send a report to the Divisional Canal Officer, who shall decide whether the lease may be accepted excluding the fields in the occupation of the persons who decline to sign, or whether the lease shall be declined. The Divisional Canal Officer may grant a lease when not less than 95 per cent. of the net irrigable area of the block has been signed for. In particular cases should it be desired to grant a lease even though an area larger than 5 per cent. of the block has not been signed for, this may be done on the written order of the Superintending Engineer. The reasons for granting the lease shall be recorded.

Covering Leases.

11. Applicants for a lease for a term of years who may require water before the lease has been concluded can obtain a supply on tendering an application for a covering lease in the form given as Appendix I to these rules. This application shall be signed in the presence of the representative or of some other responsible officer nominated for the purpose by the Subdivisional Canal Officer. The signatures shall be those of the leaseholders or cultivators in the block in question and they shall represent holders of not less than 75 per cent. of the irrigable land within the block.

As soon as the Subdivisional Canal Officer receives the application duly filled, he shall issue a permit in the form given as Appendix IV to these rules, and shall at once supply water.

Season Leases.

2. Applications for water to irrigate spring rice or other crops between 16th November and 15th June may be presented at the Subdivisional Canal Office or to the Sectional Officer. They shall be in the form given as Appendix V to these rules.

In the applications the areas for which water is required shall be specified and the rate shall be charged on those areas for which water is actually used determined by measurement.

The permit in the form given as Appendix VI to these rules shall be issued by the Subdivisional Canal Officer if he is able to supply the water.

Supply of water.

3. The Divisional Canal Officer shall control the supply of water throughout the Division in his charge.

42. Applicants for season leases shall be required to nominate one of their number who must have a substantial interest in the land to be irrigated as their representative. The representative so nominated shall perform the same duties as stated in rule 39 and shall receive remuneration on the same scale as in rule 40.

43. Should it be proved, after due enquiry, that the supply of water to any leased area is habitually wasted or used for the irrigation of lands not under lease, it shall be competent for the Superintending Engineer to direct that the lease shall be cancelled with effect from the 16th of June following. The order to cancel a lease shall be passed before the 1st April of the year in which it is to take effect.

Copy of the Office memorandum referred to above.

The undersigned is directed to say that frequent instances come to the notice of this Ministry in which Government servants consult Medical Officers other than their authorised medical attendants and urge acceptance of their claims for reimbursement of medical expenses incurred on the ground that they were unaware of the orders on the subject or of the name of the Medical Officer who was their authorised medical attendant. As consultation with the authorised medical attendant is an essential pre-requisite under the Medical Attendance Rules for purposes of reimbursement of medical expenses, such claims are generally rejected when referred to this Ministry. Apart from causing hardship to the persons concerned, these references create much unnecessary work for all concerned. It is, therefore, necessary that before a Government servant proceeds to consult a Medical Officer in regard to himself or a member of his family, he should make sure that the officer whom he proposes to consult is his authorised medical attendant and it is requested that the necessity of doing so should be impressed upon all officers and members of the staff under the Ministry of Agriculture, etc.

LABOUR DEPARTMENT

ORDER.

No. 3680Lab.—13th June 1951.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 6592Lab., dated the 20th November 1950, the industrial dispute between Messrs. S. K. Chakravarti, d., Mission Row, Calcutta, and their workers represented by S. K. Chakravarti Workers' Union, 206, Bowbazar Street, Calcutta, was referred to a Tribunal consisting of Sri G. Palit, District Judge;

And whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Tribunal, the Vice-President of S. K. Chakravarti Workers' Union aforesaid, on behalf of Bashit, Lakshan, Prosad and Sukhan, made a complaint writing before the said Tribunal alleging that the said Company had acted, to the prejudice of the said workmen, the conditions of service applicable to them immediately before the said proceedings;

And whereas in exercise of the powers conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Tribunal has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted its award to the State Government;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

the matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act of 1950, filed by Sri Jatin Chakravarti, Vice-President, S. K. Chakravarti Workers' Union, against Messrs. S. K. Chakravarti, Ltd. (the original reference out of which this case has arisen was made under order No. 6592Lab., dated the 20th November 1950, of the Government of West Bengal).

BEFORE THE INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

SRI G. PALIT, District Judge, Chairman of the Tribunal.

represent for the Applicants (Union): Sri Jatin Chakravarti, Vice-President, S. K. Chakravarti Workers' Union.

represent for the opposite party (Company): Sri B. K. Ghosh, Pleader.

AWARD.

1. It is the Union's case that four persons, named (1) Sukhan, Helper (Roll No. 324), (2) Prosad, Helper (Roll No. 143), (3) Bashit, Helper (Roll No. 106), and (4) Lakshan, Raj-Mistry (Roll No. 62), were served with a notice of discharge by the Management with effect from the 31st March 1951. The Union contends that the Management did issue such notice without specific permission of the Tribunal while the original proceeding was pending. As such, it is contended section 33 of the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act of 1950 has been contravened. The Union has been sought for under section 33A of the aforesaid Act (1) for a declaration that the said notice was illegal and not binding, (2) for maintaining the status quo, and (3) for reinstatement and compensation. The Company by its written statement contends that the retrenchment of the above workers was necessary due to "financial handicap". The Company also holds out that further retrenchment will be necessary in the near future. The Company, however, denies having any mala intention.

2. Facts are not very much disputed in the present case. There has been a previous case under section 33A which was, however, rejected on the ground that it was premature. The observation which the Tribunal made in that connection will be pertinent, viz., "the learned pleader of the Company is certainly wrong when he contends that because the discharge is sought to be effected on economical grounds and because it is unconnected with the subject-matter of the original proceeding, no permission of the Tribunal is necessary. Whatever might have been the position under the old section prior to the amendment of 1950, it is clear that under the amended section there can be no escape from taking the permission of the Tribunal in the matter of discharge of employees pending the proceeding no matter whether on economical ground or otherwise. So, if the Company translates the notices in question into action without the permission of the Tribunal, it can hardly avoid the legal liability under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950. Similarly, the Vice-President of the Union is also not immune from error. Section 33A never arises unless there has already been in fact either a prejudicial alteration of the service condition or a discharge or a punishment. But in the present case there has been no discharge nor punishment yet before 31st March 1951..... Mere notices of discharge do not affect the service condition prejudicially in fact. The Company could have legalised the notices by having permission from the Tribunal prior to 31st March 1951. So the applications under section 33A are obviously premature. The applications accordingly stood rejected. That order was passed on 30th March 1951.

3. When the Tribunal passed the above order, naturally it expected that the Company would not be so obdurate as to pass over or to ignore the warning contained in the above. But it appears that the Company was none the wiser and not only did it effect the retrenchment as per notice referred to above but it threatened to do further retrenchment without previous permission of the Tribunal. I cannot conceive of a more deliberate flouting of law than in this case. If the Company was financially embarrassed, it was incumbent upon it to place facts and figures before the Tribunal and to seek its permission for retrenchment. But the learned pleader who argued the matter during the hearing said that he was advised to place nothing beyond what was contained in the application. In other words, the Company preferred to withhold its balance sheets, etc., in support of its financial position. So I am unable to hold that the Company is really financially embarrassed without any evidence before me. In the circumstances, the contention of the Union that these people were ejected out for their membership of the Union must prevail, and the only order that I can pass is the order of reinstatement of these four workers, viz. Sukhan, Prosad, Bashit and Lakshan, within one month of the award coming into operation. They are given as compensation half pay with effect from 31st March 1951 up to the date of reinstatement, the amount being payable in one instalment.

G. PAIT,

Chairman of the Tribunal

The 2nd June 1951.

By order of the Governor,
D. S. P. MUKHERJEE, Jt. Secy

ORDER.

No. 36981ab.—13th June 1951.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 55211ab., dated the 25th September 1950, read with its corrigenda Nos. 68921ab., dated the 29th November 1950, and 947Lab., dated the 13th January 1951, the industrial disputes that existed or were apprehended in the Jute Textile Industry in West Bengal between the Jute Mills mentioned in the list attached with the said order, dated the 25th September 1950, read with the said corrigendum, dated the 13th January 1951, and represented by the Indian Jute Mills' Association, Royal Exchange, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by the Trade Unions mentioned in the said order, dated the 25th September 1950, read with the said corrigendum, dated the 29th November 1950, regarding the matters specified in the schedule to the said order, dated the 25th September 1950, were referred for adjudication to an Industrial Tribunal consisting of Sri S. N. Modak, I.C.S. (Retd.), as Chairman and Sri P. R. Mukherjee and Sri M. C. Banerjee, District Judges, as members;

And whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Tribunal a complaint was received on behalf of eight workmen referred to in the award mentioned hereinafter against the Kankinarrah Jute Mill "B", post office Bhatpara, 24-Parganas, being item 16 under the head "24-Parganas" of the said list, in writing before the said Tribunal alleging that the said company had punished the said workmen concerned in such dispute;

And whereas in exercise of the powers conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Tribunal has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted its award to the State Government;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the said Act, the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

AWARD.

This matter has arisen out of a petition of a complaint under section 3A of the Industrial Disputes Act presented on 21st December 1950

(registered as case No. 57 of 1950 under section 33A) by the Assistant Secretary of Jute Workers' Federation representing eight workmen Bangali, Rampearia and Ramkalia, and five others against Kankinarrah Jute Mill "B", which is one (No. 16 under 24-Parganas district in the list of the 86 Jute Mills in West Bengal which are concerned in the list of disputes referred to this Tribunal for adjudication by Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order No. 5521Lab., dated 25th September 1950. The original adjudication proceedings which commenced on 25th September 1950 are still pending before this Tribunal. The grievances put forward in the petition of complaint are on the following lines. Difference between the employers in Kankinarrah Jute Mill "B" and then workmen arose over certain matters including a claim by the workmen in respect of wages for 2½ days of a period of lock-out. False charges incorporated in charge sheet were laid against Bangali on 9th October 1950 and he was unjustifiably suspended from that date. False charges incorporated in charge sheets were also laid against the two female workers, Rampearia and Ramkalia on 16th October 1950 and they were unjustifiably placed under suspension from that date. As regards the other five workmen named in the petition of complaint, it is conceded that they belonged to a Kankinarrah Jute Mill "A", and that Mill has not been included in the list of Jute Mills under the order of reference, and consequently it cannot be said that any adjudication proceedings in respect of those workmen were pending before this Tribunal, and therefore this Tribunal has no jurisdiction to deal with the complaint so far as those five workmen are concerned. The petition of complaint must therefore be regarded as restricted to the cases of the three workmen, Bangali, Rampearia and Ramkalia. The prayer in the petition of complaint regarding these three workmen is that the charges alleged to have been falsely laid against them should be withdrawn, the orders of suspension in respect of them should be withdrawn, and they should be reinstated and should be paid full wages for the periods of unemployment. It is contended on behalf of the Mill that the workmen concerned were not actually dismissed, but they were suspended pending the permission of the Tribunal for their dismissal. It is pointed out on behalf of the Company that applications for permission for the dismissal of the three workmen under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act were filed by the employers on 5th January 1951 and those applications were registered as cases Nos. 42, 43 and 49 of 1951 under section 33. The Company has explained the delay in filing the applications under section 33 on the footing that the employers were waiting for the disposal by this Tribunal of an omnibus petition for permission to discharge or punish the workmen under the Standing Orders, and the applications under section 33 were filed after the disposal of that omnibus petition. Taking into consideration all the circumstances, we are satisfied that the delay in filing the applications under section 33, which under ordinary circumstances would be considered as unjustified, was not unreasonable in the present case. The Company has made a prayer in connection with the complaint under section 33A that the petition of complaint should be dismissed. It is pertinent to note here that this day we have disposed of the three applications under section 33 in respect of Bangali, Rampearia and Ramkalia, and have granted permission to Kankinarrah Jute Mill "B" to dismiss Bangali with effect from 9th October 1950 on the footing that he has been found guilty of misconduct under clause 14(c)(i) and (viii) of the Standing Orders, and while we have found the two women, Rampearia and Ramkalia, guilty of misconduct under clause 14(c)(viii) of the Standing Orders, we have declined to grant permission for their dismissal and have granted permission to Kankinarrah Jute Mill "B" to suspend the two workmen for four days with effect from 16th October 1950. We have stated in our order that the effect of our granting permission to suspend for four days would be that the workmen should be permitted to rejoin duty forthwith, and the actual period of suspension, beyond the period of four days of suspension as a substantive punishment, should be treated as a period of leave without pay. We may state further that for the sake of convenience and with the consent of the parties, the present case under section 33A and the three corresponding cases under section 33 were heard together. On the side of the employers the Chief Personnel Officer was examined as P.W. 1, the Labour Officer of the Mill was examined as P. W. 2 and the Electrical Engineer of the Mill was examined as P. W. 3 and a weaver of the Mill was examined as P. W. 4, and on the side of the workmen they examined themselves as O. P. Ws. 1, 2 and 3, and on the employers' side some documents were put in and marked as exhibits. In our orders in connection with the three cases under section 33, we have incorporated our findings in respect of the facts and circumstances. Those orders would obviously have considerable bearing on our decision in the present case under section 33A.

2. It is, however, not necessary for us to go into the facts and circumstances so far as the present complaint under section 33A is concerned. The position is that the three workmen, Bangali, Rampearia and Ramkalia, were never discharged or punished by dismissal or otherwise within the meaning of section 33(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act, but they were merely placed under suspension as a security measure from 9th October 1950 or 16th October 1950. In a series of decisions already given by this Tribunal, for instance the award in connection with the complaint of Lahit Chandra Paul against National Jute Mill, as published in the Calcutta Gazette of 22nd February 1951 by order No. 957Lab, dated 13th February 1951, or the award in connection with the complaint of Budri and Ramcharan against Bally Jute Mill, as published in the Calcutta Gazette of 24th May 1951 by order No. 3094Lab, dated 16th May 1951, we have already held that an order of suspension passed as a security measure pending the final decision of the Tribunal in connection with an application for permission under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, would not amount to a substantive punishment. Consistently with our previous decisions, we hold that in the present case the order of suspension in respect of Bangali, Rampearia and Ramkalia did not amount to any act of discharge or punishment within the meaning of section 33(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act. We come to the conclusion therefore that in the present case no provisions of section 33 were contravened. We accordingly hold that the present petition of complaint presented on behalf of Bangali, Rampearia and Ramkalia is not maintainable, and we are not disposed to pass any orders in the present proceeding under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act. We make our award accordingly.

ORDER.

No. 3702Lab.—13th June 1951.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 4818Lab., dated the 29th August 1950, as amended by order No. 2062Lab., dated the 4th April 1951, the industrial dispute between the Shalimar Rope Works, Ltd., Shalimar, Howrah, and its workmen represented by Shalimar Rope Works Mazdur Union, 4, Lokenath Chatterji Bye-Lane, Sibpore, Howrah, was referred for adjudication to Sri S. K. Niyogi, District Judge;

And whereas the said Sri S. K. Niyogi, District Judge, has submitted to the State Government his award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between the Shalimar Rope Works, Ltd., Shalimar, Howrah, and its workmen as represented by the Shalimar Rope Works Mazdur Union of 4, Lokenath Chatterji Bye-Lane, Sibpore, Howrah.

PRESENT:

SRI S. K. NIYOGI, District Judge, Industrial Tribunal.

Present for the Union: Sri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate, assisted by Sri B. K. Mukherji, Secretary of the Union.

Present for the Company: Sri H. C. Ghosh, Advocate, assisted by Sri B. K. Bhandari, Works Manager of the Company.

AWARD.

The dispute as aforesaid was referred to a Tribunal constituted by the Government of West Bengal by its order No. 4818Lab., dated the 29th August 1950, and Sri P. R. Mukherji, District Judge, was appointed the Tribunal for adjudication thereof.

The reference was received on 30th August 1950, and notices were issued to parties fixing 14th September 1950 for appearance and for submission of written statement by the Union. Both parties appeared on the date fixed, and the Union submitted their written statement. After an adjournment the Company submitted its written statement on 9th October 1950. Issues were framed on 13th October 1950, and they related to fixation of categories of workmen and their grades, dearness allowance, canteen facilities, bonus, Provident Fund, gratuity or pension and other matters such as night allowance, housing or house-rent allowance, leave rules of service, lock-out pay, etc. An objection was taken as to whether the demands in respect of other matters which were not contained in the charter of demands and were not pressed at any earlier stage were maintainable in law, and this objection also formed the subject-matter of a separate issue.

The first date of hearing was fixed on 10th November 1950. There were several adjournments before the case could be taken up for actual hearing. In the meantime the Company applied under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act for permission to dismiss Kantha and several other workmen as also for the dismissal of one Lal Bahadur, Durwan of the Company.

"As the services of Sri P. R. Mukherji were ultimately not available, I was appointed to be the Tribunal in his place for adjudication of the said industrial disputes between the Shalimar Rope Works, Ltd., and their workmen, as referred to in the original order of reference by Government of West Bengal in the Department of Labour order No 2062Lab., dated 4th April 1951. On receipt of this reference and the record of the case, I fixed 12th April 1951, and on that date I fixed 23rd May 1951 for hearing of the case. On 23rd May 1951 the parties filed a joint petition signed by the Manager of the Shalimar Rope Works, Ltd., and the General Secretary and Assistant Secretaries of the Shalimar Rope Works Mazdur Union, and also by the Advocates of both parties. In an annexure to that petition are set out the terms of settlement in the form of a memorandum of agreement which was entered into in order, as is specifically mentioned therein, to create good feelings between the parties. I am satisfied on hearing the parties and their Advocates that there has been a genuine agreement on the terms stated. I hope that there will be a lasting peace between the parties as has been the avowed object of the agreement. The agreement covers the main issues regarding fixation of categories, dearness allowance, canteen facilities, bonus including production bonus, and Provident Fund or pension, which were the bone of contention of the Union representing the workmen. The other issues to which objection was taken by the Company as not having been included in the charter of demands or pressed at any earlier stage of the dispute, were not pressed by the Advocate for the Union. There is thus no dispute regarding the claims which stand abandoned. The application under section 33 for permission to dismiss Kantha and others was withdrawn, and Lal Bahadur, Durwan, who had been dismissed with permission in the meantime, was allowed by the Company to resume work on submitting a written apology for his misconduct which brought about his dismissal, without any claim to any pay or salary for the period of suspension. The terms and settlement, as far as I gather, are fair to both parties. The compromise is accordingly accepted. The memorandum of agreement and the joint petition both together will be incorporated in the award as Appendix A. I make my award accordingly.

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute existing between Tea District Labour Association, C/o McLeod and Co., Ltd., 3, Netaji Subhas Road, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by Association of Employees' Unions, Commercial Buildings, 23, Netaji Subhas Road, 2nd floor, Calcutta, in connection with the case of Sri U. M. Banerjee.

BEFORE THE INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

SRI G. PALIT, District Judge, Chairman of the Tribunal.

Present for the Employees: Sri Jiten Banerjee, Joint Secretary, Association of the Employees' Unions.

Present for the Company: Sri S. C. Sen, Advocate, assisted by Mr. B. S. I. Conway, Secretary, Tea District Labour Association.

1. By Government order No. 1018Lab., dated the 15th February 1951, the aforesaid dispute has been referred to me for adjudication under sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act (XIV of 1947) of 1947.

2. The reference was received here on the 16th February 1951. The Union filed its written statement on the 2nd March 1951. The Company filed its written statement on the 21st March 1951. Issues were framed on 3rd April 1951. The case was taken up for hearing on 2nd May 1951. It continued till 4th May 1951 when a petition of compromise was filed.

3. The issues were framed as follows:—

- (1) Is the dispute in question an industrial dispute? Is the Tribunal competent to adjudicate in the present case?
- (2) Whether the discharge of Sri Upendra Mohan Banerjee is illegal and unjustified.
- (3) Is Sri Upendra Mohan Banerjee entitled to any compensation? If so, how much?

AWARD.

4. As the case has eventually ended in compromise, I need not go into the issues raised. All that I am called upon to consider is whether the West Bengal Government was the appropriate Government which could make a reference, as the one in question, or whether the appropriate Government should be the Bihar Government inasmuch as the discharge in question had taken place at Ranchi. Argument was heard on this point from the lawyers of both sides. The Tribunal is inclined to hold that both on fact and in law the present Government is competent to make the reference it did. The reference was accordingly in order. The learned lawyer of the Union referred to certain sections of the Civil Procedure Code bearing on the matter of the forum of suits. Though the principles contained in the Civil Procedure Code on this point are perfectly sound and reasonable, yet it is doubtful whether the provision of the said Code would govern the present matter. I do not accept the argument of the learned pleader of the Union in full when he says that the plaintiff can choose his own forum of suit. The ordinary forum of suit is the place where the cause of action arises. Again, a suit can be brought either where the defendant resides or where he carries on business or works for gain. When it is doubtful as to wherein of the two places or several places the defendant carries on business, it is then only that the option lies with the plaintiff to choose his forum of suit in any of these places. But I do not think the analogy of the plaintiff and the defendant vis-à-vis the bringing of suits does very well apply here. The Union never makes a reference to an Industrial Tribunal very much on the lines the plaintiff brings a suit in a court. If an industrial dispute is found to exist by Government within its territorial limits, then only it makes a reference to an Industrial Tribunal on the recommendation of the Labour Commissioner, conciliation having fallen through. So the matter is fundamentally different. Coming to the facts of the case, I find that though the discharge has actually occurred somewhere in Bihar, yet it has taken place under an order of the Head Office of the Company which is located in Calcutta. The authorities of the branches of the Association in Bihar had no more initiative than the mechanical carrying out of the order passed by the Calcutta office. It is never contended that the Branch located in Bihar is independent of the Calcutta office and has discharged this employee of its own accord. If any order is passed by the Tribunal over the Calcutta office in the matter of reinstatement or compensation, it can never be infructuous. That is the sole criterion in such matters. Having regard to all these facts and circumstances, the Tribunal had to hold that the present reference was in order being issued by the appropriate Government mentioned in the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947.

5. Regarding the merits of the case, the compromise petition filed has disposed of the contention fully. I accept the compromise petition as reasonable and incorporate the same in my award. In pursuance of the compromise petition I pass a "no dispute" award. The compromise petition will be embodied in my award as an annexure.

G. PALIT,
Chairman of the Tribunal.

1. That in the above matter the parties have come to an amicable settlement as follows:—

- (a) Sri U. M. Banerjee is prepared under the present contingency to drop his contention that he was not retrenched for economic reasons.

Banerjee was offered the post of a Forwarding Agent at Tinsukia on the same pay and allowances as he received at the time of discharge and Sri Banerjee accepted the same. The period from the date of his discharge on the 1st November 1950 to the date of joining the new post will be treated as dies non.

Under the circumstances it is humbly prayed that Your Honour will be graciously pleased to accept the said terms above and there is no dispute and to award accordingly and to pass such other order or orders as it may be deemed fit and proper.
